Produce of Behar Agency	...	Chests 1,915
Ditto of Benares ditto	...	„ 345
Total Chests	...	2,260

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which Provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a Public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of, or if the quantity of 2,260 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertized, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain Five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per Cent even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000 at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 15th January, or on the other hand failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such Conditions of Resale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit, and all losses and expenses, whatsoever attending such Resale, shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such Resale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 15th January will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 15th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertized for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M., of Tuesday, the 25th January 1859, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the Cash deposit of 25 per Cent even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or Chests shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Resale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such Resale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or order and it is to be clearly understood that the Certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lot or of a different number of lots, or Chests, whether more or less than the number of lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of Public Securities under the fifth of the present conditions, will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue, is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time of deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per Cent. even money of the amount so bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession at the same price and under the same conditions any number of lots of the same Agency Opium to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and all and every plea and pleas to the Jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

No. 1. Certificate of the Opium now advertized for Sale.

No. 2. Report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The Public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1857-58, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares and a Statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue. Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for Sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the Sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The Public are hereby informed that in addition to the quantity above-mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities more or less of Behar and Benares Opium of 1857-58 will be brought to Sale in the year 1859, on or about the dates specified below. No. 600 of 1858.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General is pleased to direct the publication of the following letter from the Adjutant General of the Army, forwarding a Despatch from Brigadier Douglas, C. B., Commanding the disturbed Districts of Behar and Ghazeepore, narrating the final dislodgement of the Rebels from the jungles of Jugdeespore in Shahabad, and their pursuit into the Kymore Hills.

The Governor General cordially concurs with the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief in the unqualified approbation His Excellency has expressed of the perseverance and constancy of Brigadier Douglas, C. B., and of the prudent measures adopted by him in attaining this object. His Lordship also highly approves of the conduct and gallantry of the other Officers, and of the whole of the men engaged in these operations.

R. J. H. Birch, Major-Genl.,
Secy. to the Govt. of India, Mily. Dept.,
with the Govr.-Genl.

No. 1475.

From the Adjutant General of the Army,
To the Secretary to the Govt. of India,
Military Department,
with the Govr.-Genl.

Sir,

I have the honor, by order of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, to forward for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, a despatch from Brigadier J. Douglas, C. B., in which that Officer narrates the final dislodgement of the Rebels from the jungles of Jugdeespore in Shahabad, and their pursuit into the Kymore Hills.

2. His Excellency would take this opportunity of bringing to the especial notice of the Government the perseverance and constancy of the Brigadier Commanding, who, after a most harassing and anxious campaign of many months, has at length obtained complete success by the prudence of his measures, and the indefatigable exertion of himself and the Troops under his command, in carrying them into execution.

3. It has been his lot to contend against a hostile country, as well as against the bodies of Mutineers and other Rebels who found harbourage in it. The difficult duty of clearing the District, delayed for a long time by the impossibility of acting in a satisfactory manner, while the District was absolutely flooded by the late rains, could not be attained by sudden or hasty measures. It was necessary for the Brigadier to proceed gradually and surely, enclosing the enemy in a system of posts, which at last he was able to press forward simultaneously, and so put an end to the struggle in Shahabad.

4. The pursuit which afterwards ensued is of very remarkable character.

5. His Excellency strongly recommends to the protection of the Governor General the Officers mentioned with distinction by Brigadier Douglas.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. Mayhew, Lieut.-Colonel,
Adjutant General of the Army.

Adjt.-Genl's Office;
Allahabad,
The 18*th December* 1858.

From Brigadier Douglas, C. B.,
Comdg. the disturbed Districts of Behar and Ghazeepore,

To the Adjt.-Genl. of the Army,
Army Head Quarters, Allahabad,
Mohuneea, 31*st October* 1858.

Sir,

In continuation of my letter of the 27th instant, I have now the honor to report, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, the further operations, since the 14th instant, of the various Columns acting in Shahabad under my orders.

To explain the relative position of the Rebels and my own Columns, I must premise that the enemy, estimated at 4,000 Sepoys of the old Bengal Army, and from 400 to 500 Cavalry, were, on the 9th instant when I commenced my movement from Dinapore' distributed over the District in five large divisions as follows:—

One at Jugdeespore.

Another between Buruhpoor and Chungaen, a portion of these said to be entrenched, with two guns in position, at Buruhpoor.

A third at Peeroo, south of Jugdeespore.

A fourth at Karee Sath, (north-east of Jugdeespoor.) And the fifth at Balawur (14 miles due east of Jugdeespore.) To operate against these several bodies, and with a view of driving them towards the common centre, Jugdeespore, I had issued orders for the following movements. On the 13th October four Columns were to move from Buxar, and driving the enemy before them, to form in conjunction with the Force under Colonel Turner, advancing from Sasseram, a connected line from the Ganges to the Soane, and thus close the enemy into the jungle on the west and south sides. These four Columns were composed and commanded as follows:—

One under Major Lightfoot, 84th Regiment (strength as per margin) to march to Puhareepore on the direct Arrah and Buxar road.

H. M's. 84th Regt. 150 men.
20th Punjaub Inty. 187 men.
4th Madras Cavalry 80 Sabres.

The second under the personal Command of Colonel Dunsford, C. B., (hitherto Commanding at Buxar, and to whom the details of the operations on the west side of the jungle were entrusted) to Peepradh.

H. M's. 84th Regt. 100 men.
20th Punjaub Inty. 150 men.
4th Madras Cavy. 40 Sabres.
3rd Seikh Cavy. 40 Sabres.

H. M's. 84th Regt. 120 men,
20th Punjaub Inty. 200 men.
3rd Seikh Cavy. 80 Sabres.

H. M's, 84th Regt. 100 men.
20th Punjaub Inty. 150 men.
3rd Seikh Cavy. 80 Sabres.

The third under Captain Snow, 84th Regiment, to Peeharee Chuk.

The fourth under Major Carr, Madras Rifles, to Ekil.

The above Columns were directed to be in position by noon on the 15th instant, driving all before them towards the jungle, and to form a connected line of Infantry, with advanced Cavalry posts in the intervals. Colonel Turner was to form three posts to the south, thus completing the chain from the Ganges to the Soane, and he himself with a Movable Column was to drive in the southern division of the enemy at Peeroo. Colonel Walter was to take up his position to the east of Jugdeespore, he having previously driven into the jungle the Balawur division of the Rebels.

The operations up to the 14th October, including the skirmish on that date near Karee Sath, have already been reported. On that day the guns of the Rebels were heard from the direction of Buruhpoor, and the report from Colonel Dunsford received next day (forwarded herewith) shewed that the portion of the general plan entrusted to him had been promptly and skillfully executed. The same success had attended Colonel Turner's and Major Carr's Columns, as also that of Colonel Walter and my own, as previously reported.

Finding that complete success had attended these operations on the night of the 15th instant, I sent orders for the whole of the posts to close towards the jungle. These had to be conveyed through a country swarming with the enemy, the road lying in some places actually through their picquets in the jungle. I accordingly entrusted their transmission to selected Detachments, respectively. under Troop Sergeant Major John Shiel and Sergeant William Bird, of the 2nd Battalion Military Train. As this was a duty of a very peculiar nature and most important, I hope to be excused in mentioning by name every individual employed, for right well did these excellent Non-Commissioned Officers, and the gallant men under their command, fulfil their errand; they passed in safety through great dangers, reaching their destination at the time appointed, carrying the instructions to the advancing Columns, thereby enabling them to co-operate as desired.

17th at 10 o'clock A. M., I was in communication with Major Lightfoot's Column on the west; a connected line of posts was at once established along the Railway embankment, passing through and closing the north of the jungle. My Cavalry and the mounted Rifle Detachment of the 10th Foot were pushed on to the village of Roophan further south, about two miles east of the village of Dawa, and were employed the whole day in skirmishing with detached parties of the enemy, who appeared in the skirts of the jungle, either from a wish to break out towards the Soane or to discover our intentions. During the afternoon, I pushed forward, in support, a Company of the 35th Regiment under Command of Captain Browne, who, in conjunction with the Cavalry and mounted Riflemen, held the enemy in check during the night. I purposely kept their attention engaged in this quarter, to give time for the completion of the closing movements of my converging Columns, with all of whom I was in frequent communication. At 1. P. M., I sent orders to Colonel Walter and Colonel Turner, (the former then actually at Arrah but supposed to be at Ukgaon on the Soane, the latter at Peeroo) directing them to be, Colonel Walter at Musondhee 3 miles east of Jugdeespore by noon on the 18th, and Colonel Turner in communication with the Force of Major Carr, then stationed on the west of the jungle, to form a connected line across it, the left of which was to rest at Jumwan on the west, the right, on the plain to the east of the jungle. On the line being formed, it was to advance skirmishing up the jungle direct on Jugdeespore, so as to arrive there by noon. My Column, in conjunction with that under Major Lightfoot, was to skirmish south to Jugdeespore, and attack the entrenchments on the north and east, while Colonel Dunsford, advancing from Hetumpore, attacked on the north-west.

The above rough sketch of the movements and distribution of my several Columns (most minute details, too long to enter into here, had been issued to, and acknowledged by the several Officers Commanding) will show that I entertained no unreasonable expectation in hoping to hem the Rebels into their stronghold by noon on the 18th instant, and then, by a simultaneous assault on all sides, to end the campaign in Shahabad at one blow.

The whole of the arrangements, with one exception, were completed almost beyond my expectation, considering that my chain of posts extended over about sixty miles.

Colonel Walter, who had been directed to take up his position at Musondhee, 3 miles east of Jugdeespore, unfortunately found it necessary (in consequence of the unfavourable reports he had received of the inundated state of the country) to make a circuit of some 30 miles vid Arrah, and hence did not reach his post until late in the afternoon; the gap thus left open was only too readily taken advantage of by the enemy. Colonel Turner from the south, and Colonel Dunsford from the north-west, encountered considerable opposition in their advance on Judgeespore, as is shewn by their several reports; my own advance was almost without opposition, and we arrived at Jugdeespore to find it evacuated by the enemy, whose rear guard left their entrenchments on one side, as we entered them on the other. The Rebels had fled, abandoning two guns and their immense earth-works (surprising from their extents and the time and labour evidently expended on their construction), having finally made out a feeble resistance. For some time no trace of the main body could be discerned, as none of Mr. Money's numerous spies had returned with information. About 3. P. M., receiving what appeared reliable information that the enemy had fled south, leaving Colonel Dunsford's Column to garrison Jugdeespore, I pushed on with my own and Lightfoot's Column towards Jhitowra, and meeting Colonel Turner, I directed him to proceed at once to Suhar on the Soane, to anticipate any movement of the enemy across the river into Behar. It subsequently transpiring that the enemy had turned eastwards, I therefore, at 8 P. M., despatched Major Sir Henry Havelock with all the disposable Cavalry and mounted Riflemen of the 10th Foot, directing him to march rapidly through Arrah, and then proceed up the left bank of the Soane; at 10 P. M., I despatched Colonel Walter, with his Infantry only, to follow the Cavalry towards Nan-Sagor, moving direct on that place, and thus taking a more northerly line than that on which the Rebels were marching; they would have a force both north and south moving parallel to them, while Major Sir H. Havelock's Force, moving along a good road the whole way, would, I anticipated, be in time to turn them off from the Soane. Orders were also sent to the 4 Companies of Madras Rifles on the right bank of the Soane to be on the alert. Halting during the night of the 18th at Narainpore, I marched at daybreak on the 19th, to Arrah (where I left the Madras Battery guns and the mortars) with a view of crossing the Soane at Koelwar ghat if necessary.

During the night I heard that the Rebels, headed and turned by the Forces which had been sent in pursuit, had halted during the night of the 18th, at Bullageon, about (6) six miles east of Jugdeespore, and had moved the next day to Gudhunee, towards which place I followed them on the 20th sending orders to Colonel Walter, who had remained the whole of the 19th near Gudhunee, to follow up the enemy, who, on my approach, turning south-east from that place to Sheopore, had eventually gone due south towards Baruth. Having first been misled by false information to Sheopore, I myself regained the Peeroo road, and marched so as to move on the right flank of the enemy, and halted that night at Peeroo, (33 miles' march). Sir Henry Havelock meanwhile, having also heard at Nan-Sagor, at 3 A. M., that the rebels had passed the night of the 19th at Ghudhunee, had marched at 7 A. M., direct for that place, and thence after me to Sheopore, from which place I now despatched him in pursuit of the enemy towards Baruth. His report will describe the successful skirmish at Nonadee, in which, by his co-operation, Colonel Turner's Column was enabled to hem in and kill 400 of the Rebels, besides 100 more who made direct for the Soane, retracing their steps on finding themselves cut off from the main body, and who were ridden down and sabred almost to a man by his Cavalry near Pooruhura. Colonel Walter, following the main body due south, bivouacked that night to the south of Nonadee near Sukreta, where Colonel Turner's and Sir Henry Havelock's Forces were also assembled. 21st October, intelligence reaching me during the night that the enemy had gone to Suhejnee, I marched from Peeroo in pursuit at 5 A. M. but about 6-30 A. M., I ascertained that they had turned west, and were supposed to be making for the south of the jungle ; it was some hours before certain information could be obtained. I then learnt that the enemy had gone to Koath Kas, for which place I immediately marched. The Cavalry had now reached Suhejnee, from which place Sir Henry Havelock rode over to my Force for orders. About noon I desired him to proceed to Koath Kas. This he did, and reaching it about 4-30 P. M., engaged the Rebels, whom he found cooking, and drove them through the town in an easterly direction, killing and wounding a great many. About this time, 5 P. M., the Column under my command, which had been marching all day, came in view of the enemy, who, pressed by the Cavalry from the west, were in considerable commotion, and evidently preparing to move off from the strong position they had taken up. A walled village, surrounded by a deep moat, and a succession of enclosed gardens covered their left, and a mass of dense topes of trees flanked their right. A small party of the enemy's Cavalry were drawn up to my right front, and appeared disposed to threaten the baggage, which I immediately closed up, and forthwith prepared for action. A strong body of about 400 Rebels, who were occupying a tope of trees on my left, evincing a resolute determination to hold their position, I ordered up Captain Simeon's guns, covered by a Company of the 84th under Major Lightfoot. A smart fire was poured upon the guns, The Artillery practice was excellent, and several shells, bursting in the very midst of the Rebels, threw them into confusion, and the Company of the 84th rushing forward at this opportune moment, speedily cleared the enclosure, and drove the Rebels headlong before them. In the meantime, the 35th Regiment, in skirmishing order, advanced rapidly on the main body, who were retiring by our right, still pressed closely by the Cavalry. I continued following the Rebels for some little distance, when the darkness of the night, and the heavy nature of the ground, rendering further pursuit useless, I halted and bivouacked in front of the village of Mujhowlee. In this affair the enemy's precipitate flight and the lateness of the day saved them from severe loss, but they left some 30 Sepoys dead on the field. 22nd October, information having reached me that the enemy had fled south through Huldheea, I accordingly moved at 7 o'clock A. M. in that direction. Here I found Major Sir Henry Havelock, who, having passed the night at Lethan, had marched at day-break for Huldheea.

After he had halted 2 hours, I sent him south to Looloonee. In the meanwhile the Rebels, on the evening of the 21st, enabled by their superior local knowledge, and having the whole country in their interests to elude us, had doubled due west, making for Dinareh and Kochas, a party of them moving through Bhanpore. This, however, was not ascertained for some hours afterwards, and supposing that they had gone south, I regained the direct Sasseram road, and marched to Bickerumgung, whilst Colonel Walter was ordered to move parallel to me, 3 miles distant on my right flank. The Cavalry meanwhile had moved from Looloonee, nearly due west to Bhanpore, and thence to Dinareh, and Major Sir Henry Havelock sending back his information to Colonel Walter, that Officer followed in support towards Dinareh. Resting 4 hours at Dinareh, the Cavalry pressed on to Kochas, and hearing that Major Havelock had reached that place, and thence proceeded south, I marched on the morning of the 23rd from Bickrumgunge to Khuradee, which I reached about 8 P. M. Colonel Walter halted that night about 4 miles to the south of Kochas. The final skirmish between the Rebel Force and the Cavalry had now taken place near the village of Gourie, 13 miles north of the Grand Trunk Road, with only partial success, and without having turned them off their line of march for the hills. After this, their flight was continued due south to the Grand Trunk Road, but they were so closely pursued by the Cavalry, that they had no time to do the slightest damage. Colonel Turner, now at Jehanabad on the Grand Trunk Road, was warned too late of their approach. He made an attempt to cut them off, but his guns and Cavalry coming unexpectedly on an impassable nullah, he was compelled to abandon the pursuit. The Column under my command arrived at Jehanabad on the morning of the 24th, about 12 hours after the Cavalry, and was followed that same evening by Colonel Walter ; both Columns halted. Colonel Turner had already despatched the Cavalry under Sir H. Havelock towards the hills, to which point he was himself about to follow ; they returned next morning, not having been able to overtake the Rebels. I then directed Colonel Turner to take his Column along the left bank of the Soane to watch the Passes in the Kymore hills, and to prevent the enemy crossing into Palamon. I also detached 3 posts from my own Column to watch the passes on the Shahabad side of the hills.

Although it has been to me a source of some regret that my plans for surrounding and compelling the enemy to fight in his entrenchment of Jugdeespore, which had been concerted after the most careful and anxious deliberation, should have been frustrated by the unavoidable absence of one of my Columns on the morning of the assault, yet I venture to flatter myself that the pursuit which subsequently followed was sustained by such unwearied energy and vigour, and was marked by a success so signal, that I was more than compensated for my previous disappointment, and I have no hesitation in saying that this pursuit would have been still more destructive to the enemy, had they not been artfully screened by the inhabitants, every individual of whom, throughout the length and breadth of the District, systematically attempted to mislead and deceive us, and it was only by the most rigid and searching enquiry that we were enabled to keep on the trail of the fugitives

In the various encounters that took place throughout my operations, between seven and eight hundred of the enemy have fallen, besides numbers wounded; and those who, by their wonderful endurance, succeeded in eluding my pursuing Columns, only escaped with their bare lives, an utterly broken, disheartened and demoralized rabble.

And I am happy to add, that the District which was so lately infested by an enemy that could be numbered by thousands, and had held the whole country in terror, is now clear of every armed Rebel.

It is now my duty and gratification to bring to His Lordship's notice the names of those who have given me such cordial support, not only during the present operations, but during the whole time I have had the honor to command these Districts; and in such an extensive command, numbering a body of upwards of 8,000 men, I trust I may be pardoned for mentioning so many Officers.

I have to thank Lieutenant Colonel Turner, C. B., for the very able manner in which he has watched the Grand Trunk Road during the time it has been under his charge. I must also thank this energetic and tried Officer for his conduct in repeated engagements, particularly lately at Nonadee, where he nearly annihilated the enemy opposed to him. Colonel Turner, C. B., makes favorable mention of Major Ross, Commanding Camel Corps; Captain Luxmore, Commanding Detachment 37th Regiment; Captain Rattray, Commanding 1st Bengal Police Battalion; Lieutenant Gurrie, Commanding Detachment of 20th Punjab Infantry; Lieutenant Franklyn, Commanding Detachment Royal Artillery; Lieutenant Baker, Commanding Cavalry 1st Bengal Police Battalion; Lieutenant Gordon, 29th Regiment, Staff Officer; Captain Nicholson, Commissariat Officer, and Mr. Coles, Deputy Magistrate.

To Colonel Dunsford, C. B., I had entrusted very important and responsible duties. He had in the first instance to attack and dislodge an enemy strongly entrenched in position at Buruhpore, and afterwards to direct the movement of the Columns on the west side of the jungle. The admirable way in which these services were performed by this excellent Officer merits my warmest approbation. I regret much that he was severely wounded in attacking the entrenchment of Jugdeespore. Colonel Dunsford, C. B., makes favorable mention of Major Fowler, who commanded 4th Madras Cavalry at the action of Buruhpore; Lieutenant Edwards, Commanding Detachments 20th Punjab Infantry; Major Lightfoot, Commanding 84th; Major O'Brien, 84th Regiment; Captain Morris, 4th Madras Cavalry; Captain Pratt, Commanding Wing 84th; Ensign Lightfoot, Commanding Detachment 20th Punjab Native Infantry; Assistant Surgeons Elliot and Eteson, respectively of the 4th Madras Cavalry and 20th Punjab Infantry, and Gregory, 84th Regiment.

Mr. Garstin, Deputy Magistrate, and Captain Lloyd, Stud Department.

My thanks are also due to Colonel Hutchinson, 35th Regiment, who led his Corps gallantly, and I regret that severe illness should have compelled him to relinquish his command. Colonel Walter, 35th Regiment, has displayed much zeal during his command at Arrah, and has been successful in several affairs with the enemy, and I beg to tender to this Officer my acknowledgments for his co-operation in the recent operations. Colonel Walter mentions favourably Major Butler, Commanding Detachment 2nd Battalion 60th Rifles; Captain Orme, Commanding Detachment 10th Foot; Captain Baring, Staff Officer; Lieutenant Ross, 35th Regiment, Commanding Detachment 1st Bengal Police Battalion; Assistant Surgeon Patterson, 35th, and Lieutenant Shaw, 2nd Battalion 60th Regiment, Field Adjutant.

Major Sir Henry Havelock, detached in Command of the Cavalry, mentions most favorably Captain Bartholomew, mounted Detachment 10th Foot, and Lieutenants Thompson, Bodkin, Corbet, and DeVine, of the 2nd Battalion Military Train, (the first especially), and the distinguished gallantry of Lieutenant Beadon, 3rd Sikh Cavalry. He also mentions Lieutenant Baker, Commanding Cavalry 1st Bengal Police Battalion; Mr. Dunne, Indigo Planter, and Ressaldars Futteh Sing and Fyzoollah Khan, 3rd Seikh Cavalry.

Major Carr, Commanding Madras Rifles; Major Lightfoot, Commanding 84th Regiment; and Captain Snow, 84th, had all charge of Columns, and discharged the duties devolving upon them to my entire satisfaction. Major Carr, in addition to his services on the present occasion, has for some time commanded at Buxar, during which he has more than once encountered and defeated the Rebels, and Major Lightfoot has commanded his Regiment throughout this and the former campaign. To Captain Lisdall, who succeeded to the command of the 35th Regiment on the retirement of Colonel Hutchinson; to Captain Gibb, of the Bengal Artillery; Captain Robertson, Madras Artillery; and to Captain the Hon'ble D. Arbuthnott, Shahabad Police Battalion; Captain Wyatt, Military Train; Doctor Chambers, 35th Regiment, Senior Medical Officer, I am much indebted for the assistance they have afforded me, as also to Captain Simeon, Commanding Bengal Artillery and Officiating Commissary of Ordnance to the Force; to Captain Browne, 35th Regiment, Deputy Judge Advocate to the Force; and Lieutenant Champain, Bengal Engineers. Lieutenant Champain has displayed great ability as an Engineer Officer, and has rendered me great service.

To the Officers comprising my Staff, Major Sir H. M. Havelock, Bart., 18th Regt., D. A. A. General: Major Stevenson, 79th Highlanders, Brigade Major; and Captain Wilkinson, 4th European Light Cavalry, Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General, I am under the greatest obligations. But for their cordial assistance, I could not have carried on the duties entrusted to me and I can safely say, that three more zealous, untiring and intelligent Staff Officers are not in Her Majesty's Army, and I beg to be allowed to commend them to His Lordship's notice. I cannot conclude without mentioning the name of Mr. Alonzo Money, Collector of Shahabad, who accompanied me and was of great service in giving information. This gentleman is as distinguished for his gallantry in the field as for his qualities as a Magistrate. When the enemy escaped from Jugdeespore, I looked about for the Officer whom I thought most capable of conducting a rigorous and difficut Cavalry pursuit. Sir Henry Havelock was the man I fixed upon, as being by his intimate knowledge of the Native language and character, his peculiar aptitude for obtaining information, and his indefatigable perseverance, the most fitted for such a command.

I need hardly say I am not disappointed; the Cavalry under their able and energetic leader were scarcely out of their saddles for five days, during which time they traversed upwards of two hundred miles, over a country so deep that the horses were constantly up to their saddle girths in water. This is the first occasion on which mounted Infantry have been employed in pursuit of a flying enemy, and I can safely say that the experiment was most satisfactory. To the Officers Non-Commissoned Officers and men who so cheerfully supported me in long and harassing marches, frequently wading up to their knees through swamps and water, without tents or baggage of any description I am under the deepest obligations, and to each and all I beg to offer my sincere thanks for their exertions during the past operations.

I beg to forward reports from Colonel Turner, C. B., Colonel Dunsford, C. B., Sir H. Havelock and Colonel Walter, as also a general return of the casualties which have occurred during the operations.

I have, &c.,

The Governor General highly approves of the energetic and gallant conduct of Lieutenant Clemons on the occasion.

From Major-Genl. G. C. Whitlock,
Comdg. Saugor Field Division,

To the Adjt.-Genl. of the Army.

Dated Camp Jeitpore, 25th November 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward for submission to the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, copies of letters reporting the success of an attack made by Lieutenant Clemons, 3rd Madras European Regiment, on a party of Rebels in the village and gurhee of "Putna," which, I trust, will meet with His Lordship's approbation.

I have, &c,

Comdg. Saugor Field Division.

No. 887.

From Brigadier F. Wheler,
Comdg. Saugor District,

To the Assistant Adjutant General,
Saugor Field Division.

Dated Saugor, 15th November 1858.

Sir,

I have great pleasure in forwarding a letter from Lieutenant Clemons, 3rd Madras European Regiment, Commanding a Detachment which left Saugor on the 8th instant, with Treasure, together with copies of two letters from Lieutenant-Colonel Partridge to him, the one asking the Lieutenant for co-operation in an attack on Rebels, and the other thanking him for such co-operation.

Lieutenant Clemons seems to have taken a very active and prominent part in this affair, and to have gained the entire approbation of Lieutenant-Colonel Partridge.

Putna is a fortified town and hill, with a deep jungle on one, and some jungle on all sides. It was stormed in May last by a Detachment 31st Bengal Native Infantry, under Captain Finch and Lieutenant Fellowes; but the town was not destroyed, as it should have been. It is one of the resorts of Jahgurh Bundeelas, and will probably be re-occupied by them in a week.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) F. WHELER, Brigadier,
Comdg. Saugor District.

FROM LIEUTENANT C. R. CLEMONS,
Comdg. Detachment,

TO THE BRIGADE MAJOR,
Saugor District.

Dated Camp Narheet, 14th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Brigadier Commanding, that on the morning of the 13th instant, at the request of Lieutenant-Colonel Partridge, with a Force as per margin, I marched to act in concert with him against the Rebel Village of Putna, situated at the foot of a hill, and surrounded by impenetrable jungle, with a Fort commanding it above.

3rd Madras European Regiment.
1 Lieut. C. R. Clemons.
1 Serjt., 50 Rank and File.
50th Madras Native Infy.
1 Ensign A. G. Howes.
2 „ F. G. Gilchrist.
Surgeon C. W. Pickering, in Medical charge of Detachment.
1 Subadar Major.
3 Havildars.
3 Naicks.
50 Privates.

2. From information received I learnt that the strength of the Rebels was about 1,500; they had apparently abandoned the village, and had advantageously posted themselves in large numbers in the Fort, and among the rocks surrounding it.

3. On the arrival of the Detachment within about 400 yards of the hills, and while Colonel Partridge, Commanding the Force, and Major W. Lamb, Assistant Adjutant General, Lahore Division, who had kindly volunteered his services for the occasion, were reconnoitreing the enemy's position, a heavy fire was opened upon them from the Fort, upon which Colonel Partridge returned to the advanced party, and led them on to the attack, and directed Major Lamb to take the reserve through the village, and advance up the other side of the hill.

4. The skirmishers advanced up the hill in a most dashing style, with the usual cheer, driving the enemy with rapidity from rock to rock, and in less than half an hour the Outworks and Fort were in our possession. The Rebels retreating into the dense jungle, were closely followed up; their loss cannot be determined upon with anything like accuracy, on account of the thickness of the jungle, but some bodies were found.

5. I am happy to say that there were no Casualties in our Detachment.

6. The conduct of Officers and Men met with my warmest approbation.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) C. R. CLEMONS, Lieut.,
Comdg. Detachment.

FROM LIEUT.-COL. S. H. PARTRIDGE,
Comdg. Field Detachment,

TO LIEUTENANT C. R. CLEMONS,
Comdg. Field Detachment,
Madras Army.

Dated Camp Narheet, 13th November 1858.

SIR,

A LARGE body of insurgents being reported in the neighbouring hills (said to be 1,500) who are much disturbing the Country, it occurs to me that we should hardly be performing our duty to Government without attacking them.

If, therefore, you will favor me with your co-operation to the extent of 100 Rank and File, half European and half Native, I think our united resources will be sufficient for their discomfiture and dispersion, and in such a cause I feel assured, the Brigadier Commanding at Saugor will fully approve of such a proceeding.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) S. H. PARTRIDGE, Lieut.-Colonel,
Comdg. Field Detachment,

FROM LIEUT.-COLONEL S. H. PARTRIDGE,

TO LIEUTENANT C. R. CLEMONS,
Comdg. Field Detachment,
Madras Army.

Dated Camp Narheet, 14th November 1858.

SIR,

OUR little affair of yesterday against the village and gurhee of Putna being over, and such an example made of the insurgents as will, I hope, lead to their dispersion, will you allow me the liberty of personally congratulating you upon the part taken by yourself, Officers, and Men in the attack.

As leader of the advance party, we may fairly attribute to you our success in the first place; and the steady conduct of your Officers and Men, under the sharp fire they encountered, I myself witnessed.

I have, &c.,

550 of 19th Regiment N. I.

1,819 Grand Total.

2. Without guns or wheeled carriage, the Rebels were able to move through the mountains and dense jungle, which comprizes the country from Jaclone, proceeding vid Pauly, Narhut, Balabert, to Kunjea. I was therefore compelled to move by Malthon and Doojee by forced marches.

3. On the night of the 24th, I heard that the enemy was at Kimlasa; knowing that he would move during the night, I moved on Kurai at 2 A. M., and at dawn on the 25th, we discerned the Rebel army crossing our front just beyond Kurai.

As I was desirous of bringing my Infantry into action, I had ordered their march one hour before the Cavalry; the consequence was that the Cavalry had only just come up in the rear, when the Infantry, under Colonel Lockhart, having cut the enemy's line of march in half, had wheeled to the right, and part advanced skirmishing. The Infantry had already dispersed the enemy, who were not formed up in order of battle when the Cavalry arrived.

5. Their duty then consisted in rapid pursuit; the ground was of so broken a nature that this could not be easily effected.

The Cavalry accordingly, in three different directions, pursued different bodies of the enemy.

Colonel Curtis, on the right, did not come up with any body of the enemy, who were on his side principally Cavalry, and was unable to advance very far, as the enemy threatened our long line of baggage. Captain Sir W. Gordon Commanded a body consisting of the 17th Lancers, and 3rd Light Cavalry under Captain Oldfield pursued for about 6 miles, and as usual did his duty very efficiently and well, cutting up numbers of the enemy.

Captain Mayne, with about 60 of his Horse, did thorough good service, pursuing the enemy for 9 or 10 miles, and killing about 150.

6. The Infantry followed about 5 miles, clearing villages of the enemy, and occasioning them some loss; the result of the day's proceedings was the cutting off, and driving to the North, about 3,000 of the Rebels, of which about 350 were killed: one half of the remainder threw down their arms, and the remainder were so spread over the face of the country as to make it a matter of difficulty again to re-assemble.

7. The main body under Tantia Topee, passed Kurai about two or three hours before our arrival, on march to the South.

8. It will be seen by the Map that the enemy, on the night of the 23rd, were 8 miles nearer, Kurai by the jungle route; and as this could not be traversed by the Force under my Command, so the enemy were, in fact, at least 20 miles nearer to Kurai than ourselves.

9. The Infantry, by 1 o'clock P. M. on the 25th had traversed 62 miles in sixty hours, 12 miles of which was over broken ground, skirmishing with the enemy.

I solicit to bring this fact prominently to the notice of His Lordship, as a proof of the excellent spirit and devotion of the soldiery.

I have, &c.,

Notice is hereby given, that on Monday, the 10th January 1859, at the hour of Eleven o'clock in the forenoon, will be put up to Sale, at the Exchange Rooms at Calcutta, and sold by Public Auction, for exportation by Sea, the under-mentioned quantity of Opium, the Provision of 1857-58, subject to the following conditions, viz. :—

Produce of Behar Agency	...	Chests 1,915
Ditto of Benares ditto	...	„ 345
Total Chests	...	2,260

Conditions of Sale.

1. The Opium will be sold for exportation by Sea only, and no Certificate will be granted, except to cover such export.

2. The Opium will be ordinarily offered for Sale at an upset price of Rupees 400 per Chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which Provision is made by Clause 12 of the Conditions of Sale.

3. The Sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A. M., and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P. M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertized for Sale shall remain unsold, the Sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a Public Holiday) at the hour of 11 A. M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of, or if the quantity of 2,260 Chests shall not be sold on the day advertized, the Board may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future Sale.

4. Each lot to contain Five Chests.

5. A deposit in a Promissory Note, either for 25 per Cent even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or for Rupees 1,000 at the discretion of the Officer superintending the Sale, shall be made by the purchaser in the Sale Room, and before the lot is registered in the Sale Book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or by substitution of other Public Securities of the Bengal Government, on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of Saturday, the 15th January, or on the other hand failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or deposit of other Public Securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such Conditions of Resale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit, and all losses and expenses, whatsoever attending such Resale, shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such Resale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of Sale, under the last mentioned Condition, if remaining unredeemed on the said 15th January will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 15th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertized for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M., of Tuesday, the 25th January 1859, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the Cash deposit of 25 per Cent even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or Chests shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Resale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such Resale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or order and it is to be clearly understood that the Certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lot or of a different number of lots, or Chests, whether more or less than the number of lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of Public Securities under the fifth of the present conditions, will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue, is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time of deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per Cent. even money of the amount so bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession at the same price and under the same conditions any number of lots of the same Agency Opium to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and all and every plea and pleas to the Jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

No. 2. Report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The Public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1857-58, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares and a Statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue. Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for Sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the Sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The Public are hereby informed that in addition to the quantity above-mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities more or less of Behar and Benares Opium of 1857-58 will be brought to Sale in the year 1859, on or about the dates specified below. If it be intended to send a letter by way of Marseilles, it must be so marked and an additional Postage of 2 annas for every quarter of an ounce paid upon it.

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book-Packets by Post:—

1*st*.—The Postage must be pre-paid in full, by means of Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet on its cover.

2*nd*.—Every Packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd*.—The Packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, parchment or vellum (to the exclusion, however, of letters whether sealed or open) and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, publication, &c., or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c. be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books; and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto.

4*th*.—The Packet must not contain any letter, closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter; or any communication of the nature of a letter, written or printed in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.

5*th*.—No Book-Packet can be received if it exceeds two feet in length, width, or depth.

6*th*.—Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any letter or any communication of the nature of a letter written or printed in it or upon its cover will be charged with Letter Postage.

7*th*.—If a Packet be found to contain any letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet, charged with full Postage as an unpaid letter, together with an additional Book-rate; that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than half a lb the remainder of the Packet, if duly pre-paid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8*th*.—If a Packet be not sufficiently pre-paid with Stamps but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book-rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book-Postage together with an additional Book-rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book-rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9*th*.—No Book-Packet weighing more than three lbs can be sent to or from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10*th*.—The Colonial Book-Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11*th*.—In no case can a Book-Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the letter rate of Postage,) through a Foreign Country.

Special Notice is directed to the subjoined Clauses of Rules, the want of attention to which has occasioned the Post Office much inconvenience.

2*nd*.—A separate instruction will be required for every change of address, and no instruction will be attended to for more than three months after its receipt.

3*rd*.—Under Section XXIII. of Act XVII. of 1854, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in any Post Office. For example, if a letter posted in Calcutta and addressed to Hooghly is, under instructions which may have been received from the addressee, re-directed in the Calcutta Post Office and sent to Barrackpore, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to the Postage which would have been due, had the letter been despatched to Hooghly according to its original address.

4*th*.—The practice of giving instructions to the Officers of the Post Office to intercept and re-direct letters, not only imposes much labor upon them, but in large Offices seriously retards the delivery and despatch of the Mails. A register of instructions regarding changes of address will be kept in every Post Office, but it must be understood, that it is impossible to guarantee that they shall be attended to, except in the case of letters received for delivery.

The Railway Trains leave Howrah, at 9-20 A. M. daily (Sundays excepted.) The Receiving Houses are opened daily from 9½ A. M. to 4 P. M.

There is only one delivery of letters at the General Post Office on Sundays, and Banghy Parcels are neither received nor despatched on that day.

	Rs.	As.	Pie.

Ditto exceeding ½ oz. but not exceeding 1 oz.	0	8	0

And so on adding 8 annas for each oz. or fraction thereof which includes Inland Postage.

Notice.

The following Extract of an Order of the Government of India, No. 884, of the 13th July 1855.

"No Public Officer is authorized to send Covers on the Public Service by Post, without payment of Postage, unless he is at the time on active duty and in charge of the Office by virtue of which the privilege is enjoyed. All letters superscribed as 'on the Public Service only' must, even though the Postage thereon be not paid, be received and opened by the Officer to whom they are addressed, but if any such, or partially paid letter so superscribed, and addressed to any Officer except a Secretary to Government be found when opened, to relate to the private affairs of the Sender, the Postage will be debited to him and he will be further liable to be dealt with under Section XLVII. Act No. XVII. of 1854.

His Honor in Council further directs that unpaid or insufficiently paid letters addressed to any such Officer or Department and not superscribed 'on the Public Service only' be refused, or if opened that it be at the risk and cost of the opener."

Letters, &c., for Eastern and Southern routes posted up to 5 P. M. will be forwarded to their destination at 8 P. M.

On Sundays, the Letter Box will be cleared twice, viz., 12 noon and 4 P. M., and letters, &c., posted after the latter hour will be brought to the Calcutta Post Office the following morning.

LETTERS arriving at the Presidency Towns, by Mail Steamers will be immediately sorted for delivery according to the address alone, without any reference to instructions which may have been received regarding change of address; such changes will be left to be discovered by the Delivery Officers, and be corrected in the forward and unclaimed Departments of the Office.

Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon, upon every letter, without exception, which may be re-directed in the Post Office.

Letters, &c., received by the Steamer will be delivered at the Window of the Post Office only to parties who have registered their names. Applications to the Post Office on the day of the Steamer's arrival to intercept and re-direct letters, &c., cannot be attended to, as they are found not only to impose much labour but seriously retard the delivery and despatch of the Mails.

ALL Banghy Parcels being registered before despatch it is needless to have a Banghy Parcel specially registered by payment of the Fee of 4 annas as no additional precaution can be taken of a specially Registered Parcel which is not taken in the case of every ordinary Banghy Parcel.

UNDER the orders of Government, no fourth delivery of letters by the Post Office is allowed. Mails which are received by Steamers from Suez at so late an hour in the day as not to admit of the letters being taken out for delivery by 6 P. M. are detained till the following morning, but parties who have registered their names under the usual fee, are entitled to receive their letters, and Marseilles Newspapers so soon as the Mails are sorted, and which is generally about 2½ hours after receipt of the Mails at the Post Office.

A NUMBER of Letters and Newspapers for parties residing at Calcutta are from their being directed to the Suburbs* of the Town, mistaken for places in the Mofussil, and are enclosed in the Boxes superscribed "Inland" by the London Post Office and are not in consequence discovered by the Indian Post Office, till after the local delivery has taken place. This will account for some of the letters, &c., reaching the addressees at a late hour.

ADJT. GENL'S. OFFICE;
ALLAHABAD,
The 21st December 1858.

TO THE MAJOR OF BRIGADE,
with Brigadier Horsford, C. B.
Camp Kooelee, 24th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of Brigadier Horsford, C. B., that agreeably to instructions received, I marched from Mahonah with the Troops as per margin, at day-break yesterday, and at about half past eight o'clock arrived before the small Fort of Rehora, situated on the right bank of the Goomtee, about nine miles from Mahonah.

Dett. F. Troop, R. H. A.
1 6-Pr. Gun 1 12-pr. Howtz.
1 Officer, 52 men.
Dett. 2nd Company, R. A.
2 5½-inch Mortars.
1 Officer, 13 men.
Madras Sappers.
1 Officer, 41 men.
Dett. 7th Hussars.
4 Officers, 78 men.
Dett. Hodson's Horse.
1 Native Officer, 25 men.
1st Madras Fusiliers.
28 Officers, 566 men.
5th Punjab Rifles.
2 Officers, 3 Native Officers, 137 men.

I halted the Troops, while Captain Steel, the Civil Officer with the Detachment, sent Her Majesty's Proclamation into the Fort, with an intimation to the Rebels, of whom there were about 200, (fifty or sixty being Sepoys of the regular army) that on their laying down their arms they would be spared. An answer was shortly received to the effect that the Fort and all the munitions of war it contained would be surrendered without opposition. Captain Steel accordingly entered the Fort, followed by the Detachment of the Punjab Rifles, but found that many of the Rebels were escaping with their arms, some across the Goomtee, which runs close under the wall of the Fort, and some towards Kooelee, a Fort about two miles higher up the river. The Punjabees poured a fire into them, and followed the latter along the bank of the river in the direction of Kooelee, while I took the Horse Artillery Guns, supported by Cavalry and Infantry, round to intercept the fugitives, but owing to the numerous ravines intersecting the high bank, did not arrive in time to do more than throw a few shells into such bodies as were still within range on the opposite side.

I had decided on encamping here with a view to demolishing as much of the Fort as possible, when a report reached me from the Officer Commanding the Detachment Punjab Rifles, who, in the heat of pursuit, had followed the Rebels in the direction of Kooelee, that he had suddenly come under the fire of that Fort, and requested support.

It being still early in the day, and Captain Steel having arranged with the Karinda of the Chowdry of Lorbela for the demolition of the Fort of Rehora, I considered it an object to have an additional day to dismantle that of Kooelee before rejoining the Brigadier; as also more advisable to support the Punjabees than to withdraw them from such a distance.

I therefore resumed my march, and about half past twelve o'clock arrived before Kooelee, which, according to the information I received, was held by from 100 to 200 Rebels, of whom some 50 or 60 were said to be regular Sepoys.

A similar offer of terms was made but rejected.

A village between the road by which we approached and the Fort was then cleared by the fire of the 2 mortars and of 2 Companies of the Madras Fusiliers, whom I placed on the bank of the river to watch the ghat, and also prevent the Rebels from doubling back. I then moved, with the mortars and the remainder of the Fusiliers, round the village to the West face of the Fort, of which I obtained a view at a distance of about 350 yards.

While a fire was kept up by the mortars and the supporting Company of Fusiliers, the place was more closely reconnoitred by Captain Scott, Field Engineer, and myself, until we discovered the approach to the gate, and a position from which the Artillery fire would be more effective.

To this latter the mortars and the two guns were brought, and the latter in a short time opened a practicable breach in the wall in front of the gate, but as this only served to disclose the fact of the approach being strongly flanked by defences, on which the Artillery with me could have little effect, and as I did not consider the speedy possession of a place of this nature worth the sacrifice of life it must have entailed, I decided on suspending operations till I should receive further instructions from the Brigadier, and withdrew the Troops to Camp, which had been pitched about a mile from the Fort, and from which picquets were thrown out to prevent the egress of the Rebels on this side the river.

About midnight, information reached me that the Rebels had evacuated the Fort, crossed the Goomtee, and fled to Kyarnowgong. The former intelligence I found this morning to be correct.

About 40 of the Rebels were killed in the pursuit from Rehora; their loss at Kooclee I have been unable to ascertain.

It grieves me deeply to have to report the loss on our part of Captain Scott, Field Engineer, who was shot while endeavouring more nearly to reconnoitre the gate. I need not dilate on his value, as it was well known to the Brigadier, but must express my sorrow at being unable to return him my thanks for his zealous and active services during the day.

I have nothing further to report than that the conduct of both Officers and Men was admirable, although they were under arms for a protracted period without being allowed that full play to their efforts which would have secured them instant success. The Artillery and the supporting Companies of Fusiliers worked gallantly and steadily under a harassing fire.

Captain Steel, Assistant Commissioner, afforded me every assistance in his power.

I have the honor to enclose a return of Casualties, as also of the captured munitions of war.

7. No tender of money, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or Public Securities on account of Opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before 4 o'clock of the 15th January, will be afterwards accepted.

8. The Opium now advertized for Sale shall be paid for within fifteen clear days from the day of Sale, that is to say, no Treasury Receipt will be accepted in payment after 4 P. M., of Tuesday, the 25th January 1859, and in case any lots of such Opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the Cash deposit of 25 per Cent even money of the amount for which each lot is knocked down, or Rupees 1,000 for each lot, or any Public Securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or Chests shall be forfeited, and the Opium be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit, and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the Resale and the amount at which the Opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such Resale.

9. Purchasers taking out Certificates or orders for the delivery of Opium after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase which they may desire to be included in each Certificate or order and it is to be clearly understood that the Certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other Certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lot or of a different number of lots, or Chests, whether more or less than the number of lots or Chests originally required to be included in each Certificate or order.

10. No Sub-Treasurer's Receipts or deposit of Public Securities under the fifth of the present conditions, will be received in this Office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the Sale Book or his authorized Agent. The receipt for deposit of Public Securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the Securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

11. The Officer superintending the Sale on the part of the Board of Revenue, is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time of deposit either in Bank of Bengal Notes, Sub-Treasurer's Receipts, or other Government Securities, equal to 25 per Cent. even money of the amount so bid, or to Rupees 1,000 for each lot.

12. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the Sale, it is hereby notified that the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall be competent at any time during the Sale to withdraw any unsold lot and immediately to put it up again for Sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained, and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for Sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the Officer of Government superintending the Sale shall also be competent to dispose in the same manner of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of 400 Rupees specified in the Second Clause of these Conditions.

13. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession at the same price and under the same conditions any number of lots of the same Agency Opium to the extent of twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of that Opium to complete the said twenty-five, but not otherwise.

14. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the Sale of the Opium included in this Notification or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal and all and every plea and pleas to the Jurisdiction of the said Supreme Court shall be waived.

15. The following papers, together with samples of the Opium for Sale, will be exhibited for inspection on the day of Sale, or may be seen previously to that date by application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

No. 1. Certificate of the Opium now advertized for Sale.

No. 2. Report of the examination of such Opium.

16. The Public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the Behar and Benares Opium for the year 1857-58, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years, to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of Opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at Behar and Benares and a Statement of the average weight of the Chests indiscriminately taken for the purpose of comparison from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta may be seen on application at the Office of the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue. Four Chests of Behar and Benares Opium, viz., two of the Season's provision under Sale, and two of the previous Season will be also shown to the purchasers at the Exchange Rooms on the day of Sale, to enable them to judge of the state of preservation in which the drug has kept.

17. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the Opium advertized for Sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on application at the Office of the Board of Revenue, but in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of Opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to Chests after the Sale and delivery of the Opium for Shipment.

18. The Public are hereby informed that in addition to the quantity above-mentioned for Sale in January, the following quantities more or less of Behar and Benares Opium of 1857-58 will be brought to Sale in the year 1859, on or about the dates specified below. The Board, however, reserve to themselves the right of altering these dates should circumstances render it expedient to do so:—

It is hereby further notified, that under the 6th Article of the Convention between Great Britain and France, dated the 7th March 1815, quoted below, the Agents in India of the French Government, or persons duly appointed by them, are entitled to demand, that out of the quantities of Behar and Benares Opium declared as above for Sale at the twelve Sales in the months of January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November and December 1859, there shall be delivered to them, at the average of the particular Sale or Sales to which the Opium so applied for may belong a quantity not exceeding in the aggregate 300 Chests, and the Agents of the French Government must make requisitions for the whole of the Opium required by them during the year, within thirty days after the publication of this Advertisement, specifying the particular Sale or Sales from which the quantity of Opium is intended to be taken. If the Agents of the French Government shall not make the requisition for Opium within the time above-mentioned, the entire quantity of about 27,173 Chests of Behar and Benares, as above estimated, will be brought to Sale in the usual manner, and if they shall make application for a quantity of Opium to be delivered to them out of the quantity advertized for Sale at each or any of the Twelve Sales above mentioned, but shall not pay for it within the prescribed period of payment, the Government of Bengal reserves to itself the right of disposing of the Opium which the French Authorities may so fail to pay for, either by increasing the quantity reserved at the Sale next ensuing the date of payment, or by selling it at a sale to be held expressly for the purpose.

Legislative Council of India.

THE 8TH JANUARY 1859.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 30th December 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 8th January 1859), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XLI OF 1858.

An Act to amend Regulation X. 1829 of the Bengal Code (for the collection of Stamp Duties.)

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by the General Rule laid down at the end of Schedule A annexed to Regulation X. 1829 of the Bengal Code, it is declared that, if any Deed, Instrument, or Document specified in that Schedule shall not be contained in one sheet or piece of paper or other material, it shall suffice that one sheet shall bear the stamp, provided that the seals or signatures of the parties and witnesses be thereupon: and whereas the said Rule has been productive of inconvenience, and there is reason to believe that many Deeds, Instruments, and Documents have been executed since the said Regulation came into effect in respect of which the said Rule has not been complied with; and it is expedient to repeal the said Rule, and to provide for the reception in evidence of such Deeds as aforesaid; It is declared and enacted as follows:—

Part of Schedule A Regulation X. 1829 repealed.

I. The above Rule is hereby repealed.

Stamp on Deeds contained in more than one sheet of paper.

II. Every Deed, Instrument, or Document specified in the said Schedule, which is or shall be contained in more than one sheet of piece of paper or other material, shall be deemed to be sufficiently stamped if any one or more of such sheets or pieces of paper or other material shall bear the requisite stamp, or stamps equal in value to the requisite stamp, whether the signatures or seals of the parties and witnesses shall or shall not be upon such sheet or sheets. The above provision shall apply to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents executed before this Act, as well as to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents which shall hereafter be executed. Provided as regards Deeds, Instruments, and Documents which shall be executed after the first day of January 1859, that every sheet or piece of paper or other material which shall contain any part of such Deed, Instrument, or Document shall be stamped with a Government Stamp of the value of at least one anna.

Proviso as regards Deeds &c. to be hereafter executed.

Review of judgment in certain cases in which Deeds &c. have been rejected as not stamped.

III. In any case in which a Deed, Instrument, or Document has been rejected by any Court upon the ground that the same was not stamped within the meaning of the above-mentioned Rule, any party injured by the decision may obtain a review of judgment if the application be made within six months from the passing of this Act, and if the Court to which the application is made be satisfied that the Deed, Instrument, or Document, if admitted, would have led to a different decision upon the merits of the case.

IV. Nothing in the last preceding Section shall extend to any case in which a final decision was given more than six years before the passing of this Act.

Operation of Section III limited.

TO THE SECY. TO THE GOVT. OF BENGAL, Calcutta.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward extract of a letter from Mr. Bingham, Honorary Magistrate of Chyhepore, to Mr. Money, which gives a more full description of Brigadier Douglas' surprise of the Rebels at Sulya, on the night of the 24th, than I have hitherto been able to furnish. Mr. Bingham's information seems throughout this little campaign on the hills to have been very good; and he has been most indefatigable in his exertions to keep up the Troops well supplied, and to furnish them with good guides, while he has done much to induce the Chynepore people to afford us a hearty support. He eminently deserves the thanks of Government.

2. Mr. G. Drummond too, I may observe, another Honorary Magistrate, accompanied Colonel Walter's Column, as Civil Officer, from Arrah to the Kymore Hills, and has been of the greatest assistance to that Officer from his thorough knowledge of the people and the country. He also well merits some acknowledgment from Government.

I have, &c.,

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE;
Patna Division,
The 29th of November 1858.

Extract from a letter dated 25th November 1858, from Mr. Bingham, Honorary Magistrate of Chynepore, to Mr. Money.

From intelligence which I received about noon yesterday, the Brigadier determined to make a night attack, and attempt a surprise. The Rebels, at least 250 in number, yesterday morning plundered Burdehra and then moved on to Dahar, from thence after dark to Sulya in the same valley, about 12 miles from this place; not a word was said to any one, but at half-past seven a small Force was quietly got under arms, and marched off without noise; the intelligence was perfect, although we were afraid the moon, which was bright, would betray us; but we took no baggage, so were enabled to move quietly. When we reached Dahar, it was about 11 P. M., and we found the enemy had left their quarters at Dahar, after night fall, and gone to Sulya, but were still there: so we moved on quietly till, on the East of the village, on the bank of the Soorah river, we saw their watch fires in the open, under 3 or 4 large Pepul trees. The Brigadier immediately extended part of the Force in skirmishing order, and the whole rapidly, but silently, advanced. The only sentry they had awake was bayoneted without a murmur, and the enemy did not perceive us till we were within 20 yards of them; and to complete their confusion a withering volley from about 100 Rifles was poured into them, and with a cheer we rushed on with the bayonet. About 50 at least of the enemy were killed; how many more I cannot say, as we followed them up sharp into the jungle, and several leaders sunk in the river. The surprise was so complete, and their confusion so great, that they did not attempt to fire a single shot, but tried their best to get away. They were all Sepoys of the 40th, 37th, 72nd, 5th, 13th, and other Corps, and a Subadar of the 72nd was killed. We took 116 muskets and matchlocks, the latter of which we broke them (?) away, having no carriage, 153 swords, their cooking pots and 16 ponies, all their clothes, they had not time to put on their shoes, a number more of muskets are scattered in the jungle, and several are known to be in the river. They took away very few, if any weapons with them, and I think that party may be considered as fairly dispersed.

TO THE BRIGADE MAJOR,

Brigadier Horsford's Field Force.

Camp Hydergurh, 30th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier, that yesterday afternoon, November the 29th, immediately on receiving the order, the Force as per margin paraded and left Camp exactly at 3 P. M., to pursue the force of the enemy under Banee Madho, which was reported to have crossed the Jugdespore Road about 8 miles from Camp, on its way towards the Goomtee.

F. Troop, B. H. Artillery.
Men 93
1 12-pounder Howitzer.
3 6-pr. Field Guns, under Major the Hon'ble D. McD. Fraser.
7th Hussars.
Sabres 235
under Major F. W. Horne.
Hodson's Horse.
Sabres 65
under Lieut. T. J. Watson, 46th N. I.
Total 393

My orders being to pursue them towards the river, hasten their movements, and compel them if possible o cross, and not to let them fall back on Jugdespore, talso to avoid all the nullahs near the river, 25 Sowars were sent forward to obtain information.

The Force proceeded rapidly for about 6 miles on the Jugdespore Road, when we came upon the traces of the enemy, where they had crossed the road; we at once turned off to the left, and followed their tracks for about 3 miles at a gallop.

The Sowars who had been sent on, now returned and brought us good information, and we also heard from some villagers that the enemy had halted, and were taking their dinners in some topes of trees, a short distance in our front.

The ground had now become very difficult for Artillery and Cavalry to move rapidly over, being full of very wide ditches, and parts of it very jungly and wooded.

After going about a quarter of a mile further we found a large body of the enemy in a tope, who at once opened fire on us with their muskets and matchlocks, and their Cavalry came out to the front of the tope. We galloped up to within 200 yards of them and opened fire with two guns. Their Cavalry at once bolted, and the Infantry started off also into the khetes and jungle. They left in great haste, leaving their dinners cooking on the fires.

Finding that the main body appeared, by the noise and dust, to be to our right, I wheeled to the right, and followed for about a mile, when we came upon a body of the enemy in a tope of trees, with a bank in front, who appeared determined to make a stand, and who opened a very sharp fire, by which 2 Drivers of the Artillery were unfortunately wounded.

This party were evidently Sepoys, as their fire was that of drilled men.

As it was impossible to charge, owing to the ground in which they were, we gave them several rounds of case, which had the effect of at once starting them, and we afterwards found several dead bodies in this tope.

We then pushed on, the enemy being all now in full flight, dropping their arms, baggage, lotas, slippers, &c., on the way, and all making straight towards the Goomtee.

The country had become very difficult for Cavalry and Artillery, without Infantry, and it was nearly dark. On again overtaking them, and coming within about 200 yards of a large body of them in full flight, our Artillery gave them eight parting rounds of case, which appeared much to expedite their movements, and as it was now a quarter past 6, the sun had set, and it was dark, we at once started for Camp.

I did not consider the ground in which we were, over which we had been riding for the last three miles, as at all safe for Cavalry and Artillery to picquet in for the night, and therefore decided at once on returning to Camp.

From the information we received, we must have been about a mile and a half or two miles from the river, and I do not believe there was any chance of the enemy stopping until they were well on the other side of it, from the rapidity with which they were going when we left them.

As far as I could ascertain, the number of the enemy killed must have been about 50 men.

The fire of the Royal Horse Artillery under command of Major the Honorable D. McD. Fraser, was exceedingly accurate and good, and had great effect.

The 7th Hussars under command of Major F. W. Horne were as usual perfectly steady.

The Sowars of Hodson's Horse under command of Lieutenant T. J. Watson behaved very well. They cut up some of the enemy, and I regret to say that 3 of them were wounded.

The Force arrived in Camp at ½ past 10 P. M., having marched about 23 or 24 miles.

My thanks are due to Major F. W. Horne, who commanded the 7th Hussars, and gave me every assistance; to Major the Honorable D. McD. Fraser, who commanded the Royal Horse Artillery, for the energy and skill he displayed in the management of his guns over a very difficult country; to Lieutenant T. J. Watson, of the 46th Native Infantry, Interpreter to the 7th Hussars, who commanded the Detachment of Hodson's Horse in a most efficient manner, and was of great service to me in obtaining information.

The above provision shall apply to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents executed before this Act, as well as to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents which shall hereafter be executed. No. 275.

To the Military Secretary, &c., &c., &c.,

Head Quarters.

Camp Etiyah, 1st November 1858.

Sir,

I regret to find I have inadvertently forgotten to mention the name of Major Martin, of the 4th Irregular Cavalry, in my Despatch of the operations of the Cavalry Brigade from the commencement of the Mutiny up to the time the Army was joined by Sir Colin Campbell, now Lord Clyde, in Oude.

On the 19th June 1857, when a severe Action was fought by the Troops at Delhi, Major Martin was placed by me in command of a force of European and Native Cavalry, which were employed in supporting two Guns under command of Lieutenant Bishop, Bengal Horse Artillery. Major Martin was with these Guns during the whole action under a very heavy fire, and brought his force from the field after the conclusion of the fight.

I have the honor to request you will do me the favor to lay this before the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, and I trust should it meet with his approval, that it may be forwarded on to the Horse Guards.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

The Government Securities belonging to the Bank represent the sum of Rs. 26,00,000 of the 5 per Cent. Loan of 1856-57. The amount exhibited in the above Statement is the estimated value, at 8 per Cent. Discount. To meet this depreciation the sum of Rs. 2,08,000 has been taken from the Reserve Fund Account.

The amount of Public Securities in hand on the 31st ultimo in THE DEPOSITORS DEPARTMENT was Rs. 5,20,97,501; the total Commission received during the Half-year, Rs. 23,406-7-3 and the charges for Establishment, &c., of the Department, Rs. 9,153-7-11.

Frauds have been discovered to have been perpetrated by some of the subordinate Native Officers of the Bank Note Exchange Department, in surreptitiously introducing lost and stolen notes into parcels of notes intended for cancellation, and taking therefrom notes of a like amount. The guilty parties have not yet been detected, but those Officers upon whom strong suspicion rested of being accessories to the frauds, have been dismissed, and a more efficient system of check to such practices introduced. The full amount Rs. 20,100, thus fraudulently abstracted, has been recovered from the Khazanchee, who has the appointment of, and is responsible for, the fidelity of the Officers of the Department.

Legislative Council of India.

THE 8TH JANUARY 1859.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 30th December 1858 (communicated to the Legislative Council on the 8th January 1859), and is hereby promulgated for general information:—

ACT No. XLI OF 1858.

An Act to amend Regulation X. 1829 of the Bengal Code (for the collection of Stamp Duties.)

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by the General Rule laid down at the end of Schedule A annexed to Regulation X. 1829 of the Bengal Code, it is declared that, if any Deed, Instrument, or Document specified in that Schedule shall not be contained in one sheet or piece of paper or other material, it shall suffice that one sheet shall bear the stamp, provided that the seals or signatures of the parties and witnesses be thereupon: and whereas the said Rule has been productive of inconvenience, and there is reason to believe that many Deeds, Instruments, and Documents have been executed since the said Regulation came into effect in respect of which the said Rule has not been complied with; and it is expedient to repeal the said Rule, and to provide for the reception in evidence of such Deeds as aforesaid; It is declared and enacted as follows:—

Part of Schedule A Regulation X. 1829 repealed.

I. The above Rule is hereby repealed.

Stamp on Deeds contained in more than one sheet of paper.

II. Every Deed, Instrument, or Document specified in the said Schedule, which is or shall be contained in more than one sheet or piece of paper or other material, shall be deemed to be sufficiently stamped if any one or more of such sheets or pieces of paper or other material shall bear the requisite stamp, or stamps equal in value to the requisite stamp, whether the signatures or seals of the parties and witnesses shall or shall not be upon such sheet or sheets. The above provision shall apply to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents executed before this Act, as well as to Deeds, Instruments, and Documents which shall hereafter be executed. Provided as regards Deeds, Instruments, and Documents which shall be executed after the first day of January 1859, that every sheet or piece of paper or other material which shall contain any part of such Deed, Instrument, or Document shall be stamped with a Government Stamp of the value of at least one anna.

Proviso as regards Deeds &c. to be hereafter executed.

Review of judgment in certain cases in which Deeds &c. have been rejected as not stamped.

III. In any case in which a Deed, Instrument, or Document has been rejected by any Court upon the ground that the same was not stamped within the meaning of the above-mentioned Rule, any party injured by the decision may obtain a review of judgment if the application be made within six months from the passing of this Act, and if the Court to which the application is made be satisfied that the Deed, Instrument, or Document, if admitted, would have led to a different decision upon the merits of the case.

IV. Nothing in the last preceding Section shall extend to any case in which a final decision was given more than six years before the passing of this Act.

Operation of Section III limited.

Clerk of the Council.

Fort William, the 15th January 1859.

Notification.—The following Despatch, No. 36 of 1858, dated the 30th November, from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information :—

Para. 1. In your letter, dated the 14th August (No. 100) 1858, you report that, in "order to test the accuracy of an opinion which the Lieutenant-"Governor of Bengal believed to be gaining "ground both in England and in India to the "effect that Native Christians were excluded from "employment in the Public Service in this coun-"try, as such, and because they were Christians, "without reference to their fitness," Mr. Halliday had called on the principal Officers employed under his jurisdiction for a report as to "the employment "of Native Christians in the Public Service or "their exclusion from it." And you forward an abstract of the replies made to this reference, a copy of which you caused to be placed on the Editor's table at Calcutta, with a view to its obtaining the publicity desired by the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. It is evident from the replies made to the enquiries of the Lieutenant-Governor, that no grounds exist for the impression which it was the object of Mr. Halliday to remove; and that the true explanation of the comparatively small number of that class who are engaged in the Public Service, is to be found in their small number in respect to the rest of the population, their generally low standard of qualification, and their preference either for trade or agriculture, or, in the case of those better educated, for employment in connection with Missionary operations.

3. This result of the enquiries of the Lieutenant-Governor is such as I should have been prepared to expect, and is quite satisfactory. As far as can be judged from the replies of the different Officers, the principle on which they have acted is that the applicant best qualified for the vacant situation should be appointed, whatever might be his Creed. This is the correct principle which ought to guide Public Officers in the selection of individuals for subordinate employment, and it is accordingly unnecessary to issue any fresh orders for the guidance of the Public Officers in the Bengal Presidency in this matter.

4. It is proper, however, that any misapprehension which may exist on this subject among persons unconnected with the Public Service should be corrected; and I trust that this object will have been sufficiently attained by your having caused the abstract of replies to be thrown open to the conductors of the Public Press.

5. I have no reason to think that there has been any exclusion of Christians, as such from the Public Service in any of the other Presidencies. It will nevertheless be proper to communicate to the several subordinate Governments the result of the enquiries made in Bengal, and the approval which the general principle there acted on has received from me in Council.

FROM THE MAJOR-GENERAL COMDG. MALWA DN., TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

Allahabad.

Camp Lullutpoor, Head Quarters, M. D. A.,
The 22nd October 1858.

SIR,

I have the honor to inform you, for His Lordship the Commander-in-Chief's information, that having marched on the 18th instant from Balabeit to Narhut, for the purpose of covering Tehree, I received information at midnight that the enemy had marched from Lullutpoor to Sindwaho, and were that night at that place and the neighbouring villages, evidently with an intention of turning the protected ghats of the Jamni River, and passing to the East.

2. At 4 A. M., 19th October, I marched for Sindwaho, Force as per margin, expecting to reach it before the Rebels had passed beyond it; however the darkness of the morning, and the impossibility of finding the road prevented our arrival, until about half past 8 A. M., when I found the Rebels (aware of our approcah from a bugle having been sounded contrary to orders) drawn up on a hill beyond Sindwaho, on the road to Marownee.

3. Their force was about 10,000 fighting men, amongst whom were vast numbers of Sepoys and Regulars of Contingents, with 4 guns.

4. As I did not intend to permit them to proceed to the East, so I rapidly advanced with a portion of my Cavalry parallel to their extreme left.

5. The enemy, aware of my intention, came down in strength and boldly attacked the Cavalry (8th Hussars and 1st Bombay Lancers); but were gallantly charged and driven back by those Regiments and 17th Lancers.

6. The Horse Artillery, having now arrived on the ground with the rest of the Cavalry, were played upon by the enemy's guns.

7. At this moment the Infantry were required; and Captain Cameron with the 92nd Highlanders, Colonel Hope with 71st Regiment, both in line, and Captain LeMarchand's 9-pounder battery came up on our left flank, followed by the 19th Regiment Native Infantry on their left rear, and drove the enemy up the hill.

8. The enemy then tried to turn both flanks, and the Horse Artillery and some Cavalry were so hardly pressed on the right by the enemy, posted in a field of high corn, as to enforce the necessity of bringing up the 19th Native Infantry, and grape was eventually necessary to drive the Rebels back.

9. The 92nd Highlanders also had to wheel to their left, and resist a flank attack on our extreme left.

10. The 71st Regiment still advanced steadily to the front up the hill under Lieutenant-Colonel Hope, and drove the enemy back; and the 4 guns of the enemy were captured by the combined movement of the 71st and 92nd Regiments.

11. The enemy now retreated at all points, and a general pursuit was made; the heaviness of the ground, being nearly all cultivated land and its broken nature, caused the pursuit to be slow. The enemy constantly rallied, or rather got massed, and Lieutenant-Colonel Blake with his Horse Artillery, and Captain LeMarchand with his Horse Battery, were frequently obliged to open fire to compel their retreat.

12. The pursuit was continued about 9 miles, and was eventually checked by the extreme difficulty of the country and its jungly nature, and the division of the enemy's force into small parties.

13. The ability and zeal with which Lieutenant-Colonel Lockhart commanded his Brigade, permits me to bring his name prominently to the notice of His Lordship. Colonel DeSalis commanded his Cavalry with zeal.

14. These Officers, whose separate Reports I enclose, record with approbation the names of those Officers who commanded portions of Regiments under their command, viz. :—

and also of their respective Staff Officers,

Captain Parker,	Comdg. Wing.	H. M.'s 71st Bt. Infy.
Lieut. Jenkins,	„	H. M.'s 8th Hussars.

15. Colonel DeSalis specially records the steadiness of the Horse Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Blake, when attacked by the enemy's Infantry in close proximity in some high jowaree crops.

16. Lieutenant-Colonel Curtis, 1st Lancers, in separate Command during a portion of the day (whose Report I also forward) brings specially to notice the zeal of Major Chetwode, in Command of the 8th Hussars, and the boldness of his personal exploits, as does Colonel DeSalis of the gallantry of Lieutenant Wood, of the 17th Lancers, who (having from paucity of Officers in the 3rd Cavalry, volunteered during the campaign to Command a Troop of the 3rd Light Cavalry,) on this occasion almost single handed came up to and attacked a body of the enemy.

17. On one occasion, after the enemy's Cavalry had been repulsed, Lieutenant-Colonel Curtis's Column of Cavalry were brought to a check by a deep gully; some few got across, gallantly led by some young Officers of various Corps, who all had personal encounters with the enemy, and whose merits are recorded by Lieutenant-Colonel Curtis. In all these records of approbation I cordially concur.

18. I am much indebted to my Staff for their active exertion in the field, viz. :—
Capt. St. John, 92nd Hdrs. Actg. Asst. Qr.-Mr. Genl.
Capt. Champion, 24th Regt. N. I., Asst. Adjt.-Genl.
Major Elkington, H. M.'s 6th Royal Regt. A. D. C. and { Capt. Maude, 4th Bombay Rifles N. I., / Lieut. Shewell, 23rd Bombay N. Lt. I., } both of whom on this occasion, as well as at the actions near Ragghur and Mungrowlee, acted as Staff Officers in the field.

19. I am much indebted to Captain Gordon Cumming, Assistant Political Agent for the Governor General, whose zeal in procuring me information, afforded me the opportunity of surprizing the enemy, and whose aid in the field was most valuable.

20. In recording the general good conduct of the Troops, I may state, that as on the Cavalry the whole of the loss of the day fell, so they did their duty well and gallantly. But I cannot refrain from expressing my admiration of that spirit of chivalrous endurance, which, during a rapid march of at least 20 miles over broken country, enabled our Infantry to keep almost up to the Cavalry, nor from recording a fact which shows the spirit of the British Soldier, that, notwithstanding the heat, when the firing commenced, all the sick of the 71st and 92nd Regiments could not be restrained, but fell into the ranks, and so remained to the close of the day.

21. The result of this day's operations was the capture of 4 guns, and 500 of the enemy left dead on the field. The Nawab of Banda's palki, bloody, and evidently just evacuated, was captured during the pursuit.

I have, &c.,

Camp at Ginwarra, the 18th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state for the information of Major-General Sir Hope Grant, K. C. B., that I marched from Camp, at a village called Bahadgunge, on the morning of the 17th instant, with the Column as per margin, under my Command, for Ginwarra, where I intended to have encamped. The head of my Force had passed through the village of Berah, and was halted under a tope about three quarters of a mile beyond it, for the purpose of allowing the hackeries containing the Siege Train Ammunition to close up, when I heard firing to my right rear. I immediately proceeded in that direction, followed by some Cavalry, and found the enemy in force firing into the rear of my Column. On arrival at the ground I ascertained that the enemy's Infantry was posted in a tope surrounded by a mud wall, with guns and Cavalry in rear, about seven hundred yards from the road, and that he also occupied the village of Berah, about four hundred yards to the right of the tope.

Artillery.
14th Lt. Fd. Battery, 2 9-pr. Guns.
1st Troop 1st Bgde. B. H. A., 3 6-pr. do., and a 10-pr. Howitzer.
Siege Train, 1 18-pounder Gun.
3 8¼-inch Mortars, and 2 5¼-inch do.
Cavalry.
1st Seikh Irregular	325 Sabres.
3rd Oudh Police	374 Do.
5th Ditto...	250 Do.

Do. 23rd R. W. F.	239 Do.
Do. 80th Regt.	180 Do.
7th Oudh Police	605 Do.

I directed two guns Bengal Horse Artillery to open upon the village and tope, one Company Her Majesty's 23rd Royal Welsh Fusiliers to extend to the left of Berah, whilst another Company of that Regiment and some Police Cavalry under Lieutenant Chamberlain, turned its right flank. After firing some rounds this small Force advanced, and was joined by two guns Royal Artillery and by some Cavalry under Captain Jones. I then placed the four guns and Cavalry on the left flank of the tope, and pushed forward two Companies of the 23rd Regiment to a mound that partly commanded it. The enemy kept up a heavy fire of musketry upon the guns and Infantry, and after some time retired in rear of the village, closely followed by my Cavalry and Artillery. The two Companies of the 23rd wheeling to their right, were joined by the one in the village, and, together with two Companies of the 7th Police Infantry, finally drove the enemy out of it, two again threw himself into a tope surrounded like the first by a mud wall; however the effective practice of the Artillery and of the Infantry pressing on from the village, compelled him after firing heavily for some time, to retire; when I desired Captain Jones to charge with a Squadron of the 1st Seikh Irregular Cavalry, which he did, until brought up by a jheel in his front through which the pursued passed into some high khêts.

The enemy's Infantry retired in considerable force in the direction of Simree, about three miles from Berah. At a short distance from the road, he suddenly came upon a strong rear guard of my Column under Major Miller, Her Majesty's 80th Regiment, who immediately opened fire with his guns and Infantry, effectually dispersing the enemy and driving him off to the South-West.

I had an unusually strong rear guard on that day, as Major Bulwer, 23rd Fusiliers, was escorting a large convey of hackeries, containing a month's supplies for my Force, from Poorwah, a day's march in my rear. I received information on the night of the 16th instant that, having made forced marches, he was only eight miles from me, and I therefore directed the rear guard, in the event of hearing firing to the rear, to fall back and support Major Bulwer's escort.

The enemy's force consisted of about five thousand men, all Sepoys, and four guns; they were more determined, and held their ground better than I had before seen them do, and their fire was at times heavy. We killed about one hundred and twenty men, and took three guns and a gun carriage from which I concluded that the fourth gun had been thrown down some well. The fire of the two guns Bengal Horse Artillery under Major Bruce, and of the two guns Royal Artillery under Lieutenant Cuthbert, was excellent, and materially assisted in driving off the enemy's force.

I beg to thank Major Bruce, Commanding Bengal Horse Artillery; Lieutenant Cuthbert, Royal Artillery; Captain Hyam, Commanding three Companies Her Majesty's 23rd Regiment; Captain Jones, Commanding the Cavalry; Lieutenant Chamberlain, Commanding Police Infantry; and Lieutenant Drummond, Commanding Cavalry on the right; likewise Major Miller, Her Majesty's 80th Regiment, Commanding Rear Guard and Captain Lyons, Her Majesty's 20th Regiment, whom I left in front during my absence in charge of a large portion of the baggage, which he protected, driving some of the enemy from a small village in his vicinity; also my Brigade Major, Captain O'Neill, Her Majesty's 20th Regiment; and my Orderly Officer, Ensign Maxwell, Her Majesty's 80th Regiment, who were particularly useful.

My thanks are due to Major Bulwer, Her Majesty's 23rd Regiment, Commanding the escort of hackeries in my rear, for the zeal and activity he evinced in pushing forward to join my Column. Captain Jones brings to my notice the good conduct on the field of the 3rd Squadron 1st Seikh Irregular Cavalry, which charged and took two of the enemy's guns.

To MAJOR NORMAN,
Depy. Adjt.-Genl. of the Army, with the Commander-in-Chief.
Camp Doomureeagunj,
South bank of the River Raptee.

The 28th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to acquaint you, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, that I marched on the morning of the 26th instant, from Bhanpore Thannah for Doomureeagunj 13 miles distant, with the Head Quarters of the Goruckpore Field Force. On the line of march, information was brought that the Rebel force, of about 1,000 men, under Mahommed Nuwaz, nephew of Mahommed Hoossen, who had held Doomureeagunj for some time, was still there, in groves and villages, about a mile South of the place. As I neared the place where a portion of the Rebel force was said to be, some distance to the left of the road, and preparing to move off to the westward, I ordered to the front two guns of the Horse Battery under Captain Cadell, whom I had called up to join me, by a forced march, the previous evening; 200 of Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry under Captain Browne, and 100 of the Regiment of Ferozepore under Lieutenant-Colonel Brasyer, C. B., and the chief portion of the Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry under Major Richardson, who were in front of the Column; and directed Head Qrs. Bengal Yeomanry Cavy. 130, under Major Richardson.

Detachment 6th Madras Cavalry, 40 men.
No. 2 Madras Horse Light Field Battery, 4 guns, under Captain Cadell.
Pearl's Naval Brigade, 4 guns and 90 men, under Captain Sotheby, C. B.
H. M.'s 13th Light Infy. 400 men, under Major Tyler.
Regt. of Ferozepore, 250 men, under Lieutenant-Colonel Brasyer, C. B.
Detachment 27th Regiment Madras Native Infantry, 60 men, under Lieut. Shaw.

this party to move off to the left in the direction the enemy were reported to be. The guns and Cavalry were pushed on at once, and Captain Cadell carried along his guns with great spirit and rapidity, with the Cavalry. While I was proceeding with this party, I received an urgent message from the Officer of the Advance Guard of the Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, that a large body of Infantry and Sowars were advancing down upon us, from the Doomureeagunj Road. I immediately returned to order up the other two Horse Battery Guns, 100 of Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, 30 Marines and Seamen of the Pearl's Naval Brigade, 50 of the Regiment of Ferozepore, and some of the 6th Madras Cavalry from the rear of the Column. This party, under the immediate Command of Major Tyler, Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, had not advanced far up the road, when I discovered the enemy had broken and fled, some towards Doomureeagunj, where it appears they got over the Raptee, and part up the river bank to the left. In the meantime, the first party on the left had come up into action with the enemy, rapidly driving them out of heavy cultivation and groves towards the West and the winding river to the North. A small gun with limber was captured, and about 80 killed; nearly all Sepoys cut down by the Cavalry and shot by the guns and musketry, Captain Cadell's guns doing heavy execution, besides a number shot and drowned in the Raptee; and by reports since received, the enemy must have perished in great numbers in their endeavours to cross the river, for a large party were driven up the river bank by a reinforcement I was bringing up to the Troops on the left, as, from the fire continuing, I was apprehensive that Bala Rao had pushed up some Troops from Bithoriah Ghat, which had not crossed the Raptee. A party with one gun came up the river on the opposite bank and opened fire on our Troops, but Captain Cadell opening upon them, their fire soon ceased.

2. I regret very much to report that Captain Giffard, Second in Command, Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, was killed, being shot while gallantly leading a charge. This excellent Officer is a great loss to his Regiment and the Service.

3. During my temporary absence, Lieutenant-Colonel Cox, Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, and Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, took the immediate Command on the left of the field, with his usual ability and judgment. Lieutenant-Colonel Cox lost his Charger, shot in the leg, bone broken and obliged to be destroyed.

4. My Brigade Major, Captain Morgan, was present in the field, affording every assistance; also Captain Sotheby, C. B., and my acting A. D. C., the Honorable V. A. Montague, and Lieutenant Bolton, Sub-Assistant Commissary General. Mr. Wingfield, the Commissioner, was present in the field, using every exertion to procure intelligence.

5. We had been out since the morning, nearly nine hours, I ordered the Troops to return and encamp at Doomureeagunj, where the enemy had some entrenchments and very strong ground, and could have caused us great annoyance and delay if they had held the place with any boldness.

6. I beg to recommend to the particular favor of the Commander-in-Chief, the Officers and Men of all arms of the Force, for their gallantry and cheerful zealous exertions, under many hours of fatigue.

7. On the afternoon of the 26th, I sent an express ordering Captain Howlett, 27th Madras Native Infantry, with his Detachment, about 500 strong, posted at Intwa, 12 miles North of Doomureeagunj, to march that night to join me, his Detachment being weak, and from its distant position from me, inviting attack. He arrived yesterday morning, at day break, and is posted close to the bank on the other side the river Raptee, covered and protected by two 9-pounder Guns, and Rocket of the Pearl's Naval Brigade, which I ordered into position, at the ghat, on the afternoon of the 26th instant.

8. Every exertion is being made to procure boats for a bridge, to be ready to cross over, and act in co-operation, according to such orders as I may receive from Major-General Sir Hope Grant, K. C. B., but will attack and disperse any body of Rebels to be got at in our vicinity, as at Intwa now held by them.

9. On the afternoon of the 22nd November, in Camp at Captaingunj, intelligence was received that Bala Rao had left Bungaon, and Mahomed Hossen for the North, in the direction of Bansee. At 4 o'clock the next morning, I marched for Doomureeagunj, arriving in time, on the 26th, to prevent my Detachment at Intwa being obliged to fall back, and the probable advance of Bala Rao on the town of Bansee. He is now with his army at Kumsar and Pokur Bitwa, near Biskohur, on the borders of Oudh, with intention, it is supposed, of moving on to Toolseepore, where another Rebel Force, of about 3,000 or 4,000, is said to be collected.

10. I beg to annex a Casualty List, which I am happy to say is light.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, that I left Nawabgunge on the 3rd instant, and marched to Bungaon, allowing the Field Force, under Colonel Lord Mark Kerr, to march at the same time to Bhanpore Thannah, on my right front.

On the 6th instant, I marched to Muchlegaon, where it was reported that the Gonda Rajah's Troops were entrenched. On arrival there, I found that they had all left that morning in the direction of Bunkussea; but whilst proceeding to reconnoitre, I suddenly came upon their main body, (said to be about 4,000) both Cavalry and Infantry, on the edge of the jungle, from which they opened fire with 3 guns upon us. I immediately brought up the 2 guns of the picquet under Lieutenant Maxwell, Royal Horse Artillery, which speedily silenced one of the guns, and being joined soon afterwards by the other guns and some Infantry, I advanced the latter in skirmishing order to clear the jungle, the Rebels' guns having by this time ceased firing.

We found 2 guns abandoned on the edge of the jungle, and the Infantry passing on, pressed through the jungle for about 2 miles; but the Rebels having retreated with great celerity, they were not able to overtake a great number.

It appeared from the accounts of prisoners, that they had been completely surprised, and were not aware of our approach.

This morning I continued my march to Bunkussea, the principal Fort of the Gonda Rajah, which was found completely deserted.

Five brass guns were found in the Fort, which is now being destroyed by the Engineers.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Division, the following report of the operations of the Detachment under my Command, since marching from Hummeerpore

II. Agreeably to instructions received from Head Quarters, the Field Detachment as per margin, left Hummeerpore, on the 28th ultimo, with a view of checking the depredations of the outlaw Burjar Sing, who was said to have made prisoners of some Zemindars, and was looting certain villages on the banks of the river Dessaun.

III. We halted on the 30th at Jullalpore, to allow of a party of Her Majesty's 43rd Light Infantry reaching us from Calpee, and they, strength as per margin, joined us on that date. We then proceeded as far

H. M.'s 43rd Regt.
67 Non-Commissioned Rank and File, under Lieuts. Brett and Maguire.
Asst. Surgeon Heard in Medical charge of the Field Detachment, joined on the 1st instant, and accompanied the Force.

South as Raat as I was informed the Rebels were marching for that place. On arriving there I learned that they were encamped near a village on the right bank of the "Dessaun," and we therefore pushed on the same afternoon to this Camp which we reached on the 3rd instant.

IV. At about 5 A. M., on the morning of the 4th, I left a strong guard of the 50th Madras Native Infantry to guard the standing Camp, and with the Guns and Cavalry, Detachment 43rd Light Infantry, and 110 Bayonets of the 50th Madras Native Infantry, marched to attack the enemy in his very strong position near Tola Kanjharan. On nearing this place, I halted the Troops and proceeded with Captain Sawers and Lieutenant Johnson to reconnoitre, when we were fired on from the village by what afterwards proved to be a picquet of the enemy, which retreated as we advanced. Seeing a large body of the enemy on an eminence at about 1,000 yards distance, on our left front, the guns were brought up, and a few rounds of spherical case caused them to shift their position. Having cleared the village, we came to ground, which extended for a considerable distance, in which it was quite impossible for either Cavalry or Artillery to act, being a perfect net-work of deep ravines, covered with jungle, in the midst of which, near the river Dessaun, was the enemy's Camp; leaving therefore the Artillery with a small guard of Infantry and the Cavalry for their protection, we proceeded across this extremely difficult ground, covered by a skirmishing party of the 50th Madras Native Infantry, on both flanks, exchanging shots with the enemy from time to time.

V. After about an hour's march we arrived at the river, just in time to see the last of the Rebels crossing to the opposite side, the Enfields of the 43rd now made some excellent practice both at the crossing the river, and subsequently in following the Rebels through the jungles on the other side. The enemy here lost both men and horses, the exact number of which could not be ascertained, owing to the density of the jungle, and the depth of the ravines; several horses and ponies were captured and a quantity of miscellaneous baggage also fell into our hands, showing how hard the enemy had been pressed, and in what haste he had retreated. The jungle and steep ascents alone saved him from destruction, for the Europeans could not make way through such ground, to keep pace with Natives, who moreover knew every path. So as the day was far advanced, and as I considered that a good blow had already been struck, and as moreover the men were much fatigued. I sounded the assembly, and we returned to Tola Kanjharan, where I halted an hour to refresh, and returned to Camp, where we arrived at 4 P M.

VI. In conclusion, I desire to record my sense of the cheerful zeal with which the duties of a very hard day were performed by all ranks. It was matter of common remark how well the skirmishing party of the 50th Regiment Madras Native Infantry did their work, and I attribute this, in a great measure, to the way in which they were led by Lieutenants Greenway and Hay; the 43rd of course, performed as they always have done.

VII. I would also beg to remark particularly on the great assistance I at all times received from Captain Sawers, Commanding the Hunmeerpore Military Police, and deputed by Mr. Freeling the Collector to act for him, in the way of collecting intelligence, &c., and I consider that it has been owing to the constant zeal, activity, intelligence and foresight of this valuable Officer, that we have been enabled to make the power of the Government felt by the Rebels. On one occasion Captain Sawers, accompanied by a party of his Sowars, rode 30 miles (out and back) after a march, and learning that he would also march the following morning, solely for the purpose of obtaining the information, upon which I subsequently acted. Captain Sawers also accompanied the Infantry to the attack of the enemy through the broken ground. I am happy to say that there were no Casualties on our side. The enemy was variously computed at from 3 to 500, of whom about 40 were Sowars, and from the uniform buttons on the clothing that fell into our hands, it is evident that there were Sepoys of the Punjab Police and Sindia's Force among them.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier Commanding, that according to orders received on the 4th instant, I marched that night on the village of Larcherra, with the Troops as per margin. On arrival at Cossepoora, about two miles from our destination at 9 A. M. on the 5th instant, I received information, that the main body of the Mutineers and Rebels, about 2,000 strong, under Chutter Singh, was encamped on the left bank of the "Dessaun" river, on the heights above Larcherra. I pushed rapidly on. On arriving opposite the village, I directed Lieutenant Pope, Commanding Madras Artillery, to throw a couple of shells in the direction of the enemy's advanced picquet, at the same time sending a Troop of the 12th Lancers across the river to cut off any who might endeavour to escape into the open country. The village was deserted. I then passed over with the remaining Troop of the Lancers and the guns; finding from the nature of the ground that it was impossible to act without Infantry, I recrossed and encamped about a mile from the river bank.

Finding themselves unmolested, a party came down to the water-side, and commenced firing on our grass-cutters and horse-keepers, one of whom, I regret to say, was killed. Early the following morning, being reinforced by a Company of the 3rd Madras Europeans under Lieutenant Burge, I sent a party of them on elephants across the ford, under cover of the guns, the remainder with the Cavalry crossing at the same time a little higher up. When these were all over, I directed the guns to follow, and immediately threw the Infantry into the jungle in skirmishing order, to sweep as far as possible the enemy's position, the Cavalry and Artillery moving along the valley, to cut off retreat in that direction. The Infantry dashed in most gallantly, and soon exchanged shots with the Rebels, driving them, before them through the brushwood; not having a sufficient Force to cover both sides of the hill at one time, the greater number escaped and crossed the river, as was afterwards ascertained, in the direction of Alipoora, with a loss however of between 60 and 70 killed. A quantity of powder and cartridge paper was taken by the 3rd Madras Europeans in a building above the village.

I beg to bring to your notice, Captain Clifton, 12th Lancers, in immediate command of Cavalry and Horse Artillery, who carried out my orders most fully and judiciously; as well as Lieutenant Pope, Madras Artillery, Lieutenants Burge and Wetherall, 3rd Madras Europeans, who led their men in the jungle with the greatest gallantry; to Lieutenant Blunt, 12th Lancers, my Adjutant, my best thanks are also due; as well as Mr. Griffiths, Deputy Collector, through whose information I was enabled to discover the Rebels' position. We received intelligence, in the course of the day, that the enemy as a body were completely broken up, none remaining within 15 miles of Camp.

I am happy to say we had no Casualties.

From Major Sutherland,
Her Majesty's 92nd Highlanders,
Comdg. Field Force Detachment,

To Brigadier Edwardes, C. B.,
Commanding at Mhow.

Camp on the Nerbudda, 27th Novr. 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Field Force, M. D. A., but whose address at present I do not know, that on my arrival at Teekree on the 23rd instant, I received information that the Rebels under Tantia Topee and the Rao Sahib were at Kurgaon, about twenty miles East of the Grand Trunk Road, and thirty miles from the Sindwah ghaut. On the following morning, I moved to Grelwana sixteen miles from Sindwah, so that I could cut them off from that route if they made for Khandeish, or move rapidly back along the main road if they tried to turn my left flank.

2. On the morning of the 24th instant, I was joined by 50 men of Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry under Lieutenant Lewis, who had been brought 70 miles in thirty hours by Lieutenant Barras, of the Camel Corps, Captain Ballard, Assistant Quarter Master General, and Captain Helbert, Assistant Agent to the Governor General, with 20 Seikhs and a hundred of H. H. Holkart's Horse, joined at the same time, also Lieutenant Montriou, 25th Regiment Light Infantry as Interpreter.

3. During the forenoon the Rebels sent a patrol of 200 horse towards Sindwah, and another about the same strength towards Than, six miles North of my position along the road, making it doubtful which route the main body would take. The latter party cut the Telegraph wire to Indore, plundered some carts, and were there at nightfall. The reports brought in by the scouts led to the supposition that the Rebels would not attempt the Sindwah ghaut, but move North-West crossing the main road at Than; so on the morning of the 25th instant, I took a party, strength as per margin, to clear the road in that direction intending, if the Rebels had not moved, to attack the next day at Kurgaon; the remainder of my Force, consisting of 1 Subaltern and 60 Rank and File, I left to guard the encampment.

1 Subaltern, 40 Rank and File,	71st Highlanders.
1 Captain, 1 Subaltern, 90 Rank and File,	92nd Highlanders.
1 Captain, 60 Rank and File,	1st Bombay, 4th Rifles.
1 Commandant, 100 Sowars,	H. H. Holkar's.
20 Sowars,	Agent's Escort.
150 of the Camel Corps, under Lieutenant Barras.

4. On arrival at Than, we learnt that the whole of the Rebels had passed that place during the night, towards Rajpore and Bhurwannee, and I determined to pursue at once, the traces of their gun wheels and elephants serving to guide us on the proper line. After eight miles rapid maching, we overtook the rear guard of the Rebels streaming out of Rajpore; I allowed them five minutes to clear the town, for if they had attempted to hold it, my small Force could never have dislodged them. I then pursued at a rapid trot with the Camel Corps and horsemen, desiring the Infantry, who were on foot, to follow as quickly as they could. The road lay through a jungle in which the Camels could not move, but as I had no baggage I resolved to disregard all stragglers who took refuge in it, and push steadily on their rear, passing quantities of abandoned stores, bullocks and baggage. After about five miles of this pursuit, during which several Rebels were cut down by the Seikh Horse, and shot by the Highlanders, we could see that the Rebels as they arrived at a nullah, which crossed the road at right angles someway ahead, formed upon its further bank; when five hundred yards from this spot. I dismounted the Infantry who were on Camels, and was proceeding to attack, when to my surprise the remainder of my men, who were on foot, appeared a few hundred yards in rear, having kept up with the Camels at more than five miles an hour. Joined by them I advanced, but the Rebels hardly waited to exchange shots; so the men remounted their Camels and we continued the pursuit for a couple of miles, when the Rebels again appeared, formed up in a strong position, where the road ascended the slope, lined on both sides with thick jungles, and was overlooked by a rocky ridge which covered it, and which they lined with musketry, placing their two guns in the centre of the road. I sent out skirmishers and formed the remainder as well as the ground could permit; the enemy opened with musketry and grape, and as their position could not be turned, and every delay might give them confidence, I ordered the men to charge, who rushed straight along the road on their guns, which were carried with a loud cheer, and the Rebels lost heart, and fled.

5. I attempted to resume the pursuit, but soon had to halt the men, who were exhausted by the heat. Captain Ballard and Lieutenant Bonnor followed for two or three miles, with some Seikhs and Holkar's men, but as the whole road lay through jungle, I ordered them to rejoin, and when the men had refreshed themselves, we returned with the captured guns to Rajpore, to which place I had sent back to order the baggage by a short route.

6. Before concluding this Despatch, I deem it a duty I owe to the Soldiers of the different Detachments, composing my small Force, to express my most marked approbation of their conduct, both during the march and whilst under fire, testing, as it did, their discipline and gallantry to the utmost. I consider myself particularly fortunate, in having had the advantage of Captain Ballard's valuable assistance and advice throughout the day's operations, and I take this opportunity of acknowledging his unceasing zeal and exertions. Captain Helbert's unvaried accuracy of information, as to the intended movements of the Rebels, removed many difficulties, which otherwise would have occurred.

7. The Casualties of the enemy, as nearly as could be ascertained, amounted to about 70 killed and wounded. I am happy to state that the Casualties of the Force under my command were but few. Lieutenant and Adjutant Humfrey's 92nd Highlanders, whilst gallantly pursuing five or six men who had been serving the guns, was attacked by their Commandant and severely wounded; the remaining Casualties were confined to one Soldier of Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry wounded, and one missing and two wounded, and two missing belonging to Holkar's and the Agent's Escort.

8. Captain Helbert begs to recommend the undermentioned "Commandant Bheen Gir," of His Highness' Holkar's Horse, to the favorable notice of the Major-General Commanding Malwa Division Artillery, and Woordie Major Jodh Singh, of the Agent's Escort, the former as Commandant of His Highness Holkar's Horse, the latter belonging to the Agent's Escort, as having behaved with great gallantry, having been wounded in the melee.

9. Lieutenant Barras, Commanding Camel Corps, a most zealous and energetic Officer; Captain Langston, 4th Bombay Rifles; Captain Newall, Her Majesty's 92nd Highlanders; Lieutenant Lewis, 71st Highland Light Infantry, Commanding Detachments of the 92nd and 71st respectively; as also to Lieutenant Bonnor, a Volunteer of the 9th Native Infantry, afforded me most ready and able assistance; my thanks are also due to Lieutenant Montriou, 25th Native Light Infantry, attached to the Force as Interpreter, and to Assistant Surgeon Don, for the manner in which they performed the duties of their respective appointments.

No. 104 of 1858.

To the Asst. Adjt. Genl. Mawla Division,
Mhow,

Camp Mungrowlie, 20th November 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to state, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Malwa Division, that in accordance with instructions conveyed to me in letter No. 411, dated Bhelsa, November 1st 1858, and in consequence of information received by me of the intended movements of the Rebels upon Mungrowlie and the fort of Malharghur, I marched on the 10th to Gadowlie, in order to cover and protect the above-mentioned places. I have since ascertained that the intention of the Rebels to plunder those places, and take possession of the guns at Malharghur was prevented by my advance.

2. On the night of the 12th, I ascertained that the Rebel force under Maun Sing, reported at 3,000 three thousand men, composed of the late Gwalior Contingent troops, Bengal sepoys, and his own followers, recrossed the Betwa and reached the small fort of Gurpairah.

3. I marched in that direction on the morning of the 13th, but finding the neighbourhood of the fort deserted, I halted to breakfast at the village of Gopallee, on the river Molah.

4. I then, accompanied by my Staff, reconnoitred the ground beyond the river, and found it covered with dense jungle, and intersected with deep nullahs, and did not perceive any traces of the enemy in that direction ; about 2. P. M., having heard the Rebel forces had moved off to Uttekairah, I marched in that direction.

5. I halted for the night and bivouacked at Burkairah 3 miles from Uttekairah ; as I did not allow any fires to be lighted, there was little opportunity of preparing food. I cannot speak too highly of the cheerful endurance of fatigue and hardship evinced, during this day, by both the European and Native Troops.

6. Hearing during the night that the enemy had left Uttekairah and proceeded to Koondrye, I marched for that village at 3-30 A. M., on the 14th.

7. I did not allow any trumpets or bugles to sound on the march, and coming to Koondrye just as day was breaking, we halted for a few minutes in rear of the village, and some jowarrie fields which served to conceal us from the view of the Rebels and formed the Troops present in the field, as per margin, as follows, viz. : 95th Regiment in Column of sections, a Company 100 yards distant protecting their right flank. The 10th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry in quarter distance columns in eschellon to the left rear of the 95th, leaving the road between the two Regiments clear for the guns to advance, as the ground on either side was bad, and unsuited for their passage. The 1st Lancers had orders to form in rear of the right flank of the 95th, and the 8th Hussars in rear of left flank 10th Native Infantry, when the Infantry formed to the front. I placed Lieutenant-Colonel the Honourable F. A. Thesiger, 95th Regiment, the Senior Infantry Officer in command of the Infantry, and sent to order up the Artillery by the road.

3rd Troop Bombay H. A.
6 guns and 90 men, under command of Lieut.-Colonel Blake.
H. M's. 8th Hussars, 85 Sabres, under command of Col. DeSalis.
1st Bombay Lancers, 42 men under command of Lieut.-Col. Curtis.
H. M's. 95th Regt. men under command of Lieut.Col.-Raines.
10th Regt. Bo. N. I. men under comm'd. of Capt. Pelly, Meade's Horse 12 men.
The rest of the Force being either sick or on baggage guard.

8. We then moved forward, our advance guard, consisting of one (1) Company of the 95th Regiment, and two (2) Companies 10th Native Infantry, under Major Vialls, 95th Regiment, in skirmishing order, advanced on the right front through some jowarrie fields 6 feet high, and commenced firing; when within about 100 yards of the enemy, Colonel Raines, detaching a Company to assist, on coming in view of the Rebel camp, and as the ground opened the Infantry deployed, the 10th Native Infantry being in short echellon with the 95th.

9. The Artillery under Colonel Blake galloped to the front by the road, formed line, and came into action on the left of the 95th, commencing with a few round shot, and then with shrapnel at 5 or 600 yards fired into the largest masses which had collected after their sudden surprise; the shells bursting in the midst of the enemy must have caused numerous casualties. In the meantime the first Lancers under Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Curtis had conformed to the movements of the Infantry, by advancing in column of Troops, and on approaching the enemy formed line to the right flank; the 1st Lancers consisted of two very small Troops, converted into Squadron by forming single rank, the total number of men under Regimental command being 42. The 8th Hussars having only 85 sabres present, formed in front of the left of the line.

10. A rapid flight now commenced, and I gave the order for the Cavalry to pursue with one Division of guns; in compliance with this order Colonel Blake, with the right Division under Lieutenant Lecocq, followed at a gallop, coming into action within case short range, followed by shrapnel, the Division continued in pursuit with the Cavalry coming into action whenever opportunity offered. The centre and left Divisions of Colonel Blake's Troop proceeded with the Infantry and followed at a slower pace, the horses of these Divisions being much done up with the long marches when with the Major-General.

11. Colonel DeSalis having formed a third of the small body he had at his disposal in reserve, which remained within reach of the guns, pursued with the remainder in skirmishing order at a gallop, giving orders to his men not to fire except at close quarters. In consequence of this order, and the effective pursuit of the Hussars, led by Colonel DeSalis, notwithstanding the very unfavourable nature of the ground which was covered with low jungle, a large number of the enemy in this part of the field were sabred and shot.

12. Colonel Curtis led the 1st Lancers in pursuit, at a gallop, of that portion of the enemy which fled in front of the right of the line, and disposed of all he could come up with, but a low and afterwards a thick jungle favoured the fugitives.

13. Colonel Raines brought his men steadily and rapidly forward through some difficult ground, disposing of all he encountered on the right, but in consequence of the principal masses of the enemy taking a direction to the left, the Hussars and 10th Native Infantry had greater opportunities, which they fully took advantage of.

14. Captain Pelly with 10th Regiment Native Infantry, by order of Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble F. A. Thesiger, having moved towards the left, deployed, and forming in skirmishing order with supports, pursued, the men moving at the double when the ground admitted of their doing so, and shot and bayonetted a large number of the enemy who had hidden from the Hussars, and were taking shelter in the nullahs or amongst the jungles.

15. At my request, early in the action, Colonel Curtis desired a Havildar Major of his Regiment (Shaik Abdoolah) who had seen Maun Sing at Powrie, to accompany a few of "Meade's Horse," some 9men under Jemadar Beream Sing, for the purpose of capturing if possible the Rebel leader. They used every exertion; but in consequence of his rapid flight on horse-back, could not succeed in this object. I beg to bring the conduct of the Jemadar and Havildar Major, and the men who were with him, to the favourable notice of the Major-General Commanding; they did most excellent service.

16. We pursued for about (6) six or (7) seven miles, when seeing that what remained of the enemy scattered over a large extent of front, of which we could only embrace a very small portion with our very small force of Cavalry, and consequently only reached a few stragglers. I sounded the "re-call" and collected the Force under some trees near the village of Rajpore till our baggage came up.

17. I have taken much pains to ascertain the loss of the enemy, and I feel convinced I am under the mark when I estimate it at over six hundred (600.)

18. Lieutenant-Colonel the Honorable F. A. Thesiger, Her Majesty's 95th Regiment, in command of the Infantry, was most active and successful in carrying out my instructions.

19. I received every assistance, as I always do, from Colonel DeSalis, Commanding Her Majesty's 8th Hussars; Lieutenant-Colonel Blake, Commanding 3rd Troop Horse Artillery; Lieutenant-Colonel Curtis, Commanding 1st Bombay Lancers; Lieutenant-Colonel Raines, Commanding 95th Regiment; and Captain Pelly, Commanding 10th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry; and also from Cornet Goldsworthy, Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, my Brigade Major, who, as usual, performed his duties to my entire satisfaction.

20. Lieutenant Hanbury, Her Majesty's 8th Hussars; Lieutenant Mayne, 1st Bombay Lancers; Lieutenant Rawlins, Her Majesty's 95th Regiment; and Lieutenant Pierce, 10th Regiment Native Infantry, acted as my Orderly Officers for the day, and gave me great assistance in carrying my orders.

21. I trust the Major-General will allow me to take this opportunity of acknowledging the ready and most valuable assistance which Colonel Curtis, 1st Bombay Lancers, and in his absence Captain Loch of the same Regiment, has on all occasions given me, placing his men at my disposal whenever required, for information and difficult services, in patrolling and gaining information of the movements of the enemy, these services involving great fatigue and much risk. I have also to acknowledge similar services rendered me by Captain Pelly, 10th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, valuable information having on several occasions been obtained by the Native Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men of the 10th Regiment Native Infantry. I beg to enclose for the favorable consideration of the Major-General a list of the Native Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and men of the above Regiments, who have rendered themselves the most conspicuous.

22. But I attribute our success in this surprise to the indefatigable exertions and great zeal and intelligence of Captain Bolton, Assistant Quarter Master General, in gaining information of the movements and position of the enemy; he has been on all occasions most active and successful in this matter under most difficult circumstances, and with small means at his disposal, as well as in the discharge of other duties of his Department.

23. I am happy to say the Casualties were very trifling, as will appear by the return; this may to a certain extent be accounted for by the fact of the surprise being so sudden and complete that the enemy's matchlockmen had not time to light their matches and consequently could only use their muskets or words.

I have, &c.,

Bringing to notice the valuable Services of Assistant Commissary John Burnell, and recommend him for a Commission on the Veteran Establishment.

Inglis') personal observation, and that the rapidity with which the several Convoys of Stores were prepared and despatched to Alum Bagh and Army Head Quarters, and in which he bore a conspicuous part, called forth the General's best commendations.

Para. 4.—I have much satisfaction in informing you that Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to give effect to the recommendation of the Governor-General, and of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, in behalf of this meritorious Warrant Officer. You are accordingly authorized to confer upon him a Commission as Lieutenant on the Veteran Establishment, from the date of your receipt of this Despatch.

Correspondence bringing to notice the conduct of Extra Deputy Assistant Commissary M. McGrath, and recommending him for a Commission on account of his services in the Allahabad Magazine and Arsenal, during the Mutiny. * Letter dated 10th July 1858.

21. This recommendation is forwarded by the Governor General for favorable consideration.

22. As Lieutenant Bingham's services have been those of an effective Officer, I have Her Majesty's permission to give effect to this united recommendation by granting him a Commission as Captain Unattached, instead of promotion on the Veteran Establishment. I. In applying to Executive Commissariat Officers for hired Camels for the private use of the Officers of their Corps, Commanding Officers shall bind themselves on the face of their Indent* to compliance with the standing Rules of the Department† under which such Cattle are supplied. A copy of these Rules can always be obtained from Executive Commissariat Officers on application; but a memorandum embodying them (and the further information to be hereafter mentioned) shall in every case be furnished by Executive Commissariat Officers on the Cattle indented for, being made over to the Indenting Officer.

* Indent on the Executive Commissariat Officer (—) for Camels required on the terms of the Department, for &c.

† The Rules in force are contained in the Commissary General's Circular No. 18, dated 30th April 1855.

II. For the proper supervision of hired Camels proceeding on private duty with Corps, when the number in such employed exceeds 15, they shall be placed in the charge of a Thokedar or Missildar, on (10) Rupees ten per month, whose pay shall be charged to the State. For less than 15 Camels the Executive Commissariat Officer shall make other arrangements, and inform the Commanding Officer of them.

III. The Thokedar or Missildar will be the sole channel of communication between the Commanding Officer, and the Camel men, and it will be a special part of his duty to bring to notice any cases in which the Camels may appear to be overladen.

IV. The Thokedar or Missildar will, on appointment, be provided by the Executive Commissariat Officer with a copy of the Memorandum regarding terms of hire furnished to the Commanding Officer (2) with a memorandum of instructions for his guidance, and (3) with a memorandum of the sum paid in advance by each Officer*. VI. Commanding Officers will be held responsible for the payment of the hire of the Camels by the Officers using them. A general bill showing the sum due by each Officer, the advance received from him, and the balance to be paid, will be submitted by the Thokedar or Missildar not later than the 10th of a month, for the hire of the preceding month. This bill is to be immediately examined and "accepted," either in full or for such sum as may be admitted by the Thokedar. Cases in dispute and in which no proper understanding can be come to with the Thokedar by the Quarter Master shall be referred to the Executive Commissariat Officer by whom the Camels were supplied; the claim being meanwhile accepted for the lesser sum. The acceptance will state the dates on which each Officer will be prepared to pay his quota, which should be paid by him to the Quarter Master, and by the latter made over to the Thokedar, whose receipt should be taken opposite to the particular item. On an Officer leaving the Regiment the Commanding Officer will be responsible that he adjusts his Camel hire account before quitting, and in the cases of Officers dying, a memorandum of the sum due by them on the above account shall be called for by the Commanding Officer, and furnished by him to the Committee of Adjustment of the deceased's Estate.

VII. The Camels in private employ will be mustered, in like manner as those employed on public duty by the Quarter Master, and included by him in the proper columns of the monthly Return, copies of which will be furnished by Executive Commissariat Officers on application.

VIII. All Camels discharged from private employ in consequence of the death, or departure from the Regiment of the Officers by whom they were engaged, shall be transferred if serviceable to the Column of Public Command in the Return, a remark in explanation being made in the Return; and continued to be so borne for such time, not exceeding one month, as they may be unable to procure other service, public or private.

IX. Any complaints which Commanding Officers may have cause to make against the Thokedars with their Corps should be preferred to the nearest Executive Commissariat Officer, who should give prompt attention to the case.

FROM THE GAZETTE, GOVERNOR GENERAL'S CAMP.

ALLAHABAD, JANUARY 17, 1859.

GENERAL ORDER BY THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA.

Military Department,

Allahabad, the 17th January 1859.

No. 653 of 1859.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General cannot allow the Officers and Men forming the Naval Brigade of Her Majesty's Ship Pearl to pass through Allahabad on their return to their Ship, without expressing his acknowledgment of the excellent service which they have rendered to the State.

Disembarked on the 12th of September 1857, they have for fifteen months formed a main part of the small Force to which the security of the wide District of Goruckpore, and of the country adjoining it, has been entrusted, and which has held during that time important advanced posts exposed to constant attack from the strongholds of the Rebels.

The duty has been arduous and harassing; but it has been cheerfully and thoroughly performed, and the discipline of the Pearl's Brigade has been admirable. The Gazettes of the 9th and 23rd March, 27th April, 11th May, 22nd June, 6th and 13th July, 13th August, 12th and 19th October, 23rd and 26th November 1858, and 11th January 1859, have shown that when the Goruckpore Field Force has been engaged the Brigade has signally distinguished itself.

The Governor General cordially thanks Captain E. Sotheby, C. B., and his brave Officers and Men for the valuable assistance which they have given to the Army in Bengal, and he is glad to think that they do not quit the scene of their services without the satisfaction of seeing peace restored to the rich Districts which they have protected.

Secy. to the Govt. of India, Mily. Dept.,

Camp Dumoorealgunje, North Bank River Raptee,
The 5th December 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to acquaint you for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, I received intelligence from Mr. Wingfield, the Commissioner, on the evening of the 2nd instant, that the Nazim Mahomed Hoossein, with his force of between 2,000 and 3,000 men and six guns, had moved up to the North from Bungaon, and had arrived the day before at Bururiah near the Raptee, and 9 miles West of my Camp, then on the South bank of the Raptee.

The next morning at dawn, I marched with the chief portion of the Head Quarters Goruckpore Field Force, about 850 men of all arms, and six guns, under command of the Officers noted in the margin, for Bururiah, which we reached about 8 o'clock A. M. The enemy did not appear to expect us, but their outlying picquet gave them early warning. I at once formed line, with skirmishers out, and immediately advanced to the attack. The enemy were principally in two large woods, with the Soanee River running close to the wood on their left, with heavy forest and jungle close on the other side. The enemy opened fire of guns and musketry on our line, but were rapidly replied to from Captain Sotheby's two guns in the centre, and from Captain Cadell's two Horse guns on the left, and the two guns under Captain Highmore on the right, and from the skirmishers. The enemy early gave way and were greatly favored by the large woods and cultivations, enabling them to get their guns over a ford of the Soanee, on their left, into the forest; other Infantry and Sowars retired Westward, fording the river considerably higher up. The enemy were driven out of both woods and pursued for nearly two miles front of our line on the right, crossed afterwards at the same place where the enemy had crossed their guns, driving some of their Infantry and Sowars well into the forest. About a mile beyond the two large woods first occupied by the enemy we came on a bend of the river Soanee, the enemy keeping up a fire of musketry from the thickets, but were soon silenced by the Naval Brigade and Madras Horse Battery Guns, and the rifle and musketry firing. A ford was found to our left, and I ordered Lieutenant Colonel Brasyer with a Division of his Seikhs and two Companies of the 13th Light Infantry under Captain Brown, to push over and clear a village and the nearest part of the forest covered at the ford, where the country was more open, by Captain Sotheby's two guns and a party of Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry, while Captain Cadell, with his guns from the right, fired over the river and covered the movement, driving out and dispersing the enemy in that direction; the party having effected the object, was to return without delay. This was most effectually and ably carried out by Lieutenant-Colonel Brasyer, and the enemy completely driven back and dispersed in retreat.

Captain Sotheby, C. B., Commanding the Pearl's Naval Brigade, 2 guns M. Train Howitzers and Lt. Pym's Detacht. of Royal Marines.
Captain Cadell, Comdg. Horse Battery, 4 guns.
Major Richardson, Commanding Beng. Yeo. Cavy.
Major Tyler, Commanding Detachment H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry.
Lt.-Col. Brasyer, C. B., Comdg. Regt of Ferozepore.
Lieut. Shaw, Comdg. Detachment 27th Regt. Madras Native Infantry.

My best thanks are due to the Officers I have named; Captain Sotheby was most zealous and active, pressing well forward with his guns; and Captain Cadell, Commanding No. 2 Madras Horse Light Field Battery, who has lately joined my force, I have found a very zealous and active Officer, always quick, and ready with his guns whenever their fire could be made effective; also to all the Officers and Men of all arms engaged for their very zealous, active, and cheerful services throughout many hours of considerable fatigue; and to Doctor Young, 13th Light Infantry; Doctor Garden, Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry; and Doctor Dickinson, Regiment of Ferozepore. My best thanks are also due to Captain Morgan, Brigade Major; Lieutenant-Colonel Cox, Officiating Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General; the Hon'ble V. A. Montague, Royal Navy, my Acting Aide-de-Camp, and Lieutenant Bolton, Officiating Sub-Assistant Commissary General, who afforded me most useful service in conveying orders and instructions; they are also due to Mr. Wingfield, the Commissioner, who was present in the field throughout the day, and obtaining all the intelligence possible to be procured.

It was difficult to ascertain the loss of the enemy but it was probable about a hundred; several of the Infantry and Sowars and their Horses were killed by the party on the right of the line, when they first got to the edge of the forest, (Private John Bulger, Her Majesty's 13th Light Infantry, suddenly coming on four of the enemy in the wood, shot one, and bayonetted three) and during an advance and at the time, and after Lieutenant-Colonel Brasyer crossed the river at the close of the action.

I beg to recommend all engaged to the particular favor of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief.

I hope this total defeat and rout of Mahomed Hoossein and his force, before he could form a junction with Bala Rao, or arrange for any combined movement of their forces, will be attended with the best results, keeping the enemy to the Westward; and it so alarmed Bala Rao, who was on the other side of the river Raptee, in close hearing of our guns, he marched off from Kumsar, that night, towards the North-West beyond Biskohur, out of the Bansee District into that of Toolseepore, to Pipureea. Mahomed Hoossein has gone Westward to Atrowlah.

I am happy to say we have none killed; there are 12 wounded. A Casualty List is duly annexed. I returned with the Troops to Camp at 3 P. M.

My Force is crossing the Raptee to-day by bridge of boats, and will be over by the evening.

No. 636 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letters from Brigadier the Hon'ble P. Herbert, C. B., Commanding at Cawnpore, reporting the result of his pursuit of the Rebel Force under Feroze Shah, one of the Delhi Princes.

The Governor General desires to record his approbation in regard to these operations.

Banks of the Jumna, 11th December 1858.

Sir,

I have to report for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that the Rebel Force under Feroze Shah, one of the Delhi Princes, has effected their escape across the Jumna; not however without considerable loss of animals and baggage.

2 Guns of No. 17 Light Field Batty. under Lt. Bayley.
Meerut Light Horse.
58 Sabres and Detachment of Carabineers, 26 men under Lieut. Pearson.
Allahabad Mounted Police.
100 Sabres under Captain Chapman.
Oudh Police.
105 Sabres.
Cawnpore Police.
40 Sabres.

In continuation of my report to you from "Ooreyah," I beg to state that, yesterday the 10th instant, hearing at 7 P. M. from Lieutenant Angelo, whom I had detached with a patrol towards "Etawah," that he had fallen in with large bodies of the enemy, with 16 elephants and a great number of camels laden with plunder, and had captured a gun of Native make, I despatched orders to Lieutenant Thain, who had joined the force with Mr. Hume, Collector of Etawah, to the North of "Puhpoond," to move obliquely upon the Etawah road, and marched myself at midnight along it. Ten miles from "Ooreyah" I came upon Lieutenant Angelo, and detached him to the left with the whole of Towannah Horse to follow the enemy's trail; while I marched 5 miles further along the road, and at dawn of day struck to the left down a road which another large body of Rebels had followed. After trotting a few miles, shots being heard on our right I rode for the spot, and found that Lieutenant Angelo had crossed my line of march, and was at the point of passage.

The road was a dry water-course, at the bottom of one of the ravines which in great numbers intersect this District. The enemy in large numbers were scattered over the plain, on the opposite bank, with camels, elephants and many horses. The banks of the river and sandbanks were studded with horses and camels, hopelessly struggling in the quick-sand, many of them having nearly disappeared in the two or three hours I was on the bank. This bank was strewed with bales of goods and various articles, with many saddles and swords and some fire arms; camels and horses in considerable numbers were captured.

I should not have hesitated to follow but for the state of the opposite banks, as I felt sure I should have lost many horses. The enemy moved off pretty rapidly; they appear to have been very leisurely in their movements across the Doab up to "Puhpoond," where, Mr. Hume informs me, that they received a letter from Cawnpore informing them that a Force had marched to cutthem off from "Ooreyah Ghat;" upon this they left in great haste. This accounts for the alarm shown at Lieutenant Angelo's appearance, when crossing the Ooreyah and Etawah Road. They had attacked the Force with Mr. Hume with great determination on the 9th, and been repulsed with great gallantry.

The Force under me has captured in all about 40 camels and 300 horses and ponies. The losses in the river must have been large, and many men and women are reported to have been drowned. Considering the nature of the ghat, and that the passage was mostly effected at night in great haste, this must have been the case.

My own Casualties were two men wounded.

The details of this Force, as per margin, deserve great credit for the distance marched. Captain Chapman's Police having marched 140 miles in 98 hours, and the Guns and Towannah Horse 118 in 86 hours.

I had the advantage of being accompanied by Major Wilson, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General.

I beg to add that, up to 7 P. M. on the 10th, all my information showed the enemy to be about "Puhpoond," and forced me to be cautious about opening the Ooreyah Ghat, great numbers of animals are reported to have been abandoned in their haste, and to have been taken by the villagers.

Amongst the property left on this bank was a desk containing a seal and the miniature of a child, the personal property of Feroze Shah.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) P. E. Herbert, Brigadier.

Mr. Hume being of opinion that the enemy might still be intercepted between the Jumna and Chumbul, I marched to Luknan this morning to support him. A portion of my Cavalry with him have crossed the Jumna at a good Ferry near here; they will cross the Chumbul for a last effort to intercept him, as he was reported to be halting on the other side of the Chumbul this morning, imagining himself secure. I was unwilling to leave the Doab myself upon the chance, but thought myself justified in giving this much assistance.

The seal I refer to above, has been ascertained to be the official seal of Feroze Shah.

(Signed) P. E. Herbert, Brigadier.

P. S.—December 12th, near Luknan.

To the Chief of the Staff.

Bivouac near Luknan, 12th December 1858.

Sir,

I beg to state for the information of the Commander-in-Chief, that I have halted here this day (Sunday) and intend marching for Cawnpore to-morrow vid Puhpoond and Russolabad. Mr. Hume, Collector of Etawah, has crossed the Chumbul with the Force which accompanies him. I reinforced him with 170 Allahabad Police and the Oudh Mounted Police. The rest return with me. He captured one of the enemy's stragglers, who confirms the reports about their losses, both in the fight with Mr. Hume and also by drowning in the passage of the river. A circumstance which was most unfortunate has only just come to my knowledge. Lieutenant Angelo, when he first came upon them about mid-day on the 9th sent me a note by a Police Sowar who never delivered it. This ought to have been with me at Ooreyah before 2 o'clock, in which case I could have had my whole Force upon the point of passage before dark, as I was only waiting to know where they really were. I could not have failed to inflict on them the most serious loss.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) P. E. Herbert, Brigadier,
Comdg. Cawnpore and Futtehpore Districts.

P. S.—The elephants crossed mostly the following morning.

I find that I have made a mistake in the day of the month, and fear my other letters have been wrongly dated. It was on Friday morning the 10th, that I came on the enemy on the river bank. I think it right to report that there were four traffic boats upon the Jumna, which materially assisted the enemy in crossing. I add this Postcript from Puhpoond December 13th.

The Cavalry I detached have returned from the Chumbul, and will move back to Cawnpore, one march behind me. Captain Hume, with a Detachment 80th Regiment, is with me here, also on his way back to Cawnpore, which I have desired him to make by easy marches.

I hope to make Cawnpore (myself) on Wednesday.

No. 1.

FROM BRIGDR. PARKE, COMDG. 2ND BRIGADE,
Rajpootanah Field Force,

TO THE ASST. ADJT.-GENL., MALWA DIVISION.
Camp Oodeypore, on the River Oor,
The 6th December 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to submit for the information of Major-General Michel, C. B., Commanding the Malwa Division, the following report of an action fought by the Troops under my command as per margin, with the Rebel Army under Tantia Topee and Rao Sahib on the first day of December 1858, opposite the town of Oodeypore, on the river Oor.

2 Guns 9-Prs. & Battery Bombay Artillery,	50
H. M.'s 8th Hussars,	47
2nd Bombay Light Cavalry,	51
H. M.'s 72nd Highlanders,	94
Guzerat Irregular Horse,	164
H. H. the Guicowar Horse,	304
2nd Regt. S. Mahratta Horse,	161
Aden Troop Scinde Horse,	60
Total number of men,	937

The town of Oodeypore is situated on the right bank of the river, surrounded by dense jungles and mountains with the exception of a small and comparatively—speaking clear space leading up to the town, on which the Rebel Army had been encamped. Oodeypore is on the direct road to Baroda, from Hooksee and the Eastward.

1. On the 30th November I reached a village called Chandpore, about 45 miles West of Hooksee, and learnt that the Rebel Army had only marched from thence that morning to Oodeypore, en route, it was stated, to Baroda and Guzerat. In the evening, I left in hopes of surprising the enemy before he marched the following morning.

2. The night march was through the densest jungle for twenty-two miles, at the end of which the narrow road debouched into a somewhat less thickly wooded plain, which gradually became more open as we advanced. Our spies here informed me of the proximity of the enemy; soon afterwards Lieutenant Moore, Commanding the advance guards of the Aden Troop Scinde Horse, reported that the enemy's outlying picquets were on the alert, that some of them had been sabred by his men, but that the alarm had been given.

3. I moved rapidly forward to select the most favourable spot for forming the Brigade, throwing out skirmishers from the 72nd Highlanders.

4. The Cavalry, placed under the command of Captain Buckle, of the 3rd Bombay Cavalry, and attached to the Guzerat Irregular Horse, was formed into two lines, in rear of the Artillery and Infantry support; the first line consisted of Irregular Cavalry, the second line of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars and 2nd Bombay Cavalry.

5. It was exceedingly difficult at first to ascertain the enemy's position, owing to the undulations of the ground and the brushwood which circumstances, however, had the advantage of concealing the small number of my Infantry and Guns.

6. The enemy soon appeared, mostly Cavalry, very well mounted, in front and on both flanks, evidently with the intention of opposing our advance.

7. I determined to clear the right flank first. The 2nd Regiment of Mahratta Horse was accordingly ordered up and made a brilliant charge, capturing a standard, under their gallant Commander Lieutenant Kerr, who effectually carried out his orders.

8. I now moved the Artillery forward, with the Highlanders skirmishing on both flanks, under Lieutenant Vesey; the enemy's trumpets sounded the British advance, and he came on with a bold front, but the Artillery and Enfield Rifles opening fire, turned him back; another body now threatened our left flank. I changed front accordingly, the Guzerat Horse simultaneously charging to our original front, present right, led by Lieutenant Newton, drove the enemy before them to the South, past the town of Oodeypore across the river, (shallow with sandy bottom) into the mountains.

9. The Artillery was rapidly brought up into the new positions and well served by Lieutenant Heathorn, who opened fire with canister shot.

10. The ground in our immediate front was much broken between us and the enemy; several small huts, almost concealed from view, were held by matchlockmen on our right; their fire however did us no harm. A party of the Highlanders under Lieutenant Champion (no Troops could behave better) advanced, cleared these hovels, and the enemy now fled past our left, giving an opportunity for an excellent charge by 8th Hussars under Captain Clowes, 2nd Bombay Cavalry, under Captain Smith, reinforced by a Troop of Mahratta Horse, under Lieutenant Bannerman. This latter Troop, being more favourably situated than the others, closed first with the enemy. On this occasion Lieutenant Bannerman distinguished himself; his horse was severely wounded.

11. The enemy was now driven across the river, (the course of which runs almost in a semi-circle round the town); the opposite side and a small Island in the middle of the stream were held by the enemy's Infantry, of whom a considerable number were killed, many dressed in British uniform with British arms and accoutrements.

12. The Cavalry followed, killing many, until the remaining fugitives were scattered through the jungles and away into the mountains.

13. In the mean time the Mahratta Horse on our original right had pursued a body of the enemy supposed to consist of the 5th Bengal Irregular Cavalry, well mounted; several of the killed wore the uniform of that Corps.

The Aden Troop Scinde Horse did good service in the same direction.

14. Further pursuit was impossible, not only owing to the country being mountainous and covered on all sides with dense jungles, but the Troops had marched upwards of (240) two hundred and forty miles, between the evening of 21st November and daylight on the morning of the 1st December, including the passage of the Nerbudda River.

The Troops had been on the march the whole of the two previous nights.

15. I was aware of the great importance of attacking the enemy with the utmost speed before he reached Baroda, to which place I am convinced he was hastening, recruiting his Cavalry by the plunder of every horse to be met with

16. By all accounts, from different quarters, I am satisfied that this Rebel Army was scattered in opposite directions.

17. It is very difficult to form a correct estimate of the numbers of the enemy; from all that I can learn and from my own observation I should say about (3,500 or 4,000) three thousand five hundred or four thousand men, evidently the best remains of this once numerous body.

18. The loss of the enemy is estimated at about (250 or 300) two hundred and fifty or three hundred men. Our own loss has not been heavy.

19. The conduct of the Troops has been excellent, not only when engaged with the enemy, but during the fatigues of the late forced marches, provisions also been scarce. The Rebels had plundered the villages on our route.

20. I am much indebted to Captain Buckle, 3rd Bombay Cavalry and Guzerat Horse, for the good service which he has performed and for the valuable assistance which his knowledge of this part of the Country has afforded me.

To Captain Clowes, Commanding Troop 18th Hussars, not only on this occasion, but during the whole pursuit of the Rebels by the 2nd Brigade Rajpootanah Field Force.

To Captain Smith, Commanding Troop 2nd Bombay Cavalry.

To Lieutenant Kerr, Commanding 2nd Regiment Southern Mahratta Horse.

To Lieutenant Vesey, Commanding Detachment 72nd Highlanders. But I consider that Lieutenant Heathorn, the Non-Commissioned Officers and Men of the Bombay Artillery, are deserving of special notice, and most strongly do I recommend them to the favorable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, not only for the manner in which they have kept up their guns (nine-pounders) with Cavalry, but also for the truly Soldier-like, cheerful perseverance with which they have undergone extraordinary fatigues and overcome every difficulty.

Of Captain Stewart, Major of Brigade, 13th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, I can speak highly as an attentive deserving Officer.

Captain Rice, 72nd Highlanders, acted as my Orderly Officer; as such and as a Regimental Officer throughout the operations in Rajpootanah and the pursuit of the Rebels, he has been most useful and assiduous in the discharge of his duty.

Assistant Surgeon Rutler, 72nd Highlanders, and Assistant Surgeon Bell, Southern Mahratta Horse, the only two Medical Officers with the Force, paid every care and attention to the Sick and Wounded.

21. For some months past, I was without the assistance of any Political Officer except Lieutenant Burton, Assistant Superintendent at Neemuch, who has accompanied me throughout the pursuit; to him I am much indebted. Without his aid, his thorough knowledge of the native language, and his indefatigable exertions when provisions were scarce, roads almost impassable during the rainy season, transport failing, I believe my Brigade would frequently have been unable to move. The information also which he obtained throughout Districts with which he was in no ways connected, was generally correct.

22. Having alluded to the conduct of the Troops at present under my immediate command, I trust I may be permitted to bring to the notice of the Major-General Commanding, and through him to that of the Commander-in-Chief, the services of that portion of the 2nd Brigade Rajpootanah Field Force which was not present at the action of the 1st December, but, which has been engaged and has marched upwards of fifteen hundred miles, during the hot, as also during the rainy season, in the pursuit of Rebels, throughout the greater part of Rajpootanah, through Malwa, and has crossed the eight principal rivers on this side of India, viz.; the Banass, Bairass, Chumbul, Colly Sinde Newuj, Perbutty, Betwah and the Nerbudda, (twice), some at much risk and with great difficulty. I avail myself of this opportunity of bearing public testimony to the really Soldier-like qualities of these Troops.

I enclose a return of Killed, Wounded and Missing on the 1st December.

I have, &c.,

EXTRAORDINARY.

No. 654.

Allahabad, the 18*th January* 1859.

In it Lord Clyde announces that the Campaign in which the Troops under his immediate Command have been engaged is closed, and that Rebellion no longer exists in Oude.

The Governor General seizes the earliest opportunity of tendering his warmest thanks to the Commander-in-Chief, and to the noble Army which he leads, for their accomplishment of this good work.

By a large and complete scheme of combined operations, laid down carefully, and carried out inflexibly and irresistibly, this happy result has been achieved without a single check, and with no needless waste of life.

The authority of the British Government has been asserted mercifully in Oude; but it is now established, and made manifest to all, and from this day it shall be maintained in unassailable strength.

The Governor General desires to record his special acknowledgments to Major General Sir Hope Grant, K. C. B., and to Major General Sir William Mansfield, K. C. B., for the new services rendered by those distinguished Officers in this Campaign.

His Lordship also desires to thank the Officers who have commanded Brigades, and the Regimental Commanders of the Army of Oude, for the complete success to which, each in his part they have contributed.

The best acknowledgments of the Governor General are due to Major Norman, Lieutenant-Colonel Macpherson, Captain Algood, and the Officers of the Army, Staff, and to Colonel Sterling, C. B., and the Personal Staff at Head-Quarters, for the efficient assistance which they have given to the Commander-in-Chief.

The Governor General well knows the value to be attached to the judgment, temper, and energy of the Chief Commissioner of Oude, and thoroughly appreciates the importance of the co-operation which the Commander-in-Chief and the Army have received from him. His Lordship emphatically thanks Mr. Montgomery for his admirable service to the State as the Head of the Local Government in Oude.

The difficult functions entrusted to Major Barrow, C. B., Special Commissioner in the Commander-in-Chief's Camp, and to Major Bruce, C. B., Superintendent of Police in Oude, have throughout the Campaign been discharged judiciously and successfully, and with a zeal which calls for the Governor General's special acknowledgments.

It will be very gratifying to the Governor General to bring to the notice of the Queen's Government, the exemplary manner in which the Queen's Army in Oude and the Officers attached to it have done their duty.

R. J. H. Birch, Major-General,
Secy. to the Govt. of India, Mily. Dept.,
with the Governor General.

To His Excellency the Viscount Canning, Viceroy and Governor General.

Head-Quarters, Camp on the Raptee,
The 7th January 1859.

My Lord,

When I last had the honor to address your Excellency, on the progress of the Campaign in Oudh on the 25th November 1858, I reported that the first half of it had been brought to a conclusion, the Rebels having been for the most part driven across the Gogra, with the exception of the Seetapore District, which stretches from the border of Rohilcund to the neighbourhood of Lucknow.

It is now my pleasing duty further to report to your Excellency, that the Campaign is at an end, that there is no longer even the vestige of Rebellion in the province of Oudh, and that the last remnant of the Mutineers and Insurgents has been hopelessly driven across the mountains which form the Barrier between the Kingdom of Nepaul and Her Majesty's Empire of Hindostan.

These results have been attained by following the course of action first initiated in the month of July, when the Campaign of Oudh for the reduction of the country, really commenced, viâ by not committing the Troops to a forward movement, until I should be ready to support it on every side, and so to convert a march into a thorough process of occupation, as was done in the Doab last year after the battle of Cawnpore.

Due preparation once made, the Troops have always been instantly thrown forward, in spite of every difficulty of season, and their work rendered permanent.

Hence it arose that the Campaigns in Behar, Goruckpore, and Oudh have been always treated as a whole, and I have in great measure continued to trust to my own judgment, to fix the date when decisive operation should commence in each territory, with due regard to the general plan, from the great outline and features of which a departure has not at any time been permitted.

It is with no ordinary feelings of satisfaction and of thankfulness to the Officers and Soldiers of the Army, who have displayed such unwearied constancy, perseverance, and fortitude in giving execution to my orders, that I have it consequently in my power to announce to your Excellency that on the 1st January, the last day of clemency permitted under the Proclamation of Her Gracious Majesty the Queen, it was reported to me by the Special Commissioner attached to my Camp in a Civil capacity, that the law and civil administration had been re-established in every District of Oudh, similar reports having been made respecting Goruckpore and Behar a few weeks previously.

On the 31st December 1858 the Rebels were engaged for the last time by me, as a Military body in Oudh, and driven across the border. The force actually with me is encamped close to it. The Begum with her immediate followers having been as yet deaf to the offers of Her Majesty's clemency, has sought an asylum in Nepaul, while nearly every Chief or Talookdar, I may say almost without an exception, whose hands have not been imbrued in murder, has surrendered, and is now in the course of making an amicable arrangement with the Chief Commissioner of Oudh.

The disarmament of the people and the dismantling of the Forts of the country have proceeded rapidly under the protection of the Columns and Garrisons left in different parts of the Province, as the general advance of the long line pressed further onwards, until at length it was arrested by the mountains of Nepaul, the Frontier of Her Majesty's ally.

Many hundred guns and about three hundred and fifty thousand arms of different descriptions have been collected in Oudh, and more than three hundred Forts have been destroyed.

A considerable number of the Mutineers have surrendered and been allowed to retire to their homes, and the population of the country is settling down in all directions in the most satisfactory manner.

I now present to your Excellency a slight Sketch of the Military movements of the last six weeks.

It will be in the recollection of your Excellency that a few hours after the evacuation of Shunkerpore, (on the 16th November 1858,) by Banee Madho, the force which had been concentrated for the reduction of that place, was broken up, * Brigadier Taylor, C. B., H. M.'s 79th Highlanders, having been sent with a strong Brigade of all arms to Fyzabad, with orders to cross the Gogra at that point.

† Sir Hope Grant had been ordered to march in a direct line to the Goomtee. Leaving his force under † Brigadier Horsford, C. B., Rifle Brigade, to reduce the country stretching from Sultanpore to Lucknow, Sir H. Grant repaired with the Head-Quarters Hodson's Horse to Fyzabad according to instruction, to take charge of the first Trans-Gogra movement.

He was desired to assume Command of the Troops in the Goruckpore District, under ‡ Brigadier Rowcroft, B. N. I., and to combine them with the Troops at Fyzabad for the purpose of commencing the clearance of the Trans-Gogra District, arrangement being at the same time made to support the movement from Lucknow and the various posts held between that city and Fyzabad. In the meantime an excellent Bridge had been completed, at the latter place, by Lieutenant-Colonel Nicholson, Royal Engineers.

* Sir Hope Grant gave effect to his instruction in his usual brilliant manner, crossed the Gogra on the 25th November, and engaged a large body of Insurgents under the Rajah of Gonda and Mehndee Hoossein, taking six guns and utterly routing the enemy with, but small loss to himself. † Gonda was then occupied by Sir Hope Grant, and Brigadier Rowcroft was gradually pushed forward across the Raptee to Heer in the Goruckpore District; this latter movement driving the Rebels who had so long annoyed the Western Frontier of that District, into Toolsepore in Oudh to the North of the Raptee.

It had now become necessary for Sir Hope Grant to stop his forward movement until the advance along the line had been made, otherwise that which we most dreaded, might probably have taken place, and the rebels passing round his right flank under the mountains might have invaded Tirhoot and Behar.

He was accordingly warned to use the greatest care to prevent such a catastrophe, and to confine himself to that duty for the present.

In the meantime the other Brigades of the Army had not been idle. After the fight of Dhoondea-Khaira I moved by forced marches to Lucknow with the Troops as per margin.

Another Brigade broken up in the Roy Bareilly District, furnished Moveable Columns, which respectively under Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon, Royal Artillery, and Lieutenant-Colonel Carmichael, H. M.'s 32nd Regiment, pursued Banee Madho to the banks of the Gogra, Lieutenant-Colonel Carmichael taking up the running as it were from Lieutenant-Colonel Gordon.

While Lieutenant-Colonel Carmichael was in pursuit, Brigadier Horsford intercepted Banee Madho, who, flying in confusion, was driven with his followers across the Goomtee, by Brigadier Horsford's Cavalry and Horse Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Sir William Russell, Bart., 7th Hussars. All these Officers distinguished themselves by the decision and celerity of their movements. Finding on my arrival at Lucknow on the 28th November, that I should be obliged to stop there a few days to make certain arrangements, and to meet the demands of the correspondence of the Army, the Brigade, which had latterly accompanied me, was not allowed to halt, but was pushed on at once under Brigadier Evelegh, C. B., H. M.'s 20th Foot, to assist in the reduction of the Seetapore District. On the 2nd December Brigadier Evelegh occupied the Fort of Oomeriah after a sharp resistance; he remained there for three days, engaged in levelling it to the ground. This Fort, owing to its position, had hitherto barred the North West road from Lucknow, and had been for a long time a source of much inconvenience.

Brigadier Horsford, having completed his prescribed duty on the right bank of the Goomtee, had now marched through Lucknow. Another Brigade formed under Brigadier Purnell, C. B., H. M.'s 90th Light Infantry at Nawabgunge Barabunkee, was joined to him.

I left Lucknow on the 5th December and reached Byram Ghât with Brigadier Horsford's Brigade on the next day. I found Banee Madho's followers, who had retreated before Lieutenant-Colonel Carmichael, still lingering on the opposite side of the river.

Sir Hope Grant having been previously ordered to occupy Secrora in their rear, they quickly disappeared and retreated Northwards as soon as they became aware of his march from Gonda to that place.

It appeared to me unavailing to delay the campaign during the tedious process of collecting boats and materials to bridge the Gogra.

Leaving therefore Brigadier Purnell with his Brigade to effect that purpose, I marched at the rate of twenty miles a day to Fyzabad, crossed the Gogra at that place, and thence proceeded in two marches to Secrora, followed by Colonel Christie, H. M.'s 80th Foot, with a detail of Troops as per margin.*

Sir Hope Grant waited to receive me at Secrora by appointment, while his Troops had been already pushed one march on their way to Bulrampore on the Raptee.

The Major General was now instructed to commence his movement immediately on Toolseepore, by causing Brigadier Rowcroft to bring forward his right shoulder and invade the Toolseepore territory from the North-West corner of Goruckpore. A strong post was also formed at Simreet to ward off the chance of the Brigadier's advance being turned to the Eastward. Bala Rao was reported to hold Toolseepore in considerable strength.

I then marched forward to Bareitch with Brigadier Horsford, the Begum and her forces retiring from Boondee, and the Nana from Bareitch as I moved on.

At the same time Brigadier Evelegh, who had been directed on Fyzabad, was ordered to take post at Gonda to form a reserve to the Columns moving Northwards, to settle the country, and level the forts.

Brigadier Purnell was desired to assist in the guard of the Gogra to the North West; one of his Regiments, H. M.'s 23rd Fusiliers, marching up the small Doab between the Chowka and Sarjoo Mullapore with two guns and a detachment Irregular Cavalry.

In the same manner Brigadier Troup, Bengal Native Infantry, who after the fall of Biswah had taken post at Jehangirabad on the Chowka, was ordered to throw H. M.'s 60th Rifles with two guns, and a detachment of Cavalry across that stream, and to extend the remainder of his force to the left.

The various forces at Mohumdee, Shahjehanpore, Phillibheet, Madho, Tanda, &c., on the Rohilcund frontier, were put well on the alert, so that no resource might be left to the Rebel forces, but to surrender or to take to the Hills of Nepaul.

To cause this pressure to be still more felt before the last advance was made, Colonel Christie was detached from Bareitch and ordered to march up the left bank of the Sarjoo to Durmapore. He left Bareitch on the 21st, the movement of the various Columns having been delayed by rain for some days.

On the 23rd I left Bareitch, passed Nanparah on the 26th, and after marching twenty miles on that day, attacked a considerable body of Rebels at Burgidia. Their left flank was turned. They fled after making a slight resistance, and were pursued until nightfall, leaving their guns in our hands.

Joined on the evening of that day by the 1st Punjaub Cavalry.

On the 27th the force marched on the Fort of Musjidia. This place was taken after three hours of vertical fire from two mortars, and a cannonade from an 18-pounder and an 8-inch Howitzer; the Infantry being carefully laid out to command the enemy's embrasures and parapets.

I have much satisfaction in dwelling on the manner in which this Fort was captured, with a very trifling amount of loss to the Troops engaged. The Chief Engineer, Colonel Harness, Royal Engineers, has reported it to be one of the strongest as respects artificial defences that he has seen in India. But like all the others, it was without bomb-proof cover, and consequently fell easily into our hands after a few hours of well directed fire.

As your Lordship is aware every Brigade has been carefully provided throughout the war, since the fall of Lucknow, with heavy guns to ensure similar results in the attack of the Forts of Oudh.

On the 29th the Troops returned to Nanparah, made a forced march on the night of the 30th to the vicinity of Bankee, where the enemy had loitered under the Nana. He was surprised and attacked with great vigor, driven through a jungle which he attempted to defend, and finally into and across the Raptee, the 7th Hussars entering that river with the fugitives. On this occasion the troops distinguished themselves, more particularly the 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade under Colonel Hill, and the 7th Hussars under Lieutenant-Colonel Sir William Russell. I have to deplore the loss of Major Horne, 7th Hussars, who was drowned in the waters of the Raptee. He led the left wing of the Regiment. Captain Stisted, who led the 1st Squadron, was rescued with great difficulty from a similar fate.

The next day it was reported that all the bodies of Rebels which had been retreating before us from the day of our arrival at Byram Ghât, had either surrendered or passed the Nepaul frontier.

In these various affairs 18 guns fell into our hands.

Colonel Christie had a successful skirmish on the 23rd December, and took two guns in pursuit. He then made a circuit to the North by Pudnaha, and rejoined my Camp on the 3rd January.

In the meantime Brigadier Rowcroft attacked Toolseepore on the 23rd December, driving Bala Rao from that point to the foot of the mountains and taking two guns. Sir Hope Grant was alarmed about his flank being turned to the Eastward and to the North of Goruckpore. Acting according to his instructions and with great judgment, he made that point absolutely safe, before renewing his attack on Bala Rao. That being done he advanced through the jungles on that leader, and took fifteen guns from him, almost without the show of resistance on the part of the Rebels; the latter dispersing and seeking refuge in the adjacent hills, and Bala Rao flying into the interior, as the Nana, his brother, had done before him.

Thus has the contest in Oudh been brought to an end, and the resistance of 1,50,000 armed men been subdued with very moderate loss to H. M.'s Troops, and the most merciful forbearance towards the misguided enemy.

For the present Brigadier Horsford has been left watching the Nepal Frontier, where the Raptee debouches from the mountains. A similar arrangement will be made in the Toolseepore District.

I propose to give charge of the position to Sir Hope Grant, and to return to Lucknow myself forthwith.

I desire to offer my particular acknowledgments to the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, Mr. Montgomery, for the cordiality and good will with which he has been pleased to co-operate with me in the execution of his high office. The instructions issued by him to the Officers under his orders were most eminently calculated to facilitate the progress and efforts of the Troops.

His two representatives in my Camp, Major Barrow, C. B., Special Commissioner, and Major Bruce, C. B., Superintendent of the Oudh Police,, won my warmest thanks for the manner in which they have given effect to the instructions of the Chief Commissioner..

Sir Hope Grant's Despatches during the last six months have told the story of the admirable part taken by him in this war. I cannot say too much in his praise. He has the rare merit of uniting the greatest boldness in action, a firm and correct judgment, and the most scrupulous regard for his orders and instructions.

I desire also to recommend to your Excellency's most favorable consideration, the Officers who have commanded Brigades, at different times, in the Army of Oudh.

Some have been employed in more active situations than others, but all have acted with real zeal and devotion to the common cause. I therefore include them in one list :—

The late Colonel Berkeley, C. B.	...	H. M.'s 32nd Lt. Infy.
Brigadier Horsford, C. B.	...	Rifle Brigade.
" Taylor, C. B.	...	79th Highlanders.
" Evelegh, C. B.	...	20th Regiment.
" Purnell, C. B.	...	90th Light Infantry.
" Parker, C. B.	...	Royal Artillery.
" Wetherall, C. B.	...	Unattached.
" Pinckney, C. B.	...	73rd Regiment.
" Hall, C. B.	...	82nd Regiment.
" Hon'ble P. Herbert, C. B.		82nd Regiment.
" Jones, C. B.	...	6th Dragoon Guards.
" Hagart, C. B.	...	7th Hussars.
" Troup	...	B. N. I.
" Fischer	...	Madras N. I.
Colonel Kelly, C. B.	...	34th Regiment.
" Christie	...	80th Regiment.

I refrain from troubling your Excellency with a long list of the Officers who have commanded Regiments and have filled the subordinate Staff Appointments. I wish to say that they and the men under their command, throughout the long struggle carried on without intermission in every season of the year, ten months having elapsed since the fall of Lucknow, during which they have ever kept the field, have been distinguished by a discipline and a constancy unsurpassed in any war.

The service was attended by great fatigue, by never ceasing sickness, and was performed alike during the intense heat of the summer, the languor of the Indian rains and the more bracing season of winter. But the discipline of Her Majesty's Troops never swerved.

All ranks have emulated one another in their exertions. For this we have to thank the high sense of duty and the personal example of Regimental Commanders and Staff Officers, the watchful and provident care of the Staff and Regimental Surgeons, and the admirable spirit which animates the Soldiers of Her Majesty's Regiment, of every denomination. It is indeed a subject of pride to have had the honor of commanding such an Army.

I cannot conclude this Despatch without referring to the very great and cordial assistance which I have constantly received from Major General Sir W. Mansfield, K. C. B., the Chief of the Staff. As it seems probable that active operations will now cease, I have the greatest pleasure in seizing the opportunity of recording my grateful sense of what I owe to this Officer, and of recommending him in the strongest possible manner for the favorable consideration of your Excellency.

Sir W. Mansfield executed all the details of the various operations, which I had thought it advisable to order, with the greatest ability, and showed the most unwearied diligence in directing, as was necessary, the simultaneous movements of so many bodies of Troops, scattered often in small detachments over a very great extent of country, and his care and attention have in a great measure tended to bring about the very rapid and favorable results which have been obtained, and the course of which has been already related.

The Officers who have more particularly worked under the Chief of the Staff during the last year, as regards the execution of their various offices in respect of the war, are Major Norman, Deputy Adjutant General of the Army, Lieutenant-Colonel Macpherson, Officiating Quarter-Master-General of the Army, and Captain Allgood, Assistant Quarter-Master General.

The merits of Major Norman are well known to your Excellency, and he has continued to deserve my highest approbation.

Colonel Macpherson has always performed his duty to my satisfaction, and he has found a very able and industrious Assistant in Captain Allgood. The latter has been with me from the time I first took the field in 1857.

I have the honor to recommend these three Officers to your Excellency's favorable notice.

It remains for me to solicit your Excellency's protection to the Officers of my personal Staff, and of that of Sir William Mansfield.

I am under real obligation to my Military Secretary Colonel Sterling, C. B., who has ever been employed in the most confidential and important manner throughout the transactions of the past year to my entire satisfaction.

The other Officers alluded to, have performed their duties in the most careful, intelligent, and active manner.

They are as follows:—

Lieutenant-Colonel Metcalfe, 4th Europeans, Persian Interpreter.

Captain Alison, H. M.'s 19th Foot.

Lieutenant the Hon'ble J. C. Dormer, H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, A. D. C. to myself.

Lieutenant-Colonel Crealock, H. M.'s 90th Light Infantry, Deputy Assistant Adjutant General to the Chief of the Staff.

Lieutenant Flood, H. M.'s 53rd Regiment, A. D. C.

Captain Viscount Dangan, Coldstream Guards, Acting A. D. C.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

With the greatest respect,

Your Excellency's very obedient, humble Servant,

CLYDE, General,

Commander-in-Chief, East Indies.

Notifications.—The following Extract from a Resolution passed by the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council on this date, showing the number of Furloughs that will be available during the season 1859-60, for the Members of the Civil Service, is published for general information:—

Para. 4.—The Governor General in Council is of opinion that the state of affairs in India is now such as to admit of a relaxation of the rule prohibiting the grant of ordinary Furloughs. Serious inconvenience would however arise in the Bengal Presidency if the entire number of 51 Furloughs were at once to be granted; and it is moreover necessary to provide specially, on this occasion, that the Furloughs allowed should be enjoyed in fair proportion by the Members of the Bengal Civil Service attached to either division of the Presidency, and that some Furloughs should be reserved for Officers, irrespective of their seniority, who by particular services and severe exertions may appear to the Government to deserve the indulgence.

5. His Excellency in Council is therefore pleased to resolve that from the 1st March 1859, thirty-four Furloughs (being two-thirds of the whole number) shall, after deducting those already taken on Medical Certificate, be made available for the Members of the Bengal Civil Service in the following manner.

	Date of probable expiry.
*1. G. G. Balfour	... 8th February 1860.
2. C. S. Belli	... 7th June "
3. H. Rose ...	... 22nd July "
4. H. Lushington	... 20th April "
5. J. C. Dodgson	... 11th September "
6. H. Pratt	... 28th " "
7. H. C. Tucker	... 10th March 1861.
8. F. B. Simson	... 11th October "
9. E. S. Pearson	... 26th November "
10. R. C. Oldfield	... 1st December "
11. R. H. Dunlop

6. Eleven* Furloughs have already been allowed to Members of the Service on medical certificate, and there remain therefore 23 Furloughs for allotment to make up the number of 34.

7. Of these 23 Furloughs, 10 will be held available in the first instance for Members of the Service attached to the Lower Provinces, and 13 for Members attached to the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Oude.

8. Of the 10 Furloughs allotted to the Lower Provinces, five will be given to applicants before the 1st March in order of seniority, and five to such Officers irrespective of seniority as the Lieutenant-Governor may name as particularly deserving of the indulgence, provided they have resided a sufficient time in India to entitle them to Furlough.

9. Of the 13 Furloughs reserved for the North-Western Provinces, the Punjaub and Oude, six will be given to applicants before the 1st March in order of seniority, and seven to such Officers, irrespective of seniority, as may be recommended by the head of the local Government or administration in the proportions noted in the margin, provided as above that their residence in India is sufficient to entitle them to Furlough.

North-Western Provinces ...	3
Punjab	2
Oude	2
Total	7

10. If the full number of Officers are not recommended by the local authorities, the remaining available Furloughs allotted to applicants in order of seniority, and if all the Furloughs allotted to one division of the Presidency are not taken they will be held available for Officers of the other division.

11. Furloughs will continue to be given to applicants on Medical Certificate, without reference to the above arrangement, so long as the whole number of 51 Furloughs is not exceeded.

THE 29TH JANUARY 1859.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council on the 22nd January 1859, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 2nd of May next:—

A Bill for the prevention of Fraudulent Transfers of Property and of Secret Trusts.

For the prevention of fraudulent transfers of property and of secret trusts; It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

I. No transfer of any interest whatever in any immoveable property shall be valid unless it be by instrument in writing signed by the party transferring or by his agent duly authorized in that behalf and attested by two or more witnesses.

Transfer of interest in immoveable property to be in writing signed and attested.

II. No agreement for the transfer of any such interest shall be enforced unless the same or some memorandum or note thereof shall be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith or by some person thereunto lawfully authorized.

No agreement for the transfer of such interest to be enforced unless it is in writing.

III. Whenever any interest in immoveable property is transferred to any person by any written instrument and no declaration of trust in relation thereto shall be expressed in the body of the same instrument or in some memorandum endorsed or written thereon at the time of the execution thereof, such person and every other person claiming under him shall be entitled to hold and absolutely dispose of such interest for his own use and benefit free from all trust——as against the party transferring the same——and against every person (capable of entering into a lawful contract) who shall claim that the property though transferred to the name of another was by agreement purchased in reality for his use and benefit——and as against every person claiming under such party or person: saving nevertheless to every person who shall prove that he was at the time of the transfer and continues to be a bonâ fide creditor of the transferor or of any person for whose use and benefit the transfer was really intended, every such right and remedy whether by suit or otherwise as he would have had if this Act had not been passed: and saving also all such right, title, and interest in the property transferred of any other person other than the transferor or person for whose use and benefit the transfer was really intended or persons claiming under them as he would have had if this Act had not been passed.

If the written instrument of transfer declares no trust of the property—transferee may hold the property for his own benefit free from all trust, as against the party transferring,

and as against every person claiming that the purchase was really for his use and benefit.

Saving of rights of creditors,

and of other persons.

IV. Whoever not being the party for whose use and benefit any such transfer is really intended, wilfully and knowingly allows himself to be named therein as transferee without any declaration therein of the trust on which he is to hold, shall be liable to a fine which may amount to one-half more than the value of the interest transferred.

Person wilfully allowing himself to be named as transferee in the written instrument to be liable to fine if the transfer is really intended for the benefit of another.

V. Whoever fraudulently executes, attests, or becomes a party to, or fraudulently instigates or assists another to execute, attest, or become a party to any such transfer which contains any false statements relating to the consideration thereof or relating to the person for whose benefit it is really intended to operate or which does not correctly name such person, shall be punished with imprisonment with or without hard labor for a term which may extend to two years, and shall also be liable to a fine.

Penalty for fraudulently attesting &c. any written transfer which contains certain false statements.

VI. No testamentary disposition of any description of property shall be valid unless it shall be in writing and signed by the testator or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, nor unless such signature shall be made or acknowledged by the testator as the signature to such testamentary disposition in the presence of at least two witnesses who shall subscribe the same in the presence of the testator. But no particular form of attestation shall be necessary. Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend to the wills of persons whose personal property cannot by the law of England pass to their representatives without probate or letters of administration obtained in one of Her Majesty's Supreme Courts of Judicature.

Testamentary disposition of property of any description to be in writing signed and attested.

Proviso.

VII. No testamentary disposition so made or any part thereof shall be revoked otherwise than by a subsequent testamentary disposition executed in manner hereinbefore required, or by some writing declaring an intention to revoke the same and executed in the manner in which a testamentary disposition is hereinbefore required to be executed, or by the burning, tearing, or otherwise destroying the same by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction with the intention of revoking the same.

Revocation of testamentary disposition.

VIII. No obliteration, interlineation, or other alteration made in any testamentary disposition after the execution thereof shall be valid or have any effect except so far as the words thereof before such alteration shall not be apparent; unless such alteration shall be executed in like manner as hereinbefore is required for the execution of the testamentary disposition; but the testamentary disposition with such alteration as part thereof shall be deemed to be duly executed if the signature of the testator and the subscription of the witnesses be made in the margin or some other part of the testamentary disposition opposite or near to such alteration, or at the foot or end of or opposite or near to such alteration, or at the foot or end of or opposite to a memorandum referring to such alteration and written at the end or some other part of the testamentary disposition.

Alterations of testamentary dispositions.

IX. No authority to adopt a son shall be valid so as to confer any rights of succession or inheritance unless it be by instrument in writing signed by the person authorizing the adoption or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, nor unless such signature shall be attested by at least two witnesses.

Authority to adopt to be conferred by writing signed and attested.

X. No contract for the sale of any moveable property for the price of one hundred Rupees or upwards shall be allowed to be good, except the buyer shall accept part of the goods so sold and actually receive the same or give something in earnest to bind the bargain or in part payment, or that some note or memorandum in writing of the said bargain be made and signed by the parties to be charged by such contract or their agents thereunto lawfully authorized.

No. 210.

Fort William, the 26th January 1859.

Notification.—The following Extract from a Resolution passed by the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council on this date, showing the number of Furloughs that will be available during the season 1859-60, for the Members of the Civil Service, is published for general information:—

Para. 4.—The Governor General in Council is of opinion that the state of affairs in India is now such as to admit of a relaxation of the rule prohibiting the grant of ordinary Furloughs. Serious inconvenience would however arise in the Bengal Presidency if the entire number of 51 Furloughs were at once to be granted; and it is moreover necessary to provide specially, on this occasion, that the Furloughs allowed should be enjoyed in fair proportion by the Members of the Bengal Civil Service attached to either division of the Presidency, and that some Furloughs should be reserved for Officers, irrespective of their seniority, who by particular services and severe exertions may appear to the Government to deserve the indulgence.

5. His Excellency in Council is therefore pleased to resolve that from the 1st March 1859, thirty-four Furloughs (being two-thirds of the whole number) shall, after deducting those already taken on Medical Certificate, be made available for the Members of the Bengal Civil Service in the following manner.

		Date of probable expiry.
*1.	G. G. Balfour	... 8th February 1860.
2.	C. S. Belli	... 7th June „
3.	H. Rose ...	... 22nd July „
4.	H. Lushington	... 20th April „
5.	J. C Dodgson	... 11th September „
6.	H. Pratt	... 28th „ „
7.	H. C. Tucker	... 10th March 1861.
8.	F. B. Simson	... 11th October „
9.	E. S. Pearson	... 26th November „
10.	R. C. Oldfield	... 1st December „
11.	R. H. Dunlop

6. Eleven* Furloughs have already been allotted to Members of the Service on medical certificate, and there remain therefore 23 Furloughs for allotment to make up the number of 34.

7. Of these 23 Furloughs, 10 will be held available in the first instance for Members of the Service attached to the Lower Provinces, and 13 for Members attached to the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Oude.

8. Of the 10 Furloughs allotted to the Lower Provinces, five will be given to applicants before the 1st March in order of seniority, and five to such Officers irrespective of seniority as the Lieutenant-Governor may name as particularly deserving of the indulgence, provided they have resided a sufficient time in India to entitle them to Furlough.

9. Of the 13 Furloughs reserved for the North-Western Provinces, the Punjaub and Oude, six will be given to applicants before the 1st March in order of seniority, and seven to such Officers, irrespective of seniority, as may be recommended by the head of the local Government or administration in the proportions noted in the margin, provided as above that their residence in India is sufficient to entitle them to Furlough.

North-Western Provinces ...	3
Punjab	2
Total	7

10. If the full number of Officers are not recommended by the local authorities, the remaining available Furloughs will be allotted to applicants in order of seniority, and if all the Furloughs allotted to one division of the Presidency are not taken they will be held available for Officers of the other division.

11. Furloughs will continue to be given to applicants on Medical Certificate, without reference to the above arrangement, so long as the whole number of 51 Furloughs is not exceeded.

FROM LIEUTENANT-COLONEL TREMENHERE,

Commanding Engineer, N. F. F.,

TO MAJOR-GENERAL ROBERTS,

Commanding Northern Division.

Dated Bombay, the 16th of November 1858.

SIR,

I BEG permission to request your attention to the re-print of your Despatch, relating to the operations of the Rajpootana Field Force under your orders against the Gwalior rebels at Sanganeer on the 8th August last, which has appeared in various newspapers, as in the detail of the Force engaged, the Detachment 11th Company Royal Engineers under Lieutenant Magnay has been omitted, and only half, instead of the whole 3rd Company Sappers and Miners under Lieutenant Gumbier, is specified.

Lieutenant Magnay and the Detachment under his orders, employed as an escort to the 8-inch Howitzer, were for a considerable time under fire, and the 3rd Company Sappers and Miners were similarly employed in support of the Light Field Battery throughout the whole of the movements before the enemy on that occasion.

I have not had an opportunity of ascertaining whether these omissions occur in the Despatch as officially published: but if through an oversight they should exist in the original document, I trust you will be good enough to rectify the circumstance to the Adjutant General of the Army, in order that there may be an official record of the service performed by the Officers and men alluded to.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) C. W. TREMENHERE,

Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding Engineer.

She is now re-admitted on the allowance noted on the margin.

Mr. H. F. James, who retired on an Annuity of £1000 on 1st May 1855, having completed by a payment of Rupees 3,300 the prescribed balance in this Fund of Rupees 25,000, but neglected for a year to pay up Subscriptions from his Annuity under Rule 8, was informed that he had incurred the penalty specified in Article XXXVIII. of the Rules. He has since paid up all arrears with interest at 8 per Cent., and seeks readmission to the Fund, pleading in excuse of non-payment that from serious illness he was "incapacitated from taking any active part in the management of his own affairs." Subject to the approval of the Meeting, Mr. James has been restored to the full rights of a Subscriber.

Mr. Reginald Thornton, who left India in November 1855, and retired in November 1858 on an Invalid Annuity of £500, having similarly incurred the penalty of Rule 38, has paid up arrears with interest, and pleads that he understood the penalty to apply only to cases when the death of the Subscriber before payment makes it necessary for the family to seek admission to the benefits of the Fund. Subject to the approval of the Meeting, Mr. Thornton has been restored to the full rights of a Subscriber.

Mr. Charles Grant requests that his application for the excess in his Subscription total above Rupees 25,000 to be carried to the account of commutation of future Subscriptions required under Rule 8 may be submitted for the decision of the Subscribers. The Managers have informed Mr. Grant that his claim is inadmissible under the Rules; but in compliance with his request lay the case before the Meeting.

By the second Resolution of the last Half-Yearly General Meeting, the Managers were requested to report whether any change is desirable in the Rules in respect to the points mooted in the first and second of the proposals brought forward by Messrs. Cust and Temple. The Managers referred the question for enquiry to a Sub-Committee composed of Messrs. Currie, Harington, and Beadon. The Report of these Gentlemen is submitted. The Managers concur in the opinion arrived at, that under existing circumstances, no reduction ought to be made in the amount of Pensions allowed to the Widows and Orphans of Subscribers.

With reference to the third Resolution of the last General Meeting accepting the principle of a proposition to levy a penalty in cases of unequal marriages, the Managers have circulated a Vote paper which is now in the hands of Subscribers.

The Accounts for the year 1857-58 are submitted.

Under Article XLIII. of the Rules, the Managers have calculated the value of the pending Annuities which they find to amount to Rupees 36,64,714. At the last quinquennial adjustment, the amount was reported to be Rupees 27,66,977, being an increase during the five years of Rupees 8,97,737. The capital of the Fund amounted on the 30th April last, to Rupees 43,37,731; and on the 30th April 1853 it was reported to be Rupees 26,72,084, being an increase of capital during the five years of Rupees 16,65,650. The capital at present exceeds the value of existing Pensions by Rupees 6,73,020. This amount differs from the balance at credit of the Unappropriated Head owing to the amount of 8 per Cent. capital being still less than the value of the Pensions chargeable to that Head, thereby rendering it necessary to retain a corresponding surplus in the four and five per Cent. branch of the Appropriated Head.

The Managers have made up the balance of the eight per Cent. Appropriated Account to 26 lacs. The value of the Old Pensions and of the proportion of the New Pensions chargeable to this head amounts to Rupees 29,83,830; the deficiency is therefore Rupees 3,83,830, which is considered to be equal to Rupees 5,26,499 of capital at five per Cent. This sum added to the value Rupees 7,04,884 of the portion of Pensions under the New Rules, chargeable to the four and five per Cent. head, makes up Rupees 12,31,383, the adjusted amount of the balance of the Appropriated Funds.

The Managers have likewise made a valuation, as required by Article XLIV. of the Assets and Liabilities of the Unappropriated Funds. They find the present value (as on 30th April last) of the contingent liabilities to amount to Rupees 37,42,516. On the 30th April 1853 the amount, if calculated in the same manner as on the present occasion, was Rupees 31,52,220, so that there is an increase of contingent liabilities, amounting to Rupees 5,90,296. The Assets of the Unappropriated Funds are valued at Rupees 42,33,985. On the 30th April 1853, the amount was reported at Rupees 46,08,848; being a decrease of Rupees 3,74,863. No comparison however can properly be made owing to the items of Subscriptions belonging to the four and five per Cent. account having been differently valued. A comparison of the Assets and Liabilities of the Unappropriated Funds shows a surplus of Assets amounting to Rupees 4,91,469.

The Managers consider that the position of the Fund may be declared to be satisfactory, and they recommend that the existing rates of Subscription be continued for the ensuing quinquenial period.

Legislative Council of India.

Fort William, the 29th January 1859.

Notification.—The Hon'ble Sir Charles Robert Mitchel Jackson, Kt., one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, having been appointed by the Right Hon'ble the Governor General to be a Member of the Council of India for making Laws and Regulations, has this day taken the oaths and his seat in the Council.

W. Morgan,
Clerk of the Council.

The 29th January 1859.

The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 25th January 1859, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

Act No. 1 of 1859.

An Act for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen.

Preamble.

Whereas the law for the registry of Seamen and the grant of Register Tickets has been found to be ineffective for the purposes intended; and whereas, by Section CCLXXXVIII of an Act of the Imperial Parliament called "the Merchant Shipping Act 1854," it is enacted that, "if the Governor General of India in Council, or the respective Legislative Authorities in any British possession abroad, by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the third part of this Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within their respective jurisdictions, and to the owners, masters, mates, and crews thereof, such provisions, when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, shall, in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof shall be recovered and inflicted throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been hereby so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been hereby expressly imposed." And whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of Register Tickets, and to apply to ships registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place in India, certain provisions of the third part of the said Act with such adaptations and modifications as are required, and for the purposes aforesaid to repeal the laws now in force in India relating to Merchant Seamen: It is enacted as follows :—

Acts repealed.

I. Act XXVII of 1850 entitled "An Act for the registry of Merchant Seamen," and Act XXVIII of 1850 entitled "An Act for the encouragement of Merchant Seamen," are hereby repealed, except as to acts done and agreements made before the passing of this Act.

Shipping Offices.

Shipping Offices.

II. A Shipping Office shall be established at each of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and at such other Ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such Office there shall be a Superintendent, to be called a "Shipping Master," with such necessary Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, at such salaries, and subject to such regulations, as the local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Shipping Master.

Appointment, removal, and control of Shipping Masters and Deputies.

III. The local Government shall have power to appoint and remove such Shipping Masters and Deputies; who shall respectively be subject to the control of that Government or of any intermediate authority which it may appoint.

IV. It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act, to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged, and to perform such other duties relating to Merchant Seamen and merchant ships as are hereby or under the said Merchant Shipping Act 1854, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of Shipping Masters to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Business of Shipping Masters.

V. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked (A) in the Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Shipping Masters as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Shipping Offices; and all Shipping Masters, their Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

VI. Every owner or master of a ship engaging or discharging any seamen in a Shipping Office or before a Shipping Master, shall pay to the Shipping Master the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain, any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked (B) in the Schedule hereto. Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct, exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Shipping Master in addition to such fee.

Fees by whom to be paid, &c.

VII. Any Shipping Master, Deputy Shipping Master, or any Clerk or Servant in any Shipping Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

VIII. The local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Shipping Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Shipping Office shall be conducted at the Custom House, or at the Office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other Office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or Office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Office, and the Officer of Customs or other Officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Master within the meaning of this Act.

LXXXV. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is, under the authority of this Act or any law, compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

LXXXVI. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from, or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband, or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police Officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may, for the purpose of conveying him before such Court, detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary, or may, if he does not so require, or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board; and if any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought, to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband, or consignee, who makes the same or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any action for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

LXXXVII. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seamen imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

LXXXVIII. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

LXXXIX. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a Port or place in India while such ship is at any place out of India, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion; the master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Shipping Master at the Port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.

XC. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any Port or place in India, and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book; and thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may, to the extent of thirty Rupees, be deducted from wages.

XCI. Whenever in any proceeding relating to seamen's wages it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty Rupees, to be applied in re-imbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

XCII. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

XCIII. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the Public Treasury and carried to the account of Government; and in all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

XCIV. Any question concerning the forfeiture of, or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any Criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

XCV. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees, and such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages, and paid to Shipping Master.

XCVI. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine, and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act; and such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say), if the offender is discharged at any Port or place in India, and the offence, and such entries in respect thereof as aforesaid, are proved, in the case of a Foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a Home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Shipping Master; and if before the final discharge of the crew in India, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in India, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the Officer in command of the ship into which he so enters or of the Consular Officer, Officer of Customs, or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such Officer or other person; and on the return of the ship to India, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of Foreign-going ships to the Shipping Master before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of Home-trade ships to the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged; and if any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him; provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

XCVII. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or to proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

XCVIII. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee, or master, or of a mate, or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

XCIX. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any Port or place in India is superseded or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody; and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees; and such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

It shall be lawful for the local Government, whether such notice be given or not, if a formal investigation appears to it to be requisite or expedient, to appoint two persons to make the same. The investigation shall be held at such place as the local Government shall deem best for the convenient examination of the witnesses. One of the persons to be so appointed shall be a Magistrate acting in or near the place where the investigation is held: the other may be any person conversant with maritime affairs.

CI. The persons appointed shall proceed to make the investigation and shall for that purpose, so far as relates to compelling the attendance of witnesses, and the regulation of the proceedings, have the same powers as if the same were a proceeding relating to an offence or cause of complaint upon which such Magistrate has power to convict summarily, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Report.

No. 135 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Despatch from Brigadier Douglas, C. B., Commanding the Districts of Shahabad and Ghazeepore, reporting operations in Shahabad and the Kymore Hills, from the 19th to the 30th November 1858.

His Excellency in Council in concurring in the approbation expressed by the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, desires to acknowledge the excellent services rendered by Captain Gordon, of the 42nd Highlanders, on this occasion :—

FROM BRIGADIER DOUGLAS, C. B.,

Comdy. the Districts of Shahabad and Ghazeepore,

TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

Army Head Quarters, Allahabad.

Arrah, 20th December 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state for the information of the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief, that having received his orders to drive the rebels out of the Kymore Hills where they had taken refuge after their expulsion from Shahabad, I made arrangements for a Hill Campaign, and as in such an extended line of country it was hopeless attempting to hem in the enemy, who had now separated into several independent parties, I divided my Force into seven columns of about 300 men each, with a view of intercepting the scattered bodies, and by following them rapidly. I hoped to thoroughly disorganize or compel them to accept the terms of the Amnesty and capitulate. I distributed the Troops as follows. Two columns under Lieut.-Colonels Turner, C. B., and Walter, 35th Regiment, watched the Soane. Two columns under Colonel Seymour, 84th Regiment, and Major Carr, Madras Rifles, guarded the foot of the Hills on the North, with orders to follow up immediately any party that might double back into Shahabad. Another column under Captain Gordon, 42nd Highlanders, with 150 Recruits of the 42nd and 79th Highlanders, and some Native Levies under Captain Knyvett were detached to the Mirzapore side ; the remaining two columns, one under my own personal command, and the other under Major Lightfoot, 84th Regiment, were for the Hills. I placed a detachment under Captain Browne, 35th Regiment, at Bhugwanpore, and held the Jugdeespore Jungle with 300 men. I also provided posts for the Grand Trunk Road and most important positions in Shahabad. All these arrangements being completed, on the 19th at sunrise Major Lightfoot's column and my own proceeded to ascend the Hills, the former by the Raj Ghat and my own by the Doosee Ghat. The ascent was most laborious, the Ghat being precipitate, and rugged and passing through heavy jungle and over and between ledges of huge rocks, which offered a very precarious footing for the provision-animals, whose loads were obliged to be removed and carried up by hand. This was necessarily a tedious operation and occupied upwards of 36 hours. On entering the Hills I found the country ill adapted for military operations, water was scarce and not unfrequently bad, dense jungle covered the Hills, and the roads were mere pathways. No supplies of any kind were procurable, the villages which were few and far between consisting only of from two to six hovels, the inhabitants of which fled at our approach, and of course no trustworthy information could be obtained. As I before stated the enemy had separated and they invariably retreated as we advanced, avoiding us in the dense jungle. In this however they did not always succeed. Captain Gordon hearing from Mr. Dennison, Magistrate of Mirzapore, who accompanied him, that a considerable body of the rebels were at Kirkhut Ghur, determined to attack them: accordingly on the 20th November with his Highland Recruits and the Mirzapore Levy he advanced upon the enemy's position just at dawn, took them completely by surprise, killed some fifty, captured their horses, ammunition, &c., and utterly routed them. This affair appears to me to redound greatly to Captain Gordon's credit, and I have much pleasure in bringing his services to the notice of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief.

On the morning of the 24th having heard of some rebels within a few miles of my proposed line of march, sending off my Baggage under a suitable escort to my new bivouac ground, I proceeded to the point indicated by the guide, but the enemy had fled a few hours before my arrival. That same afternoon I again heard that 300 rebels had taken up a position near the village of Sulya Duhar, about 10 or 12 miles from my Camp. Having found it almost hopeless to bring the enemy to action in the day time, I decided on attempting a night attack, and with a body of 200 men from the 35th and 84th Regiments under Captain Tisdall, 35th, and Captain Hardy, 84th Regiment, set out about 8 P. M., timing our march so that we should reach the enemy when the moon arose at midnight. After proceeding about 11 miles through heavy jungle, we came out into an open plain. A fire was observed to our front, under a tope of trees. I advanced towards it, extending the Light Company 35th Regiment under Captain Blyth. The order was silence and no firing as we proceeded, other lights appeared, and suddenly within fifty yards of us, one or two persons rose from the ground, followed by several others who began moving silently away. Convinced that the rebels' Camp was in front of us, with a cheer and levelled bayonets, the men rushed upon the enemy; so complete was the surprise, that some of the Sepoys were bayonetted as they lay, others threw themselves into a nullah hard by, beyond which was heavy jungle, the proximity of which alone saved the whole body from being annihilated. The alarm was so great that not a rebel attempted to stand to his arms. In my telegram I reported 40 killed, but I have since learnt that 64 bodies, all Sepoys, had been found, most of them bayonetted. We captured their ammunition and accoutrements, all their cooking pots and pans, 130 muskets, 9 Enfields, and some 250 swords and shields, and 20 horses of kinds This successful night attack following so closely on Captain Gordon's surprise, appears to have decided the rebels on leaving the Hills. They first attempted a descent by Major Carr, but were driven back with loss, subsequently taking advantage of night they stole down the Hills in small bodies, avoiding all villages and roads, and about 400 or 500 succeeded in penetrating some distance into the plains before they were discovered. Directly however that the information reached Colonels Walter and Seymour those two Officers started in pursuit, which they carried on at the rate of 25 and 30 miles a day. On the 25th Colonel Walter had a conference with some of the rebel leaders who appeared inclined to lay down their arms, provided they obtained for themselves exemption from all further penalties; but as Mr. Money, who was present at the interview, did not consider that such stipulation could be entertained, the conference was broken off and the enemy retreated. The pursuit was continued till nightfall. That same evening the rebels made for the Ganges, with an intention of crossing, but the steamers which had been warned to be on the alert, opened fire upon them, and every boat having been previously moved to the other side of the river their object was entirely defeated. Baffled on every side, disheartened by the daily defection of numbers of their adherents, and hotly pressed by the pursuing columns, the rebels suddenly breaking up, scattered to their homes, many of them abondoning their arms and horses, numbers of which have been brought in by the villagers; so complete was the enemy's dispersion that within a few days not a dozen men throughout the district remained banded together, and the leaders attended by only 3 or 4 followers were flying for their lives In every village in Shahabad Sepoys are to be found, but they are no longer in arms, in proof of which numbers are coming in daily to accept the terms of the Amnesty. Of those rebels who lately infested this district, I believe that there only remains one small body of about 200 men to be disposed of; they have made across the Soane, and I have sent Lieutenant-Colonel Turner, C. B., to try and break them up.

To the Officers Commanding columns, to my Personal Staff, Sir Henry Havelock, 18th Royal Irish Regiment, Assistant Adjutant General, Major Stevenson, 79 Highlanders, Brigade Major, Captain Wilkinson, 4th European Light Cavalry, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, to Mr. Bingham, acting Magistrate, and Mr. Dennison, Magistrate of Mirzapore, and to all who have assisted in the late operations, I return my best thanks. Colonel Longden in North Behar and Major Beamish, 35th Regiment in Tirhoot, have conducted responsible commands much to my satisfaction. The conduct of Naib Russaldar Nuweb Khan, 3rd Seik Cavalry, when in command of an outpost, as reported by Colonel Seymour, was so gallant that I venture to recommend him for some special mark of favor. I cannot close this report without bearing testimony to the admirable Commissariat arrangements made by Captain Ogilvie, ably assisted by Captain Holland, Captain Tulloch, and Lieutenant Bates. I beg to enclose reports from Lieutenant-Colonel Turner, C. B., Lieutenant-Colonel Walton, Lieutenant-Colonel Seymour, Major Carr, and Captain Gordon.

I have, &c.,

THE following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book-Packets by Post:—

1*st*.—The Postage must be pre-paid in full, by means of Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet on its cover.

2*nd*.—Every Packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd*.—The Packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, parchment or vellum (to the exclusion, however, of letters whether sealed or open) and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, publication, &c., or of a portion thereof, will be allowed; whether such binding, &c. be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books; and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto.

4*th*.—The Packet must not contain any letter, closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written or printed in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.

5*th*.—No Book-Packet can be received if it exceeds two feet in length, width, or depth.

6*th*.—Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any letter or any communication of the nature of a letter written or printed in it or upon its cover will be charged with Letter Postage.

7*th*.—If a Packet be found to contain any letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet, charged with full Postage as an unpaid letter, together with an additional Book-rate; that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than half a lb the remainder of the Packet, if duly pre-paid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8*th*.—If a Packet be not sufficiently pre-paid with Stamps but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book-rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book-Postage together with an additional Book rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book-rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9*th*.—No Book-Packet weighing more than three lbs can be sent to or from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10*th*.—The Colonial Book-Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11*th*.—In no case can a Book-Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the letter rate of Postage,) through a Foreign Country.

SPECIAL Notice is directed to the subjoined Clauses of Rules, the want of attention to which has occasioned the Post Office much inconvenience.

2*nd*.—A separate instruction will be required for every change of address, and no instruction will be attended to for more than three months after its receipt.

3*rd*.—Under Section XXIII. of Act XVII. of 1854, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in any Post Office. For example, if a letter posted in Calcutta and addressed to Hooghly is, under instructions which may have been received from the addressee, re-directed in the Calcutta Post Office and sent to Barrackpore, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to the Postage which would have been due, had the letter been despatched to Hooghly according to its original address.

4*th*.—The practice of giving instructions to the Officers of the Post Office to intercept and re-direct letters, not only imposes much labor upon them, but in large Offices seriously retards the delivery and despatch of the Mails. A register of instructions regarding changes of address will be kept in every Post Office, but it must be understood, that it is impossible to guarantee that they shall be attended to, except in the case of letters received for delivery.

THE Railway Trains leave Howrah, at 9-20 A. M. daily (Sundays excepted.) Letters and Papers are sent to Bally, Coonnughur, Barrackpore, Serampore, Chandernagore, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bood Bood, Pundooah, Panaghur, Soorool, Ranceegunge, Bancoorah, Beerbhoom, Bousee and Nyndoomka. By the 5-40 P. M. Train, Mails for Bally, Coonnughur Barrackpore, Serampore, Chandernagore, Hooghly and Pundooah are again made up and despatched. By the Express Mail Train which leaves Howrah at 8-45 P. M. the above Packets are also made up and forwarded, together with Mails for the North-Western Provinces and Gya, Ghazeepore, and Bombay Lines.

NOON Despatch for Serampore and Barrackpore are also made up and forwarded by Runners, and at 1 P. M. a Mail for Dum-Dum is made up and forwarded in a similar manner.

LETTERS, &c., posted at the Thannahs, Pillar Boxes, and the several Receiving Houses up to 1 P. M. will reach the General Post Office in time for Train Despatch at 4 P. M.

The Receiving Houses are opened daily from 9½ A. M. to 4 P. M.

Letters posted at the Receiving Houses and Pillar Boxes for delivery at Calcutta before 9 A. M. will be sent out by the second delivery, those posted before 1 P. M will be sent out by the third delivery and after that hour the delivery will take place the following morning.

THERE is only one delivery of letters at the General Post Office on Sundays, and Banghy Parcels are neither received nor despatched on that day.

LETTERS and Newspapers despatched to and from the United Kingdom by private Vessels are liable to the following rates of Postage which must be pre-paid by Stamps :—

	Rs.	As.	Pie.
Letters not exceeding ½ oz. in weight	0	4	0
Ditto exceeding ½ oz. but not exceeding 1 oz.	0	8	0

And so on adding 8 annas for each oz. or fraction thereof which includes Inland Postage.

Newspapers not exceeding 4 oz. in weight, 1*d.* or 9 pie must be pre-paid in cash, and no Inland Postage is required upon such papers.

Parcels conveyed by the above opportunity for the United Kingdom are liable to Letter rates of Postage.

Notice.

THE following Extract of an Order of the Government of India, No. 884, of the 13th July 1855.

" No Public Officer is authorized to send Covers on the Public Service by Post, without payment of Postage, unless he is at the time on active duty and in charge of the Office by virtue of which the privilege is enjoyed. All letters superscribed as 'on the Public Service only' must, even though the Postage thereon be not paid, be received and opened by the Officer to whom they are addressed, but if any such, or partially paid letter so superscribed, and addressed to any Officer except a Secretary to Government be found when opened, to relate to the private affairs of the Sender, the Postage will be debited to him and he will be further liable to be dealt with under Section XLVII. Act No. XVII. of 1854.

His Honor in Council further directs that unpaid or insufficiently paid letters addressed to any such Officer or Department and not superscribed 'on the Public Service only' be refused, or if opened that it be at the risk and cost of the opener."

IRON Pillar Letter Boxes have been placed in the following localities :—

Rada Bazar, Bonded Ware-house, Wellington Square, Mangoe Lane, Park Street, Gowkhannah, Scott Thomson's, General Treasury, Prinsep's Ghaut, Fort near Main Guard, Watgunge, Salt Golah Ghaut, Matia Poruze, Ballygunge, General Hospital, Theatre Road, Strand Flour Mills, Prossono Coomar's Ghaut, College Square and Chitpore Road, and are opened three times a day at 9 A. M. 1 and 4 P. M.

Letters, &c., intended for Calcutta posted in the above Box up to 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. will be brought in time for the second and third deliveries respectively, and those dropped into the Box after 1 P. M. and up to 4 P. M. will be distributed the next morning at the first delivery.

Letters, &c., intended for the Train Mail, found in the Pillar Box at 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. will arrive in time for 4 P. M. Despatch, and those posted after the last mentioned hour and up to 5 P. M. will be forwarded by the Express Mail Train at 8-45 P. M.

Letters, &c., for Eastern and Southern routes posted up to 5 P. M. will be forwarded to their destination at 8 P. M.

On Sundays, the Letter Box will be cleared twice, viz., 12 noon and 4 P. M., and letters, &c., posted after the latter hour will be brought to the Calcutta Post Office the following morning.

LETTERS arriving at the Presidency Towns, by Mail Steamers will be immediately sorted for delivery according to the address alone, without any reference to instructions which may have been received regarding change of address; such changes will be left to be discovered by the Delivery Officers, and be corrected in the forward and unclaimed Departments of the Office.

Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon, upon every letter, without exception, which may be re-directed in the Post Office.

Letters, &c., received by the Steamer will be delivered at the Window of the Post Office only to parties who have registered their names. Applications to the Post Office on the day of the Steamer's arrival to intercept and re-direct letters, &c., cannot be attended to, as they are found not only to impose much labour but seriously retard the delivery and despatch of the Mails.

ALL Banghy Parcels being registered before despatch it is needless to have a Banghy Parcel specially registered by payment of the Fee of 4 annas as no additional precaution can be taken of a specially Registered Parcel which is not taken in the case of every ordinary Banghy Parcel.

UNDER the orders of Government, no fourth delivery of letters by the Post Office is allowed. Mails which are received by Steamers from Suez at so late an hour in the day as not to admit of the letters being taken out for delivery by 6 P. M. are detained till the following morning, but parties who have registered their names under the usual fee, are entitled to receive their letters, and Marseilles Newspapers so soon as the Mails are sorted, and which is generally about 2½ hours after receipt of the Mail at the Post Office.

A NUMBER of Letters and Newspapers for parties residing at Calcutta are from their being directed to the Suburbs* of the Town, mistaken for places in the Mofussil, and are enclosed in the Boxes superscribed "Inland" by the London Post Office and are not in consequence discovered by the Calcutta Post Office, till after the local delivery has taken place. This will account for some of the letters, &c., reaching the Addressees at a late hour.

* Kidderpore. Alipore. Belvidere. Bhowanipore. Simlah. Mirzapore. Cossipore. Chitpore. Garden Reach.

THE exemption allowed to Officers with the Army from the charge of Forward Postage on re-directed letters has been continued by the Governor General "until further orders."

Forward Newspapers.—Extra or Forward Postage is chargeable on every Newspaper re-directed at the Post Office of original address and forwarded to another Post Office.

Replies to Petitions.—The receipt at all District Post Offices of Bearing Letters superscribed "Replies to Petitions" and franked by any Public Officer is authorized.

MAILS for Akyab, Rangoon and Moulmein are made up on the 3rd and 19th of each month, for transmission by the Contract Steamers or by Government Vessels, which sail on the morning of the 4th and 20th, unless the Contractors choose to postpone the departure for 48 hours, of which they have the power on making a requisition.

BY Order of the Government of India the following additions have been made to List No. I. of parties authorized to send by Post without actual payment of Postage, all Letters, Packets and Parcels bonâ fide and exclusively on the Public Service :—

Legislative Council of India.

THE 29TH JANUARY 1859.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 25th January 1859, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. I OF 1859.

An Act for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the law for the registry of Seamen and the grant of Register Tickets has been found to be ineffective for the purposes intended; and whereas, by Section CCLXXXVIII of an Act of the Imperial Parliament called "the Merchant Shipping Act 1851," it is enacted that, "if the Governor General of India in Council, or the respective Legislative Authorities in any British possession abroad, by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the third part of this Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with, or being at any place within their respective jurisdictions, and to the owners, masters, mates, and crews thereof, such provisions, when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, shall, in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof shall be recovered and inflicted throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been hereby so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been hereby expressly imposed." And whereas it is expedient to discontinue the practice of registry and the grant of Register Tickets, and to apply to ships registered at, trading with, or being at any Port or place in India, certain provisions of the third part of the said Act with such adaptations and modifications as are required, and for the purposes aforesaid to repeal the laws now in force in India relating to Merchant Seamen: It is enacted as follows :—

Acts repealed.

I. Act XXVII of 1850 entitled "An Act for the registry of Merchant Seamen," and Act XXVIII of 1850 entitled "An Act for the encouragement of Merchant Seamen," are hereby repealed, except as to acts done and agreements made before the passing of this Act.

SHIPPING OFFICES.

Shipping Offices.

II. A Shipping Office shall be established at each of the Ports of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay, and at such other Ports as the Governor General of India in Council shall hereafter deem necessary. For every such Office there shall be a Superintendent, to be called a "Shipping Master," with such necessary Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, at such salaries, and subject to such regulations, as the local Government shall from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council, direct and appoint. Every act done by or before any Deputy duly appointed shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Shipping Master.

Appointment, removal, and control of Shipping Masters and Deputies.

III. The local Government shall have power to appoint and remove such Shipping Masters and Deputies; who shall respectively be subject to the control of that Government or of any intermediate authority which it may appoint.

IV. It shall be the general business of Shipping Masters appointed under this Act, to superintend and facilitate the engagement and discharge of seamen in manner hereinafter mentioned, to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged, and to perform such other duties relating to Merchant Seamen and merchant ships as are hereby or under the said Merchant Shipping Act 1851, or as may hereafter under the powers herein contained, be committed to them. It shall also be the duty of Shipping Masters to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorized so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to masters and owners of ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships.

Business of Shipping Masters.

V. Such fees, not exceeding the sums specified in the Table marked (A) in the Schedule to this Act, as are from time to time fixed by the local Government, shall be payable upon all engagements and discharges effected before Shipping Masters as hereinafter mentioned. Scales of the fees payable for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Shipping Offices; and all Shipping Masters, their Deputies, Clerks, and Servants, may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid.

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges.

VI. Every owner or master of a ship engaging or discharging any seamen in a Shipping Office or before a Shipping Master, shall pay to the Shipping Master the whole of the fees hereby made payable in respect of such engagement or discharge, and may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct in respect of each such engagement or discharge from the wages of all persons (except apprentices) so engaged or discharged, and retain, any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in the Table marked (B) in the Schedule hereto. Provided that, if in any cases the sums which the owner is so entitled to deduct, exceed the amount of the fee payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Shipping Master in addition to such fee.

Fees by whom to be paid, &c.

VII. Any Shipping Master, Deputy Shipping Master, or any Clerk or Servant in any Shipping Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any merchant ship, excepting the lawful fees payable under this Act, shall for every such offence incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, and shall also be dismissed from his office.

Penalty on Shipping Master taking other remuneration.

VIII. The local Government may direct that, at any place at which no separate Shipping Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Shipping Office shall be conducted at the Custom House, or at the Office of the Master Attendant or Harbour Master, or at such other Office as the Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom House or Office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Office, and the Officer of Customs or other Officer there, to whom such business is committed, shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Shipping Master within the meaning of this Act.

LXXXI. If the local Government, on the information of any Shipping Master or on any other ground, has reason to believe that any master or mate who has obtained a certificate of competency or service from such Government, is from incompetency or misconduct unfit to discharge his duties, it may direct any Board or Officer at or near to the place at which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, to institute an investigation; and thereupon such Board or Officer shall conduct the investigation, and may summon the master or mate to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence either in person or otherwise, and shall, for the purpose of such investigation, have all the powers vested in Magistrates of summoning and examining witnesses, and may make such order with respect to the costs of such investigation as they may deem just, and shall on the conclusion of the investigation make a report upon the case to the local Government.

LXXXII. The local Government may suspend or cancel the certificate (whether of competency or service) granted under this Act to any master or mate in the following cases; (that is to say)—

Desertion.

2. For neglecting or refusing without reasonable cause to join his ship or to proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ships sailing from any Port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty not amounting to desertion or not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labor, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to forefeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay, and in addition for every twenty-four hours of absence either a sum not exceeding six days' pay, or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute.

Neglecting or refusing to join, or to proceed to sea, absence within twenty-four hours before sailing, and absence without leave.

3. For quitting the ship without leave after her arrival at her Port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay.

satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Entry of offences to be made in official log, and to be read over or a copy given to the offender, and his reply, if any, to be also entered.

LXXXIV. Upon the commission of any of the offences enumerated in the last preceding Section, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log book, and shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or one of the crew; and the offender, if still in the ship, shall before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any Port, or if she is at the time in Port before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he thinks fit; and a statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid; and in any subsequent legal proceeding, the entries hereinbefore required shall, if practicable, be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof, the Court hearing the case may, at its discretion, refuse to receive evidence of the offence.

Seamen whom masters of ships are compelled to convey, and persons going in ships without leave, to be subject to penalties for breach of discipline.

LXXXV. Every seafaring person whom the master of any ship is, under the authority of this Act or any law, compelled to take on board and convey, and every person who goes to sea in any ship without the consent of the master or owner or other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in such ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

Master or owner may apprehend deserters without warrant.

LXXXVI. Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, any seaman or apprentice neglects or refuses to join, or deserts from, or refuses to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave, the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband, or consignee, may, with or without the assistance of Police Officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, apprehend him without first procuring a warrant; and may thereupon in any case, and shall, in case he so requires and it is practicable, convey him before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law; and may, for the purpose of conveying him before such Court, detain him in custody for a period not exceeding twenty-four hours or such shorter time as may be necessary, or may, if he does not so require, or if there is no such Court at or near the place, at once convey him on board; and if any such apprehension appears to the Court before which the case is brought, to have been made on improper or on insufficient grounds, the master, mate, owner, ship's husband, or consignee, who makes the same or causes the same to be made, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees; but such penalty, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any action for false imprisonment in respect of such apprehension.

Deserters may be sent on board in lieu of being imprisoned.

LXXXVII. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, instead of committing the offender to prison, cause him to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

Seamen imprisoned for desertion or breach of discipline may be sent on board before termination of sentence.

LXXXVIII. If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end his services are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause such seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board his said ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, notwithstanding that the termination of the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not arrived.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent home, and admitted in evidence.

LXXXIX. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a Port or place in India while such ship is at any place out of India, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion; the master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Shipping Master at the Port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages.

XC. Whenever a question arises whether the wages of any seaman or apprentice are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that such seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in or that he belonged to the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or if such voyage was to terminate at any Port or place in India, and the ship has not returned, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log-book; and thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or apprentice can produce a proper certificate of discharge or can otherwise show to the satisfaction of the Court that he had sufficient reasons for leaving his ship.

Costs of procuring imprisonment may, to the extent of thirty Rupees, be deducted from wages.

XCI. Whenever in any proceeding relating to seamen's wages it is shown that any seaman or apprentice has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman, not exceeding thirty Rupees, to be applied in re-imbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

XCII. Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Application of forfeitures.

XCIII. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the Public Treasury and carried to the account of Government; and in all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

XCIV. Any question concerning the forfeiture of, or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice, may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any Criminal proceeding.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or name.

XCV. If any seaman, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of the name of his last ship or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement of his own name, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty Rupees, and such penalty may be deducted from any wages he may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and shall, subject to reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion, be paid and applied in the same manner as other penalties payable under this Act.

Fines to be deducted from wages, and paid to Shipping Master.

XCVI. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine, and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over, and of the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act; and such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say), if the offender is discharged at any Port or place in India, and the offence, and such entries in respect thereof as aforesaid, are proved, in the case of a Foreign-going ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master before whom the offender is discharged, and in the case of a Home-trade ship to the satisfaction of the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct such fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Shipping Master; and if before the final discharge of the crew in India, any such offender as aforesaid enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in India, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the Officer in command of the ship into which he so enters or of the Consular Officer, Officer of Customs, or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the fine shall thereupon be deducted as aforesaid, and an entry of such deduction shall then be made in the official log-book (if any) and signed by such Officer or other person; and on the return of the ship to India, the master or owner shall pay over such fine, in the case of Foreign-going ships to the Shipping Master before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of Home-trade ships to the Shipping Master at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged; and if any master or owner neglects or refuses to pay over any such fine in manner aforesaid, he shall for each such offence incur a penalty not exceeding six times the amount of the fine retained by him; provided that no act of misconduct for which any such fine as aforesaid has been inflicted and paid shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

XCVII. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or to proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted, incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred Rupees.

Penalty for obtaining passage surreptitiously.

XCVIII. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any ship without the consent of either the owner, consignee, or master, or of a mate, or of any person in charge of such ship, or of any other person entitled to give such consent, shall incur a penalty not exceeding two hundred Rupees, or be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for any period not exceeding four weeks.

On change of masters, documents hereby required to be handed over to successor.

XCIX. If during the progress of a voyage the master of any ship registered at any Port or place in India is superseded or for any other reason quits the ship and is succeeded in the command by some other person, he shall deliver to his successor the various documents relating to the navigation of the ship and to the crew thereof which are in his custody; and shall in default incur a penalty not exceeding one thousand Rupees; and such successor shall, immediately on assuming the command of the ship, enter in the official log a list of the documents so delivered to him.

Enquiries into Wrecks.

Enquiry may be instituted in cases of wreck and casualty.

Whenever any ship is lost, abandoned, or materially damaged on or near the coasts of India;

Whenever any ship causes loss or material damage to any other ship on or near such coasts;

Whenever, by reason of any casualty happening to or on board of any ship on or near such coasts, loss of life ensues;

Whenever any such loss, abandonment, damage, or casualty happens elsewhere to or on board any ship registered at any Port or place in India, under the Merchant Shipping Act 1854 or under Act X of 1841—it shall be the duty of any European Civil Officer of Government residing at or near the place where such loss, abandonment, damage, or casualty occurred, if the same occurred in India, but if elsewhere, at or near the place where such witnesses as aforesaid arrive or are found, to give notice of the same to the local Government. It shall be lawful for the local Government, whether such notice be given or not, if a formal investigation appears to it to be requisite or expedient, to appoint two persons to make the same. The investigation shall be held at such place as the local Government shall deem best for the convenient examination of the witnesses. One of the persons to be so appointed shall be a Magistrate acting in or near the place where the investigation is held: the other may be any person conversant with maritime affairs.

Investigation.

CI. The persons appointed shall proceed to make the investigation and shall for that purpose, so far as relates to compelling the attendance of witnesses, and the regulation of the proceedings, have the same powers as if the same were a proceeding relating to an offence or cause of complaint upon which such Magistrate has power to convict summarily, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Report.

CII. Upon the conclusion of the case the persons appointed to investigate shall send a report to the local Government, containing a full statement of the case and of their opinion thereon, accompanied by such report of or extracts from the evidence and such observations (if any) as they may think fit.

CIII. An official log-book of every ship registered at any Port or place in India, except Home-Trade ships of a burden not exceeding three hundred tons, shall be kept in a form sanctioned by the local Government; and such official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or united therewith, so that in all cases all the blanks in the official log be duly filled up.

Entries to be made in due time.

CIV. Every entry in every official log shall be made as soon as possible after the occurrence to which it relates, and if not made on the same day as the occurrence to which it relates shall be made and dated so as to show the date of the occurrence, and of the entry respecting it; and in no case shall any entry therein in respect of any occurrence happening previously to the arrival of the ship at her final Port of discharge be made more then twenty-four hours after such arrival.

A Bill for the prevention of Fraudulent Transfers of Property and of Secret Trusts.

Preamble.

For the prevention of fraudulent transfers of property and of secret trusts; It is enacted as follows:—

Transfer of interest in immoveable property to be in writing signed and attested.

I. No transfer of any interest whatever in any immoveable property shall be valid unless it be by instrument in writing signed by the party transferring or by his agent duly authorized in that behalf and attested by two or more witnesses.

No agreement for the transfer of such interest to be enforced unless it is in writing.

II. No agreement for the transfer of any such interest shall be enforced unless the same or some memorandum or note thereof shall be in writing and signed by the party to be charged therewith or by some person thereunto lawfully authorized.

If the written instrument of transfer declares no trust of the property—transferee may hold the property for his own benefit free from all trust, as against the party transferring,

and as against every person claiming that the purchase was really for his use and benefit.

III. Whenever any interest in immoveable property is transferred to any person by any written instrument and no declaration of trust in relation thereto shall be expressed in the body of the same instrument or in some memorandum endorsed or written thereon at the time of the execution thereof, such person and every other person claiming under him shall be entitled to hold and absolutely dispose of such interest for his own use and benefit free from all trust——as against the party transferring the same——and against every person (capable of entering into a lawful contract) who shall claim that the property though transferred to the name of another was by agreement purchased in reality for his use and benefit——and as against every person claiming under such party or person: saving nevertheless to every person who shall prove that he was at the time of the transfer and continues to be a bonâ fide creditor of the transferor or of any person for whose use and benefit the transfer was really intended, every such right and remedy whether by suit or otherwise as he would have had if this Act had not been passed: and saving also all such right, title, and interest in the property transferred of any other person other than the transferor or person for whose use and benefit the transfer was really intended or persons claiming under them as he would have had if this Act had not been passed.

Saving of rights of creditors,

and of other persons.

Person wilfully allowing himself to be named as transferee in the written instrument to be liable to fine if the transfer is really intended for the benefit of another.

IV. Whoever not being the party for whose use and benefit any such transfer is really intended, wilfully and knowingly allows himself to be named therein as transferee without any declaration therein of the trust on which he is to hold, shall be liable to a fine which may amount to one-half more than the value of the interest transferred.

Penalty for fraudulently attesting &c. any written transfer which contains certain false statements.

V. Whoever fraudulently executes, attests, or becomes a party to, or fraudulently instigates or assists another to execute, attest, or become a party to any such transfer which contains any false statements relating to the consideration thereof or relating to the person for whose benefit it is really intended to operate or which does not correctly name such person, shall be punished with imprisonment with or without hard labor for a term which may extend to two years, and shall also be liable to a fine.

Testamentary disposition of property of any description to be in writing signed and attested.

VI. No testamentary disposition of any description of property shall be valid unless it shall be in writing and signed by the testator or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, nor unless such signature shall be made or acknowledged by the testator as the signature to such testamentary disposition in the presence of at least two witnesses who shall subscribe the same in the presence of the testator. But no particular form of attestation shall be necessary. Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend to the wills of persons whose personal property cannot by the law of England pass to their representatives without probate or letters of administration obtained in one of Her Majesty's Supreme Courts of Judicature.

Proviso.

VII. No testamentary disposition so made or any part thereof shall be revoked otherwise than by a subsequent testamentary disposition executed in manner hereinbefore required, or by some writing declaring an intention to revoke the same and executed in the manner in which a testamentary disposition is hereinbefore required to be executed, or by the burning, tearing, or otherwise destroying the same by the testator or by some person in his presence and by his direction with the intention of revoking the same.

Revocation of testamentary disposition.

VIII. No obliteration, interlineation, or other alteration made in any testamentary disposition after the execution thereof shall be valid or have any effect, except so far as the words thereof before such alteration shall not be apparent; unless such alteration shall be executed in like manner as hereinbefore is required for the execution of the testamentary disposition; but the testamentary disposition with such alteration as part thereof shall be deemed to be duly executed if the signature of the testator and the subscription of the witnesses be made in the margin or some other part of the testamentary disposition opposite or near to such alteration, or at the foot or end of or opposite or near to such alteration, or at the foot or end of or opposite to a memorandum referring to such alteration and written at the end or some other part of the testamentary disposition.

EXTRACT from the Proceedings of the Government of India, in the Financial Department, under date the 22nd January 1859.

READ the following papers, relative to the deposit in the Government Savings' Bank, Calcutta, of Cash as security from Assistant Overseers in the Department of Public Works.

Letter from the Accountant, Punjab, No. 3081, dated 17th November last, with enclosure.

Letter from Secretary, Government Savings' Bank, Calcutta, (Sub-Treasurer) No. 295, dated the 4th ultimo.

Letter to the Government Solicitor, No. 7457, dated the 27th ultimo.

Letter from the Government Solicitor, No. 566, dated the 8th instant, with enclosure.

RESOLUTION.—The Hon'ble the President in Council observes from the correspondence submitted by the Accountant of the Punjab, that in conformity with Paragraph 60. Chap. XVII. of the new Code for the Public Works Department, referred to in the margin, by which it is provided that "If cash be deposited as Security" (by Officers of of the Public Works Department) "it should be placed in the Government Savings' Bank in the name of the Chief Engineer, the Interest being made payable to the depositor," Captain Pollard, Executive Engineer of the Goojrat Division, wishes to place in deposit in the Bank a sum of Rupees 400 on behalf of an Assistant Overseer of the Department as the latter's security; but that the Accountant, Punjab, objects to that course, as being contrary to the rules laid down for the management of the Bank, which require that the Interest due on a deposit shall only be drawn in the name of the real depositor, so that if it is desired that the Interest on the proposed deposit of 400 Rupees shall be made payable to the Assistant Overseer, the deposit itself must be made in his name.

Code of Regulations for the Public Works Department under the Local Governments of Bengal, North-Western Provinces and the Punjab, and for the minor administrations under the direct control of the Government of India 1858.

With reference to this objection, His Honor in Council remarks that under Rule* 13 of the Bank, the Bank cannot recognize trusts, and therefore one party cannot deposit money for another, nor draw the Interest that may accrue on such deposit; but His Honor in Council is of opinion that the existing rule of the Bank should be altered so as to allow of security deposits being made in the manner prescribed by the new Public Works' Code and he accordingly resolves that the following new Rule be passed for the Savings' Bank at Calcutta.

Rule 13. "No person or persons to deposit money for the benefit of any other person or persons except parents on behalf of and account of their children being minors. If such deposits are made in the children's names, they cannot be withdrawn during the minority of the children, nor without an authority from them; after they have come of age, no trust will be allowed to appear on any deposit, &c."

NEW RULE.

The Bank will receive in deposit from Government Officers, sums deposited with them by other parties as security, and will pay Interest under the authority of such Government Officers, to such parties. The parties so depositing money with Government Officers will sign in the Savings' Bank Book, or in a separate Memo. to be delivered to the Bank, on undertaking not to make any claim on the Bank for the principal of the sum deposited, except with the express written sanction of the Government Officer; not to object to the payment by the Bank to the Government Officer upon his claiming it; and not to make any claim for the Interest, after such Officer shall have revoked the authority to him to receive it.

His Honor in Council directs that this new Rule be applicable to all Public Departments as concerns security deposits; but that the existing rule of the Bank shall remain in force as regards all other deposits.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of the foregoing Resolution be communicated to the Accountant, Punjaub, in reply to his letter above adverted to; and with an intimation, in reference to the 3rd paragraph of that letter, that under Government Notification, Financial Department, dated 31st May 1854, the limit of an individual's deposit was increased to 1,500 Rupees.

Ordered also, that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary to the Government Savings' Bank, Calcutta, with reference to his letter No. 295, dated the 4th ultimo.

No. 149 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India, in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following report from Major General Whitlock, Commanding Saugor Field Division, of an action with the Rebels under Radha Govind, in the heights of the Punwaree.

The success of the Major General's operations has afforded the Governor General in Council great satisfaction, and His Excellency in Council desires to acknowledge the excellent services of the Officers and men who were engaged on this occasion :—

No. 6

To Major General Sir W. R. Mansfield, K. C. B., Chief of the Staff, Allahabad.

Sir,

His Lordship the Commander-in-Chief has been informed of the Relief of Kirwee by the Troops under my Command on the morning of the 25th instant, and I now have the honor to submit for the information of Lord Clyde report of my further operations against the Rebels.

II. The enemy had only retired to the heights of Punwaree which with several villages in the neighbourhood Radha Govind had occupied in force, from three to four miles distance from Kirwee by the direct road which was totally impassable for guns.

III. His Troops also were reported to hold the village of "Dudree" in his rear thirteen miles from this place by a road over the Hills which was barely passable for our Artillery.

IV. To have attacked Radha Govind in his front only would have produced the same disappointing results as our Forces have so often experienced retreat after defeat, where Infantry could not have followed.

V. It was then most desirable to convey Troops well to the rear on what was conjectured would be Radha Govind's line of retreat without his knowledge.

VI. From the excellent information furnished me by the Collector Mr. Mayne, and from the secrecy with which it was kept, I was enabled to mature arrangements, and without sound of bugle and Camp left standing. The Troops assembled on the morning of the 29th and moved in three separate Columns to their respective positions.

VII. The Right Column under Major Mein, Commanding Officer of Artillery, which I accompanied.

2. The Centre Column under Lieutenant Colonel Hinde, Commanding Rewah Levies.

3. The Left Column under Captain Southey, of the Third Madras Europeans.

VIII. The strength of the several Columns is marginally noticed and a rough sketch of operations enclosed.

IX. The reports of the operations of the three Columns accompany this and I am most gratified to find all my instruction have been carried out with the utmost precision.

X. I had not anticipated the opposition made by Radha Govind, nor did I contemplate his awaiting an attack, but I learnt afterwards that he had determined to die on the spot which was one of great sanctity, wearied as he was with constant fear of being captured and from the harassing clamors of his followers for arrears of pay and supply of provisions he had sent away his Elephant which was afterwards captured.

XI. They in Lieutenant-Colonel Hinde's Camp who know Radha Govind recognized him and his brother dead on the field, when the gallant Troops of the Lieutenant-Colonel had reached the summit of the heights.

XII. It is now a pleasing duty to recommend Lieutenant Colonel Hinde to the very favorable notice of His Lordship the Commander-in-Chief.

2. I went over the position which had been assigned to Lieutenant Colonel Hinde, and it is but justice to praise that Officer's admirable arrangements for attack, the gallantry of his Troops, and the alacrity with which the heights were stormed when the advance was ordered.

3. The Company of Her Majesty's 13rd Light Infantry under Captain Disbrowe worked up the heights with their well-known energy and knowledge of the duties of Light Troops, and with their Officer deserve all approbation.

4. It was the first time the Rewah Levies has been regularly opposed to the Enemy and from the various accounts of their conduct they deserve every praise.

5. Captain Mathias, Lieutenant Cracroft and Mr. Kirke, of the Rewah Levies, behaved most gallantly.

6. It is with much satisfaction that I solicit His Lordship's attention to the names of the Native Officers mentioned by Lieutenant Colonel Hinde, and especially to that of Acting Jemadar Adjoodah Sing and Subadar Rajkoop Oosundra; the latter mentioned by Captain Pasley.

7. The Detachment 50th Native Infantry co-operated in the movement and behaved well under Ensign Gosling.

8. The Guns worked by a Detachment of the Royal Artillery were very much exposed for some time to a heavy flanking fire, whilst the enemy's battery found their range, but our guns notwithstanding were most active in silencing the musketry fire of the enemy and distracting their attention from the Infantry who steadily advanced and captured the Battery.

9. Captain Pasley has been noticed by Lieutenant-Colonel Hinde most favorably, and he with his fine and able body of men deserve my best thanks.

10. The conduct also of Dr. Macfarlane, the Field Surgeon, has called forth commendation. I well know the value of this Officer's services on all occasions and which prove him worthy of my special recommendation to the most favorable consideration of Lord Clyde.

XIII. The Left Column under Captain Southey performed its duties most efficiently, and that Officer deserves favorable mention to His Lordship, to whom I beg to recommend him.

2. Lieutenant Thompson, of the Madras Horse Artillery, in charge of the Mortars, Lieutenant Hodges, of the 1st Madras Native Infantry and Ensign Sheffield, of the 3rd Madras European Regiment, have been favorably noticed by Captain Southey.

3. My Assistant Adjutant General, Lieutenant Williams, of the Third Europeans, whom I had attached to this Column, an intelligent, zealous Officer, is spoken of very favorably.

4. It is true this Column was not so exposed to the heavy fire the Centre Column had to encounter, but its movement on the left was of the greatest importance, compelling the enemy to keep the centre road which threw them back on the Right Column, the Artillery, Cavalry and Infantry which were so opportunely and skilfully posted by Major Mein, leading to a heavy loss of the enemy the capture of two elephants, with the Radha Govind's state silver howdah and his palanqueens with a mass of correspondence. So great was the surprise of the enemy on finding the country occupied by our Troops around the village of "Dudree," that they were completely bewildered. Flying in all directions to the jungles, a body took shelter in a hill thickly studded with jungle close at hand, the activity of the Cavalry, the watchfulness of the Artillery who were everywhere, prevented their escape, and a party of 3rd Europeans and Sappers, under Lieutenant Campbell, killed the whole, amounting to one hundred and twenty. A small party of the 3rd Madras Europeans, under Lieutenant Hunt, used their bayonets and enfields most effectually, killing several.

XIV. I beg permission to bring Major Mein to the special notice of Lord Clyde. His arrival on his ground was so admirably timed and his disposition of his Troops so judicious that they effected all that could be expected from them.

2. The state of the ghaut which extends about a mile, at one time almost frustrated the hope of bringing up the guns to the summit, but it was effected without accident and the A Troop Madras Horse Artillery claim my every acknowledgment and cordial thanks for their skill and their energetic perseverance in surmounting obstacles which really appeared at times to baffle all further progress.

3. Captain Menegan, Commanding the Troops, and Lieutenants Stewart and Anderson, deserve the greatest praise for the celerity with which their guns were moved, and always to the proper place, to act if occasion required. Lieutenant Anderson's capture of the two elephants was a most dashing affair.

4. Captain Harrison, Artillery Brigade Major, a smart and active Officer, attracted my attention to the able manner in which I saw him convey orders to every part of the Field.

XV. Major Prior, of Her Majesty's 12th Royal Lancers, moved his Squadron most efficiently and deserves every notice, whilst his men, first employed in vidette duties, then in operations on the enemy, evinced a conduct most praiseworthy.

XVI. The gallant Squadron of the Hyderabad Contingent, was here as always zealous, brave and energetic. Captain Macintire was at their head, and his conduct was as usual most gallant.

2. Of Surgeon Bradley, Hyderabad Contingent, I cannot speak too highly. Whatever his duties have been, however heavy his medical charge, he has always been at his post, and here as elsewhere has ever merited commendation. May I respectfully solicit His Lordship's special notice of this Officer who has been with his Squadron in the Field since September 1857 without interruption.

XVII. Captain Lawder, my Assistant Quarter Master General, merits my best acknowledgments. He was most zealous in seeing my orders carried out for the formation of the Troops and most useful to me throughout the day.

XVIII. Lieutenant Heath, of the Commissariat Department, had two days' provisions in the Field before the fight was over. He is young in the Department, but he conducted his duties most satisfactorily.

XIX. My Aide-de-Camp Lieutenant Homan, 50th Madras Native Infantry, was most useful to me during the day, as also Major Mayne, Deputy Judge Advocate General to the Division, and Lieutenant Howes, Assist-Field Engineer, who acted as my Orderly Officer.

XX. The Superintending Surgeon Dr. Davidson made all the medical arrangements satisfactorily.

XXI. I must not omit to mention the name of Mr. Mayne, the Collector of the District, and to respectfully beg Lord Clyde will be pleased to bring this gentleman's name to the notice of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General.

2 His excellent information, his knowledge of the country, the spirit with which he co-operated with me in preventing all possible mistakes by not only procuring trustworthy guides, but in moving with two of the Columns to their respective positions, is deserving of the highest commendation, and I beg most earnestly to bring this gentleman to the special notice of Lord Canning.

XXII. In conclusion I would beg to add that no Troops could have behaved better, after the fatigues of a very heavy march sustained by the cheerful spirit of the Soldier, they at last met the enemy, defeated him with the loss of more than 300 killed, including the Rebel leader and his brother, several wounded, we captured four, guns, four elephants, the destruction of a large quantity of gunpowder, capture of numerous arms and accoutrements belonging to mutineers. Several horses, also amongst them Radha Govind's, which had been taken by the enemy at their attack on Kirwee, and the Troops crowned the day by a return to Camp of thirteen miles, which they reached in the best of spirits, without a casualty or scarce a straggler, at 9 P. M., having been under arms, with the exception of two hours' rest after the action, since 2 A. M.

XXIII. The effects of the operations of the 29th is already visible, the Rebels having fled from these Districts to the South dismayed and dispirited, and I learn, with the exception of some few scattered here and there, that this part of the country is clear of them.

I have, &c.,

No. 153 of 1859.—The following Extracts from the London Gazette of the 24th December 1858 are published for general information :—

War Office, 24*th December* 1858.

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to confirm the grant of the Decoration of the Victoria Cross to the under-mentioned Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Privates of Her Majesty's Indian Military Forces, which Decoration has been provisionally conferred upon them by the Commander-in-Chief in India, in accordance with the Rules laid down in Her Majesty's Warrant instituting the same, on account of Acts of Bravery performed by them in that Country, during the operations under his personal command, as recorded against their several names, viz :

Regiment or Corps.	Rank and Names.	Acts of Bravery for which recommended.
1st Madras Fusiliers.	Private J. Smith. Date of Act of Bravery, 6th November 1857.	For having been one of the first to try and enter the gateway on the North side of the Secundra Bagh. On the gateway being burst open, he was one of the first to enter, and was surrounded by the enemy. He received a sword cut on the head, a bayonet wound on the left side, and a contusion from the butt end of a musket on the right shoulder, notwithstanding which he fought his way out, and continued to perform his duties for the rest of the day. Elected by the private Soldiers of the detachment 1st Madras Fusiliers.
Bengal Artillery.	Lieutenant Hastings. Edward Harrington, Rough Rider E. Jennings Gunner J. Park. Gunner T. Laughnan. Gunner H. McInnes. Date of Acts of Bravery, (from 14th to 22nd November 1857.)	Elected respectively under the 13th Clause of the Royal Warrant of the 29th of January 1856, by the Officers and Non-Commissioned Officers generally, and by the Private Soldiers of each Troop or Battery, for conspicuous gallantry at the relief of Lucknow, from the 14th to the 22nd of November 1857.
1st Bengal European Light Cavalry.	Lieutenant Hugh Henry Gough. Date of Acts of Bravery, 12th November 1857, and 25th February 1858.	Lieutenant Gough, when in command of the party of Hodson's House, near Alumbagh, on the 12th of November 1857, particularly distinguished himself by his forward bearing in charging across a swamp, and capturing two guns, although defended by a vastly superior body of the enemy. On this occasion he had his Horse wounded in two places, and his turban cut through by sword cuts, whilst engaged in combat with three Sepoys.
		Lieutenant Gough also particularly distinguished himself near Jellalabad, Lucknow, on the 25th February 1858, by showing a brilliant example to his Regiment, when ordered to charge the enemy's guns, and by his gallant and forward conduct, he enabled them to effect their object. On this occasion he engaged himself in a series of single combats, until at length he was disabled by a musket ball through the leg, while charging two Sepoys with fixed bayonets.
		Lieutenant Gough, on this day, had two horses killed under him, a shot through his helmet and another through his scabbard, besides being severely wounded.
Bengal Artillery.	Lieutenant Frederick Sleigh Roberts Date of Act of Bravery, 2nd January 1858.	Lieutenant Roberts' gallantry has on every occasion been most marked.
		On following up the retreating enemy on the 2nd January 1858, at Khodagunge, he saw in the distance two Sepoys going away with a Standard. Lieutenant Roberts put spurs to his horse, and overtook them just as they were about to enter a village.
		They immediately turned round presented their muskets at him and one of the men pulled the trigger, but fortunately the caps snapped and the Standard bearer was cut down by this gallant young Officer, and the Standard taken possession of by him. He also on the same day cut down another Sepoy who was standing at bay, with musket and bayonet, keeping off a Sowar, Lieutenant Roberts rode to the assistance of the Horseman, and rushing at the Sepoy with one blow of his sword cut him across the face, killing him on the spot.

War Office, 24th December 1858.

THE Queen has been graciously pleased to signify Her intention to confer the Decoration of the Victoria Cross on the under-mentioned Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Soldiers of Her Majesty's Indian Military Forces, whose claims to the same have been submitted for Her Majesty's approval, on the recommendation of the Commander in-Chief in India, on account of Acts of Bravery performed by them in that Country as recorded against their several names, viz :—

Regiment or Corps.	Rank and Name.	Acts of Bravery for which recommended.
Bengal Engineers.	Lieutenant John James McLeod Innes.	At the action of Sultanpore, Lieutenant Innes, far in advance of the leading skirmishers, was the first to secure a Gun which the enemy were abandoning. Retiring from this, they rallied round another Gun further back from which the shot would in another instant have ploughed through our advancing columns when Lieutenant Innes rode up unsupported, shot the Gunner who was about to apply the match, and remaining undaunted at his post, the mark for a hundred matchlockmen, who were sheltered in some adjoining huts kept the Artillerymen at bay until assistance reached him. (Letter from Major-General Sir Thomas Harte Franks, K. C. B, of 12th March 1858.)
Bengal Artillery 4th Company 1st Battalion.	Bombardier J. Thomas. Date of Act of Bravery, 27th September 1857.	For distinguished gallantry at Lucknow, on the 27th September 1857, in having brought off on his back under a heavy fire under circumstances of considerable difficulty, a wounded Soldier of the Madras Fusiliers, when the party to which he was attached was returning to the Residency from a Sortee, whereby he saved him from falling into the hands of the enemy.
1st European Bengal Fusiliers.	Sergeant J. McGuire. Drummer M. Ryan. Date of Act of Bravery, 14th September 1857.	At the Assault on Delhi, on the 14th September 1857, when the Brigade had reached the Cabul Gate, the 1st Fusiliers and 75th Regiment, and some Seikhs, were waiting for orders, and some of the Regiments were getting ammunition served out (three boxes of which exploded for some cause not clearly known, and two others were in a state of ignition) when Serjeant McGuire and Drummer Ryan rushed into the burning mass and seizing the boxes threw them one after the other over the parapet into the water. The confusion consequent on the explosion was very great, and the crowd of Soldiers and Native followers, who did not know where the danger lay, were rushing into certain destruction, when Serjeant McGuire and Drummer Ryan, by their coolness and personal daring, saved the lives of many, at the risk of their own.

No. 154 of 1859.—Drummer Thomas Lindsay, (transferred from the 15th Native Infantry) and Havildar Luchmun are promoted to the rank of Jemadar in the Allygurh Levy, from this date, to fill existing vacancies.

No. 288.

Fort William, the 11th February 1859.

Notifications.—The following revised copy of "Sailing Directions for the Mauritius," is published for general information:—

SAILING INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE MAURITIUS.

All the Bearings are Compass Bearings.

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

It is by no means generally known, that the tides along the edge of the reef, and between the Islands to the North of Mauritius, run at times with a velocity of from five to six miles on the springs; they are equally strong off the Morne, and along the Southern Coast, their direction is from S. E. to N. W., the flood running to the S. E., and the ebb to the N. W., varying a point or two according to the wind.

Wherever the reefs extend to a distance from the land, the lead if carefully attended to, will be a tolerably safe guide in the night; but should the lead be overhove when standing towards the shore haul of immediately whilst preparing for a fresh cast, or you may run your Ship aground; from 14 to 20 fathoms is generally a safe distance from the reef, but the soundings vary considerably; of all the vessels that have been run ashore, or lost on the Coast of Mauritius during the last few years, it is not too much to say, that the neglect of the lead was without exception the principal cause; the strength of the currents had also something to do with these accidents, but the neglect of the lead was the most important fact elicited in each enquiry.

Where there is no Coast Reef marked on the Chart, the shore is generally bold, having deep water to within a cable's length of it.

SAILING DIRECTIONS.

Vessels arriving from the Eastward and S. Eastward, should be careful not to bring the light on Flat Island to the Northward of N. N. W. ½ W. until Gunners Quoin bears West, when they may pass midway between it and Flat Island, this course will lead about 2¼ miles clear of the reefs that extend from the N. E. end of Mauritius.

On passing Gabriel Island, be careful to give a good berth to a reef that extends about ½ a mile to the S. S. E. of it; this warning applies more particularly to Cooly Ships, which having to be visited by the Surgeon Superintendent at the Lazaret at Flat Island, frequently pass much too close to this reef without being aware of its existence, as in very fine weather the sea does not always break on its extreme point.

When to the Westward of the Quoin Cannoneer Point Light will be seen; steer with Flat Island Light astern, bearing N. E. by E. ½ E. until the Cannoneer Point Light bears S. E. b. S. (which will carry you clear of the dangerous reef that extends from the Point) you may then haul up S. W. b S. till the Red Light at Grand River is seen, bring it to bear S. S. W. and steer for it on that course, until the Green Light on Tonneliers Island bears S. E., when being on the best ground you may anchor in from 12 to 16 fathoms; a nearer approach to the Red Light at Grand River would bring a vessel too near the reefs to the S. Westward of the entrance of the Harbour.

Should the night be clear when running down the Coast, the Western Shoulder of the Corps de Garde Mountain will be seen in line with Grand River Red Light when the latter bears S. S. W.

Remember especially that after passing Cannoneer Point on your way to the Bell Buoy, the Cannoneer Point Light changes from white to red, if it be brought to bear more northerly than N. E. ½ E. this change will warn you that the vessel is too near the reefs that skirt the Coast between Cannoneer Point and Point Piment.

But this change from white to red, is only intended as a guide as far as Point Piment, after passing which, the Red Light at Grand River will be your mark to the Anchorage. It is not well however for a large vessel ever to approach so near the reef as to change the Cannoneer Point Light from white to red; the great object in view in thus arranging the Light was the convenience of the numerous coasting vessels belonging to the Colony, to whom (knowing the ground as they do) it is most useful. The best mark for keeping clear of the reefs between Cannoneer Point and Point Piment by night, is to keep the Flat Island Light open to the Westward of Cannoneer Point Light until the Red Light at Grand River is seen.

Should you be approaching the Cannoneer Point Light from the Westward when it shows white, and steering directly for it, there can be no change of color; but by attending to the bearing of Flat Island Light it will be impossible for you to run on the reef; the Barque Cornwall of 947 Tons, steering E. N. E. for Cannoneer Point Light was wrecked on the reef within ¾ of a mile of the Light House, because it was erroneously supposed that the light changed color on approaching it whenever a vessel was to the Southward of it, whereas it is only when it is brought to bear N. E. ½ E., and to the Northward of that that the light changes color.

When running for the Anchorage by day, after passing Cannoneer Point with Flat Island Light House bearing N. E. b. E. ½ E., being Tamarind Mountain (a conical hill to the Westward of all the other high land) to bear S. W. b. S., and steer for it until the Martello Tower on South side of the mouth of Grand River is seen in a line with the Western Shoulder of the Corps de Garde Mountain bearing S. S. W.; this will lead clear of all danger to the Anchorage, which is indicated by a floating beacon painted red and white, generally called the Bell Buoy, which lays in 12 fathoms on the North side of the mouth of the Harbour; Anchor to the Northward of this beacon in from 12 to 20 fathoms.

When approaching by night from the S. Westward, Flat Island Light bearing N. E. b. E., will lead between two and three miles to the Westward of the reefs to the Southward of the Port, and when the green light on Tonneliers Island bears E. S. E., steer for it if the wind be favorable under easy sail; if the night be clear the Shipping at the Bell Buoy will be seen and afford a good mark; keep the lead going and bring the two Harbour Lights to bear as already described, and anchor.

During the day the Gunner's Quoin bearing N. E. ¾ E. is the best mark.

It is most unadvisable to attempt anchoring at the Bell Buoy after dark unless well acquainted with the localities; it is far better with the admirable advantages afforded by the lights for ascertaining a vessel's exact position, to keep under weigh till day-light; considerable risk will thus be avoided, and as no communication with the shore is permitted till vessels have received Patrique, no time is gained by anchoring in the night.

Legislative Council of India.

THE 5TH FEBRUARY 1859.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General this-day, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. II. OF 1859.

An Act to amend Act XXX. of 1858 (to provide for the administration of the Estate, and for the payment of the debts of the late Nabob of the Carnatic).

Preamble.

WHEREAS, in pursuance of the provisions of Section XIV. of Act XXX. of 1858, numerous declarations were filed in the Office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Madras, within three months from the passing of the Act, by persons claiming to be creditors of the late Nabob of the Carnatic, but as yet, with very few exceptions, such persons have not made any application to the Court under the provisions of Section XIX. of the said Act, to appoint a day for ascertaining the amount of their debts, or furnished any particulars of their claims; and whereas, since the passing of the said Act, two of the seals formerly belonging to the said Nabob have been unlawfully taken away by some person or persons unknown and there is reason to believe that they have been feloniously stolen, and it is necessary, in order to guard against fraud, to limit the time within which particulars of the said claims shall be furnished, and to require all documents intended to be used in support thereof to be filed, and also to enable the Court upon the application of the Government of Madras to fix a day for the investigation of any of the said claims: It is enacted as follows :—

Time limited for filing particulars of claim, when declaration has been filed.

I. Every person who has filed a declaration under the provisions of Section XIV. of the said Act, shall file in the Office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court at Madras, full particulars of his claim with dates and items, within one week after the publication of this Act in the Fort St. George Gazette, or within such time, not exceeding one month after such publication, as may be allowed by the said Court or a Judge thereof, for any special reason which may appear to the said Court or Judge to be sufficient.

If particulars be insufficient, Court on application may order further particulars to be filed within a specified time.

II. If the particulars filed as above provided be insufficient, the said Court or a Judge thereof may, upon an application on the part of Government, make an order for the filing, within a time to be specified in such order, of such further particulars as the said Court or Judge may consider necessary.

If particulars be not filed within the time limited, claimant to be barred from proceeding.

III. If the particulars be not filed within the time limited by Section I. of this Act—or in the case of an order for further particulars under Section II. of this Act, if such further particulars be not filed within the time limited by the order—the said Court or a Judge thereof, upon an application on behalf of Government, shall make an order barring the claimant from proceeding under Section XIV. or any subsequent Section of Act XXX. of 1858, and from the benefits of the provisions of Section XXV. of the said Act; and in such case the claimant shall not be entitled to proceed under Section XIV. or any subsequent Section of the said Act, or to be paid under the provisions of Section XXV. of the said Act.

Time limited for filing documents to be used in support of claim.

IV. Every person who has filed a declaration under the provisions of Section XIV. of the said Act, shall file in the Office of the Registrar of the said Court, all documents intended to be used on the investigation in support of his claim (whether the same are intended to be used as independent or corroborative evidence or otherwise), within one week after the publication of this Act in the Fort St. George Gazette, or within such time, not exceeding one month from the time of such publication, as may be allowed by the said Court or a Judge thereof for any special reason which may appear to the said Court or Judge to be sufficient.

Memorandum to be made on particulars of claim or documents, of the date when they are filed.

V. Whenever the particulars of a claim or any document is filed under the provisions of this Act, a memorandum shall be made thereon of the date on which the same is filed.

Solicitor to Government may examine and take copies of particulars, &c.

VI. The Solicitor to Government, and such other persons as may be authorized by him, may examine and take copies of the particulars of any claim or of any document filed under the provisions of this Act.

No document to be received in evidence in support of claim, unless filed as required by this Act.

VII. No document shall be admitted in evidence in support of any claim, or used by the claimant upon the investigation thereof under Section XXII. of the said Act, unless the same shall have been filed in the manner and within the time required by this Act; and upon every investigation under Section XXII. of the said Act, the claimant shall be bound by the particulars of his claim, in the same manner and to the same extent as a plaintiff is bound by the particulars of his demand in an action brought in the said Court.

Claimants to be bound by particulars filed.

If particulars of claim are filed under this Act, particulars under Act XXX. of 1858 not necessary.

B., Commanding Gwalior Division, forwarding a Report from Captain Rice, Commanding Goonah Column, of an Action with the Enemy under the Rebel Feroz Shah near Sypoor on the night of the 22nd December 1858 :—

FROM BRIGADIER GENERAL SIR R. NAPIER, K. C. B.,
Commanding Gwalior Division,
TO SIR W. R. MANSFIELD, K. C. B.,
Chief of the Staff.
Camp Goonah, 25th December 1858.

SIR,

I DO myself the honor to forward copy of Captain Rice's Report of the complete surprise of the Enemy under the Rebel Feroz Shah near Sypoor on the night of the 22nd instant.

The Rebels in flying from Ranode on the 17th instant went towards Chandeyree, but hearing of British Troops at all the outlets to the Eastward, Brigadier Ainslie having moved out towards Ranode from Jhansie, and Colonel Liddell from Lullutpoor to Chandeyree, they turned suddenly Westward passing South of Esaughur and Puchaar, and when, near Rampoor, between Goonah and Seronge, accidentally came upon Lieutenant Stack's Detachment of 40 men of the 1st Bombay Lancers, escorting Remounts and Clothing to Brigadier Smith. The Rebels captured the clothing of the Detachment and one trooper, but Lieutenant Stack brought up the rest of his men and skirmishing with the Enemy carried the remainder of his charge back to Goonah.

The Rebels then went into the dense jungles of Arone, where they were surprised by Captain Rice.

Although they did not lose many men killed, the capture of their horses and property must tend greatly to cripple and break up the party. I hear that two of the elephants were left in the Arone jungles, and may be recovered; there are therefore only two remaining with the Enemy, who, after flying Westward to near Puprail, have doubled back towards Chuppra, on which place Captain Rice also is marching from Kumraj where he was yesterday. I trust therefore that we may yet have an opportunity of destroying the remainder of Feroz Shah's party.

I beg most particularly to recommend to the favor of the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief, Captain Rice, Commanding the Goonah Detachments, and the Officers mentioned by him, Captain Cochrane, Lieutenant Festing, Royal Engineers, and Lieutenant Waller, 25th Bombay N. I., and also the Native Commissioned Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers of the Detachments of the 86th Regiment, 25th Bombay N. I. and Meade's Horse, for this very dashing and difficult enterprise which has taught the Enemy to distrust the security even of the deepest jungles, that have so often favored their escape.

FROM CAPTAIN RICE, COMMANDING GOONAH COLUMN,
TO GENERAL SIR R. NAPIER, K. C. B.,
Commanding Gwalior Division.
Dated Camp Arone, 23rd December 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for your information that the Goonah Column, strength as per margin, marched here from Barod, 10 miles, yesterday morning, and that a man who had lately been robbed of his horses by the Rebels on their retreat past this town yesterday evening at ½ past 5 P. M., reported

2 Guns, 9 pounders, of the 4-2 Bombay Artillery.
20 R. and F. Royal Engineers.
55 R. and F. H. M. 86th Foot.
150 R. and F. 25th N. I. I.
140 Meade's Horse.

to me that the Enemy whom he estimated at 2,000 (chiefly Cavalry) strong, were encamped in a deep glen, in a very thick jungle, about 11 miles South West of this place near Sypoor Village. This man had just returned from their Camp, on an unsuccessful visit to recover his property, and in revenge for being beaten and abused, gave me this, the sole information, I have hitherto been able to obtain from the people of this district regarding the Rebels' movements. Leaving my Camp standing in charge of 42 men, the Column was ordered at once to march, and left Camp very silently by 6 P. M. Favored by bright moonlight we arrived at the place indicated by 11 P. M., marching latterly through very dense jungle, and at once attacked the Enemy's Camp, which was situated in a deep ravine surrounded by vast jungle. Owing to the bad narrow rocky path our two Guns could not keep up, so I pushed forward with the Infantry only, consisting of 20 R. and F. Royal Engineers, 50 R. and F. H. M. 86th Foot, and 100 R. and F. 25th Bombay N. L. I. under Lieutenants Festing and Waller. We shot down the Rebel Picket, and charged completely through their long winding Camp causing the Enemy to flee with the utmost despatch, and seek shelter among the dense foliage, on all sides around their position. Owing to the great haste with which they fled merely a very few Rebels were killed, but we captured nearly 100 horses, several camels, many arms and much clothing (with which the ground was every where covered.) We had no loss. The Rebels made no stand, and scarcely returned our fire. We passed the night on the Enemy's encamping ground, and at dawn Captain Cochrane with 100 Meade's Horse started in pursuit, while the rest of the Goonah Column returned to Arone, and has just arrived. I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated Esaughur, 21st December 1858. Brigadier Smith from whom I have just heard, was at Kache-Kaia 22nd December, and will be to-day at Seronge. I will communicate with him at once. Lieutenant Stack's escort was attacked as you suppose, his loss I do not know, but have heard 2 Troopers 1st Lancers were killed, while some camels and baggage were taken by the Enemy. We found in the Rebels' Camp last night some accoutrements belonging to 1st Lancers, such as a sword, two carbines, caps, forage, belts and clothing. I have sent messages by telegraph of my movements to Sir R. Hamilton and Major Macpherson. I have presented the guide Rupees 50, service money, as promised him for pointing out the Rebel Camp. Pending your further orders the Goonah Column halts here.

I have, &c.,

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE ;

The 15th January 1859.

No. 183 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Report from Brigadier General Sir R. Napier, K. C. B., Commanding Gwalior Division, of an Action with the Rebels at Ranode on the 17th December 1858;—

No. 424 of 1858.

FROM BRIGADIER GENERAL SIR R. NAPIER, K. C. B.,
Commanding Gwalior Division,
TO THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF.

Camp Ranode, 21*st December* 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, that I received on the morning of the 12th instant, intimation from Captain McMahon, Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, Commanding a small force near the confluence of the Jumna, Chumbul, and Sindh Rivers, that the Rebels had passed into the Lohar Pergunnah of Kuchwazhur. Believing that their course would be up the jungles of the Sindh River, I marched from Gwalior with a force as per margin at 2 P. M., on the 12th instant, intending to proceed to Dubbra, on the Jhansi Road, and then according to the information I might receive, to intercept the enemy.

No. 4 Bombay Light Field Battery, 2 Guns, under Captain G. G. Brown.
14th Light Dragoons, 150 N. C. R. and F. under Brevet Major R. B. Prettijohn.
2nd Gwalior Mahratta Horse, 100 Sabres, under Captain F. H. Smith.
71st Highlanders Light Infantry, 117 N. C. R. and F. under Major J. W. T. Rich.
25th Bombay Native Infantry, 50 N. C. R. and F. under Lieutenant J. F. Forbes.
40 Camels, Gwalior Camel Corps, under Captain H. Templer.

At Autree where the Force rested during part of the night, I received, at 2 A. M. of the 13th, when on the point of proceeding to Dubbra, an express from the Political Agent of Gwalior to the effect that his information led him to believe that the Rebels would pass by Gohud to the North of Gwalior; this caused me to halt until I should receive by the morning post, precise information from Captain McMahon. At 10½ A. M., the Tussildar of Autree informed me he had just ridden in from Dubbra, the very place of my destination, and had seen the smoke of the Staging Bungalow, which the Rebels were then burning, and that they were proceeding in a South westerly direction. I immediately marched South in pursuit, and at Beettiwar, where I arrived at 1-30 A. M. of the 14th, I was informed that the Enemy were three kos (in this country 8 or 9 miles) distant. The force had been on the move for 13½ hours and required a rest. Owing to delay in getting grass and disposing of a rear party of the Enemy's Infantry, in which some of Mahratta Horse, under fire for the first time greatly distinguished themselves, I did not get away until 10 A. M.

I continued the pursuit through Nurwar, where I left behind the greater portion of the Detachment of the 71st and the Artillery which could not keep up with me, and took on merely the Cavalry, and 38 men of the 71st Highlanders on Camels and 25 of the Bolundsher Horse, that were halted at Nurwar on their way to Kerara, owing to the news of the Enemy's approach; and after a very exciting, though fatiguing chase we overtook the Rebels on the morning of the 17th at Ranode. Their course had been South of Nurwar and through the Amola Pass, and their direction appeared to be along the right bank of the Sindh.

Twice we were encamped within a few miles of them, but owing to the darkness and our ignorance of the country, and to its hilly and jungly character, we could not take advantage of it. They chose the most difficult and unfrequented paths, evidently guided by some one well acquainted with them. Once or twice we were close on their traces and cut off stragglers or took their horses, the riders throwing themselves off, and darting into the dense thickets, which almost closed up the paths; at one moment I believed they were driven into the hands of Colonel Scudamore, Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, who according to the instructions and information I had sent him, had posted his Detachment on the right bank of the Sindh below

Kolarus, to intercept them. I expected every moment to hear his guns open, when I found, on getting into a more open country, that the Enemy had turned away from the River and were going towards Ranode. They took a circuitous and difficult road through the jungles, whilst we marched by a more easy and direct one, where the country was more open. I found the people of Ranode in great excitement, and was informed that the Enemy was close at hand and in full march to attack them, guided by Byroo Sing of Tehrea, a Rebel Zemindar, whose Fort a few miles off had been recently destroyed by Scindiah. The Enemy advanced in an irregular mass, extending in a front of nearly a mile. Their numbers must have increased since they crossed the Jumna! Their guide Byroo Sing, as we have since learnt, had promised them plenty of plunder and an easy prey.

We had barely time to form up the 14th Dragoons, when the Enemy were within a few hundred yards. The Mahratta Horse were impeded in crossing a deep ravine by the riding camels, and were thus a little behind. Our force actually engaged, consisted of 133 of Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, Commanded by Captain Prettijohn, 60 of the Mahratta Horse under Captain F. H. Smith, 38 of the 71st Highlanders under Captain Smith, mounted on camels and guided by Captain Templer, Commanding Camel Corps.

It was a most complete surprise! The 14th Dragoons, excellently led by Captain Prettijohn, dashed at once into the centre of the Enemy, who never attempted to stand as a body, though individuals died fighting desperately. Captain Prettijohn having received a severe wound, the Command devolved on Captain Need, who with much energy and judgment continued the pursuit for nearly eight miles cutting up great numbers particularly at the end where the fugitives were stopped by a ravine, those who could cross it taking refuge in a jungle impracticable for Cavalry.

I regret much that I had not a second Squadron of Cavalry, which would have made the destruction of the Enemy more complete. I cannot make any correct estimate of their loss, owing to the extent of ground over which it took place, 150 bodies have been counted immediately at Ranode and a much larger number must have fallen during the pursuit. Captain Need estimates these last at 300; many of them were 12th Irregulars, the murderers of Major Holmes and his family.

Besides several persons of distinction. The Moulvee Fuzzil Huk, and Russaldar Zohoor Ali, of the 12th Irregulars, were killed; they were identified by the papers found on their bodies, and by the evidence of a prisoner; but I fear Feroz Shah has escaped for the present. Six Elephants were taken and numbers of Horses and Ponies, Arms, &c., have been found and are still being brought in.

The Enemy scattered so completely that it was difficult to select any line for pursuit. I have to-day learnt that such as have re-assembled were yesterday near Tuchore, and that Captain Rice's Detachment ordered out from Goonah, was at Thadowra, and had gone in pursuit.

It is with much pride and satisfaction that I beg permission to bring to the notice of the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief the admirable charge made by the 14th Dragoons, and the Soldier-like and exemplary cheerfulness with which the Troops of all Arms underwent the fatigue and privations inseparable from such service; with such men and Officers the General's task is easy. It was a cause of very great regret to me and equally to themselves, that the remainder of the 71st under Major Rich and Captain Brown's guns were necessarily left behind.

I beg to recommend most particularly Captain Prettijohn, Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, Commanding the Cavalry, for the gallant manner in which he led his men until severely wounded. Also Captain Need, 14th Dragoons, who succeeded to the Command and most ably exercised it.

The Mahratta Horse have only been recently enrolled, but their spirited conduct is highly creditable to them and to their Commanding Officer Captain F. H. Smith, whom I beg to recommend. Also Captain C. F. Smith, Commanding Detachment of Her Majesty's 71st, and Captain Templer for the effective manner in which they brought up their small force.

Lieutenant Giles, of the 14th Dragoons, and Lieutenant Gough, of the Mahratta Horse, are very favorably mentioned by their Commanding Officers. I am greatly indebted to Dr. Cruickshank for his prompt and extreme attention to the wounded Mr. Apothecary Waite, an old and excellent servant of the Government, who has been present with the 14th Dragoons in every engagment, was in the Field and performed valuable service. I am under great obligations to Captain Todd, 14th Dragoons, Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain Lumsden, Assistant Quarter Master General, for their invaluable aid at all hours during the pursuit and in the action. Captain Lumsden's experience of irregular warfare was of great service. My Aide-de-Camp, Lieutenant Anderson, of the 1st Bombay Lancers, has been constantly at my side, and has given me very great satisfaction.

Mullik Sahib Khan Tewana being on a visit to me on leave, volunteered his services and accompanied me during the pursuit and in the action.

Jemadar Jehan Khan, of the Tewana Horse, temporarily attached to the Mahratta Horse, behaved with great gallantry and received six wounds whilst singly engaged with several of the Enemy, of whom he killed one and wounded others, and I beg to solicit for him the order of "British India."

Captain Need mentions very favorably the forward conduct of Regimental Sergeant Major Thomas Clarke and Corporal George Best, of the Horse Troop, Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons.

I subjoin a list of Casualties, the wounded are doing well.

I had on a former occasion the honor to report the good service performed by two of the Officers abovementioned, Captains Todd and Prettijohn, of Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, for their distinguished conduct in the action with Tantia Topee at Jowra, Alipore! but I fear from some accident that my report has not reached the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief. I therefore beg permission to submit a copy of it, and most earnestly solicit the favor and protection of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, and the Government, for the Officers and Soldiers therein mentioned, as well as for those named in this report.

Camp Ranode, 17th December 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report for the information of the General Commanding, that on Captain Prettijohn becoming disabled this morning from a severe wound, I assumed Command of the Squadron 14th Dragoons, strength as per margin,* in pursuit of the Rebels, following them for about 7 miles, cutting up great numbers, and capturing several Elephants, Horses, &c. I beg to bring to the General's notice, the good service rendered by Lieutenant Giles, and all under Command, as well as by Captain Lumsden, Assistant Quarter Master General, and Lieutenant Gough, Mahratta Horse, who accompanied the Squadron.

* 133 Sabres.

The gallant conduct of Corporal Best, 14th Dragoons, came particularly under my notice, but where every man of the Squadron behaved so well, and did such good service, it is almost unjust for me to recommend any man in particular.

The pursuit was principally through low jungle, very bad ground, and full of holes which will account for the great number of Missing Horses in my Casuality report, which accompanies this report.

I have, &c.,

SIR,

The Detachment 2nd Mahratta Horse under my Command having been so recently raised, am induced to bring to the notice of Brigadier General Sir R. Napier, K. C. B., Commanding, a little affair which occurred near Camp on the 14th instant, and trust that it will meet with the General's satisfaction.

My videttes caught and brought in a Rebel, a straggler from the force marching under Feroz Shah, who informed me that about 20 or 30 others were not far off. I immediately sent out a small party under Moortaza Khan, the Woordie Major, to watch them. As soon as he came upon them, they numbering upwards of 40 Infantry retreated to a small rocky hill inaccessible for Cavalry, but not before two of their number had been killed and five wounded. They watched them in this place for some time, and having received the order to march they retired to Camp.

The Woordie Major speaks highly of the conduct of the whole of his party, but more especially of that of Sowar Shadee Ram, who was severely wounded by a Musket ball.

The Detachment succeeded in capturing several staud of Arms.

Besides the Sowar one horse was wounded.

No. 185 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council has much satisfaction in publishing the following letter from Major General Whitlock, Commanding Saugor Field Division, submitting the Report of Captain Woodland, of an attack by the Rebels on the Palace of Kirwee, in repelling which that Officer and his brave Garrison well earned for themselves the commendation bestowed on them by Major General Whitlock.

No. 642.

To the Adjutant General of the Bengal Army,
Allahabad.

Dated Camp Kirwee, 28th December 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief to acquaint you that on the evening of the 23rd instant, I received at Mahoba at 7 o'clock P. M., an express from Kirwee to the effect that between 5 and 6,000 Rebels, 600 of whom were Sepoys, had attacked the Palace, surrounded it and were keeping up a very heavy fire from all sides.

I started at 9 o'clock with the Head Quarters of the Division and marched to Kirwee, a distance of 83 miles in 37 hours. I found that the Rebels hearing of our approach had abandoned their intention of making a second attack; their first having been repulsed, and had fled to the Hills close in the vicinity of Kirwee.

A Troop Horse Artillery.

One Squadron H. M. 12th Royal Lancers.

2nd Hyderabad Contingent.

The Rewah Levies under Lieutenant-Colonel Hinde from Bandah, reached this place a distance of 48 miles in 38 hours.

The Detachments of the 3rd European Sappers and Miners and 50th Regiment N. I. which marched from Mahoba at the same time with Division Head Quarters, arrived here last night. They would have come in at the same time with the Rewah Levies in the morning, but that I had directed them to halt ten miles from this, a sthere was then no necessity for their forcing one.

I cannot speak in terms of too high praise of the cheerfulness, alacrity, and spirit displayed by every grade on the occasion, and I have no hesitation in stating that the safety of the Palace and the Garrison which held it, may be attributed to the opportune arrival of the Artillery and Cavalry, as I have ascertained that the Rebels after their first repulse had taken forcible possession of a Gun from a neighbouring Rajah to bring before the place.

I now perform a very gratifying duty in submitting the report of Captain Woodland, 1st Regiment N. I., the Officer Commanding the Garrison, for Lord Cleyde's information, and beg to bring this Officer most prominently to His Lordship's notice. Captain Woodland's gallantry and perseverance in holding the Palace with so small a force are most creditable to him and will, I trust, be considered worthy of his Lordship's favorable consideration.

Captain Richardson, of H. M.'s 43rd Regiment Light Infantry, was most active and energetic throughout, and I beg to bring his name also to his Lordship's notice.

Jemadar Shikh Mustapha, 1st Regiment M. N. I., appears to have been indefatigable in the performance of his duty, and Captains Woodland and Richardson speak in the highest terms of this Native Officer's services.

Color Sergeant Green, H. M.'s 43rd Regiment Light Infantry, and Sergeant Smith, of the Royal Artillery, have merited favorable mention of their names in Captain Woodland's Despatch.

The conduct of all ranks in the Garrison is spoken of as deserving every commendation, and will, I trust, be favorably received by His Lordship the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief.

I have, &c.,

TO THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Saugor Field Division.

Dated Palace Kirwee, 25th December 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Major General Commanding, that, on the night of the 20th instant, I received intelligence that a large body of the Rebels under Radah Govindh and Runmut Singh, estimated at from 5 to 6,000, of whom 600 were disciplined Troops, were advancing to attack this place.

I immediately paraded the * Troops under my Command and offered shelter within the Palace to the inhabitants of the place, many of whom availed themselves of it.

65 Total.

At 2 P. M. numbers of the Rebels crossed the roads on all sides leading to the Palace, availing themselves of every cover to avoid our fire, ultimately occupying the immediately surrounding houses whence they kept up a heavy and well directed fire, to which we replied with such effect that they speedily retired to a greater distance, still maintaining their fire as vigorously as ever until 6 P. M., when finding all their efforts ineffectual they suspended operations, but from the fact of four scaling ladders having been found after the Enemy had finally retired, it is evident that their only object was to concert a second and more resolute attack, in which they were fortunately baffled by the timely arrival on the morning of the 25th instant of the Force under the immediate Command of Major General Whitlock.

As the Enemy carried off their killed and wounded I am unable to estimate the number of casualties they sustained, but I am happy to say that only one Matchlockman belonging to the Tahsildar of the place, was killed on our side.

I am much indebted and beg to return my best thanks to Captain W. S. Richardson, H. M.'s 43rd Light Infantry, whose zeal and activity were most conspicuous throughout the whole affair' Jemadar Shikh Mustapha, 1st Regiment Native Infantry, Color Serjeant Green, H. M.'s 43rd Light Infantry, and Serjeant Smith, of the Royal Artillery, also merit my highest praise. To the above I would also add the name of Assistant Apothecary Isaacke as deserving of commendation.

In conclusion, I beg to point out that the Troops were under arms from midnight of the 20th instant till 10 A. M. of the 25th instant, during whole of this time the strenuous and unremitting exertions of all Ranks, Native and European, entitle them to the highest praise.

The Major General from his local knowledge of the place will appreciate the difficulties that had to be overcome, not only was the discipline portion of the Enemy vastly superior to our small Garrison, but the ineligibility of the place for purposes of defence, the necessity that existed of previously demolishing the surrounding houses (in which labor we were actually occupied on the approach of the Enemy,) the inferior description of ordnance* with which we were provided (one of which burst with the first round) and the better want of means of bringing the same into position, were no trifling obstacles to overcome, and I consider that I should do ill justice to the uniform cheerfulness and alacrity of all Ranks were I to forbear bringing these points prominently to the notice of Superior Authority.

I must not omit to add that the Tehsildar and Cutwal of the place were of great service in procuring intelligence of the movements of the Enemy.

The Regiment having taken post in front of the Great Entrance of Government House, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General advanced on the Stairs, under a general Salute from the assembled Troops, and attended by—

The Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,
The Hon'ble the Chief Justice,
The Hon'ble the Members of the Council of the Governor General,
The Members of the Legislative Council of India,
The Hon'ble the Puisne Judges of the Supreme Court,

The Major General Commanding the Presidency Division,
The Advocate General,

The Civil and Military and Naval Officers at the Presidency, and
The Personal Staff of the Governor General, and of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

After receiving the Salute, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General proceeded to address the 1st Madras Fusiliers in the following terms :—

Colonel Galwey, Officers, and Soldiers of the Madras Fusiliers.

I am glad to have the opportunity of thanking you publicly in the name of the Government of India, for the great Services which you have rendered to the State.

More than twenty months have passed since you landed in Calcutta. The time has been an eventful one, full of labors and perils, and in these you have largely shared.

Yours was the first British Regiment which took assistance to the Central Provinces, and gave safety to the important Posts of Benares and Allahabad.

You were a part of that brave band which first pushed forward to Cawnpore, and forced its way to Lucknow, where so many precious lives and interests were at stake.

From that time you have, with little intermission, been in the front of Danger.

You are now returning to your Presidency, your Ranks thinned by War and Sickness, but you return covered with honor ; carrying with you the high opinion of every Commander who has led you in the Field ; the respect of your fellow-Soldiers in that great English Army in which from the beginning you have maintained a foremost place ; and the gratitude of the whole Community of your Fellow-countrymen of every class.

Further, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you do not leave behind you a single spot of ground, upon which you have set your feet, where peace and order have not been restored.

When you reach Madras tell your Comrades of the Madras Army that the name of the 1st Fusiliers will never be forgotten on this side of India.

Tell them that the recollection of all that is due to your Courage, Constancy, and Forwardness will never be effaced from the mind of the Government under whose orders you have served.

Tell them, especially, that the memory of your late distinguished Leader is cherished and honored by every Englishman amongst us; and that though many heroic spirits have passed away since the day when he fell in front of you in the streets of Lucknow, not one has left a nobler reputation than General Neill.

I now bid you Farewell, Fusiliers, and I wish you a speedy and prosperous voyage to your own Presidency. You are indeed an honor to it.

At the close of the address, the 1st Madras Fusiliers marched away amid the Cheers of a very large Concourse of Spectators, to embark on board their Ships.

No. 14 OF 1859.

NOTIFICATION.

Fort William, Financial Department.

THE 21ST FEBRUARY 1859.

HIS Excellency the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to notify for general information the Financial measures which have been resolved upon, in order to provide means for carrying on the Public Service in the coming Year 1859-60.

On the 16th of January 1857, a Five-per-Cent Loan was opened, in supersession of the Four-and-a-half-per-Cent Loan opened on the 30th of August 1856, which had been found, in the then state of the Money Market, not to afford sufficient inducement to Capitalists. On the 30th of April 1857, the Financial position of the Government of India was excellent. The Annual deficit which had been experienced for several years, and which in 1853-54 had amounted to Rupees 211 Lacs, chiefly in consequence of the great extension in late years of Public Works, was reduced for the Year 1856-57 to the small sum of Rupees 18 Lacs, and this Financial restoration had been accomplished without the stoppage of those great works of material improvement of which India is so much in need. But as the Government had raised but a small amount in the way of Loan, after the closing of the Five-per-Cent Public Works' Loan in October 1855, the Cash Balances in India had fallen so low that the opening of an effectively drawing Loan had become indispensable.

In May 1857 the Revolt of the Bengal Native Army broke out, and it became necessary by adequate measures both in India and at Home, to provide the means of making those extraordinary exertions by which, under the blessing of Providence, the Indian Empire has been saved, and tranquillity has been restored.

The Government at Home undertook all the charges which had to be met at Home, both the ordinary Home charges of each year, and the extraordinary Home charges which the despatch to India of a large English Force, and the provision of an immense supply of the Munitions of War, (a vast quantity of which had been lost or destroyed,) rendered necessary: and it assisted the Indian Exchequer, at the moment of greatest pressure, by the remittance of a Million Sterling in Bullion. These objects were met by the issue at Home of temporary debentures to the amount of Eight Millions Sterling. The Government of India had the task of providing for the main part of the extraordinary War charges, which of course had to be disbursed in India; and for the Barrack Accommodation of many thousand additional Europeans; as also for the restoration of the Treasure which had been plundered; and this it had to do, when nearly all the Revenues of one of the Local Governments had been swept away.

The Five-per-Cent Loan, which would have been adequate for ordinary wants and in ordinary times, was found to be inadequate at this time of extreme pressure. Accordingly it was necessary to induce Capitalists to come to the assistance of the State, by an enhancement of the terms; and the Governor General in Council resolved to borrow at Six-per-Cent.

He was aware that this could not be done without in some degree affecting injuriously those Holders of the Paper of former Loans, who had not purchased for purposes of permanent investment; but this is the condition of all such Holders of Government Stock in all Countries, whenever a great exigency forces upon the State the necessity of raising a large sum in a limited time. The Governor General in Council, however, was desirous to save such Holders from loss, as far as that could be done consistently with the paramount object in view. Therefore, instead of simply opening a Six-per-Cent Loan, which would have brought down the price of Four and Five per Cent Paper to a low point, he threw open the existing Five-per-Cent Loan to subscriptions half in Cash, and half in Four-per-Cent Paper. This arrangement for many months answered the purpose, the market price of the Paper of former Loans was but little affected by the operation; and the expectations of Government were fully met by large and regular subscriptions through the medium of the then existing Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock, or those who purchased of them for the express purpose of subscribing to the Loan. From the opening of this conversion Loan to the present time upwards of Eight Crores have been paid in in Cash.

Latterly, however, whether from the partial exhaustion of such Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper as are able and willing to convert it, or to sell it at such a price as will induce the Capitalist to buy it for the purpose of conversion, or from some other cause, this conversion process has failed to afford the income which in the present temporary exigency is necessary for the Public Service. For many weeks past the subscriptions to the conversion Loan have fallen to less than half what they were; and they have shewn no prospect of improvement.

In this state of things, the Government of India, having the Public Service to provide for, had no choice but to adopt some change of measure by which it could hope to obtain the requisite funds before the Cash Balances should become exhausted. The Governor General in Council did not doubt that the rate of Six-per-Cent, which Government were paying, was ample Interest to induce the Capitalist to subscribe. But it was apparent that from some cause or other, the requisite funds, even at that rate, could no longer be procured exclusively through the medium of Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock. There was therefore nothing to be done but to look for subscriptions either through the medium of some other class, or from Capitalists generally.

In this state of things the Governor General in Council resolved, on the 26th of January last, to adopt a new arrangement in respect to the open Loan, from the commencement of the approaching Financial year. Accordingly he gave notice of the closing on the 30th of April next of the Four-per-Cent conversion arrangement. By this warning all remaining Holders of that Stock for whose benefit it may be to take advantage of that arrangement will still have full opportunity of so doing. Up to the end of the Current Commercial Year, Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper will still have it in their power, on subscribing to the open Loan, to obtain Six-per-Cent for the Cash subscribed.

In order to throw open the door, in some manner, to the general Capitalist, Treasury Bills, bearing a somewhat lower rate of Interest, were issued; and the Governor General in Council, looking to the very large extraordinary expenditure which must still remain to be incurred in the coming year, made application to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India for assistance in the way of Bullion Remittances from Home, to the extent of Three Millions Sterling.

It had been the wish of the Governor General in Council to await the answer of the Secretary of State which may be expected by the 1st of May; as also to allow time to show practically what may be expected as the result of the above-mentioned measures, before determining upon the course to be adopted on the 1st of May for the service of the coming year. But the late fluctuations in the Stock Market, though the manifest result of an unfounded and happily short-lived panic, and the representations of the Mercantile Community, who are of opinion that in the present state of the Market uncertainty as to the future Financial operations of Government would be a great evil, have induced His Excellency in Council to anticipate the determination of this question, and to announce at once the arrangement which it is his intention to make in India for the service of the Year 1859-60.

Reductions in the present enormous War Charges will be made as early and to as great an extent as may be safe. Measures will be taken for the permanent increase of the Indian Revenues as largely as may be consistent with sound policy. But the full benefit of these operations will not be felt in 1859-60.

The Governor General in Council hereby announces that the amount of money for which he will look to the Indian Market to be raised by Loan in order to provide for the service of 1859-60, is Five Crores of Rupees. When this amount shall have been realized, the Loan of 1859-60 will be closed, and no further Loan will be opened in India during that year.

In pursuance of the principle adopted on the 20th of July 1857, the Loan to be opened on the 1st May next will be a Five-and-a-Half-per-Cent Loan, to which subscriptions will be receivable in Cash or half in Cash and half in Five-per-Cent Paper.

If this Loan should not produce the required amount, the Governor General in Council will recommend to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State that the deficiency should be supplied from England. No Loan carrying a higher rate of Interest will be opened in India in the course of the year 1859-60, unless under instructions from the Home Government.

The issue of Treasury Bills, on the terms notified on the 26th of January 1859, will be closed on the 30th of April; a new issue of Treasury Bills will be notified from the 1st of May, bearing Interest at the rate of 2½ Pie per Centum per diem.

The sum which may be received upon these Notes will not be counted as a part of the Five Crores which the Government desire to raise by Loan.

Published by Order of His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

C. HUGH LUSHINGTON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

IV. Whenever the Joint Magistrate of any Military Cantonment Bazar or Station shall be invested with Civil jurisdiction under the provisions of this Act, no person amenable to the Articles of War for the Native Army who may be liable to be sued before such Joint Maigistrate for any cause of action cognizable by him, shall be sued elsewhere.

No. 373.

The following Resolution of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council, under date the 19th February 1859, is published for general information :—

Read again the Resolution dated the 28th February 1856, regarding the allowances to be passed to Roman Catholic Bishops and Chaplains, &c.

Read a Despatch No. 8, dated the 31st December 1858, from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, on the above subject.

Read also the 11th paragraph of the Despatch of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors, No. 8, dated the 1st July 1857, on the subject of allotting Roman Catholic Priests to stations where no European Troops are located.

Under the 5th, 6th, and 7th paragraphs of the Resolution of the 28th February 1856, an allowance of Rupees 400 per mensem was authorized to be drawn by each of four Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in India, viz. by one in each of the Presidencies of Madras and Bombay, and by one in each Division of the Bengal Presidency, in consideration of the labor imposed on them in furnishing the Ecclesiastical Returns for transmission to England.

Under the 9th paragraph of the same Resolution the following principles were laid down for determining the numbers and rates of pay of Roman Catholic Priests at the several stations in India:

1. Wherever two or more European Regiments are quartered together, two Priests shall be allowed on salaries of Rupees 150 and Rupees 100 per mensem respectively.

2. Wherever more than one Regiment of Europeans but less than two shall be located, one Priest shall be allowed on a salary of Rupees 150 per mensem.

3. But the Priests at each seat of Local Government shall be allowed a salary of Rupees 150 per mensem, irrespectively of the number of European Regiments located there.

4. At any other station to which a Priest may be appointed, his salary shall be Rupees 100 per mensem.

In addition to the provision made for the spiritual wants of Troops at Stations, it was determined in the 8th paragraph of the Resolution of the 28th February 1856, "that a Priest shall be allotted to every Station where, though there may be no European Regiment, such a number of British-born Roman Catholics in the service of the Government may reside as may seem to Government to require a separate Pastor."

On this point the Hon'ble the Court of Directors in the 11th paragraph of their Despatch No. 8, dated the 1st July 1857, desired that this Government "should lay down with more precision the circumstances under which the Local Government may grant an allowance to places where no European Regiment may be stationed." The consideration of this suggestion was deferred by the Government of India until the return of tranquillity.

In the Despatch of the Secretary of State of the 31st December 1858, quoted at the head of this Resolution, an augmentation of the allowances heretofore passed to the Roman Catholic Bishops and Priests has been sanctioned. The Bishops are henceforth to draw Company's Rupees 500 per mensem each, while the allowances to Roman Catholic Chaplains are authorized to be raised from Rupees 100 and Rupees 150 to Rupees 150 and Rupees 200 per mensem, respectively.

His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased accordingly to give effect to the above orders from this date.

His Excellency in Council is also pleased to determine, with reference to the 8th paragraph of the Resolution of the 28th February 1856, and the suggestion of the Hon'ble the Court of Directors made in their Despatch of the 1st July 1857 above quoted, that a Priest on a salary of Rupees 150 a month shall be allotted to every Station where, though there may be no European Regiment, there shall be at least 100 British-born Roman Catholics, Natives of Great Britain and Ireland, resident and in the service of Government.

ORDERED.—That a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Military, Foreign, and Financial Department, for information and for the issue of such further orders as may be necessary in those Departments.

No. 14 of 1859.

Financial Department.

Fort William, the 21st February 1859.

His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to notify for general information the Financial measures which have been resolved upon, in order to provide means for carrying on the Public Service in the coming Year 1859-60.

On the 16th of January 1857, a Five-per-Cent Loan was opened, in supersession of the Four-and-a-half-per-Cent Loan opened on the 30th of August 1856, which had been found, in the then state of the Money Market, not to afford sufficient inducement to Capitalists. On the 30th of April 1857, the Financial position of the Government of India was excellent. The Annual deficit which had been experienced for several years, and which in 1853-54 had amounted to Rupees 211 Lacs, chiefly in consequence of the great extension in late years of Public Works, was reduced for the Year 1856-57 to the small sum of Rupees 18 Lacs, and this Financial restoration had been accomplished without the stoppage of those great works of material improvement of which India is so much in need. But as the Government had raised but a small amount in the way of Loan, after the closing of the Five-per-Cent Public Works' Loan in October 1855, the Cash Balances in India had fallen so low that the opening of an effectively drawing Loan had become indispensable.

In May 1857 the Revolt of the Bengal Native Army broke out, and it became necessary by adequate measures both in India and at Home, to provide the means of making those extraordinary exertions by which, under the blessing of Providence, the Indian Empire has been saved, and tranquillity has been restored.

The Government at Home undertook all the charges which had to be met at Home, both the ordinary Home charges of each year, and the extraordinary Home charges which the despatch to India of a large English Force, and the provision of an immense supply of the Munitions of War, (a vast quantity of which had been lost or destroyed,) rendered necessary: and it assisted the Indian Exchequer, at the moment of greatest pressure, by the remittance of a Million Sterling in Bullion. These objects were met by the issue at Home of temporary debentures to the amount of Eight Millions Sterling. The Government of India had the task of providing for the main part of the extraordinary War charges, which of course had to be disbursed in India; and for the Barrack Accommodation of many thousand additional Europeans; as also for the restoration of the Treasure which had been plundered; and this it had to do, when nearly all the Revenues of one of the Local Governments had been swept away.

The Five-per-Cent Loan, which would have been adequate for ordinary wants and in ordinary times, was found to be inadequate at this time of extreme pressure. Accordingly it was necessary to induce Capitalists to come to the assistance of the State, by an enhancement of the terms; and the Governor General in Council resolved to borrow at Six-per-Cent.

He was aware that this could not be done without in some degree affecting injuriously those Holders of the Paper of former Loans, who had not purchased for purposes of permanent investment: but this is the condition of all such Holders of Government Stock in all Countries, whenever a great exigency forces upon the State the necessity of raising a large sum in a limited time. The Governor General in Council, however, was desirous to save such Holders from loss, as far as that could be done consistently with the paramount object in view. Therefore, instead of simply opening a Six-per-Cent Loan, which would have brought down the price of Four and Five per Cent Paper to a low point, he threw open the existing Five-per-Cent Loan to subscriptions half in Cash, and half in Four-per-Cent Paper. This arrangement for many months answered the purpose, the market price of the Paper of former Loans was but little affected by the operation; and the expectations of Government were fully met by large and regular subscriptions through the medium of the then existing Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock, or those who purchased of them for the express purpose of subscribing to the Loan. From the opening of this conversion Loan to the present time upwards of Eight Crores have been paid in in Cash.

Latterly, however, whether from the partial exhaustion of such Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper as are able and willing to convert it, or to sell it at such a price as will induce the Capitalist to buy it for the purpose of conversion, or from some other cause, this conversion process has failed to afford the income which in the present temporary exigency is necessary for the Public Service. For many weeks past the subscriptions to the conversion Loan have fallen to less than half what they were; and they have shewn no prospect of improvement.

In this state of things, the Government of India, having the Public Service to provide for, had no choice but to adopt some change of measure by which it could hope to obtain the requisite funds before the Cash Balances should become exhausted. The Governor General in Council did not doubt that the rate of Six-per-Cent, which Government were paying, was ample Interest to induce the Capitalist to subscribe. But it was apparent that from some cause or other, the requisite funds, even at that rate, could no longer be procured exclusively through the medium of Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock. There was therefore nothing to be done but to look for subscriptions either through the medium of some other class, or from Capitalists generally.

In this state of things the Governor General in Council resolved, on the 26th of January last, to adopt a new arrangement in respect to the open Loan, from the commencement of the approaching Financial year. Accordingly he gave notice of the closing on the 30th of April next of the Four-per-Cent conversion arrangement. By this warning all remaining Holders of that Stock for whose benefit it may be to take advantage of that arrangement will still have full opportunity of so doing. Up to the end of the Current Commercial Year, Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper will still have it in their power, on subscribing to the open Loan, to obtain Six-per-Cent for the Cash subscribed.

In order to throw open the door, in some manner, to the general Capitalist, Treasury Bills, bearing a somewhat lower rate of Interest, were issued; and the Governor General in Council, looking to the very large extraordinary expenditure which must still remain to be incurred in the coming year, made application to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India for assistance in the way of Bullion Remittances from Home, to the extent of Three Millions Sterling.

It had been the wish of the Governor General in Council to await the answer of the Secretary of State which may be expected by the 1st of May; as also to allow time to show practically what may be expected as the result of the above-mentioned measures, before determining upon the course to be adopted on the 1st of May for the service of the coming year. But the late fluctuations in the Stock Market, though the manifest result of an unfounded and happily short-lived panic, and the representations of the Mercantile Community, who are of opinion that in the present state of the Market uncertainty as to the future Financial operations of Government would be a great evil, have induced His Excellency in Council to anticipate the determination of this question, and to announce at once the arrangement which it is his intention to make in India for the service of the Year 1859-60.

Reductions in the present enormous War Charges will be made as early and to as great an extent as may be safe. Measures will be taken for the permanent increase of the Indian Revenues as largely as may be consistent with sound policy. But the full benefit of these operations will not be felt in 1859-60.

The Governor General in Council hereby announces that the amount of money for which he will look to the Indian Market to be raised by Loan in order to provide for the service of 1859-60, is Five Crores of Rupees. When this amount shall have been realized, the Loan of 1859-60 will be closed, and no further Loan will be opened in India during that year.

In pursuance of the principle adopted on the 20th of July 1857, the Loan to be opened on the 1st May next will be a Five-and-a-Half-per-Cent Loan, to which subscriptions will be receivable in Cash or half in Cash and half in Five-per-Cent Paper.

If this Loan should not produce the required amount, the Governor General in Council will recommend to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State that the deficiency should be supplied from England. No Loan carrying a higher rate of Interest will be opened in India in the course of the year 1859-60, unless under instructions from the Home Government.

The issue of Treasury Bills, on the terms notified on the 26th of January 1859, will be closed on the 30th of April; a new issue of Treasury Bills will be notified from the 1st of May, bearing Interest at the rate of 2½ Pie per Centum per diem.

The sum which may be received upon these Notes will not be counted as a part of the Five Crores which the Government desire to raise by Loan.

Published by Order of His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

C. HUGH LUSHINGTON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

SIR,—The Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India has observed in a recent Report by the Chairman of a projected Railway Company, a quotation from a letter from an Officer in the Public Works Department, on the project in question. it is very desirable that Officers in the service of Government, especially those who are in a position which adds weight to their opinions, should abstain from entering into a correspondence with the projectors of schemes which have been referred for the consideration of the Government of India, or from expressing in any way opinions which may be employed by the Directors of Companies in England, to gain the support of the public to their proposed undertakings. WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1859.

Military Department.

Fort William, 22nd February 1859.

No. 231 of 1859.—The Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following Letter from the Deputy Adjutant General of the Army, No. 3, of the 19th January 1859, forwarding a Despatch from Major General Sir Hugh Rose, K. C. B., reporting the Capture of Gwalior.

This report was received by the Government in the Military Department on the 25th January 1859.

His Excellency in Council very highly appreciates the services rendered by Sir Hugh Rose and the Troops under his Command, as described in these Papers.

The vigorous and successful operations of the Central Indian Field Force in June last had a widely spread effect in pacifying the Provinces, not only of Central India, but of the North-Western Government; and the Governor Generalin Council cordially thanks Major General Sir H. Rose, and the Officers and Men of that distinguished Force for all that was then accomplished by them.

It will be satisfactory to the Governor General to bring these Papers to the notice of Her Majesty's Government.

From the Depty. Adjt. Genl. of the Army,
To the Secy. to the Govt., Mily. Dept.,
Allahabad.

Sir,

I have the honor, by desire of the Commander-in-Chief, to enclose, for submission to His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, a Despatch dated 13th October last, received only this day, from Major General Sir Hugh Rose, K. C. B., reporting the capture of Gwalior.

2. It gives Lord Clyde much pleasure to acknowledge the great and distinguished service rendered upon this occasion by Sir Hugh Rose and the Troops under his Command.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) H. W. Norman, Major,
Depty. Adjt. Genl. of the Army.

Head Quarters' Camp,
Lucknow;
19*th January* 1859.

From Major-General Hugh Rose,
Comdg. Field Forces, South of the Nerbudda,
To Major-General Sir William Mansfield, K.C.B.,
Chief of the Staff of the Army in India,
Dated Poonah, 13*th October* 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report to you for the information of the Commander-in-Chief in India, the operations against Gwalior of the Central India Field Force and other Troops, placed under my command by His Excellency.

After the capture of Calpee the first reports made to me by Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, Commanding the Column of pursuit, were to the effect that the scattered parties of the routed Rebel Army, without guns, tents, &c., were making, in the utmost disorder, for the Sheer Ghat via Jaloun, a ford across the Jumna, 35 or 40 miles to the North-east of Calpee. Subsequent accounts from the same Officer stated that a great part of the Rebels had, after leaving Jaloun, made a turn in a more Westerly direction, which was contrary to the one Sir Robert Hamilton felt persuaded the Rebels would follow; he was certain that they would make for Oude and cross the Jumna at the Sheer Ghat; or the ford to the West of it, near Juggurmanpore.

2 Troops 3rd Born Lt. Cavalry.
150 Hydrabad Cavalry.
No. 18 Light Field Battery.
8 Companies 25th Bombay N.I.

In this uncertainty Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, with good judgment, took up a position with the pursuing Column, which enabled him not to be the dupe of a feigned move to draw him off the real chase, but to follow the Rebels by the shortest line, should they move Westwards or Northwards.

A short rest having enabled my European Troops to recover a little, I reinforced Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson with the Troops detailed in the margin.

1 Wing Her Majesty's 86th Regiment.
2 Squadrons Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons.

Subsequent reports from Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson stated that he had reason to think, that all the Rebels had decidedly taken a Westerly direction, and that they had been reinforced by 800 Oude Cavalry under Ruheen Ali Nurut, of Bareilly.

Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson followed the line to the West taken by the Rebels, from Jaloun towards the Pohooj and Scinde Rivers, and got into communication with the Rajah of Rampoora, to the West of the Pahooj, a faithful friend of the English; Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson's intelligence and knowledge of the Natives, and their language, enabled him to obtain some very valuable information from this person; and that Officer reported to me, in two expresses, that the Calpee Rebels had certainly taken the road to Gwalior.

So little was at that time the great intrigue of Tantia Topee against Scindiah's power even suspected, that the best authority for intelligence could not bring himself to think that Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson was not mistaken in his information. However, not many hours after the arrival of Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson's last express, Sir Robert Hamilton received similar intelligence; when I instantly ordered off Brigadier Stuart, with the Force detailed in the margin, to reinforce Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, and march on Gwalior after the Rebels.

No. 4 Light Field Battery
2 Troops Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons.
1 Wing Her Majesty's 71st Regiment.
1 Wing Her Majesty's 86th Regiment.
4 Companies 25th Bombay Native Infantry.
½ a Company Bombay S. & M.
Two 18-Pounders.
One 8-Inch Howitzer.

Before the taking of Calpee, in compliance with instructions from the Governor-General and the Commander-in-Chief in India, conveyed to me through Sir Robert Hamilton, that after the taking of that place, and the breaking up of the Central India Field Force, part of it should be sent to Gwalior, and the rest to Jhansi, as Garrisons for those places, I had submitted to His Lordship the details of the distribution of Troops for the two services.

The news received for the next few days was very uncertain and contradictory. An express letter from Scindiah's Agent at Gwalior removed apprehensions for his safety, and that of his Government; it stated that the Rebels, who were in a destitute condition, had being still several miles from Gwalior, implored Scindiah's favor and protection in language and with a demeanour the reverse of hostile.

Subsequent accounts from Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, which were confirmed by Sir Robert Hamilton, conveyed the news which created a sensation throughout India, only equalled by that which was caused by the first mutinies. The Rebel Army had attacked Scindiah at Bahadurpoor, 9 miles from Gwalior; his Troops of all Arms, with the exception of a few of his Body Guard, had treacherously gone over, the Artillery in mass, to the enemy. His Highness himself, after bravely doing his best to make his Troops do their duty, had been forced by the fire of his own Artillery, and the combined attacks of his Troops, and of the Rebel Army, to fly to Agra, which he reached with difficulty, accompanied only by one or two attendants; the Rebels had entered Gwalior, taken Scindiah's Treasury and Jewels, the latter said to be of fabulous value; the Garrison of the Fort of Gwalior, considered to be one of the strongest, if not the strongest, Fortress in India, had, after a mock resistance, opened its gates to the Rebels; finally from 50 to 60 fine guns, comprising Horse, Field and Siege Artillery, had fallen, as well as an Arsenal with abundance of Warlike Stores into the hands of the enemy. In short, the Rebels who had fled, in the most disorderly flight and helpless state from Calpee, were now completely set up with abundance of money, a capital park of Artillery, plenty of material, and Scindiah's Army, as their allies.

Gwalior itself, without the Fort, was a prize of no ordinary value, comprising the Old City, and the "Lushker," that is the ancient Mahratta Camp, converted into a handsome and flourishing City, both together containing a population of 1,70,000 souls.

But other circumstances combined to render the loss of Gwalior the most serious event which had occurred since the revolt.

Scindiah, the Maharajah or Prince of Gwalior, is our very faithful ally; and with one exception he is the most powerful of the independant Princes of India. The centrical and geographical position of the Gwalior States and their extent, give their Rulers great political and Military power over the whole of India. The main artery of communication and the electric line from Bombay to Central India, Agra, and the North-Western Provinces, traverse for hundreds of miles Scindiah's dominions.

Scindiah's Troops, who went over to the Rebels were the best organized and drilled of all the Native Levies.

To render this state of things still more embarrassing, Gwalior fell into Rebel hands, at the most unfavourable time of the year for Military operations; on the eve of the great rains, and when the heat of summer was at its maximum.

No one therefore could foresee the extent of evil if Gwalior were not promptly wrested from the Rebels; if Tantia Topee, with the immense acquisition of political influence and Military strength, which the possession of that place gave the Rebel cause, had time to re-organize the Calpee Army, which he could easily do, with the resources of Gwalior at his disposal. The worst forebodings, would have come to pass, if Tantia Topee leaving either the Calpee, or the Gwalior Army at Gwalior, for its defence marched with the other Southwards and unfurled the standard of the Peshwar in the Deccan and Southern Mahrattas. These Districts, and the West of India generally, were very much denuded of Troops; and the attachment of the inhabitants of the ancient Peishwarate to their former Government, is too well known to admit of a doubt as to what course they would have pursued, if Tantia Topee had appeared amongst them with a large Army.

The inhabitants of Indore had given so many proofs of unfavourable feeling, that there was reason to fear that they would, if the opportunity offered, follow the example of Gwalior.

It was of vital importance that Troops should reach Gwalior before the rains set in; firstly, because I had no pontoons for Siege Artillery; and to have transported the Siege Guns across the Scinde and Pohooj Rivers, swollen to a great height by the rains, would have been most difficult, if not impossible. Secondly, the Siege of the Fort or City of Gwalior, protracted by the difficulties consequent on the monsoons, would have had the worst effect on our Military prestige and the state of affairs.

The Governor General expressed a wish that not an hour should be lost in reaching Gwalior. I therefore leaving by order Captain Ommaney's Royal Artillery Battery of four 9-pounders, belonging to the 2nd Brigade Central India Field Force, as part of the permanent garrison of Calpee, and one Troop 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry, 21st Company Royal Engineers, a Wing of the 3rd Bombay Europeans, and 400 of the 24th Bombay Native Infantry, to garrison Calpee until relieved by Bengal Troops, marched with the Troops detailed in the margin from Calpee on the 6th of June and followed 1st Troop Bombay Horse Artillery.

1 Squadron 14th Light Dragoons.
1 Squadron 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry.
Madras Sappers and Miners.

Brigadier Stuart's column, by forced marches, on the road to Gwalior by Jaloun marching by night to avoid the sun.

One day the heat in the shade rose to 130°.

The Officer Commanding the outlying picquet of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, having reported to me, on the night of the third day, that his men had fallen from their saddles from exhaustion; I had the picquet relieved by a party of Hydrabad Cavalry.

Owing to the difficulties of the baggage on very bad carts crossing one very deep nullah, and the rapid advance of my column, a Detachment of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, who guarded them, were three days without a meal; after a bathe in the Pohooj, and a short rest to enable them to make their cakes, these good Soldiers were quite ready to march on.

I caught up Brigadier Stuart's column at the Fort of Indoorkee on the Scinde river.

I received His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's instructions that I was reinforced for the operations against Gwalior, as follows:

Colonel Riddel's moveable columns of Bengal Troops of the strength detailed in the margin, was to escort a large supply of Siege Guns, mortars and ammunition, from Agra to Gwalior for the siege of that place.

No. 21 Light Field Battery.
3rd Bengal Europeans.
200 Sikh Horse.
300 Sikh Infantry.
Siege Artillery.

Brigadier Smith, with a brigade of the Rajpootana Field Force, was to march from the neighbourhood of Chandaree to Gwalior.

The Hyderabad Contingent after their hard service, had received permission and orders to return home; almost all of these Troops had commenced their return to the Deccan, and some of them, were far advanced on their road. With a good feeling, which cannot be sufficiently praised, all of the Contingent, which had formed part of the Central India Field Force, instantly countermarched and moved against Gwalior on the wish being intimated to the Officers Commanding their separate bodies, that they should perform this fresh act of good service for the Government.

When the crisis occurred at Gwalior, part of the Central India Field Force were garrisoning Calpee, part had marched to Gwalior, and part had been left as a garrison at Jhansi.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India was pleased to direct my attention to preventing the move of the Rebels Southwards from Gwalior to the Deccan.

His Excellency was pleased to express his entire approbation of my having selected Agra as the base of my operations, in consequence of the communication between that place and Gwalior, being the shortest and the best. But even this communication was rendered imperfect by the passage of a very difficult ford across the Chumbul.

My plan of attack of Gwalior was as follows. To invest it as much as its great extent would allow, and then to attack it by its weakest side; the investing Troops cutting off the escape of the Rebels.

I hoped that a successful attack of the enemy, outside or inside the City, would like Calpee be followed by the capture of the Fort.

In order to invest Gwalior from the South, I directed Major Orr, Commanding Hydrabad Contingent to move from Jhansi to Punear, on the road from Gwalior to Seepree. Major Orr's force was too weak to attack Gwalior from that quarter, but he was perfectly placed for cutting off the retreat of the Rebels to the South, assisted, as he would be, by the other investing Corps.

Information as to the enemy's position is the surest guarantee of success; I had no plan of Gwalior or its environs. With great trouble I had ascertained that the weakest side of Gwalior, and consequently the best for an attack was the East, as it was girt by high hills on that side, the summits of which were difficult it is true of access; but that on the other hand, slopes which descended gradually from these summits towards and close to the "Lushker," would enable a after taking the heights to drive the enemy down fro slope to slope, from the lowest of which I could cann nade the "Lushker," and covered by the fire of Art lery storm the new Town, that is the "Lushker;" th cutting in two the enemy's whole line, consisting the old city, above which is the Fort, and the "Lusl ker," or new City.

This point of attack had another advantage. It ena bled me to attack Gwalior almost unhurt by th fire of the Fort.

I directed Brigadier Smith, with the Rajpootana Field Force, to move from Seepree to Kotah-ka Serai, about seven miles to the East of Gwalior.

I myself with Brigadier Stuart's column, and th small one I had brought from Calpee, marched agains the Morar Cantonments, which were said to be occu pied in force by the enemy. These Cantonments fo the Troops stationed at Gwalior, are about five mile from that city, on the river Morar. They had only been partially burnt by the Rebels; and Scindiah's Government had been at much trouble and expense to repair the old buildings and construct others for the force which was to be the garrison of Gwalior.

Once in possession of the Morar Cantonments, I could establish there my hospital, parks, &c. Divested of these incumbrances, and leaving a force in the Morar Cantonments, which could protect it, and at the same time form part of the investment of Gwalior and pursue when required, I was free to join Brigadier Smith at Kotah-ka-Serai and with his force and my own, attack Gwalior.

To complete the investment which, roughly speaking, was to enclose Gwalior from the South-East and North, I sent instructions to Colonel Riddell to move with his column by the Agra and Gwalior road to the Residency, about seven miles to the North of Gwalior. Colonel Riddell by extending his force from the Residency down the West side of Gwalior invested it from that side.

I had the honor to report that all the columns of operations would, I trusted, be at their posts by the 19th of June.

On the 16th of June I arrived at Bahadurpoor, about four or five miles from the Morar Cantonments.

I directed Captain Abbott, with his Cavalry, to reconnoitre Morar; he reported that the Rebels were in force in front of it. I reconnoitred their position myself closely; and found that the side of the Cantonments fronting us, was occupied by strong bodies of Cavalry, and that on their right were guns and a good deal of Infantry.

My force had had a long and fatiguing march, and the sun had been up for some time. Four or five miles' more march in sun, and a combat afterwards, would be a great trial for the men's strength. On the other hand Morar looked inviting with several good buildings not yet burnt; they would be good quarters for a portion of force; if I delayed the attack until the next day, the enemy were sure to burn them. A prompt attack has always more effect on the Rebels, than a procrastinated one.

I therefore countermanded the order for encamping and made the following arrangements to attack the enemy.

I formed my force in two lines; the first line consisting of the 1st Brigade, under Brigadier Stuart, the second line, under Brigadier-General Napier, in support of the 1st, consisting of only a small part of the 2nd Brigade, as the rest of it was at Calpee.

Captain Abbott, Hydrabad Cavalry, covered the advance.

I requested Brigadier-General Napier to watch well, hills on my left and rear, in which the enemy were supposed to be; and to advance in eschellon from the right which enabled him, his left refused to guard my left rear, on the outward flank of which I left baggage and incumbrances.

I also sent patrols of Cavalry far away into the hills on my left and rear to search them.

Sir Robert Hamilton, who has a remarkable acquaintance with the ground and localities of Central India, had warned me to take care of the ground on the proper right, and in front of Morar, as it was full of ravines and treacherous ground.

Both lines advanced; No. 18 Light Field Battery, and the Siege Guns in the centre of the first; Her Majesty's 86th Regiment on their right; the 25th Bombay Native Infantry on their left; Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons on each flank.

To march to our position in order of battle, we had gone over the ground on which, a short time before, Scindiah had been attacked and routed by his faithless Troops and the Calpee Rebels. It was strewed with dead horses.

My plan was to mask the dangerous ground to my left, towards which the enemy evidently wished to draw me; to outflank the enemy's left, double it up, and cut off their retreat from the road over the bridge in rear of the Cantonments leading to Gwalior.

My first line advanced in line across the plain between Morar and Bahadurpoor dressing by their centre with the regularity of a parade movement. The enemy retired from their position in front of Morar into the Cantonments.

No. 1 Enclosure. Brigadier General Napier's Report.

I have the honor to enclose a copy of Brigadier General Napier's Report of the operations of his Brigade, and to confirm fully all his recommendations of the Officers under his command.

Under the guidance of Scindiah's Agent, I took ground diagonally to the right in order to get on the road which led to the Cantonments and which enabled me to turn the enemy's left; but he missed the road; in the mean time we had got on the edge of broken ground; a masked Battery in the enemy's centre, concealed by trees, and the guns on their right opened a cross fire on us, causing some Casualties amongst Captain Abbott's Hydrabad Cavalry, who showed admirable steadiness.

I directed the Siege Guns under Lieutenant Strutt, B. A., and No. 18 Light Field Battery, under Lieutenant Harcourt, Bombay Artillery, to be placed in position obliquely to my front, which enabled them to open a telling fire diagonally to their left on the enemy's Batteries. I beg to mention specially Lieutenants Strutt and Harcourt, for the prompt steadiness with which they brought their guns into action on difficult ground, and for the efficiency of their fire.

The Rebel Artillery caused some Casualties amongst the horses of these guns.

The lay of the ground favouring the Rebels' right Battery, I brought to my left, Captain Lightfoot's 1st Troop Bombay Horse Artillery against it from the 2nd line.

Nullahs and broken ground prevented the advance of Captain Abbott's Cavalry, whom I placed under cover; and of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons under Captain Thompson, on the right, who reinforced my left.

The enemy's Cavalry, of whom the 5th Irregulars formed part, showed in force in position in our front along the road through the Cantonments.

I reinforced my left, now near the dangerous ground on the enemy's right, with the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, and advanced across bad ground. Her Majesty's 86th Regiment firing, whom I had thrown into skirmishing order, and took by storm under a cannonade of the enemy's right Battery, all the Morar Cantonments in our front. The Rebels retired at a gallop.

I brought forward the right shoulders of the 86th line of skirmishers and resting their right on the right bank of the Morar swept the whole Cantonments and occupied them.

Captain Abbott, whose horse was killed under him by a round shot, in the mean time had contrived to get across the nullahs further to the right, and wheeling to his left, galloped through the Cantonments, and joined in the pursuit of the enemy, who retired from their right.

But the delay in his advance, caused by the very difficult ground, prevented his arriving in time to cut off the retreat of the enemy across the bridge.

The Rebels withdrew their batteries, crippled by the fire of Captain Lightfoot's, Lieutenants Strutt's and Harcourt's guns, as soon as they saw their left compromised by the successful advances of the 86th.

My left, which had been refused, conformed to the right, and changed position to the left, fronting the nullahs on the enemy's right, which it had now approached.

The advanced nullah and others in rear of it were lined with Rebel Sepoys, who gave no sign, until my left approached them, when they opened on it a very heavy fire, on which Major Rich, Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry, moved his skirmishers rapidly forward to dislodge them. Lieutenant Neave led with ardent courage the charge, and fell, when close to the nullah, mortally wounded, sincerely regretted by his brave Regiment and his General.

The 71st very gallantly took the nullah and others in rear by storm; Lieutenant Rose, 25th Bombay Native Infantry, afforded them useful co-operation by skilfully placing a party of his Regiment so as to enfilade these dangerous entrenchments. The whole of the Rebels in them were killed, after a desperate resistance which cost the 71st, I regret to say, besides Lieutenant Neave, several brave Soldiers killed and wounded; Serjeant McGill, killed; Serjeant Wilson, wounded dangerously; Corporal Leslie, killed; two Privates killed and six wounded, of the whole of whom I make special mention. In the advanced nullah alone seventy Rebels lay dead, belonging to Scindiah's faithless Guards and wearing English accoutrements and breast-plates, on which was engraved "1st Brigade Infantry."

Her Majesty's 71st Regiment proved on this as well as on every other occasion, whilst under my orders, that they will maintain by their courage and discipline the historical renown, of which they bear so many honoured records on their colours.

When a Wing of the Regiment was prostrated by sun-sickness after the action at Koonch, the only complaint I heard in the field hospitals from these gallant young Soldiers was that they could not rise and fight.

The success of the day was completed by the destruction of the Rebels in the nullahs, and a most successful pursuit of the Rebels by Captain Thompson, with a Wing of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons. These Rebels had been turned by Captain Abbott's advance from the ford of the river, across which and the bridge the main body had retreated; Captain Thompson caught them in the plains, before they could reach the hills to which they were hurrying, and made a great slaughter of them. I beg to mention specially Captain Thompson, Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, for the very good service which he did on this occasion.

In making special mention of Captain Lightfoot for his good services this day, I beg to state how very much indebted I am to the Officers and Men of his, the 1st or "Eagle," Troop Bombay Horse Artillery, for their excellent and gallant conduct throughout the Campaign. In my actions, I made very liberal use of the Troop, in pouring an unexpected or flank fire into the enemy. On all these occasions, the 1st Troop was worthy of its former fame, and proved that no Arm of the service is more dangerous to its foes than fleet Artillery.

I beg to make special mention of Brigadier-General Napier for the very important assistance which he afforded me in the action of the 16th of June.

I beg to bring to His Excellency's notice the good spirit and gallantry which the Troops displayed in the rapid and successful operation against the Morar Cantonments Their march from Calpee was a very trying one. In consequence of the great heat in the tents by day, the men could not get the rest which they lost by marching at night to avoid sun.

Notwithstanding a long march to Bahadurpoor, the Troops ceased their preparations for encamping and marched, fasting, with the utmost alacrity and steadiness against Morar, going five miles and taking it in two hours, under a heavy and well-directed cannonade, and a resolute resistance on the left. The capture of Morar had good results. It was the first defeat which the combined forces of the Calpee and Gwalior Rebels had sustained.

Morar, the Military Station and an outwork of Gwalior, was an important strategical point. It gave me the command of the line of the Morar River of the road to Agra, and enabled me to communicate with Brigadier Smith to the left, and the Residency to the right.

The Rebels were surprized by my rapid march from Calpee; they intended to make a determined stand at Morar, and had commenced storing it with supplies, which fell into our hands. They had not time to burn the houses, still standing since the mutiny, nor the temporary sheds prepared by Scindiah, all of which were turned to good account.

I got immediately into communication with Brigadier Smith at "Kotah-ka-Serai," and reconnoitred Gwalior.

I have the honor to enclose Brigadier Smith's Report of his operations from "Kotah-ka-Serai." I beg fully to confirm his recommendation of the Officers under his command, and to draw His Excellency's attention particularly to the great gallantry and devotion displayed by Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, in the brilliant charge which they made through the enemy's Camp; of which one most important result was the death of the Ranee of Jhansi; who, although a lady, was the bravest and best Military leader of the Rebels. The enemy's guns which the 8th Hussars brought back out of the Rebel Camp into their own, were the best proofs of how nobly they had fought and conquered.

No 2, Enclosure, Brigadier Smith's Report.

Brigadier Smith, having asked for reinforcements, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson to join him with the Force detailed in the margin.

My reconnoisance of Gwalior satisfied me that the information on which I had decided to attack it was good. If I had attacked it from Morar, I should have had to cross the plain between Morar and Gwalior, under the fire of the Fort, and of masked and formidable batteries, established in strong houses and gardens on the banks of the old canal, and a dry river in front of the Phool Bagh Palace.

I could not leave "Morar" so close to Gwalior without adequate protection. The arrival of the Troops, which had been left to garrison Calpee on the morning of the 18th of June enabled me, leaving my incumbrances, to march from Morar on the afternoon of the same day for "Kotah-ka-Serai," with the force detailed in the margin, leaving in Morar, the Force also detailed in the margin under Brigadier-General Napier for its protection, the investment of "Gwalior," and the pursuit of the enemy, when they retreated from it.

The march to "Kotah-ka-Serai," about 20 miles, was very harassing; 100 men of Her Majesty's 86th Regiment alone were compelled by sun-sickness, to fall out and go into dhoolies. These same men, the next day unmindful of their illness, fell in with their Companies, and took part in the assault of Gwalior, which corroborates what I said in a previous report, that the spirit of the Soldiers often made them fight when they were too weak to march.

My column bivouacked on the left bank of the river Morar, and during the night I communicated with Brigadier Smith and Colonel Hicks, Commanding Artillery, Central India Field Force.

Brigadier Smith reported to me that in consequence of the enemy occupying in great numbers the hills opposite "Kotah-ka-Serai" on the other side of the river Morar, and pressing on him, he had advanced from his position at "Kotah-ka-Serai," and following the road from that place to Gwalior, by the ford across the river, had attacked and driven the enemy from the hills, on his right front, and occupied the road, which led through a pass, about two miles in length, through the hills, and to the left or South side of a very deep and dry old canal cut out of the rock, which led from the ford close by the left of the road through the pass, to the foot of the rock or Fort of Gwalior.

The enemy retained possession of the hills to the left of the pass and canal.

To the left of the road and canal in the pass rose from a narrow plain a succession of slopes, intersected by ravines; a ridge ran along the top of the slopes, on which the enemy had placed a Battery of 9-pounders. To protect the Battery and position, the enemy had concentrated a numerous force of all Arms on the ridge, as well as a large body of Cavalry in rear of it.

About a mile and a half further back, and about the same distance from the left of the road, was stationed in a gorge of the hills, a large body of the enemy's Infantry, with guns. They guarded a road which branched off from the ford Southwards through the hills to Gwalior.

Brigadier Smith's position in the hills was weak and cramped. His left and rear were threatened by the two bodies just described. The Camp baggage and guns were in the pass, into which came shots from the enemy's Battery on the ridge.

It was clear that the enemy must be driven from both positions, the one on the ridge and the other in the gorge, before I advanced on Gwalior.

The enemy by occupying positions on the hills so far from and unsupported by Gwalior had exposed himself to be cut off. The impediment to my doing so, was the deep canal, impracticable for Cavalry and Infantry; on this obstacle the enemy probably relied for protection. To remove it, I directed the Company of Madras Sappers and Miners to make a bridge some way, to the left rear of our position across the canal. The bridge or dam was to be ready by sun-set. I made the plan to cross over this bridge during the night, with a force of all arms, get on the South road to Gwalior through the hills above-mentioned, place myself between Gwalior and the enemy's two positions; fall on them a little before day-break, when Her Majesty's 86th and 95th Regiments supported by the rest of Brigadier Smith's Brigade, were concealed by the ravines, to attack their front and turn their left flank.

I beg to make special mention of Major the Honorable E. C. H. Massey, 95th Regiment; Captain Bolton, Deputy Assistant Quarter-Master General, Rajpootana Field Force, and Lieutenant Harris, of the 3rd Troop Bombay Horse Artillery, for the assistance which their intelligence and knowledge of the ground enabled them to give me in making the reconnoisance and plan.

Lieutenant Haggart, Commissary of Ordnance, by my desire, had during the night moved the two 18-pounders and 8-inch Howitzer, from our bivouac, up to the top of a steep height, which was to the right of the road and canal and opposite the ridge. I selected a point at the extremity of a spur of this height towards Gwalior as a position for these guns, from whence they commanded the plain below the entrance to the pass, and were enabled to fire on the enemy's Battery on the ridge.

The enemy's Battery opened a fire on the Siege pieces as they were being taken into position, wounding two draught elephants and causing, subsequently, some casualties in the Battery, after it had opened its fire under Lieutenant Haggart's orders.

The enemy set on fire with their Guns some monster hay ricks, which were close to the canal, in the narrow plain, in order that our outposts might not be covered by them.

The carriage of the 8-inch howitzer had been so shaken by hundreds of miles' marching, that its charge was reduced a pound below the regulation, in order to save the carriage; this irregular charge rendered its fire much less certain. The want of sights on the 18-pounders affected the accuracy of their fire in field-firing.

Colonel Hicks suggested to me the withdrawal of the Siege guns as they did not appear to damage the enemy; whereas they had our range. I thought that it would be better that the Battery should cease firing, gradually, when the enemy would probably do the same, than that it should be withdrawn. This was done, and the enemy's Battery ceased to fire.

Before the Batteries had begun to diminish their firing, I had gone to our Battery to inspect it and to watch an advance of the enemy's Infantry, in skirmishing order, from the ridge and a spur of it to the left, against our chain of outposts and left, which rested on the canal.

Soon afterwards, a large body of Troops was seen debouching from Gwalior; and my videttes reported that fresh guns were ascending the heights to reinforce the Battery on the ridge, which was good news as the more guns the Rebels brought up to the heights the more were we likely to take next morning.

I reinforced the sentries and pickets on our left, on the line of the canal, and ordered the Troops in Camp to be ready to turn out.

The enemy's skirmishers and my line guarding the canal became engaged. At this time I received an express from Sir Robert Hamilton, telling me that he had received information that the Sepoys and Valaitees had agreed to attack me to-day.

The enemy seemed inclined not to confine their advance to an affair of outposts, but to be determined to attack my left flank, which they knew was weak.

The Central India Field Force was the worse for last night's harassing march, and a bad bivouac on rock. The Company of Madras Sappers and Miners, whose zeal and intelligence no hardships can abate, would have completed the bridge across the canal by sun-set; and I anticipated the best results from availing myself of it for the purpose of cutting off during the night the enemy's numerous force of all Arms on the hills.

I would, therefore, have preferred not engaging the enemy before the time determined on.

On the other hand, the position in the narrow pass was so false that it became necessary to free it from the risk of a serious attack, and to change the defensive for the offensive.

I therefore directed Brigadier Stuart, with Her Majesty's 86th Regiment who were encamped between the pass and the river "Morar," to move from my left rear, supported by the 25th Bombay Native Infantry across the canal, crown the heights on the other side of it, and attack the enemy in their left flank, by which means they would mask the fire of the Battery.

As a diversion in favor of Brigadier Stuart's attack, I directed Brigadier Smith to move Lieutenant-Colonel Raines with Her Majesty's 95th Regiment, from the left of my right front, across the canal in skirmishing order, over the shoulder of the hill, on which was the Rebels' Battery, against the enemy's left flank. This oblique movement, and the lay of the ground prevented the 95th suffering seriously from the guns of the Battery.

I further directed Brigadier Smith to move up the 10th Bombay Native Infantry from the right of my right front across the canal, to support the advance of the 95th and to cover my right.

I ordered up also the 3rd Troop Bombay Horse Artillery to the entrance of the pass towards "Gwalior," supported by a squadron of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars.

I disposed the rest of my force in support of the attacking columns, and for the defence of the Camp from the rear.

Brigadier Smith crossing the canal ascended steadily with Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel Louth, the heights. The enemy taken in flank, retired rapidly from the attack of our left flank towards the Battery. The skirmishers of the 86th, with their usual ardour, pressed the Rebel Infantry so hard that they did not make a stand even under their guns, but retreated across the entrenchment, in the rear of which they were in position. The gallant skirmishers gave them no time to rally in the Battery, but dashing with a cheer at the parapet crossed it, and took the guns which defended the ridge, three excellent English 9-pounders.

The 86th leaving a party with the captured guns, passed on after the enemy's Cavalry and Infantry who fled, part towards Gwalior, part to the hills to the South.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines coming up with a wing of the 95th to the entrenchments, with good judgment turned the captured guns on the enemy's Cavalry and Infantry, which he saw in detached bodies in the plain below at a distance of 1,000 yards, as well as on the body which had retired to our left.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines placed Lieutenant Brockman of the 86th, with some men of his Regiment, in command of one gun; and Lieutenant Budgeon and Lieutenant and Adjutant Sexton, of the 95th, with men of their Regiment, who had been instructed in the gun exercise, in command of the two other guns. These guns thus manned by Infantry made excellent practice, and although sometimes short, the shot ricocheted amongst the enemy. Four Rebel Batteries in front of "Gwalior" now opened a hot fire of shot and shell on our advanced lines.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines reports that Lieutenant Read, 10th Bombay Native Infantry, rendered him great assistance in firing and pointing the enemy's Artillery.

The 10th Bombay Native Infantry, under the command of Lieutenant Roome, crossed the pass and the canal, and passing by the hay stacks, which were now one burning mass, and moving up, as ordered in support of the 95th, and in protection of my right, found himself exposed to a fire of Artillery and Musketry, from the heights on the enemy's extreme left. Advancing with half of his Regiment in skirmishing order, and leaving the remainder in support he cleared the two nearest heights of the Rebel Infantry, and charging gallantly, took two brass field pieces and three mortars, which were in a plain at the foot of the second height.

My Troops were now in possession of the highest range of heights to the East of Gwalior which we saw at our feet. The sight was interesting. To our right was the handsome palace of the Phool Bagh with its gardens, and the old City, surmounted by the Fort, remarkable for its ancient architecture, with lines of extensive fortifications round the high and precipitous rock of Gwalior. To our left, lay the "Lushker" or new City, with its spacious houses half hidden by trees.

The ground corresponded exactly with the accounts of it which I had collected; the slopes descended gradually towards Gwalior; the lowest one commanding the grand parade of the "Lushker," which was almost out of fire of the Fort and afforded an entrance into the City.

I felt convinced that I could take Gwalior before sun-set.

I determined to make a general advance against all the positions which the enemy occupied for the defence of Gwalior, extending from beyond the palace of the Phool Bagh on their right, to the extensive Barracks on the left of the grand parade of the "Lushker," and then take the "Lushker" by assault.

For this purpose, I ordered the 3rd Troop Bombay Horse Artillery with a squadron of the 8th Hussars to follow the road which led out of the pass, and advance, covering my extreme right parallel with the Troops attacking Gwalior.

Lieutenant-Colonel Owen, with the 1st Bombay Lancers, had been moved to the heights to cover the captured guns; the rapidity and dexterity with which they got over very difficult ground does the Regiment and their Commander much credit. I now ordered them to descend the heights to the rear, get into the road which led through the hills to the South, and occupy the entrance to it, which led to the grand parade, for the purpose of assisting in the attack of that important point and of the "Lushker."

I left a sufficient force of all arms for the protection of my Camp which was exposed.

I had some time before ordered up No. 4 Light Field Battery with two Troops of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons to the heights to cover my advanced line, and to answer the enemy's Batteries in position in front of Gwalior. The hilly and difficult nature of the ground, particularly the deep canal which the guns had to traverse, prevented their arrival.

The advanced line was irregular, as it followed the formation of the hills. The 86th formed the left which was in advance; the 95th the right, was refused.

The left of the 86th who pursued, across a deep ravine to the range of hills to the South, the body of the enemy who retreated to the left had returned and rested their left on a hamlet situate on the crest of the range which commanded Gwalior. The enemy immediately brought a Battery of two 18-pounders in front of the grand parade to bear on the hamlet, and firing from a great elevation sent round shot into it in rapid succession and with accurate aim.

Skirmishers of the 86th had descended the hill towards the Barracks, and were advancing against the enemy, who had made a stand in houses amongst trees at the foot of the hill. Lieutenant-Colonel Raines with good judgment detached Captain Smith's Company of the 95th in support of them.

I moved the 86th from the hamlet lower down the hill, extending them at large-intervals from the left to the right. This new position of the 86th rendered the fire of the 18-pounders harmless and gave more support to the skirmishers, who soon gave a good account of the enemy in the houses.

In front of, and between the two hills occupied by the 86th and the 95th, was the last slope, a spur of the hill on which were the 86th commanding the rows of Barracks and the grand parade of the "Lushker," to which the enemy, pressed by our advance, had now withdrawn the two 18-pounders.

I occupied the left of this slope with a Wing of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, which I brought up from the second line, leaving the other Wing in support. I moved a party of the 95th down to the right of the slope under Major Vialls, who judiciously took possession of a strong powder magazine, surrounded by a wall at the further end of it.

Lieutenant Roome, with the 10th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, on the right, after he had captured the guns and field pieces took with much spirit a strong building used as an Arsenal on his right, from which the enemy had poured a galling fire on his Regiment, and occupied a trench at the bottom of the hill on which was the Arsenal, from which the 10th kept up a heavy fire on the enemy, who had retreated to a position in front of Gwalior.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines leaving a Company of the 95th to guard the captured guns, which kept up an effective fire on the enemy, joined with the rest of his Regiment, and reinforced Major Vialls on the lowest slope.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines perceived a large body of the enemy's Cavalry in the vicinity of the two 18-pounders now placed in Battery, who he believed were posted there for the purpose of making a dash at the British Troops, should they attempt to take the guns. He therefore halted and waited for orders and reinforcements, placing two Companies of the 95th in skirmishing order, lying down along the crest of the hill, a part of the 10th Bombay Native Infantry being in rear as supports. The enemy now took courage to come out, and fired the 18-pounders with grape and canister at our position, on which Lieutenant-Colonel Raines detached some skirmishers of the 95th to covered ground to his front, who kept up with their Enfields such an effective fire on the 18-pounders and the Cavalry, that after firing eight rounds, the enemy was obliged to cease firing, and retire behind the buildings of the grand parade

Lieutenant Knatchbull, and seven or eight men of No. 1 Company of the 95th Regiment, dragged a small howitzer and its tumbril, captured by the 10th Bombay Native Infantry up the slope, and opened fire with it on the enemy behind the buildings.

The Officer Commanding No. 4 Light Field Battery, by following the road through the pass beyond its entrance, had found a passage, a very difficult one, across the canal; but on taking them up a bridle road which led to the heights, a gun upset and delayed very inopportunely the arrival of this Artillery on the heights. Lieutenant Goldsworthy, of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, who acted as my Aide-de-Camp during the day, and whose activity and intelligence were most useful to me, at last brought up one 9-pounder to the heights.

The enemy were firing with much vivacity, but little effect, from the Batteries on the right, and the captured guns were answering them.

Large bodies of the enemy's Infantry and Cavalry were marching out of Gwalior, by all its issues, and moving towards us but not in order or with resolution as if to attack, or take up a position of defence.

Besides storming the grand parade, from which I could enter the "Lushker" and pass by the main street to Scindiah's palace, I directed Brigadier Smith, with No. 3 Bombay Troop Horse Artillery and a squadron of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, to be ready to attack the enemy's positions at the Phool Bagh and beyond it. This attack protected the right of the Troops attacking the grand parade, and turned at the same time the enemy's left.

The 1st Bombay Lancers were to debouch from the entrance of the road on which I had placed them, charge the enemy on the grand parade, and assist the 95th in taking it.

The 10th Bombay Native Infantry were to support these Regiments.

One 9-pounder, the only piece of Artillery which, on account of the ground, had been able to reach the heights, was to cover from the lowest slope the advance of the 1st Lancers and of the 95th and to clear the grand parade.

The 86th were to remain in their position on the left of the heights, cover my left, and if necessary assist the Camp.

One Wing of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry was to attack the Barracks and cover the left of the 95th attacking the grand parade. The other was to be in support on the slopes.

Two Troops of the 14th Light Dragoons were in support on the lower slopes.

All being ready, I gave the word for the general attack of Gwalior.

I had placed the 9-pounder in position, opposite the two 18-pounders I directed it to be fired with shrapnel at the enemy, who were attempting to load them. The shrapnel a remarkable one burst just over the 18-pounders into about twenty pieces, killed and disabled some of the gunners, and put the rest to flight. Parties of the enemy's Cavalry and Infantry on the grand parade began to retire.

An animated war scene "ensued."

The 1st Lancers, under Lieutenant-Colonel Owen, the 1st squadron led by Lieutenant Heath, that in support by Captain Loch, issuing from the road, charged most gallantly, in sight of the British Troops descending the slopes of the heights of Gwalior into the grand parade, and clearing all the right of it, pursued, carried away by their ardour, the enemy's Infantry into the "Lushker," Captain Loch leading and Lieutenant Heath supporting this second charge, in which, I much regret to say, fell in the streets shot through the heart, Lieutenant Mills of the 1st Lancers, bravely leading his men; a very promising and popular young Officer; Captain Loch in the pursuit cut down the rebel who shot him.

Lieutenant-Colonel Raines, with two Companies of the 95th, charged down the slope with his usual spirit and took the two 18-pounders and two small mortars, on the grand parade.

After going down the slope, and pointing out to Brigadier Smith the position which he was to attack, I joined Lieutenant-Colonel Raines on the grand parade, and went with him against the Town, with the intention of forcing our way, if necessary, to the Palace, the possession of which would give us the "Lushker." As I did not know whether the enemy might not, as at Jhansi, defend the streets and houses, I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Raines to form four Companies of his Regiment for street-fighting, and to leave the remainder of them in reserve on the grand parade.

Lieutenant Roome, with the 10th Bombay Native Infantry, on the general advance being ordered, moved to the front skirmishing through the buildings to the right of the grand parade, and killed many of the enemy who stood there; those who escaped were afterwards cut up by the 1st Bombay Lancers.

The Fort kept up a constant fire during our advance, but as I foresaw, our position masked us from it.

Shortly after entering the Lushker we met the 1st Lancers returning with Lieutenant Mills just killed, Lieutenant-Colonel Owens not thinking it advisable that his Regiment as Cavalry should be involved in street-fighting, with the large number of the enemy, who were in the Town.

The enemy's Cavalry and Infantry retreated before us through the Town so rapidly, that we could not even get a sight of them, although we advanced by more streets than one with the view to cut them off. The Rebel Cavalry, as usual availing themselves of their horses, headed the retreat instead of covering it. After marching for more than a mile through the streets we reached Scindiah's palace.

I detached Patrols in every direction to clear the streets; before sunset the whole of the "Lushker," or new City, was completely in our hands. I also directed the old Town and Fort to be occupied immediately Scindiah's Agent, who made his appearance on our entering the palace, having informed me that the enemy had evacuated the Fort.

I appointed Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson to be Commandant of Gwalior, and to occupy it with his Regiment.

Brigadier Smith got into action with the enemy near the palace of the Phool Bagh, which he took, killing numbers of the enemy. He then pursued a large body of the enemy who were retiring round the rock of Gwalior towards the Residency, covering their retreat with Horse Artillery guns. After a stout resistance, which did credit to the enemy's Artillery, Brigadier Smith, who did good service on this occasion, as well as throughout the day, captured the guns and killed numbers of the retreating Rebels. Brigadier Smith speaks very highly of the steadiness with which Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, escorting the 3rd Troop Bombay Horse Artillery stood the enemy's Artillery fire, shot and shell, and of the ardour with which they afterwards fell on the guns and the retreating enemy.

Brigadier Smith, who was directed by me to pursue with all his vigor the enemy retreating by the Residency, inflicted much loss on them and captured more guns; he continued the pursuit until long after night, and until his men and horses were unable to move on.

The Officer directed to occupy the old City and Fort of Gwalior reported that the enemy still held the Fort, and had fired on him when he approached it.

The information therefore of Scindiah's Agent that the Fort was evacuated was incorrect.

As it was now night, I directed the Fort to be invested as closely as possible from the old City, and the Lushker; and the Officer Commanding the Cavalry at the Phool Bagh, to complete the rest of the investment.

The next morning, the enemy again fired from the Fort on the Troops. Lieutenant Rose, 25th Bombay Native Infantry, Lieutenant Waller and a party of the 25th under his orders, with some of Scindiah's Police, burst open the main gate-way of the Fort, and surprizing the other gates before the Garrison, a party of fanatical Artillerymen, Mussulmans, could shut them, reached an arch-way on which the Rebels brought a gun to bear; Lieutenant Rose and his party got through the arch-way unscathed by the fire of the guns, and then engaged in a desperate and hand to hand combat with the Rebels, who defended the narrow street leading into the Fort. But the determined gallantry of Lieutenant Rose, and of the Soldiers of the 25th aided by Lieutenant Waller, who climbed with a few of his men on the roof of a house and shot the gunners, carried all before them; they took the Fort and killed every man in it. But the gallant leader Lieutenant Rose who has been twice specially mentioned by me for good and gallant conduct, fell in the Fort, mortally wounded, closing his early career by taking the Fort of Gwalior by force of arms.

Tantia Topee's character is a singular anomaly; he gives proof of great moral courage in undertaking the execution of the daring and important plans which he forms, but his nerve fails him in the combat which is to decide their success. Thus he planned the successful conspiracy to overthrow Scindiah's power. But as at "Kooneh" and the "Betwa," his flight was too early to be excusable, and too precipitate to be dignified.

Abandoning the defence of Gwalior, whilst his Troops were still fighting, Tantia Topee, with a considerable body of Cavalry and Infantry, attempted to retreat Southwards by the road from Gwalior to Puniar and Goonah; but learning that Puniar was occupied by Major Orr's Force, he went to the Residency, where the rest of the Rebel Army joined him in their retreat from Gwalior.

The Residency was to have been occupied by Colonel Riddell, but reports from that Officer showed that the difficulty of crossing the ford across the river "Chumbul," at Dhalpoor, where he had arrived on his road from Agra to Gwalior rendered it impossible that his Force could reach the Residency in time to invest Gwalior; a part of his Force, two squadrons of Meade's Horse, arrived at Morar the day I left it for "Kotah-ka-Serai," as an escort to Scindiah. I left the two squadrons there to reinforce Brigadier General Napier, for the defence of Morar, and the pursuit Captain Meade volunteered to accompany me as acting Aide-de-Camp; his zeal and knowledge of the country rendered him of great use to me during the operation.

I sent an express to Brigadier General Napier, at the Morar Cantonments requesting him to pursue the enemy as far, and as closely as he could. The enclosed report from that Officer shows how gallantly, and successfully he and his Troops carried out that very important service. Twenty-five pieces of Artillery were the fruits of his most able pursuit and the total dispersion of the enemy.

Legislative Council of India.

THE 2ND APRIL 1859.

THE following Bill was read a second time in the Legislative Council of India on the 26th March 1859, and was referred to a Select Committee who are to report thereon after the 6th of June next :—

A Bill to regulate the appointment, employment, and dismissal of Village Watchmen in the Territories under the Government of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate by enactment the administration of the rural police; It is enacted as follows :—

Number of village watchmen.

I. In default of any special rule or custom, the requisite number of village watchmen shall be held to be one watchman for every hundred houses. Where villages are small and scattered so that one man cannot watch one hundred houses, the number of watchmen relatively with the number of houses may be increased by the Magistrate with the approval of the Commissioner; provided always that a watchman shall not be appointed to fewer than sixty houses.

Nomination of village watchmen.

II. The nomination of village watchmen shall rest with those who have heretofore nominated them, whether Zemindars, Gomastahs, or village headmen, or villagers. If they fail to nominate on the requisition of the Magistrate, or if their nomination shall be disapproved by the Magistrate, and shall not be cancelled on requisition by the Magistrate, the Magistrate shall nominate, and his nomination shall be final.

Responsibility of appointing or paying watchmen, if disputed, by whom to be determined.

III. If it be disputed with whom the responsibility of appointing, or of paying a village watchman lies, the Magistrate, after hearing all the parties concerned, shall determine. The decision of the Magistrate shall be open to appeal within thirty days to the Commissioner, whose decision shall be final.

Remuneration of watchmen.

IV. The proper pay of a village watchman shall be held to be not more than five, and not less than three Rupees per mensem. Whatever has been the nature of the remuneration of a watchman, whether by land, or money, or clothes, or grain, the nature of such remuneration shall not be changed without the consent of the payers, but the Magistrate shall encourage payment in money, and whatever the nature of the remuneration, the total value of the same shall not be less than three Rupees per mensem for each watchman.

If remuneration falls short of three Rupees per mensem.

V. If the sum hitherto paid by the inhabitants of a watchman's beat does not amount to three Rupees per mensem, the Magistrate may cause the parties responsible to make good that sum, or may amalgamate such watchman's beat with the beat of another watchman or other watchmen, and make the pay of the watchman dispensed with payable to such other watchman or to such other watchmen in such portions as may appear proper. The decisions of a Magistrate under this Section shall not be appealable by right to the Commissioner, but the Commissioner shall have authority to call for the Magistrate's proceedings in any such cases in which he may see cause to interfere, and to pass such orders as he may deem proper.

Punchayet.

VI. In places where the village watchmen are paid by the inhabitants, circles of villages shall be formed comprising about one thousand houses, and in every circle there shall be a Punchayet of five respectable persons, to be elected every third year by the inhabitants. If any member of a Punchayet shall die, or resign, or become disqualified, his place shall be filled up by the election of another person by the inhabitants.

Assessment of cess.

VII. The Punchayet shall determine the cess necessary for the payment of the village watchmen, and shall cause a statement of the sum payable by each inhabitant to be prepared and forwarded to Thannah where it shall be hung up in a conspicuous place for fifteen days. Any party dissatisfied with the assessment imposed on him may appeal to the Magistrate whose order shall be final.

VIII. Clause 1. The Punchayet shall collect the tax monthly, and pay it to the watchmen, and forward their receipts to the Darogah. If any party fail to pay the tax assessed on him for the period of two months, the Punchayet shall, through the Darogah, report the defaulter to the Magistrate. The Magistrate shall issue a summons to the defaulter to appear in person before him, and show cause why attachment should not issue. Should the party fail to appear, or appearing, fail to show good cause for not paying the arrear, the Magistrate shall, by warrant to the Darogah of Police to whom such watchman may be subordinate, cause the amount due, with costs, to be recovered by distress and sale of any goods and chattels belonging to or found on the premises of the defaulter.

Collection of tax.

Clause 2. Or if, by reason of the defaulter being an absentee land-holder, the realization of the arrear by means of summons and attachment is impracticable, it shall be competent to the Magistrate to call on the Collector to levy the arrear, and the Collector shall levy the sum called for by the Magistrate as he would levy an arrear of revenue due by such absentee land-holder. There shall be no appeal of right from the orders of a Magistrate under this Section, but they shall be subject to the review of the Commissioner as provided for in Section V.

If defaulter be an absentee land-holder.

IX. It shall be lawful for a Magistrate, when he may consider it conducive to the efficiency of the Police, to dispense with the appointment of one or more watchmen, and to cause the money leviable as the pay of the watchman or watchmen dispensed with to be paid to another watchman with a view to the increase of the pay of such watchman, and to his appointment as a head watchman.

Appointment of one or more watchmen may in certain cases be dispensed with.

X. It shall be lawful for a Magistrate, whenever he may consider it needful to collect the watchmen of several contiguous villages or beats in order to the establishment of a watch-post, and to make one of the watchmen so collected head of the watch-post, and to place several contiguous villages or beats under such head watchman, and to make such head watchman and the watchmen placed under him, answerable for the peace of all the villages or beats included in the tract of country under such watch-post.

Magistrate may collect watchmen of several villages to form a watch-post.

XI. Should the parties responsible for the appointment of a watchman desire the removal of an incumbent, and the appointment of a another watchman in his place, they shall apply to the Magistrate, either through the Darogah of Police, or direct, and the Magistrate shall comply with their request, or reject the application, as he may think proper, and his order shall be final. It shall be competent to a Magistrate, whenever he may think it necessary, to dismiss a village watchman from employment, and to direct the parties responsible, to appoint another watchman in the room of the watchman dismissed, and his order shall be final.

Removal of watchmen.

XII. Any village watchman who may be convicted before a Magistrate of any wilful neglect or misconduct in the discharge of his duty as a Police Officer, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty Rupees, or to imprisonment with or without hard labor for a period not exceeding one month, or to both, provided that he shall not be so liable if he shall have been punished for the same act as a criminal offence. Provided further that punishment for neglect shall not bar prosecution for a criminal offence should it be found that a village watchman, besides neglecting his duty as a watchman, has committed a criminal offence.

Punishment for watchmen guilty of neglect or misconduct.

XIII. It shall be lawful for a Magistrate to cause such a percentage from the aggregate sum collected for the pay of watchmen as shall suffice to pay the Officers necessary to make the collections, conduct the disbursements, and keep the accounts, to be set apart for that purpose.

Renumeration of collecting Officers.

XIV. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate to assign any of his duties under this Act to a Joint, or Deputy, or Assistant Magistrate.

Magistrate may assign any of his duties under this Act to a Joint, Deputy, or Assistant Magistrate.

XV. It shall be lawful for the Government of Bengal, to appoint a Commissioner or Commissioners for settling the liabilities of landowners, headmen, villagers, &c., in respect to the appointment of village watchmen under this Act, and to vest such Commissioner or Commissioners with the powers of a Magistrate in that behalf.

Appointment of Commissioners.

Clerk of the Council.

But when such cancellation shall have been ordered on account of an fault or wrong on the part of the employer, or those for whom he is responsible, he shall have no right to any sum which may be received by Government for the Immigrant by way of stamp duty on engagement, or for redemption of industrial residence.

Every such election shall be intimated to the Protector of Immigrants, and shall by him be recorded in terms of Regulations to be framed under this Ordinance.

In such case intended employer to pay half expense of introduction.

Contract made in India may be transferred.

I wrote to Sir Robert Hamilton, informing him of the capture of Gwalior, and took the liberty to suggest with the expressions of my sincere respect and esteem for the Prince of Gwalior that the sooner His Highness returned to his Capital the better.

The next morning His Highness arrived at Gwalior with Sir Robert Hamilton, Major Macpherson, and his retinue. I received Scindiah with every possible mark of respect, and accompanied by all the superior Officers of the Forces, whose duties allowed them to be present, and all my personal and Divisional Staff had the honor of escorting His Highness to his palace in the "Lushker" with a squadron of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, and another of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, most honorable representatives of my Force. Our road lay through the long and handsome street which leads from the grand parade to the palace, which was lined by crowds of inhabitants who greeted Scindiah with enthusiastic acclamations.

The British Officers and Soldiers, as well as myself, were rejoiced to see that in restoring to his rights the brave and faithful ally of our Government and Country, we had also given back to his people a Ruler who to all appearance had won their affections.

Scindiah is not a man of words, or professions; but it is due to him to say that he has been unceasing in his endeavours to prove how deep his gratitude is to the Supreme Government of India for their most prompt, energetic, and successful efforts in his favor, and to the Troops who executed their orders in this respect. His Highness is always asking how he can prove those feelings to the Troops. To a communication that His Highness wished to present the Forces with six months' batta, I replied that I was extremely obliged to His Highness, but that it was quite impossible that we could accept pecuniary remuneration from a foreign Prince; that we had only performed a grateful duty, and were abundantly rewarded by having been useful to a Prince, who had so bravely and so truly stood by our Government, and their cause; His Highness, afterwards, expressed the wish to give a medal for "Gwalior" to the Troops engaged. I beg, without dilating on this matter, to leave it in the hands of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, merely observing that my only wish is, that the Officers and men should, if it be deemed right, have the permission to wear the medal; and that as regards myself, I would most willingly give up all claim to the decoration, if for the sake of precedent, or any other cause, my doing so would facilitate their obtaining it.

I have the honor to enclose; 1. A return of the
No. 4 Enclosure. Return of Casualties. casualties in the operations before "Gwalior."

2. A list of Officers and Soldiers specially men-
No. 5 Enclosure. List of Mentions. tioned, and mentioned, besides those specially mentioned in my report, for their conduct on the same occasion.

3. A return of the Ordnance captured before and
No. 6 Enclosure. Returns of Ordnance. in Gwalior on the 19th instant.

I venture to recommend most earnestly all the Troops engaged in the "Gwalior" operations, the Central India Field Force, as well as Brigadier Smith's Brigade of the Rajpootana Field Force, to His Lordship's most favorable consideration. It is not for me to describe the importance of the service which they performed. I am convinced that it is fully and generously appreciated by the exalted authorities, whose high attributions and experience constitute them the judges of what would have been the state of India, if Gwalior had remained for any length of time or worse still, permanently, in the hands of the Rebels.

But as the Commander of the Troops engaged, it is my duty to say, that although a most arduous campaign had impaired the health and strength of every man of my Force, their discipline, devotion, and courage remained unvarying and unshaken, enabling them to make a very rapid march in summer heat to Gwalior, fight and gain two actions on the road one at the Morar Cantonments, the other at "Kotah-ka-Serai; arrive at their posts from great distances and by bad roads, before Gwalior before the day appointed, the 19th of June; and on that same day, carry by assault all the enemy's positions on strong heights, and in most difficult ground, taking one Battery after another, twenty-seven pieces of Artillery in the action; twenty-five in the pursuit; besides the guns in the Fort; the old City; the new City; and finally the Rock of Gwalior held to be one of the most important, and strongest Fortresses in India.

I marched on the 6th of June from Calpee for Gwalior, and on the 19th of the same month the Gwalior States were restored to their Prince.

His Lordship having been pleased to permit me on account of my health to give over the command to Brigadier General Napier, I did so on the 29th of June.

TO THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Central India Field Force.
Camp Morar, 18th June 1858.

SIR,

On the 16th instant, the 2nd Brigade composed as per margin, when in sight of the Cantonments of Morar, was ordered by the Major General Commanding the Central India Field Force, to advance in eschellon, from the right, in support of the left of the 1st Brigade.

The Force was disposed as follows:—No. 18 Light Field Battery on the right, supported by Johnstone's Hyderabad Horse; in the centre, the Madras Sappers and Miners, and Wing of H. M's. 71st Highland Light Infantry, while on the left was a Wing of H. M's 14th Light Dragoons.

On approaching the right of the Cantonment, the enemy opened upon us from six guns, and I directed Lieutenant Harcourt, Commanding No. 18 Light Field Battery to engage them; an order which he had barely received when he was summoned to join the 1st Brigade.

My Brigade being then reduced to the Wing of Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry, the Right Wing of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, Madras Sappers and Miners, and 100 Horse of the Hydrabad Contingent, continued to advance on the enemy, who were retreating in large numbers, towards their right rear. At one moment there appeared a favorable opportunity to charge them with Cavalry, but the deliberation with which they moved led me to suspect that they were assured that they were protected by the ground in front of them, and I sent my Brigade Major, Lieutenant Maclachlin, and some Towana Sowars to examine it. The result showed that the ground was completely intersected with ravines, lined with the enemy's Infantry. I therefore directed Colonel Campbell, Commanding the Wing of the 71st Regiment, to throw it forward in skirmishing order, supported by the 14th Light Dragoons which was executed with great spirit by Major Rich on the right, who cleared the ravines on his front, leaving them filled with the enemy's dead, and relieving the Horse Artillery from much annoyance from their musketry.

I regret to say that this service was not performed without the loss of a very promising young Officer of Her Majesty's 71st, Lieutenant Neave, who was shot whilst gallantly leading his men to the ravines.

Colonel Campbell took two Companies of the 71st under Lieutenant Scott and cleared some ravines on his left and front, killing every man of the enemy that held them; after which he was directed to clear the top of a hill, where a party of Rebels held a Temple and some strong ground. This duty was thoroughly effected, and thirty of the enemy left dead on the hill.

Whilst this was going on a Troop of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons passed round the base of the hill, and cut up all the enemy who attempted to escape from it.

The protection of the left of the Force and the rear being placed under my especial charge by the Major General, I moved the remainder of the 14th Dragoons, and Johnstone's Hyderabad Horse towards the left to cover the rear, and to intercept the enemy's Cavalry, who showed some disposition to move in that direction; but on observing our Cavalry they rapidly disappeared through the hills to the South of Gwalior.

The front being now quite clear of the enemy, I withdrew my Brigade to the shelter of the Cantonments leaving by the Major General's order, the Hyderabad Cavalry to watch the flank and rear, until the whole of the baggage should come up. Towards sun-set I withdrew them to a village on the left of the Cantonments where they were quartered for the night.

The conduct of the whole of the Troops under my Command was excellent. Their perfect steadiness while under the fire of the enemy's Batteries and the gallantry with which they advanced to clear the ravines were deserving of the Major General's warm commendation.

The 71st dashed into the ravines and encountered the enemy hand to hand; the nature of the wounds received was evidence of the desperate resistance made by the Rebels, who were almost entirely composed of Scindiah's mutinous Sepoys.

I beg particularly to recommend to the Major General's notice Colonel Campbell, Commanding Her Majesty's 71st, for the Soldier-like way in which his Regiment was brought into action; also Major Rich, Her Majesty's 71st, for the spirited manner in which he cleared the ravines in his front. Also Lieutenant Scott, 71st, Commanding the party which scoured the ravines on the left, and cleared the hill occupied by the enemy, which was of considerable height and difficult of access. The enemy held a very strong position on the top of the hill in the Temple, with rocks and broken ground to its rear. Also Major Scudamore, Commanding the Right Wing of Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, which was skilfully handled and ready for every call for its services. His skirmishers attacked and destroyed many of the enemy in the ravines.

Lieutenant Gowan, with his Troop, most efficiently cut off the enemy's retreat from the hill, and destroyed many of them.

Lieutenant Gordon, of the Madras Sappers, kept pace with the 71st and joined in the attack on the ravines.

Also Lieutenant Johnstone and the Hyderabad Cavalry, whose conduct gave me very great satisfaction; they continued exposed to the fierce heat of the day, without food or shelter, for many hours after the rest of the Troops had withdrawn to the Cantonments.

The attention of the Medical Officers to the wounded, was, as I have always seen it, most exemplary.

I beg particularly to recommend to the Major General my Acting Brigade Major, Lieutenant Maclachlin, Adjutant of the Bombay Artillery, whose services were placed at my disposal. His activity, zeal, and intelligence have assured me that he is a most valuable Officer.

Also Lieutenant Bonns, of the Engineers, Acting Assistant Quarter-Master General of the 2nd Brigade, who rendered most zealous and efficient assistance.

The 1st Troop Horse Artillery and No. 18 Light Field Battery having been withdrawn from my Brigade early in the day, I am unable to say any thing in regard to their services, which were rendered under the Major General's own observation.

Jemadar Ishan Khan, with 20 Sowars of Towana Horse, made himself very useful to me.

I beg to enclose a return of killed and wounded.

I have, &c.,

No. 25 OF 1858.

Camp before Gwalior, dated 25th June 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of Major General Roberts, Commanding Rajpootana Field Force, that on the morning of the 17th instant I marched by Major General Sir H. Rose's order from Antree through the pass to Kotah-ka-Serai, which lies between three and four miles South-east of Gwalior.

I had reconnoitred the pass the evening before, and occupied the difficult points by strong pickets and posts, so that had there been any enemy I should have been prepared.

I met with no opposition whatever, and reached Kotah-ka-Serai at 7½ A. M. Upon my arrival I saw the enemy occupying the heights in front, and between me and Gwalior.

I had orders from Sir Hugh Rose to halt at Kotah-ka-Serai and communicate with him, but as the enemy appeared determined to attack me, and being also hampered with a large quantity of baggage, and Kotah-ka-Serai not being a secure position, I thought it best to take the initiative. I therefore collected my baggage in and near the Fort of Kotah-ka-Serai, placing it under a Troop of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, and a squadron of Lancers, and as strong a guard of Infantry as I could afford. I reconnoitred the ground in front, and found it to be most difficult, intersected with nullahs and impracticable for Cavalry. About 1,500 yards from Kotah-ka-Serai, their guns were in position, and their line ran all under the hills across the road to Gwalior.

This I ascertained by advancing with my reconnoitring party to within about 4 or 500 yards when they opened so heavy a fire upon us that we were obliged to retire, not however before I had made myself acquainted with the nature of the ground, and thus enabled myself to avoid being intangled in the nullahs above mentioned.

I advanced the Horse Artillery and soon silenced their guns; after three or four rounds they began to retire, and I sent my Infantry across the broken ground giving the command of that branch to Lieutenant Colonel Raines, Commanding Her Majesty's 95th (the senior Infantry Officer present,) with orders to follow up the enemy as far as he thought advisable. I have called upon Lieutenant Colonel Raines to furnish me with a report, which I enclose as I consider it gives a detailed and accurate account of the proceedings of the Infantry part of the Force from the time I gave him the order to advance up, to the time of occupying the heights above Gwalior. I have only to add that I cannot speak too highly of the steady and Soldier-like conduct of both Officers and men of the 10th Native Infantry, who have given me the most prompt and ready assistance upon all occasions, and of Officers and men of the 95th Regiment, who though exhausted from fatigue and want of food, stormed the heights under a burning sun and a heavy fire.

In consequence of threatening movements of the enemy as well as the unprotected position of the baggage, I was obliged to send back (to reinforce the Troops already left at Kotah-ka-Serai) one Troop of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, one Division Horse Artillery and two Companies 10th Native Infantry.

From the nature of the ground already described I was unable for some time to bring my Cavalry into action, and merely retained them as support and escort to the Troop Horse Artillery under Lieutenant Colonel Blake, but having advanced to the head of the pass, partially occupied the heights above the plain near the Phool Bagh and placed Infantry to guard the entrance of the defile, and protect a retreat, I thought I might venture to advance with a Squadron of the 8th Hussars, and the two divisions of Horse Artillery remaining at my disposal, and one Troop of the 1st Lancers, sending back for the remaining Troop of the 1st Lancers as a support.

I then ordered the Squadron of Hussars to charge to the front which they did most gallantly, passing right though the enemy's Camp carrying every thing before them.

Upon the return of the Squadron both Officers and men were so completely exhausted and prostrated from heat, fatigue, and great exertion they could scarcely sit on their saddles and were for the moment incapable of further exertion. This was a critical moment as the enemy were collecting both on the front and flanks, but the 95th had arrived near the guns, and the 8th Hussars, in spite of their fatigue, formed to their front in line, and in order to show a greater front I formed them in single ranks. In the mean time the remaining Troop of the 1st Lancers had arrived to support, as second line. I then retired the Cavalry by alternative Troops, protected by the Artillery, during which movement both arms showed the greatest steadiness and entered the ravines, under the protection of the Infantry posted there. I then took up a position for the night on the heights, sending for my baggage and placing it in tolerable security, in a sort of amphitheatre formed by a portion of the hills we occupied. I guarded both ends of the defile with strong pickets of Infantry, in strong positions formed by the ground, and also threw out strong pickets both Cavalry and Infantry towards the heights on our right; the left of our position was defended against any sudden assaults by a steep bank and a canal.

Having now finished my first day's proceedings, I have only to add the names of some Officers, who gave me most valuable assistance.

Lieutenant Colonel Hicks, Commanding detail, who was most energetic and always in the front, both in reconnoitring and in the charge, and it was at his suggestion that I ordered the charge of the Squadron of the 8th Hussars through the enemy's Camp, which, although venturous, succeeded well with the enemy we had to deal with.

Captain Sir John Hill, acting as my Brigade Major, who in spite of the intense heat and great fatigue, was always at my side, ready to give me assistance and carry out my instructions; also Captain Bolton, Acting Quarter-Master General to the Brigade, who in addition to the performance of his own peculiar duties, which, under the circumstances, were arduous and trying in the extreme, gave me most efficient assistance. Lieutenant Williams, Sub-Assistant Commissary General attached to the Brigade, who is always most active, energetic and indefatigable in the discharge of his duties, but on this occasion, when the obtaining of any supplies were most difficult, in fact next to impossible, he never spared himself in endeavouring to overcome difficulties.

Captain MacMullen, 23rd Bengal Infantry, who volunteered to act as my Aide-de-Camp and gave me most valuable and efficient assistance.

Cornet Goldsworthy, Her Majesty's 8th Hussars, who also acted as my Aide-de-Camp, gave me most valuable assistance in carrying my orders under a burning sun, and over very difficult ground, and once at a most critical moment, viz, when I required Cavalry support upon the return of the Squadron of Her Majesty's 8th Hussars from their charge.

P. S.—I am much indebted to Officers Commanding Regiments, for their services to me during the day.

Extracts from Notes received from Brigadier Smith, subsequent to the receipt of his Report, dated 25th June, detailing the operations of his Brigade on the 17th June 1858.

"Two Companies of the 10th Native Infantry advanced with the two Companies of the 95th Regiment, to attack the enemy's entrenchments on the 17th June."

"Colonel DeSalis wishes to mention the zeal and intelligence evinced by Major Chetwode when in command of a detached portion of the 8th Hussars on the June."

"Lieutenant Jenkins, 8th Hussars, was also employed by me in conveying orders to bring up supports, which he executed to my satisfaction."

"While the Infantry skirmishers were feeling their way through the pass leading to Gwalior, their progress was checked for a time by the fire of two or three guns which the enemy had brought into the pass. Lieutenant Colonel Blake therefore proposed taking a division of his guns into the heights on our right, which was accordingly done, and the result was most successful by firing at low elevations round shot and shrapnell, were dropped on the enemy's guns near, obliging to them to retire precipitately to another position, and by thus advancing and coming into action on every occasion of their making a stand, they were at length fairly driven out of the pass, which was then made clear for the advance of our force."

From Lieut. Colonel Hicks, Artillery,

Commanding Field Force from Jhansi,

To Brigadier Smith,

Commanding Rajpootana Field Force.

Camp Morar, near Gwalior, 25th June 1858.

Sir,

As commanding the Field Force from Jhansi, in conjunction with your division, I have the honor to bring to your notice the good service done by Troops which you did me the honor to place under my command on the evening of the 17th on my personal report to you that a body of the enemy were collected at the gorge of the pass leading to the plain in the direction of the Phool Bagh.

2. Captain Forster and Lieutenant Morris, with a Company of the 95th Regiment, crowned the hill on each side, and with a shout opened fire: the horsemen immediately broke from under the hill: the Hussars led by myself and Captain Heneage charged with one Squadron, overcame and slew numbers, captured two guns, and continued the charge right through the Phool Bagh Cantonment, leaving bungalows and Camp equipage in our possession.

3. But we had advanced too far without any support, and on its arrival it was I believe reported that the Hussars were not fit for a second immediate attack.

Captain Heneage was certainly quite black in the face and unable to speak, although on his horse. It was a gallant charge, and I am sure you will with pleasure report to the Major General Commanding Central India Field Force the Soldier-like conduct and good service done by Heneage, Forster and Morris with their men.

4. Since the capture of Gwalior it is well known that in this charge the Queen of Jhansi disguised as a man, was killed by a Hussar, and the tree is shown where she was burnt.

FROM LIEUTENANT COLONEL RAINES,

Her Majesty's 95th Regiment, Commanding the Infantry,

TO BRIGADIER SMITH,

Commanding the Column of the assault on the enemy's entrenched position before Kotah-ka-Serai, and subsequent capture of the heights in rear, near Gwalior.

Camp before Gwalior, 18th June 1858.

10th Regiment Native Infantry.
1 Man severely wounded.
1 „ slightly „

SIR,

AGREEABLY to your order received about 8 o'clock A. M., on the banks of the stream, near Kotah-ka-Serai, I proceeded with two Companies of the 95th Regiment in skirmishing order to attack the Rebel entrenchments with supports, and the 10th Regiment Native Infantry in eschellon as a reserve. On nearing their breast-work they opened a brisk fire of musketry on both Corps along the line accompanied with round shot and shell as fast as they could load their guns. Seeing our approach many of them commenced to retire from their left, when the skirmishers from the 95th opened fire on them.

Her Majesty's 95th Regiment.
List of Casualties by the Action on the 17th June.
Lieut. I. N. Crealock, slightly wounded.
Private William Hall, dangerously, since dead.
„ Robert Dutton, severely.
„ James Suttle „
„ John Bird „
„ James Snaw slightly.

When within 50 yards of their works I ordered the skirmishers to advance at the double and charge, and on reaching their works I discovered their Infantry retiring up the ravines towards the left and right, and taking away the guns to our left. Here we were stopped by a deep ditch with 4 feet of water and the banks were so steep, that it was with difficulty that the men got over in single file, and by the time that the skirmishers had ascended the opposite bank, the entrenchment was completely abandoned, but we still found a small body, evidently their rear, extended, firing and retiring through the ravines and up the hills in disorder. The skirmishers with the greatest eagerness pushed on, and succeeded in shooting several of them.

On gaining the heights in rear of the encampment, during which time a Company of the 95th had swept round the base of the hill to the left, I observed that the enemy had guns, about 800 or 1,000 yards in front, on another hill about the same height, with Infantry and a large proportion of Cavalry. I sounded the halt and assembly, on which a fire of shrapnel was opened on the men. I then noticed on my immediate right, about 500 yards off, and which I afterwards ascertained was the road to Gwalior, about 100 of the Gwalior Contingent Cavalry, protected from our fire by a high embankment, and as I anticipated that they would endeavor to turn my right flank by a charge and thus cut me off from my reserve, I ordered the retire on the entrenchments, opening at the same time on them a sharp fire from the Enfields, and having our rear covered by a Company of the 10th Regiment in skirmishing order.

On reaching the entrenchment I found that Major Vialls, who commanded the reserve, was attacking the Gwalior Contingent Cavalry above alluded to, with two Companies of the 95th, keeping them in check and preventing them from advancing down the road, where they had brought a couple of 9-pounder guns to bear on us. In the mean time another gun of heavy metal judging from the distance of its range (1,200 yards), was brought into position on a high hill to our extreme left front, when immediately afterwards two guns of the Bombay Artillery were placed to silence the fire which considerably annoyed us.

Soon after this I received your orders to proceed up the road with the 10th in reserve, and on our advancing, the Gwalior Contingent Cavalry as well as the guns retired. After advancing along the road for about a mile, (with a deep nullah and a high embankment on our left, and the two Companies in skirmishing order in front and covering the ridges to our right) and until the skirmishers had entered on the plain of the Phool Bagh, large bodies of the enemy's Cavalry were observed as if preparing for a charge, and in such force, as to imperil the safety of the skirmishers. However (after being halted for an hour) I ordered the support up a hill, on cresting which I observed the Gwalior Cavalry in their red uniforms slowly advancing in skirmishing order up a broad ravine to our right, and about 200 yards in front of us. I immediately caused file-firing in line to be opened on them, and on discovering our position they instantly retired with the utmost precipitation, when you, Sir, directed the splendid charge of the 8th Hussars in pursuit. I immediately proceeded to support and follow them to within a quarter of a mile of the Cantonments, when by your orders I halted. A portion of the 10th Native Infantry during the advance supported the 95th, and a Company from each Corps was left to guard the narrow passes as we advanced.

During the halt and whilst the Cavalry were engaged in sweeping through the Cantonments, the enemy brought two guns into position on our left, one on our right, and two from the Fort opened fired on the 95th and a division of the Horse Artillery, immediately and close to us.

Having remained here for about half an hour you directed us to retire and take up a position on the heights in front of Gwalior for the night. We reached them about 7 P. M.

I have the greatest pleasure in bearing witness to the extreme endurance (specially of the 95th) and gallant conduct of both Corps. They had been out the whole day without a meal under a burning sun, and had marched at 2. A. M. that morning from the previous encampment ground, a distance of 10 miles, and although the list of casualties in my Regiment actually occurring from the enemy's fire (and which with that of the 10th is copied in the margin) presents a small proportion of 1 man killed and 1 Officer and 4 men wounded. I regret to say that 84 cases of coup-de-soleil occurred, 1 of which proved fatal on that day, exclusive of 5 Officers dangerously, but not fatally attacked.

In conclusion, I beg respectfully to bring to your notice the valuable assistance I received from Major Vialls, Major Massey and Lieutenant and Adjutant Sexton, who acted as my Staff Officer during the day; also from Lieutenant Crealock who so ably headed his Company, and assisted in the reconnoissance previous to the attack, and from Captain Pelley, Commanding the 10th, who with his men greatly contributed and assisted towards our success in the action.

FROM

BRIGADIER GENERAL R. NAPIER, C. B.,

Comdg. 2nd Brigade C. I. F. F.

To

THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,

Central India Field Force.

Camp Jowra-Alipore, 21st June 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE to report that I received at 5½ A. M. on the 20th June, orders to pursue the enemy, with the details shown in the margin, which marched within an hour and a half after receipt of order. The Fort which had been reported in our possession, opened upon us, as we came within range, and obliged us to make a detour to reach the Residency.

CORPS.	European Officers.	Native Officers.	N.C.O. & Rank and File.
1st Troop Horse Artillery,	4	0	95
14th Light Dragoons,	2	0	60
3rd Light Cavalry,	7	5	92
Hydrabad Cavalry,	2	2	243
Meade's Horse,	3	3	174
Total,	18	8	664

We arrived late in the evening at Sumowlee, having marched about 25 miles.

The enemy were reported to have 12,000 men and 22 guns, and to have marched from Sumowlee to Jowra-Alipore, in the forenoon.

We were too tired to go beyond Sumowlee, the heat of the sun having been terrific; so we rested until 4 o'clock A. M. on the 22nd, then advanced on Jowra-Alipore, where we found the enemy strongly posted with their right resting on Alipore, guns and Infantry in the centre, and Cavalry on both flanks.

A rising ground hid our approach, and enabled me to reconnoitre their position, in security, from a distance of 12,000 yards. They opened several guns on the reconnoitring party, disclosing the position of their Artillery, which I had not previously been able to discover.

The ground was open to the enemy's left, and a careful examination with the telescope left me assured, that there was nothing to check the advance of my Artillery.

I directed Captain Lightfoot to take up a position, about 600 yards from the enemy's left flank, and enfilade their line; and to act afterwards as circumstances might dictate.

Our column of march was the most convenient formation for attack; Abbott's Hydrabad Cavalry in advance; Lightfoot's Troop of Horse Artillery, supported by Captain Prettijohn's Troop of 14th Light Dragoons and two Troops 3rd Light Cavalry, under Lieutenant Dick, with a Detachment of Meade's Horse under Lieutenant Burtton in reserve. When the Troops came into view of the enemy after turning the shoulder of the rising ground, the whole were advanced at a gallop, and as soon as the Artillery had reached the flank of the enemy's position, the line was formed to the left, and the guns opened on the enemy at a distance of 600 yards.

After a few rounds the enemy's guns were silenced and a rapid thinning and wavering of their ranks took place. Captain Lightfoot limbered up, and advanced at a gallop; and Captain Abbott with his Hydrabad Cavalry charged at the same moment.

The movement was instantaneously followed by the rest of the Cavalry, and the whole of the little force, swept through the enemy's Batteries and Camp, and past the villages into the open plain, driving before them, and cutting down the Rebels for several miles. Detachments of the Cavalry charged a body of the fugitives on the right, and cut up many of them.

Wherever there was a body of the enemy collected in front, Lightfoot's guns opened and dispersed them. A party of their Cavalry made a move to our left rear, as if to cut off the baggage, but on perceiving a body of the Hydrabad Cavalry, left to cover the road to the rear, and being themselves threatened by a party of the 3rd Light Cavalry from our left, they retreated rapidly out of sight.

We had now advanced about six miles from our first point of attack; the enemy were dispersed in every direction throwing away their Arms; 25 guns had been captured, and were lying broad cast over the plain; men and horses were exhausted and it was necessary to retrace our steps.

The villages in our rear were still full of the enemy, who were cutting up our Camp followers, and firing on all who passed within range; two (2) guns and a party of Abbott's Cavalry were sent to clear them out, which was effected by the fire of the guns, and by parties of dismounted Cavalry, with their swords and carbines.

Besides the guns, a considerable quantity of ammunition and elephant, tents, carts, and baggage fell into our hands.

Never was the rout of an army more complete. It is difficult to estimate the number of the enemy killed, but I believe between 3 and 100. The villagers say 500, but the escape of many was facilitated by the villages into which our Cavalry could not follow them.

It is with great pleasure that I bring to your notice, the excellent conduct of the Troops of all arms under my command. Nothing could excel their cheerful endurance of the fatigue, and the intense heat of the march.

Their good discipline has only been equalled by the courage with which they charged such a superior force.

Many occasions arose when it was necessary for detached parties to act against the enemy's Infantry, and they were invariably met with the promptest gallantry. Captain Barrett's Troop of the 14th Light Dragoons arrived after the close of the action, and a party dismounted, and turned twenty of the enemy out of a garden killing every man.

Private Novell, of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, charged alone into the village, and killed one of the enemy under a very heavy fire, for which act of gallantry I beg to recommend him for the "Victoria Cross."

Dr. Mackenzie, of the 3rd Hydrabad Cavalry, being interrupted in his attendance on the wounded, by the fire of a party of the enemy from behind a wall and ditch, called on Subadar Soojub Khan, 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry, to dislodge them. Their position was a difficult one, but the Subadar, with one half his party, with slung carbines and the other with drawn swords, gallantly led the charge and succeeded in dislodging them, and killing every man.

I beg to recommend him for promotion to the "Order of Merit."

Trumpeter Charles Sappery, of Meade's Horse, killed a standard bearer, and captured a standard. Naib Russaldar Kurreeni Sing, 1st Troop, killed five of the enemy; Jemadar Jurtub Sing, Wordie Major, and Sowar Mahomed Bux (wounded) displayed great gallantry and slew many of the enemy. I beg to recommend these men for the "Order of Merit."

The way in which the Troops were led into action excited my admiration; more especially the superb manner in which Captain Lightfoot took up his position on the flank of the enemy, and the dash with which he followed them when broken.

Captain Abbott, Commanding Hydrabad Cavalry, distinguished himself highly, by his activity and intelligence generally, and the gallantry of his charge on the enemy's Batteries.

Those experienced Officers, Captain Prettijohn, H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons and Lieutenant Dick, 3rd Light Cavalry, were charged with the duty of supporting the guns, which they performed to my entire satisfaction.

Lieutenant Burlton, of Meade's Horse, had the honor of leading the Detachment of the Corps for the first time into action, and acquitted himself creditably.

To Surgeon Stewart, of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons, and the Medical Officers of the Force, I am much indebted for the attention to the sick and wounded.

It remains for me now to recommend most earnestly to your favorable notice my Staff Officers, Captain Todd, Brigade Major, and Lieutenant Maclachlin, Acting Assistant Quarter-Master General. I cannot speak too highly of their zeal and gallantry.

I beg to be pardoned if I have dwelt at too great length on the services performed by the men and Officers of the Force. The disposition of the enemy seemed very great, certainly not less than four thousand men were drawn up in line with a formidable Artillery to oppose us; and though the action was brief, many things occurred during a very short time, and the circumstances were such as to call for the exertions of every individual of the Force.

I beg to enclose a return of killed and wounded, and of ordnance captured.

I also opened a letter from Captain Abbott, Commanding 3rd Hydrabad Cavalry, bringing to notice several men of his Regiment for distinguished conduct, and I beg most strongly to second his recommendation that they may receive the Order of "British India."

I have, &c.,

No. 14 of 1859.

Fort William, the 21st February 1859.

His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to notify for general information the Financial measures which have been resolved upon, in order to provide means for carrying on the Public Service in the coming Year 1859-60.

On the 16th of January 1857, a Five-per-Cent Loan was opened, in supersession of the Four-and-a-half-per-Cent Loan opened on the 30th of August 1856, which had been found, in the then state of the Money Market, not to afford sufficient inducement to Capitalists. On the 30th of April 1857, the Financial position of the Government of India was excellent. The Annual deficit which had been experienced for several years, and which in 1853-54 had amounted to Rupees 211 Lacs, chiefly in consequence of the great extension in late years of Public Works, was reduced for the Year 1856-57 to the small sum of Rupees 18 Lacs, and this Financial restoration had been accomplished without the stoppage of those great works of material improvement of which India is so much in need. But as the Government had raised but a small amount in the way of Loan, after the closing of the Five-per-Cent Public Works' Loan in October 1855, the Cash Balances in India had fallen so low that the opening of an effectively drawing Loan had become indispensable.

In May 1857 the Revolt of the Bengal Native Army broke out, and it became necessary by adequate measures both in India and at Home, to provide the means of making those extraordinary exertions by which, under the blessing of Providence, the Indian Empire has been saved, and tranquillity has been restored.

The Government at Home undertook all the charges which had to be met at Home, both the ordinary Home charges of each year, and the extraordinary Home charges which the despatch to India of a large English Force, and the provision of an immense supply of the Munitions of War, (a vast quantity of which had been lost or destroyed,) rendered necessary: and it assisted the Indian Exchequer, at the moment of greatest pressure, by the remittance of a Million Sterling in Bullion. These objects were met by the issue at Home of temporary debentures to the amount of Eight Millions Sterling. The Government of India had the task of providing for the main part of the extraordinary War charges, which of course had to be disbursed in India; and for the Barrack Accommodation of many thousand additional Europeans; as also for the restoration of the Treasure which had been plundered; and this it had to do, when nearly all the Revenues of one of the Local Governments had been swept away.

The Five-per-Cent Loan, which would have been adequate for ordinary wants and in ordinary times, was found to be inadequate at this time of extreme pressure. Accordingly it was necessary to induce Capitalists to come to the assistance of the State, by an enhancement of the terms; and the Governor General in Council resolved to borrow at Six-per-Cent.

He was aware that this could not be done without in some degree affecting injuriously those Holders of the Paper of former Loans, who had not purchased for purposes of permanent investment: but this is the condition of all such Holders of Government Stock in all Countries, whenever a great exigency forces upon the State the necessity of raising a large sum in a limited time. The Governor General in Council, however, was desirous to save such Holders from loss, as far as that could be done consistently with the paramount object in view. Therefore, instead of simply opening a Six-per-Cent Loan, which would have brought down the price of Four and Five per Cent Paper to a low point, he threw open the existing Five-per-Cent Loan to subscriptions half in Cash, and half in Four-per-Cent Paper. This arrangement for many months answered the purpose, the market price of the Paper of former Loans was but little affected by the operation; and the expectations of Government were fully met by large and regular subscriptions through the medium of the then existing Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock, or those who purchased of them for the express purpose of subscribing to the Loan. From the opening of this conversion Loan to the present time upwards of Eight Crores have been paid in in Cash.

Latterly, however, whether from the partial exhaustion of such Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper as are able and willing to convert it, or to sell it at such a price as will induce the Capitalist to buy it for the purpose of conversion, or from some other cause, this conversion process has failed to afford the income which in the present temporary exigency is necessary for the Public Service. For many weeks past the subscriptions to the conversion Loan have fallen to less than half what they were; and they have shewn no prospect of improvement.

In this state of things, the Government of India, having the Public Service to provide for, had no choice but to adopt some change of measure by which it could hope to obtain the requisite funds before the Cash Balances should become exhausted. The Governor General in Council did not doubt that the rate of Six-per-Cent, which Government were paying, was ample Interest to induce the Capitalist to subscribe. But it was apparent that from some cause or other, the requisite funds, even at that rate, could no longer be procured exclusively through the medium of Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock. There was therefore nothing to be done but to look for subscriptions either through the medium of some other class, or from Capitalists generally.

In this state of things the Governor General in Council resolved, on the 26th of January last, to adopt a new arrangement in respect to the open Loan, from the commencement of the approaching Financial year. Accordingly he gave notice of the closing on the 30th of April next of the Four-per-Cent conversion arrangement. By this warning all remaining Holders of that Stock for whose benefit it may be to take advantage of that arrangement will still have full opportunity of so doing. Up to the end of the Current Commercial Year, Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper will still have it in their power, on subscribing to the open Loan, to obtain Six-per-Cent for the Cash subscribed.

In order to throw open the door, in some manner, to the general Capitalist, Treasury Bills, bearing a somewhat lower rate of Interest, were issued; and the Governor General in Council, looking to the very large extraordinary expenditure which must still remain to be incurred in the coming year, made application to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India for assistance in the way of Bullion Remittances from Home, to the extent of Three Millions Sterling.

It had been the wish of the Governor General in Council to await the answer of the Secretary of State which may be expected by the 1st of May; as also to allow time to show practically what may be expected as the result of the above-mentioned measures, before determining upon the course to be adopted on the 1st of May for the service of the coming year. But the late fluctuations in the Stock Market, though the manifest result of an unfounded and happily short-lived panic, and the representations of the Mercantile Community, who are of opinion that in the present state of the Market uncertainty as to the future Financial operations of Government would be a great evil, have induced His Excellency in Council to anticipate the determination of this question, and to announce at once the arrangement which it is his intention to make in India for the service of the Year 1859-60.

Reductions in the present enormous War Charges will be made as early and to as great an extent as may be safe. Measures will be taken for the permanent increase of the Indian Revenues as largely as may be consistent with sound policy. But the full benefit of these operations will not be felt in 1859-60.

The Governor General in Council hereby announces that the amount of money for which he will look to the Indian Market to be raised by Loan in order to provide for the service of 1859-60, is Five Crores of Rupees. When this amount shall have been realized, the Loan of 1859-60 will be closed, and no further Loan will be opened in India during that year.

In pursuance of the principle adopted on the 20th of July 1857, the Loan to be opened on the 1st May next will be a Five-and-a-Half-per-Cent Loan, to which subscriptions will be receivable in Cash or half in Cash and half in Five-per-Cent Paper.

If this Loan should not produce the required amount, the Governor General in Council will recommend to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State that the deficiency should be supplied from England. No Loan carrying a higher rate of Interest will be opened in India in the course of the year 1859-60, unless under instructions from the Home Government.

The issue of Treasury Bills, on the terms notified on the 26th of January 1859, will be closed on the 30th of April; a new issue of Treasury Bills will be notified from the 1st of May, bearing Interest at the rate of 2½ Pie per Centum per diem.

The sum which may be received upon these Notes will not be counted as a part of the Five Crores which the Government desire to raise by Loan.

Published by Order of His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council,

C. Hugh Lushington,
Secretary to the Government of India.

Notification.—The 4*th February* 1859.—The following Notice received from the Master of the Trinity House, South Australia, is published for general information :—

SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Macdonnell Lighthouse, Cape Northumberland.

The Bearings are Magnetic. Variation 5° East.

The Master and Wardens of the Trinity House, Port Adelaide, hereby give Notice that the "Macdonnell Light," on Cape Northumberland, in Lat. 38° 3' 0" S., long. 140° 37' 45" E., will be exhibited nightly on and after the 1st of January 1858, from Sunset to Sunrise.

The Lighthouse Tower, which is 28 feet in height, stands on a rocky headland elevated 103 feet above high-water mark.

The Light, which is catoptric and revolving, consists of three faces, and exhibits alternately every minute a White, Red, and Green Light, on an arc visible from Seaward from N. 74° E. to N. 66° W. round by South (by compass.)

The White Light may be seen from the deck of a moderate-sized Vessel about 18 miles, and from aloft at a distance proportionate to the elevation attained.

The Red Light will not be seen, under the most favorable circumstances, at a greater distance than 15 miles.

The Green Light will not generally be distinguished beyond a range of 8 miles.

During hot weather and N. E. Winds, when there is often much refraction, the White Light will frequently be observed at a great distance.

Vessels approaching from the Eastward should not bring the White or Red Light to bear to the Westward of W. N. W., and when the Green Light becomes visible on that bearing should steer more Southerly, in order to give the reef, which stretches to the Eastward of Cape Northumberland, a wide berth.

Vessels from the Northward should never sight the White or Red Light on a bearing more Southerly than E. ½ S., and on distinguishing the Green Light should immediately alter the course so as to give the outlying reefs, to the Westward of the Cape running parallel to the coast a mile from the shore, an offing.

In bad weather with the wind hanging from the Southward, it will be advisable to give the Cape such an offing as will enable a Ship to pass the Lighthouse without sighting the Green Light, and should the weather, which is occasionally the case, be thick, or it be blowing hard, it will be prudent not to sight the Red Light, which, under such circumstances, would not be seen at the distance first given.

The Coast to the North-Westward of the Cape soon becomes low, and owing to the heavy ocean swell which sets directly on the shore, should be very carefully avoided.

To the Eastward of the Cape is a deep bight, which offers no shelter from the prevailing winds and swell, or inducement to enter.

The Lightkeepers are provided with a nine-pounder carronade, and a Code of Marryat's Signals, which will be used to warn Vessels if observed to be standing into danger.

Master of the Trinity House,
South Australia.

Limitation of one year.
Pre-emption suits.

1. To suits to enforce the right of pre-emption, whether the same is founded on law or general usage or on special contract, the period of one year to be computed from the time at which the purchaser shall have taken possession under the sale impeached.

Limitation of one year.
Suits for damages, summary suits, &c.

2. To suits for pecuniary penalties or forfeitures for the breach of any Law or Regulation; to suits for damages for injury to the person and personal property, or to the reputation; to suits for damages for the infringement of copyright, or of any exclusive privilege; to suits to recover the wages of servants, artizans, or laborers, the amount of tavern bills or bills for board and lodging or lodging only; and to summary suits before the Revenue authorities regarding arrears and exactions of rent—the period of one year from the time the cause of action arose.

Limitation of one year.
Suits to set aside summary decisions, &c.

4. To suits to alter or set aside summary decisions and orders of any of the Civil Courts not established by Royal Charter, when such suit is maintainable; to suits to alter or set aside summary awards or orders by Collectors and other Officers of Revenue in disputes regarding arrears and exactions of rent—the period of one year from the date of the final decision, award, or order in the case.

Limitation of three years.
Suits for goods sold by retail, &c.

8. To suits brought to recover money lent or interest, or for the breach of any contract—the period of three years from the time when the debt became due or when the breach of contract in respect of which the suit is brought first took place, unless there is a written engagement to pay the money lent or interest or a contract in writing signed by the party to be bound thereby or by his duly authorized agent.

Limitation of 12 years.
Suits for immoveable property.

12. To suits to enforce the right to share in any property moveable or immoveable on the ground that it is joint family property; and to suits for the recovery of maintenance, where the right to receive such maintenance is a charge on the inheritance of any estate—the period of twelve years from the death of the persons from whom the property alleged to be joint is said to have descended, or on whose estate the maintenance is alleged to be a charge; or from the date of the last payment to the plaintiff or any person through whom he claims, by the person in the possession or management of such property or estate on account of such alleged share, or on account of such maintenance as the case may be.

Limitation of 12 years.
Suits for shares in joint family property and for maintenance.

13. To suits by the proprietor of any land or by any person claiming under him, for the resumption or assessment of any Lakheraj or rent-free land—the period of twelve years from the time when the title of the person claiming the right to resume and assess such lands, or of some person under whom he claims, first accrued. Provided that in estates permanently settled no such suit, although brought within twelve years from the time when the title of such person first accrued, shall be maintained, if it is shown that the land has been held Lakheraj or rent-free from the period of the permanent settlement.

Limitation of 12 years.
Suits to resume or assess Lakheraj or rent-free land.
Proviso if the land has been held rent-free from the time of the permanent settlement.

15. To all suits for which no other limitation is hereby expressly provided—the period of six years from the time the cause of action arose.

Limitation of 6 years applicable to all suits not especially provided for.

II. No suit against a trustee in his life time and no suit against his representatives for the purpose of following in their hands the specific property which is the subject of the trust, shall be barred by any length of time; but no suit to make good the loss occasioned by a breach of trust out of the general estate of a deceased trustee shall be maintained in any of the said Courts unless the same is instituted within the proper period of limitation according to the last preceding Section, to be computed from the decease of such trustee; provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent a co-trustee from enforcing, against the estate of a deceased trustee, any claim for contribution, if he shall institute a suit for that purpose within six years after such right of contribution shall have arisen.

Suits against trustees and their representatives for breach of trust, &c.
Proviso.

III. When, by any law now or hereafter to be in force, a shorter period of limitation than that prescribed by this Act is specially prescribed for the institution of a particular suit, such shorter limitation shall be applied notwithstanding this Act.

Shorter periods of limitation, if prescribed by particular Acts, to prevail.

IV. If, in respect of any legacy or debt, the person who, but for the law of limitation, would be liable to pay the same, shall have admitted that such debt or legacy or any part thereof is due, by an acknowledgment in writing signed by him, a new period of limitation, according to the nature of the original liability, shall be computed from the date of such admission ; provided that, if more than one person be liable, none of them shall become chargeable by reason only of a written acknowledgment signed by another of them.

Financial Department.

No. 14 of 1859.

Fort William, the 21st February 1859.

Notifications.—His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council is pleased to notify for general information the Financial measures which have been resolved upon, in order to provide means for carrying on the Public Service in the coming Year 1859-60.

On the 16th of January 1857, a Five-per-Cent Loan was opened, in supersession of the Four-and-a-half-per-Cent Loan opened on the 30th of August 1856, which had been found, in the then state of the Money Market, not to afford sufficient inducement to Capitalists. On the 30th of April 1857, the Financial position of the Government of India was excellent. The Annual deficit which had been experienced for several years, and which in 1853-54 had amounted to Rupees 211 Lacs, chiefly in consequence of the great extension in late years of Public Works, was reduced for the Year 1856-57 to the small sum of Rupees 18 Lacs, and this Financial restoration had been accomplished without the stoppage of those great works of material improvement of which India is so much in need. But as the Government had raised but a small amount in the way of Loan, after the closing of the Five-per-Cent Public Works' Loan in October 1855, the Cash Balances in India had fallen so low that the opening of an effectively drawing Loan had become indispensable.

In May 1857 the Revolt of the Bengal Native Army broke out, and it became necessary by adequate measures both in India and at Home, to provide the means of making those extraordinary exertions by which, under the blessing of Providence, the Indian Empire has been saved, and tranquillity has been restored.

The Government at Home undertook all the charges which had to be met at Home, both the ordinary Home charges of each year, and the extraordinary Home charges which the despatch to India of a large English Force, and the provision of an immense supply of the Munitions of War, (a vast quantity of which had been lost or destroyed,) rendered necessary: and it assisted the Indian Exchequer, at the moment of greatest pressure, by the remittance of a Million Sterling in Bullion. These objects were met by the issue at Home of temporary debentures to the amount of Eight Millions Sterling. The Government of India had the task of providing for the main part of the extraordinary War charges, which of course had to be disbursed in India; and for the Barrack Accommodation of many thousand additional Europeans; as also for the restoration of the Treasure which had been plundered; and this it had to do, when nearly all the Revenues of one of the Local Governments had been swept away.

The Five-per-Cent Loan, which would have been adequate for ordinary wants and in ordinary times, was found to be inadequate at this time of extreme pressure. Accordingly it was necessary to induce Capitalists to come to the assistance of the State, by an enhancement of the terms; and the Governor General in Council resolved to borrow at Six-per-Cent.

He was aware that this could not be done without in some degree affecting injuriously those Holders of the Paper of former Loans, who had not purchased for purposes of permanent investment: but this is the condition of all such Holders of Government Stock in all Countries, whenever a great exigency forces upon the State the necessity of raising a large sum in a limited time. The Governor General in Council, however, was desirous to save such Holders from loss, as far as that could be done consistently with the paramount object in view. Therefore, instead of simply opening a Six-per-Cent Loan, which would have brought down the price of Four and Five per Cent Paper to a low point, he threw open the existing Five-per-Cent Loan to subscriptions half in Cash, and half in Four-per-Cent Paper. This arrangement for many months answered the purpose, the market price of the Paper of former Loans was but little affected by the operation; and the expectations of Government were fully met by large and regular subscriptions through the medium of the then existing Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock, or those who purchased of them for the express purpose of subscribing to the Loan. From the opening of this conversion Loan to the present time upwards of Eight Crores have been paid in in Cash.

Latterly, however, whether from the partial exhaustion of such Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper as are able and willing to convert it, or to sell it at such a price as will induce the Capitalist to buy it for the purpose of conversion, or from some other cause, this conversion process has failed to afford the income which in the present temporary exigency is necessary for the Public Service. For many weeks past the subscriptions to the conversion Loan have fallen to less than half what they were; and they have shewn no prospect of improvement.

In this state of things, the Government of India, having the Public Service to provide for, had no choice but to adopt some change of measure by which it could hope to obtain the requisite funds before the Cash Balances should become exhausted. The Governor General in Council did not doubt that the rate of Six-per-Cent, which Government were paying, was ample Interest to induce the Capitalist to subscribe. But it was apparent that from some cause or other, the requisite funds, even at that rate, could no longer be procured exclusively through the medium of Holders of Four-per-Cent Stock. There was therefore nothing to be done but to look for subscriptions either through the medium of some other class, or from Capitalists generally.

In this state of things the Governor General in Council resolved, on the 26th of January last, to adopt a new arrangement in respect to the open Loan, from the commencement of the approaching Financial year. Accordingly he gave notice of the closing on the 30th of April next of the Four-per-Cent conversion arrangement. By this warning all remaining Holders of that Stock for whose benefit it may be to take advantage of that arrangement will still have full opportunity of so doing. Up to the end of the Current Commercial Year, Holders of Four-per-Cent Paper will still have it in their power, on subscribing to the open Loan, to obtain Six-per-Cent for the Cash subscribed.

In order to throw open the door, in some manner, to the general Capitalist, Treasury Bills, bearing a somewhat lower rate of Interest, were issued; and the Governor General in Council, looking to the very large extraordinary expenditure which must still remain to be incurred in the coming year, made application to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India for assistance in the way of Bullion Remittances from Home, to the extent of Three Millions Sterling.

It had been the wish of the Governor General in Council to await the answer of the Secretary of State which may be expected by the 1st of May; as also to allow time to show practically what may be expected as the result of the above-mentioned measures, before determining upon the course to be adopted on the 1st of May for the service of the coming year. But the late fluctuations in the Stock Market, though the manifest result of an unfounded and happily short-lived panic, and the representations of the Mercantile Community, who are of opinion that in the present state of the Market uncertainty as to the future Financial operations of Government would be a great evil, have induced His Excellency in Council to anticipate the determination of this question, and to announce at once the arrangement which it is his intention to make in India for the service of the Year 1859-60.

Reductions in the present enormous War Charges will be made as early and to as great an extent as may be safe. Measures will be taken for the permanent increase of the Indian Revenues as largely as may be consistent with sound policy. But the full benefit of these operations will not be felt in 1859-60.

The Governor General in Council hereby announces that the amount of money for which he will look to the Indian Market to be raised by Loan in order to provide for the service of 1859-60, is Five Crores of Rupees. When this amount shall have been realized, the Loan of 1859-60 will be closed, and no further Loan will be opened in India during that year.

In pursuance of the principle adopted on the 20th of July 1857, the Loan to be opened on the 1st May next will be a Five-and-a-Half-per-Cent Loan, to which subscriptions will be receivable in Cash or half in Cash and half in Five-per-Cent Paper.

If this Loan should not produce the required amount, the Governor General in Council will recommend to the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State that the deficiency should be supplied from England. No Loan carrying a higher rate of Interest will be opened in India in the course of the year 1859-60, unless under instructions from the Home Government.

The issue of Treasury Bills, on the terms notified on the 26th of January 1859, will be closed on the 30th of April; a new issue of Treasury Bills will be notified from the 1st of May, bearing Interest at the rate of 2½ Pie per Centum per diem.

The sum which may be received upon these Notes will not be counted as a part of the Five Crores which the Government desire to raise by Loan.

HEAD QUARTERS' CAMP
Lucknow;
2nd February 1859.

FROM MAJOR GENERAL SIR HUGH ROSE, K. C. B.,
Commanding F. D. A. and Field Forces,

TO MAJOR GENERAL SIR WM. MANSFIELD, K. C. B.,
Chief of the Staff of the Army in India.

Dated Gwalior, 22nd June 1858.

SIR,

In reporting to you, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief in India, my operations against Culpee, it is my duty, in justice to the unvarying devotion and discipline of the Troops under my Command, to state the new and very serious difficulties which beset them after leaving Jhansi. They had to contend, not only against the Rebel Army, fighting as usual with all the advantages on their side of very superior numbers, and knowledge of the ground, but they had to encounter also a new antagonist, a Bengal Sun, at its maximum of heat. This formidable ally of the Rebel cause was more dangerous than the Rebels themselves; its summer blaze made havoc amongst Troops, especially Europeans, who already exhausted by months of over-fatigue, and want of sleep, by continued night-watchings, and night-marches, were often exposed to its rays, manœuvring or fighting as at Kouch, from sunrise to sunset.

At Kouch, the Thermometer was 115°; before Culpee 118° in the shade, and on the march to Gwalior, it burst in an Officer's tent at 130°.

Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry, less inured than any other Corps, to Sun, because just arrived in India, suffered the most from it. Besides the twelve men, of a weak Wing of this Regiment, killed in their ranks by the Sun, at Kouch, a great many more had to go into the Field Hospital, sick from sun-stroke; and the whole Wing was more or less affected by it.

The number of Officers and men in the sick list, all of whom had to be carried, on the march, in Dhoolies, increased with each day's operations, and in proportion as I was deprived of fighting men, the difficulties of taking care of the sick, and transporting them in continued marches increased. Whilst my Force suffered so much from sun-stroke, they were deprived in a great measure of its antidote, water. Between Jhansi and Culpee, we found no streams; all was well water; the wells, which are neither numerous nor abundant, being of extraordinary depth, as we approached the Jumna, which increased the difficulties of obtaining water.

Forage also was as scant as water.

The scarcity of these two essentials hurt the efficiency of the Cavalry, and the Transport, at the very time that they were both urgently required—the first against the Rebel Cavalry, whose numbers and organization made them unusually enterprizing; and the latter, for the numerous and daily-increasing sick.

The scarcity of water had another disadvantage; it prevented concentration of my Force, when the strength of the enemy, and my difficulties rendered it necessary for a rapid advance against Culpee.

The Enfield Rifles had made up a good deal, for my inferiority in numbers; that advantage, however, no longer now existed. The heat and other causes, had had such an effect on the ammunition of the Rifles, that their loading becoming difficult, and their fire uncertain, the men lost confidence in their aims.

The above were some of the Military disadvantages of my position. They were increased by Political causes.

The inhabitants of the valley of the Jumna were the most disaffected my Force had yet met with. They had been under Rebel rule, and had never felt the influence of British Power since the commencement of the insurrection. Every village had its one or two Mahratta Pundits, who had made a most successful propaganda in favor of Nana Sahib as Peishwa. The villagers did good service to the Rebels, by betraying to them our Dâks and movements, as well as some carts, when their drivers, on account of the exhausted state of their cattle, could not keep their place in the Column, or sought water at a distance from the road.

The Rebels had another great source of strength. They fought their best because they were defending Culpee, their best fortified stronghold in Central and Western India and only Arsenal full of warlike stores and ammunition. Culpee, on the right bank of the Jumna, in the hands of the Rebels, prevented the concentration of the British Armies of the West, with those of the East of India; exposed to attack, from the line of the Jumna, the Army engaged in operations against the insurgents in the Doab, the line of the Ganges; Oudh; and Rohilcund; and so long as Culpee was Rebel, so long had it the enemy in their power to say that the East and West of India might be British, but that the pivot of its centre was theirs.

Whilst so many drawbacks weakened me, the enemy, physically speaking was, unusually, strong. They were under three leaders of considerable influence, Rao Sahib, a nephew of Nana Sahib, the Nawab of Banda, and the Ranee of Jhansi. The high descent of the Rance, her unbounded liberality to her Troops, and retainers, and her fortitude which no reverses could shake, rendered her an influential and dangerous adversary. The Rebel Army was composed of the Gwalior Contingent, the finest men, best drilled and organized, Native Troops of all arms in India; other mutinous Bengal Infantry Regiments, such as the 52nd; Rebel Cavalry from Kotah; and a chosen band of Valaitees, the whole reinforced by the Force of all Arms of the Nawab of Banda, comprising a great deal of mutinous Bengal Cavalry, of which the 5th Irregulars, dressed in their red uniforms formed a part. All the Sepoy Regiments kept up, carefully, their English equipment and organization; the words of command for drill, grand rounds, &c., were given, as we could hear, at night, in English.

The numerous difficulties of my situation above recited, were rendered more grave by a series of accidents which occurred in the 2nd Brigade, over which I had no control, and which embarrassed my operations.

I wished to follow up the enemy and attack him, as rapidly as possible, whilst still suffering under his reverse at Kouch. For this purpose I marched from Kouch, immediately after the action with the 1st Brigade, directing the 2nd Brigade to follow me, at one day's interval, on account of the scarcity of water and forage on the line of march.

A result of this advance was my occupation of the village and strong Fort of Hurdowi, one march from Kouch, which the enemy had abandoned in their retreat, and the surrender of its Chief, one of the most influential adherents of Nana Sahib.

But a further rapid movement to the front was prevented by Brigadier Stewart's reporting to me from Kouch, that he had been unable to march from that place, as I had directed, in consequence of a storm of rain having rendered the tents too heavy for Transport. The Brigade was delayed three days at Kouch.

Other tactical plans of mine were frustrated by similar obstacles.

My original instructions were to take Culpee. I was subsequently directed to make my appearance on some point of the right bank of the Jumna, to effect a communication with Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell, Commanding a Column of the Bengal Army, who was ordered to co-operate with me against Culpee from the left bank of the Jumna, for the purpose of receiving from him a supply of ammunition for the Siege of Culpee, to make good the large amount which my Force had expended in the Sieges of Chanderey and Jhansi.

I had written to Colonel Maxwell that I would be on the Jumna, a few miles below Culpee, on the 14th of May: this letter never reached him. The communications with this Officer, and the left bank of the Jumna were hazardous, and were only effected by Spies, in disguise, who conveyed our letters in the heels or soles of their sandals, or in quills in their mouths.

The information which I had collected on the road, and a reconnoisance made by Lieutenant Colonel Gall, H. M. 14th Light Dragoons, with his usual skill, confirmed all I had the honor to state in my report of the action at Kouch as to the enemy's elaborate lines of defences for the protection of Culpee on the main road from Kouch to that Fortress.

I could not have concentrated a force, on account of the want of water, against these defences. I determined, therefore, to turn them, to break off, to the right, from the high road from Oraye to Culpee, march to the Jumna, to the village of Golowlee, about 6 miles below Culpee, effect a communication from thence with Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell, and then my right resting on the Jumna, and covered by the flank fire of Colonel Maxwell's Batteries and Riflemen from the other bank of the Jumna, advance up its right bank, against Culpee. The Fort of Culpee, and the part of the Town, facing my advance, to be well shelled before the attack.

The Jumna is fordable at Golowlee; it stands in the Nullahs running down to the Jumna, just outside the dangerous labyrinth of ravines which surround Culpee.

My march to Golowlee was, with the exception of a few bad and unbridged Nullahs, over a table land, from which, during the Monsoon the waters shed into the ravines.

To mislead the enemy, and mark this movement, I directed the 2nd Brigade to close up to Oraye from Kouch, and following the high road to Culpee, take up a position at the village of Banda. This plan was foiled by the Brigade's losing its way, and instead of going to Banda, making a double march, and following me to Sucalee Their long exposure to the Sun, in this protracted march, caused a great many casualties, and the general prostration of the Brigade; Brigadier Stewart, and the whole of his Staff, forming part of the Sick List.

It was important to keep the appointment I had made with Colonel Maxwell to be on the Jumna, on the 14th instant. But the 2nd Brigade could not, on account of its sickness, co-operate with me; and it would have been hazardous to go too far away from it, weak as it was, especially as the enemy, aware, as I learnt, of the sickness in my Camp, and of our difficulties, had concentrated all their Cavalry, with Infantry and guns, from their bivouacs in the villages round Culpee, for the purpose of unceasingly harassing my force, in its separated state, by making attacks feigned and real; falling on parties going for water, wood, grass &c.; part of their tactics being to force my Troops to be exposed, at the hottest time of the day, in large numbers to the sun, which they knew was fatal to Europeans.

In giving assistance to my 2nd Brigade, I had to be careful that I did not reduce the 1st by too much exposure to Sun, to the same state of inefficiency.

To meet all these obligations and difficulties, I delayed one day at Etowa to give a rest to the 2nd Brigade at Sucalee, and detaching all my carriage, for the sick, to their assistance, and calling off the attention of the enemy from them, by a diversion in an opposite direction Lieutenant Colonel Campbell, who had succeeded Brigadier Stewart in the Command of the 2nd Brigade, brought it up to the 1st, on the night of the 14th instant, without molestation.

A few hours afterwards, I marched with the 1st Brigade, and Major Orr's Force for Golowlee, which I reached with no other opposition than an attack on the baggage by the Rebel Cavalry, concealed in a ravine; they were put to flight by a Troop of the 14th, which in anticipation of an ambuscade, I had sent to reinforce the rear guard. In this march we crossed the high road from Jullalpoor to Culpee. I directed Major Orr to drive in a strong picket of the enemy of all Arms, posted on this road between us and Culpee; halt afterwards on the road; cover the march of my rear guard to Golowlee; and then encamp at the village of Tehree, near the road, for the purpose of watching it, keeping up my communication with the 2nd Brigade, and assisting it, in its march, during the night of the 15th to Diapoora, a village near Tehree.

On my arrival at Golowlee, I despatched two of the Hyderabad Cavalry across the Jumna, to Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell, who was about thirty miles off on the other side of it, requesting him to move up to the River immediately.

I also ordered two Pontoon rafts, which I had brought with great trouble from Poona, to be floated, by sun-set, on the Jumna, for communication with Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell, and transport of the ammunition for my Force. The Rebels had destroyed or taken to Culpee all the boats on the river.

One of the most important of my instructions was now carried out. My Force had marched from Bombay to the Jumna, and had effected an union with the Bengal Army; the immediate result of which was a combined operation of Bengal and Bombay Troops against Culpee.

The advanced guard and centre of the 2nd Brigade reached Diapoora, on the morning of the 15th without opposition, but its rear guard, under Major Forbes, which I had strongly reinforced had hardly left Etowa, when it was vigorously attacked by about 1000 or 1200 Cavalry, besides Infantry, and Guns. The enclosed Report from Major Forbes shows how successfully he repulsed, aided by Major Orr, the enemy, with loss; and brought, safely, the long and helpless line of baggage, over difficult ground, to the Camp at Diapoora. I beg to mention, specially, Major Forbes for this good service. Having received at Golowlee a report that Major Forbes was hard-pressed, and hearing a heavy cannonade in his direction, I marched with the Troops, detailed in the margin, to his assistance. The urgency of the case alone made me undertake this operation, as I foresaw that the suffocating heat of the sun must strike down a large portion of my Force. I galloped on, and found that Major Forbes had reached Diapoora; but that the enemy, baffled in their attempt to cut off the rear guard, had taken ground to the left, and reinforced by three or four Battalions from Culpee, who were now swarming out of the ravines, was preparing, firing heavily to storm the village of Mutha, which Lieutenant Colonel Campbell had judiciously, occupied from Diapoora, for which I beg to make special mention of him. For if the enemy were in possession of Mutha, the Camp at Diapoora would no longer have been tenable. A large body of Cavalry, deployed across the road from Etowa to Muttra, were approaching in support of the Infantry. The Officer Commanding in Mutha, felt himself so hard-pressed that he had given orders for evacuating it. The enemy were pressing forwards. I immediately gave orders to the Troops who were retiring, to re-occupy the village, and hold it at any price, ordering up in their support, at a trot, the ½ Troop Horse Artillery, and the ½ of No. 4 Light Field Battery, a Troop of the 14th and the 3rd Hyderabad Cavalry, with two Companies of Hyderabad Infantry, and the 25th Bombay Native Infantry.

Captain Lightfoot placed the Artillery skilfully, on the left of Mutha, the accurate fire of their shrapnel and round shot broke the Rebel Cavalry, and drove them from their position in support of the Infantry, who still held the deep and twisting ravines in front of Mutha. I directed Captain Douglas, Bengal Artillery, Commanding Artillery Hyderabad Contingent, to post four 6-pounders on the right of Mutha, and burst shrapnel just over the heads of the Rebels in the ravines; this he did with his usual skill and devotion, under a heavy fire of the enemy's Riflemen so effectually, that the Rebels who were suffering from the admirable fire of Her Majesty's 71st, who still had some of the better sort of ammunition, retired from their ambuscades, the main body down the ravines, a few across country to Culpee, the 71st making killing practice at the latter, at 700 or 800 yards. I did not pursue, because fresh exertion in the sun, and in most difficult ground, would have been fatal to men, the greater part of whom had been marching all night, and engaged all day in fearful heat. My game was a waiting one, and I abstained carefully from playing that of my adversary, which was to disorganize and prostrate my Force by continued exposure to sun. I never yielded an inch to the enemy's attacks; but, on the other hand, husbanded the strength and health of my men for one great combat for Culpee. As it was, the intense heat made havoc amongst my Troops, Officers as well as men. Upwards of 200 out of less than 400 men of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry fell out of the ranks on the line of march, struck by sun. This gallant Regiment suffered as much as Europeans from sun, the constitutions of the men having been weakened by scurvy. Captain Wood, Assistant Adjutant General, fell struck, it was feared mortally, by sun-stroke; he recovered partially, and with the unyielding resolution which characterized the conduct of the Force, resumed his duties under fire. Having provided for the protection of Mutha, I returned with the detachments of the 1st Brigade to Golowlee.

The enemy, the same day, in order either to prevent me from giving support to the 2nd Brigade, or hoping to beat the 1st Brigade weakened by the reinforcements which I took from it, reinforced strongly their lines of out-posts in the ravines, and supporting them with guns, and masses, at a distance, menaced and kept up a heavy fire on my position; at Golowlee, from the Jumna to the village of Tehree, against which latter place they advanced with a thick chain of skirmishers.

Brigadier Stuart, Commanding the 1st Brigade, at Golowlee, and Captain Hare, Commanding at Tehree, met the attack with vigor; the former answered the enemy's cannonade so effectually with his mortars and guns, that they retired. Captain Hare repulsed the enemy's advance, and following them up took a tope of trees in advance of his position, in which they had concentrated a force. I beg to make special mention of both these Officers for their conduct on this occasion.

The enemy having shown signs of fortifying a high ridge opposite my right front, about half way between Golowlee and Culpee, I had a Battery of two 8-inch Mortars constructed in front of my right, which shelled with good effect the ridge and the ravines near it.

The next day, the 17th instant, after noon, the enemy again attacked the 2nd Brigade at Diapoora, and was repulsed, with loss as it appears by an extract of a Report from Lieutenant Colonel Campbell enclosed.

No. 2 Enclosure. Lieut Col. Campbell's Report.

Colonel Maxwell, leaving his column of the strength, as detailed in the margin, to march to a position opposite Culpee, came on to me at Golowlee, when I communicated to him my plan of attack, and gave him the requisite directions. Part of his Column had been detached from him, but was expected back.

I have already had the honor to state the outline of my plan of attack. Its details were as follows:

Colonel Maxwell was to construct, on the opposite bank of the Jumna, Mortar Batteries; one to shell, vigorously, the "Fort of Culpee" and blow up, if possible, the powder magazines in it, destroying also the defences of the Fort facing my position at Golowlee; another to shell the part of the Town fronting the same way, so as to prevent the enemy from holding these localities in force, when I attacked them; another Mortar Battery to be placed lower down the Jumna and opposite the village of Rehree. Rehree stands on the edge of the small sandy plain bordered by the Jumna, which is situated between the bell of ravines and Culpee. The enemy had a force, and a Battery in Rehree for the purpose of sweeping off my right column of attack, when it debouched from the ravines against Culpee, and preventing its occupying the "Sandy Plain" which was an important point for me, because, once in possession of it, my right flank resting on the Jumna, I could bring up all my Artillery through the pass through the ravines, and concentrate from the "Sandy Plain" a vertical and horizontal fire, on the part of Culpee which I wished to attack. I wished Rehree, the ravines and ground about it, to be destroyed, and made untenable by fire from the opposite bank.

These Batteries were to shell their "objectifs" for 16 or 20 hours before, and during the advance against Culpee.

Riflemen and Field Guns were to be stationed opposite the "Sandy Plain" on the other, the left bank of the Jumna and clear its right bank, and the "Sandy Plain" of the enemy.

I hoped to beat the Rebel Army in one decisive action. I felt certain that if I routed them, they would not, with the fate of "Jhansi" and "Sohaie" before their eyes, have the heart to shut themselves up in the Fort, and become the victims of an investment. At the same time, it was evident that to take by storm, such tremendous ground, if well defended, as the ravines surrounding Culpee, every yard of which was a dangerous obstacle and an ambush, was no ordinary operation, particularly under the various difficulties of my situation, previously enumerated.

Whilst, with my right, the 1st Brigade, I attacked Culpee by its left, I intended to make a strong feint against the right of the enemy, to be converted into a real attack, if feasible, with my left, the 2nd Brigade, along the Julalpoor and Culpee Road, Major Orr's Force in Tehree keeping up the communication between the two Brigades, and assisting both as required.

Fresh difficulties compelled me to modify this plan. Some few days must elapse before the Mortar Batteries on the left, the opposite bank of the Jumna, could be ready. The wells of the villages where the Hyderabad Field Force, and the 2nd Brigade were stationed, began to fail. The sick from sun-stroke could not have the water which was necessary for their treatment; Troop horses and baggage animals died from drought. My left, the 2nd Brigade, was exposed, sickly as it was, to constant attack. Concentration and abundance of water were the only remedies for these fresh embarrassments. On the morning of the 19th I brought the 2nd Brigade and Hyderabad Field Force from Diapoora and Tehree, to my Camp on the Jumna.

The enemy continued their tactics of harassing unceasingly my Troops, and forcing them into the sun; large bodies of Cavalry hanging on my position, retiring when attacked, but ready to fall on escorts, which I was obliged to send to a distance for forage, the want of which was the cause of serious losses. Out of 36 men of the 14th Light Dragoons, forming part of one forage escort, seventeen were brought back to the Camp in dhoolies after only two hours' exposure to sun.

This prostration of more than half a body of men by sun, after two hours' mere marching; and a similar amount of sun-sickness in the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, on the march to Mutha, give a correct estimate of the sanitary state of my Force before Culpee; that state was dangerous. The prostration of the whole Force had become a matter of arithmetical calculation. So many hours sun laid low so many men. I had, weakened by every sort of difficulty, to conquer the greatest stake in the campaign, against the greatest odds; half of my Troops sickly; every man of them ailing, to say nothing of a very numerous and daily increasing Sick List, crowded into tents, where the Thermometer stood 118° in the shade. To compare small things to great, myself and my Force were suffering under two evils, which have overcome the greatest Armies, under the most successful Generals, sickness and climate.

This view of the case was borne out by on official letter which I received at this time from Dr. Arnott, Superintending Surgeon, a Gentleman, who is distinguished by his cool and correct judgment.

The object of Dr. Arnott's letter was to make known to me the critical state of the health of the Central India Field Force. Dr. Arnott showed that the great proportion of it, Officers as well as men, beginning with my personal and divisional Staff were ill; that the health of all was so weakened by the continual hardship and over-fatigues of an arduous campaign, that it was fast succumbing under Sun; finally, that if the operations against Culpee were to be protracted, the whole Force might be prostrated.

I knew this and a good deal more. I knew that rom the commencement my Force had been engaged in operations on a scale, for which, according to Military Rules, and in former times in India, three or four times their number were considered necessary.

In a quiet Garrison to be on guard every other day is held to be too much for a Soldier's health; but my men, for months had been making the strongest physical exertions, with broken sleep, or no sleep at all, watching the camp in unknown and hostile districts, against surprize, half the night, and marching the other half to avoid sun; then often all day, without a rest, fighting, or on the rear guard, or on reconnoissances, or escorts, under a burning sun. The weakness of numbers of my Force did not allow of the Reliefs which according to the rules of the Service, are considered indispensable, even in Peace.

In my long march, from the West to the Centre of India, the hardships of the service were not lightened by good roads. On the contrary, country tracks and unbridged nullahs, with very few exceptions, were my communications. The consequence of this was that one deep Nullah, often, detaining the baggage, guns, and rear guard for hours, the Transport and Troops employed were exposed to all the bad effects of a protracted march in Sun. Bad roads and an unorganized system of transport and supply, were also the cause that the rations, notwithstanding the best endeavours of the Commissariat, were at times in arrears, and that the Troops, on those occasions performed hard duties, or fought all day on insufficient nourishment.

The evil of the numerical strength of the Force being far too small for the extent of its operations (the Government was unable to complete it to the strength intended, on account of the necessities of the times,) was increased subsequently by that strength being constantly diminished by casualties in the field, and by a large and daily-increasing Sick List. The details of Recruits who joined me, did not make good these vacancies; and it became necessary to weaken, still more, my Field Force, at a time when every man of it was urgently required, by leaving a Garrison at Jhansi, consisting of a Wing of the 3rd Europeans; six Companies of the 24th Bombay Native Infantry; half a Battery of 9-pounders and a proportionate amount of Cavalry, under Lieutenant Colonel Liddell, one of my best superior Officers.

I beg leave to apologize for the length of these details. But it is right that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief should know the reasons in their fullest extent, which compelled me to reinforce myself with part of Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell's Force; that His Excellency should know also, what the Troops, whom I had the honor to command, bore for the cause of their Queen and Country, and how they bore it. I have the satisfaction to report that these noble Soldiers, whose successes were never chequered by a reverse, with a discipline which was as enduring as their courage, never proffered one complaint. They fell in their ranks struck down by Sun, and exhausted by fatigue; but they would not increase the anxieties of their General, or belie their devotion by a complaint. No matter how great their exhaustion, or how deep their short sleep, they always sprung to my call to arms, with the heartiest good will. To think of yielding or retreating would have been ignominy.

All felt that physical strength might fail, but that the spirit and discipline of British Soldiers never could. They were often too ill to march, but their devotion made them fight. It is almost superfluous to add that Troops animated by so high a sense of duty were sober, orderly, and most respectful to their Officers. There was less crime in my Camp than in Garrison.

When I speak of springing to their arms, I ought to make special mention of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, for the admirable order and celerity with which their in-lying and out-lying picquets mounted on the frequent occasions when I turned them out, on alarms, or sudden attacks of the enemy. Their videttes and patrols also were always watchful and intelligent.

My first, and most important instructions were to take Culpee. There were two ways of doing so, either by one decisive action, or a protracted operation.

In either case, I required reinforcements. The fight for Culpee was sure to be an obstinate, perhaps a desperate struggle. I should have compromised the whole spirit of my most important instructions, and the success of the British cause in India, if I had attempted that struggle with a Force, whose health was such as I have described it, and had neglected to reinforce it with a portion of the gallant Troops, who, fresh and unimpaired in vigour, were only separated from me by the Jumna.

A check before Culpee in the advanced state of the hot season, and the rains close at hand, would have resuscitated rebellion throughout India, compromised the safety of Cawnpore, exposed to a flank, or rear attack the extensive line of operations of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, and lit the torch of rebellion in the Deccan, and the Southern Mahrattas, full of ill-disposed Arabs and Rohillas, and partizans of Nana Sahib, as Peishwa.

Under the influence of these important considerations, I directed Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell to send across the Jumna, to my Camp the re-inforcements detailed in the enclosed Report from that Officer; they arrived at my Head Quarters at Golowlee on the night of the 20th instant.

No. 3 Enclosure Lieutenant Colonel Maxwell's Report.

The Agent of the Governor-General for Central India, who, in his official capacity, accompanied my Force, was of opinion that the peculiar circumstances justified my bringing the reinforcements across the Jumna I was relieved, therefore, from any political objection to the step. The result proved its necessity. A day or two after the arrival of the reinforcements in my Camp, the Camel Corps, the principal reinforcement, saved, by their timely aid, my right, the key of my position, from a disaster, in a desperate and general attack on it, on the 23rd of May; and that success was followed by a conquering advance of my whole line from the Jumna to my extreme left; the total rout of the enemy, and the capture, next day, of Culpee, with all its Artillery and rich Arsenal.

* 682 Camel Corps.
2 Companies 88th Regiment.
124 Sekh Battalion.

On the morning of the 20th, I made a reconnoissance on the left bank of the Jumna, and selected a position for a Battery of 8-inch Mortars, at the village of Russulpoor, to batter the village of Rehree, &c., as already stated.

On the 22nd instant this Battery was ready, as well as one of four 10-inch Mortars opposite the Fort, and another of two 8-inch Mortars, opposite the Town and Cutcherry, in which latter place Rao Sahib, the Nawab of Banda, and the Ranee of Jhansi were reported to be stationed with a large body of Infantry and Guns. A Division of 9-pounder guns, and a Company of Her Majesty's 88th were stationed at Russulpoor against Rehree, and the "Sandy Plain" on the opposite bank*

The enemy were now exposed to my attack of their left flank from Golowlee and to a cross vertical and horizontal fire, into the same flank and their rear from the other side of the Jumna.

I had hardly returned to Camp, on the 20th, before the enemy again advanced, covered by a very thick chain* of skirmishers, through the ravines, and attacked with much determination my right flank. The pickets were immediately reinforced by four Companies of the 86th, two Companies of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, and three 9-pounders,

The reinforcements had not joined me; and the Mortar Batteries on the other side of the Jumna were not ready to cover my advance; the heat was at its maximum; and I had fixed the 23rd instant for the general attack of the enemy's positions and of Culpee. I did not therefore play the game of my adversary by allowing myself to be drawn into a general action under disadvantageous circumstances, but directed the pickets merely to maintain their ground, which they did steadily and gallantly, under the able command of Major Stewart, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, until the enemy were beat back.

The casualties in this day's partial affair were four Officers, and forty Rank and File. Lieutenant Jerome, 86th, severely wounded, and Lieutenat Forbes, 25th Bombay Native Infantry, struck down by sun, led their Companies with the same high Military spirit for which they have been specially mentioned on former occasions.

On the 21st instant, I received information that the Rebel Army intended to make a general attack on my position, at Golowlee at 8 A. M., the next day; that they had sworn a religious oath on the waters of the Jumna, a sacred River, that they would drive my Force into the Jumna and destroy it, or die, and that afterwards, they would move Southwards against General Whitlock; that large quantities of opium had been issued to the Troops for the purpose of making them fight desperately.

The positions occupied by my force were as follows:—

The right flank, facing the left of Culpee, rested on the ravines running down to the Jumna; in these ravines stood the village of Soorowlee, and Golowlee. Both these villages were connected and held by strong pickets and prevented my right being turned.

Half of the 1st Brigade, my right flank, was encamped perpendicularly to the Jumna, facing the belt of ravines, and the left front of Culpee, on the table land, immediately outside the belt.

The remainder of the 1st Brigade facing the continuation of the belt of ravines, which took a sweep outward, and the 2nd Brigade and Hyderabad Field Force, facing the table land or plain stretching, from Golowlee across the road from Culpee to Jullalpoor, were thrown back "en potence." This ground was adapted to the movements of Artillery and Cavalry.

My whole front was well guarded by strong out-posts with advanced sentries in the ravines and pickets.

On the morning of the 22nd I made the following disposition of my Troops to resist the expected attack.

The pickets on the right front of Her Majesty's 86th Regiment and 3rd Europeans were reinforced by the remainder of the 86th in skirmishing order; their right resting on the Jumna In support were three guns of No. 4 Light Field Battery, one Troop Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, a Troop of the 3rd Bombay Light Cavy. and four Companies of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, the whole under the command of Brigadier Stuart.

The pickets of the right centre were supported by the other half of No. 4 Light Field Battery, the remainder of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, with the 21st Company Royal Engineers, the whole under Lieutenant Colonel Robertson.

My left centre, facing the plain and the village of Tehree, was guarded by No. 1 Bombay Troop Horse Artillery, supported by two Troops Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons.

The Siege Guns, two 18-pounders, one 24-pounders and two 8-inch Howitzers, each of their flanks guarded by detachments of the 3rd Europeans, formed the centre, supported by the Wing of Her Majesty's 71st, one squadron of the 14th, a Troop of the 3rd Light Cavalry and Captain Field's Royal Artillery, 9-pounders.

The left was formed by the Camel Corps and No. 18 Light Field Battery, supported by a detachment of the Sikh Corps, the Hyderabad Field Force covering my extreme left

Two Companies Her Majesty's 88th whose strength, although they had only been two or three days in my

* This number includes, I believe, the Guns

Camp, was already much weakened by sun casualties and four Companies of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry were left in the Camp for its protection.

Shortly after 8 o'clock A. M., on the 22nd of May, the enemy who continued their tactics of forcing my Troops to fight in the heat of the day were reported, by continued messages from my Videttes and outposts, to be advancing in great force from Culpee, and its environs towards the belt of ravines on my right, and along the Jullalpoor and Culpee Road against my left.

Their left manœuvred so skilfully that they got under cover of broken ground into the ravines, without being perceived on the right; and Brigadier Stuart reported to me as I was posting the Siege Guns, that my right was no longer threatened

The enemy's right, consisting of 1,300 or 1,400 Cavalry, supported by several Battalions of Infantry, and Horse Artillery 9-pounders, continuing their advance along the Jullalpoor Road, brought their left shoulders up, when opposite the village of Tehree, in front of my centre, from whence they re-inforced strongly their pickets in the ravines opposite my right centre, and deploying their guns and Cavalry to the right menaced to out-flank and turn my right. I still felt the conviction that the enemy's real object of attack was my right; and that this ostentatious display of force against my left and the perfect stillness in the deep ravines on my right, were ruses to mislead me and induce me to weaken my right, by sending re-inforcements from it to my left, when they would have attacked with all their energy my right, endeavoured to take the Mortar Battery and the Camp, their right falling at the same time on my Left and cutting me off in combination with their left, from the Jumna

Whilst therefore I protected my left against a feint, which might become a serious attack, I did not take a man away from my right, and endeavored to catch the enemy in their own trap. I reinforced the pickets, on the left, in the first instance, with a squadron of the 14th Light Dragoons under Lieutenant-Colonel Gall, and the 3rd Hyderabad Cavalry under Captain Abbott, and afterwards directed these Troops to retire slowly before the enemy, obliquely across my front, in order to conceal my heavy guns, and draw the Rebel Cavalry into their fire. Captain Abbott was directed, after having completed this movement, to place his Regiment perpendicularly to my front, in order to be able to charge, with all his Horse, the right flank of the advancing Cavalry. The manœuvre succeeded partially; the Rebel Horse were enticed into the fire of the Siege Guns, which caused confusion and numerous casualties amongst them, killing, amongst others, the Commanding Officer of the 5th Bengal Irregulars. But the mutinous Cavalry adhered to their system of never allowing the British Cavalry to close with them, and kept carefully out of the way of the Hyderabad Horse.

To discover the enemy, who, I felt assured, were concealed in the ravines in front of my right, I had ordered a Company of the 3rd Europeans to be pushed some hundred yards forward in front of my outposts, into this network of ambushes. The 3rd Europeans, after advancing some distance, found the Rebel host crouched in their lair, and started them from it. In an instant, a serious and general engagement began along the whole line from the Jumna to the village of Tehree; the belt of ravines in front of my position, becoming enveloped in smoke and fire, the Sepoys rose out of their hiding places in thick chains of skirmishers, advancing and firing heavily, followed by large supports and columns en masse at a distance. All my guns opened on the advance of the Rebels; and the supports closed up to their threatened fronts.

I was watching the determined attack on the centre of my position, from the left of the village of Tehree, and at the same time their movements towards my right and left when I heard a slackening of our fire on the right, I instantly sent an enquiry to Brigadier Stuart, whether he would wish to be reinforced yb half of the Camel Corps; he replied that he should be very glad to have them; directly afterwards, Brigadier Stuart's fire became fainter and fainter, and that of the enemy heavier. I understood that my right, the key of my whole position, was in danger, and instantly proceeded myself to its assistance with the whole of the Camel Corps at their best pace. On the way, I met an orderly coming to me at full speed, from Brigadier Stuart, asking for further re-inforcements; I knew that they were required, for the enemy's fire now came from within our position. The Camel Corps, under Major Ross, having reached the foot of the rising ground, on which were the Mortar Battery and the three 9-pounders, and dismounted, went up the rise in line at the double, in perfect order.

The situation of Brigadier Stuart's position was very critical. Vollies of musketry, which killed or wounded every horse of my Staff but one, were coming over the crest of the rising ground from the Sepoy Troops, who had debouched, and were debouching, in great numbers from the gallies leading into the ravines, and were advancing rapidly, firing heavily with yells of triumph, their faces distorted by opium, and fury, across a small piece of level ground against the Mortar Battery and Guns, to which they were close. The guns had ceased firing. Brigadier Stuart was on foot at the guns, ordering the few Artillerymen, who served them, to draw swords and defend their guns, his lines of defence had been driven in, the men having been struck down to the ground by sun-stroke, where they lay, and the fire of the rest rendered insufficient by the defective ammunition of their Rifles. Without halting on the crest I charged down it with the Camel Corps, the dense lines of the mutineers who were ten times superior to us in number, the gallant Soldiers of Her Majesty's Rifle Brigade and Her Majesty's 80th Regiment giving one of those cheers which all over the world have been the heralds of British successes. The rebels wavered, turned and fled, pursued by the Camel Corps, with all their energy, through the ravines, where numbers of them were bayonetted or killed by musketry fire.

I ordered up rapidly the half of No. 4 Light Field Battery, from the Mortar Battery to the front, to a Knoll in the ravines, from whence they fired grape at the nearest Rebels, and round shot at the more distant masses which following the example of their front line, had also made a precipitate retreat.

The men of the Camel Corps fell so fast and thick, struck by sun, in their violent pursuit of the Enemy, up and down the steep sides of the rocky ravines, which reflected back the burning rays that the whole of them would have been prostrated, if I had not called them off, which I did after they had driven the enemy over, and taken the commanding ridge between my position and Culpee.

In this, as well as in the previous operations, since Kouch, sun-stroke caused sudden death, delirium, and hysterical fits of crying and laughing

The very important service rendered on this occasion by Major Ross, Commanding the Camel Corps, requires that I should make special mention of the ability and resolute gallantry with which he led his brave Corps. This very promising Officer is perfectly qualified to turn to the best account all the vast advantages of fleet or mounted Infantry.

Lieutenant Buckley, of the same Corps, attracted my attention by the spirit with which his party attacked and bayonetted Rebels; for which I beg to mention him specially.

Lieutenant-Colonel Louth, Commanding on the extreme right, on the Jumna, relieved from pressure by the success of the Camel Corps, and re-inforced by one of its Companies, moved forward through the ravines, and by a skilful manœuvre cut off and surrounded a considerable body of Rebel Sepoys, who had advanced too far. Part were killed on the bank of the Jumna, the rest were driven into the river, where they were shot or drowned. I beg to mention specially Lieutenant-Colonel Louth for the good service he did on this occasion; he is a good and gallant Officer, who always leads his Regiment to success. He is well seconded by his admirable Soldiers, whom I cannot eulogize more highly than by saying that they do credit to Ireland.

The enemy simultaneously with their attack on my right had advanced with equal vigor against my right centre, guarded by part of the 25th Bombay Native Infantry, who, despite a most gallant resistance were driven back by overpowering numbers, which afforded an opportunity to Lieutenant Edwards, Commanding the 21st Company of Royal Engineers, which I had placed in support of the 25th, to charge with his Company, most successfully, the very superior force of the Rebels, routing them with loss and pursuing them till out of reach. I beg to mention, specially, Lieutenant Edwards for his prompt resolution on this occasion; he is an enterprizing and promising Officer. The 21st Company fight as well in the field, as they work in the trenches, and are worthy of their distinguished Corps.

The remainder of the 25th guarding my left centre, under Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson, held their ground stedfastly; the Rebel Sepoys advancing close up to the 25th firing, halted and addressed them bitter reproaches, couched in the most revolting language, for their unshaken fidelity to the English. The 25th answered the maledictions of the mutineers in a manner worthy of their reputation and English discipline, a volley, a cheer and a charge with the bayonet. Lieutenant Colonel Robertson, of whose gallantry and ability I have had so many proofs, and his devoted Regiment whose loyalty and discipline have so often conquered treason and insubordination, deserve to be specially mentioned for their distinguished conduct on this occasion.

My whole line was now advancing and driving the enemy from their positions. I have already spoken of the triumphant advance of the right and right centre. The left centre was equally successful under Lieutenant Colonel Robertson, who following up his spirited charge, dashed through the ravines with the 25th after the Rebels, came up with the rear of them, near the village of Tehree, bayonetted them and continued the pursuit beyond the village, till his men, unable to go any longer, fell exhausted.

The whole of my Infantry on the left now brought their left shoulders forward, and covered by Captain Lightfoot's Troop of Horse Artillery, three Guns of No. 4 Light Field Battery, and the whole of the Cavalry, I had reinforced the Cavalry on the left with all the Cavalry from the right, made a converging attack on the enemy's right and the village of Tehree. The enemy broke and fled, pursued for some miles by the Horse Artillery and Cavalry. Their exhaustion and ground broken by ravines stopped the pursuit which cost the enemy dear. The Rebels were so completely beaten and disheartened that broken parties of them did not retire on Culpee, but were seen flying across the ravines in a Westerly direction towards Jaloun.

Colonel Wetherall, whose state of health qualified him for the sick list, although his devotion like that of so many more of the Force kept him out of it, was struck by sun in the pursuit three or four miles from Camp, and brought back to it on a litter.

The complete defeat and serious loss which the enemy had sustained this day, despite their having displayed tactics and an energy of attack, which I had not previously witnessed in them, convinced me that an immediate advance to Culpee, which I had some days back fixed for the next day, the 23rd instant, would with the prestige of this day's victory make me master of it at once. I therefore only gave the Troops the time which was indispensable for their rest after the long day's combat in the sun, and dividing my Force into two columns of attack, marched the next morning long before break of day against Culpee, according to my original plan of attack; one Column, the right, under Brigadier Stuart, through the ravines, their right resting on the Jumna; the other, the left Column, under myself, along the Jullalpoor and Culpee Road.

I left my numerous sick, Parks, and baggage, in Camp, which was struck, under Captain Hare.

The Mortar Batteries on the other side of the Jumna had, according to my orders, opened their fire the day before, the 22nd; and during the fight, I was glad to see the shells, dropping, with great precision, into the Fort, the Town, and all about the village of Rehree.

When my column had marched from Camp, across the plain, in front of my left and reached the Jullalpoor and Culpee Road, I brought their left shoulders forward, and taking the road for the direction of my centre, covered my advance against Culpee with the Camel Corps under Major Ross, supported by the Hyderabad Cavalry.

From the road I despatched a Staff Officer, with a party of Cavalry, to effect a communication with Brigadier Stuart's left.

My column descended into deep ravines, and mounted their steep banks, formidable, almost impregnable positions, which the enemy had totally abandoned panic-struck by the previous day's defeat.

No. 4 Enclosure. Brigadier Stuart's Report

Faint firing on the right announced faint opposition to the advance of Brigadier Stuart, of whose report of this and the previous day's operations a copy is enclosed.

After marching some distance along the road, the enemy opened a fire on our advance from a secret Battery in a ravine at a great distance and elevation. Major Ross made a rapid flank march across the ravines to cut it off. But a few rounds from Captain Ommaney's Royal Artillery Guns, which he had brought rapidly up considerably in advance of the column, caused the Battery to make off through the ravines. All of their guns were afterwards taken by the pursuing Cavalry.

Shortly afterwards, I got into communication with the right of Brigadier Stuart's Brigade, and by 10 o'clock A. M., both my Brigades were masters of the Fort and Town of Culpee.

My prediction had come to pass that the Rebels would make one desperate struggle for Culpee outside its walls; and that if they were defeated, they would not make a stand within them. The hard-fought fight of the day before on the banks of the Jumna had given us Culpee.

Whilst my Force was involved in the labyrinth of ravines, the enemy could be observed moving off to the North-West from Culpee, in large bodies, with Elephants.

Once clear of the ravines, I instantly directed Lieutenant Colonel, then Major, Gall, Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, to pursue the enemy as closely, and as far as he could, with Horse Artillery and Cavalry. I have the honor to enclose a copy of this Officer's report of his very successful pursuit of the enemy, for which I beg to mention him specially. His column took the whole of the guns with which their main body retreated from Culpee, and six caparisoned elephants. The Hyderabad Cavalry and scouts brought in more guns, which detached parties of the Rebels had abandoned in their wild flight; so that every piece of Field Artillery, which the enemy had, was taken. The pursuing Cavalry made great havoc of the Rebel Sepoys, the Sind Valaitees, and the mercenaries of the Nawab of Banda till neither horse nor man could go further.

No. 5 Enclosure. Major Gall's Report.

The Rebels, broken completely by Lieutenant Colonel Gall's column, fled in the utmost disorder, in twos and threes across country, throwing away their arms and accoutrements, and even their clothes, to enable them to run faster. This low and altered state of morale of the Rebels must be attributed to the loss of their last hope, Culpee, after their great effort to overthrow its assailants; to their continued defeats, without one success; and lastly, to the dejection which ensued in the excitement caused by the large quantities of opium which they had swallowed for the purpose of quickening their resolution, in the action of the day before.

Besides the captured guns above mentioned, all the Artillery in the Fort, including a fine English 18-pounder gun, fell into our hands, as well as twenty-seven silk embroidered Standards of the Gwalior Contingent, bearing Scindiah's device, a cross and a serpent round it; and one of the Kotah Contingent, also three cannon and mortar foundries, which had been constructed in the Town and Fort; a very complete and extensive subterraneous Arsenal, containing 60,000 pounds of English powder; every description of warlike stores and ammunition; numerous boxes of new and old English muskets; quantities of English shot and shell, of which there were also piles outside the Arsenal in the Fort; engineering tools of every description; boxes of brass shells of native manufacture of the same sort as those frequently used against us; topographical and surveying instruments; quantities of English stationery, &c., &c. The brass shells cause a worse wound than the iron, but do not burst into so many pieces as they do.

The Commissary of Ordnance estimates the value of this Arsenal at £20 or £30,000.

From information furnished by Lieutenant-Colonel Gall, it was clear that the principal part of the Rebels had retreated by the Jaloun Road; and Sir Robert Hamilton was of opinion that they would make to the North for the Sheer Ghat, a ford across the Jumna, or another ford higher up the River. Colonel Riddell, with a moveable column was guarding the former ford. It was of vital importance to make a fresh pursuit of the enemy, in order, either to catch him between Colonel Riddell's and my fire, to meet him if he turned, or to ascertain the real line of his flight. Notwithstanding therefore the exhausted state of my Force, I detached without delay, Lieutenant Colonel Robertson with a pursuing column, of which the strength is detailed in the margin, along the Jaloun Road. To overtake the enemy was hopeless, because, firstly, they had a start, and were not encumbered, like our Troops, with baggage, tents, and Commissariat or even the usual kit of Rebels, which they had thrown away; secondly, their Cavalry and Infantry were in as good, as mine were in bad condition, thirdly, my European Cavalry, riding eighteen stone could not catch Indian Cavalry riding ten or at most eleven stone.

1 Troop 14th Light Dragoons.
1 Squad on 3rd B. Light Cavalry.
No. 18 Light Field Battery.
160 Hyderabad Cavalry.
25th Regiment B. Native Infantry.

The Rebels had also adopted a mode of retreat which facilitated escape. They separated, and in ones and twos, took short cuts across country, meeting at a distant and given point.

The operations of the pursuing column, which again called into action Lieutenant-Colonel Robertson's energy and intelligence, will be detailed in my Report of the operations against Gwalior.

Besides the Officers specially mentioned in this Report, and in the Reports of the Officers under my orders, all of which I beg fully to confirm for distinct acts of distinguished conduct before Culpee, I beg leave to enclose two lists of other Officers, specially mentioned, or mentioned for generally important, or useful service, under most trying circumstances, in the operations before Culpee.

No. 6 Enclosure. List of Special Mentions.
No. 7 Enclosure. List of Mentions.

The conduct of the Central India Field Force in the general action of the Jumna, was characterized by thardent and unyielding courage, the devotion and exemplary discipline, which they had shown throughout the Campaign. And all of us witnessed, with admiration, the skill and noble courage with which the Troops of the Bengal Army, under Lieutenant-Colonel Maxwell, fought by our side, and contributed so largely to the success of the operations. I beg most respectfully to recommend these gallant Soldiers, those of the Bengal, as well as those of the Bombay Army, one and all, to the most favorable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. They had to contend, under a deadly sun, and in most difficult ground, with a desperate foe, greatly their superior in numbers. They fought till they dropped or conquered. The Fort and Town of Culpee, exhibited proofs of the high service of Captains Blunt and Turnbull, of the Bengal Artillery and Engineers, and of their Officers and men stationed in the Batteries on the other side of the Jumna. The shells had fallen almost as I could have wished, and caused a destruction, which no doubt influenced a good deal, the Rebels in their determination to abandon the Fort and Town.

I have the honor to enclose Returns of the Casualties of the Forces engaged in the operations before Culpee, and of the enemy's Ordnance captured in the Fort of Culpee, and in the pursuit of the Rebel Army.

No. 8 Enclosure.
No. 9 Enclosure.

I was placed by the Commander-in-Chief in India, during His Excellency's absence in Rohilcund, under the direct orders of the Governor General; and it is a grateful duty to me to state that my Force and myself are under the greatest obligations to His Lordship for the liberal and excellent arrangements which he caused to be made for furnishing us with supplies; and for the practical sympathy which led His Lordship, overwhelmed as he must have been by important affairs, to give immediate attention to all my applications in favor of the Troops, even for the smallest items of medical comforts.

I am equally indebted to Lord Elphinstone and the Bombay Government and to His Excellency Sir Henry Somerset, for doing all that was possible to render my Column efficient, from the time it started till it was hundreds of miles distant from Bombay; proofs of their constant and efficacious care for the welfare of the Force, reaching it on the banks of the Jumna.

The Bombay and Indore Bullock Train, which Lord Elphinstone created and organized with laudable promptitude, shortened the great distance between my original base, Bombay and Central India, and assisted my operations essentially. I beg to make special mention of Major Kane, 15th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, Director of the Train, for the great energy and intelligence with which he developed and turned to the best account the resources of this newly-raised Military Transport.

Sir Robert Hamilton, Agent of the Governor General for Central India, who, in his official capacity, accompanied my Force throughout the Campaign, rendered very important service in obtaining supplies for the Troops and intelligence for myself, respecting the plans and movements of the enemy. Sir Robert Hamilton, whose knowledge of the roads and country is very great, gave me the first news as to the formation of the so-called Peishwa's Army, intended to establish the Peishwa's Rule in the ancient Peishwahcate, and of their rapid and determined advance against me to relieve Jhansi. Sir Robert Hamilton showed great sympathy for the sick and wounded, and spared no trouble to alleviate by all the means in his power their sufferings.

So much of the success of the operations is due to the portion of the Hyderabad Contingent which formed part of my Force, that I ought not to fail to express my best thanks to Colonel Davidson, Resident at Hyderabad, for the proof of confidence which he placed in me by putting at my disposal, Troops whose organization in the three Arms, light equipment, knowledge of the Indian language and country, combined with their high Military qualities, enabled them to act as the wings of my operations.

I am much indebted for their good will and assistance to Major Rickards, Political Agent for Bhopal, who was wounded when spiritedly accompanying the charge of Captain Need, of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons at the Betwa; Major Western, Deputy Commissioner of the Saugor District; Captain Keatinge, Officiating Political Agent for Western Malwa, dangerously wounded when very gallantly leading the storming party at Chundayree, having previously reconnoitred the ground and the breach; Captain Pinkney, Commissioner of the Jhansi and Jaloun Districts, specially mentioned by me for gallantry in the pursuit after the storming of the Mudunpoor Passes, his horse killed; Captain Ternan, Deputy Commissioner of Jaloun, and Captain Maclean, Deputy Commissioner of Jhansi.

Sir Robert Hamilton and these Officers of the Civil Service were, at different times, voluntarily under fire. On these occasions their bearing was that of English gentlemen. I venture to hope that, under these circumstances, the Commander-in-Chief in India may be pleased to bring to the notice of the Governor General and Viceroy my favorable opinion of the conduct of these gentlemen.

Brigadiers Sage and Wheler, Commanding at different times at Saugor; Captain Ogilvie, Assistant Commissary General, and Captain Nicholl, Commissary of Ordnance, all of the Bengal Service, were of very great assistance to the Force in giving me elephants, two 6-pounder guns, with which I completed the 1st Troop Bombay Horse Artillery, other warlike stores, all they had, and supplies.

I hope that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India will do me the favor to represent to the Governor General the great obligations I am under to the Ranee of Bhopal. Her Highness displayed the very best feeling towards the English and British interests; she did so courageously, in the worst times, when the Natives in her part of the World, thought that Rebellion must triumph. Her Highness gave me two 9-pounder guns, and a 24-pounder howitzer, with the Gunners belonging to them, very good Artillerymen, when I marched through Bhopal, which enabled me to complete No. 18 Light Field Battery. Her Highness was indefatigable in obtaining supplies for my Force, when it was very much in want of them.

So great and varied were the difficulties with which the Central India Field Force had to contend, all of which I have not thought it necessary to detail, that having stated so fully the obligations I am under to human aid, I should not do justice to my own feelings, nor I am sure to those of the generous spirits whom I led, were I not to say how large a share of our gratitude for preservation and success is due to the signal mercy of Heaven.

I beg to apologize for the length of this Report; it would have been more convenient for me to have written a short one. But justice to the Troops would not allow me to curtail the details of either their deeds or of their sufferings.

In excuse of the very tardy arrival of this Report, for which I am solely to blame, and for which I beg to offer my respectful apologies to the Commander-in-Chief in India, I must adduce a circumstance to which I should not otherwise have alluded. I had three attacks of sun during the assault and capture of Kouch; one in the action at Mutha and a fifth in the general action of the Jumna. As the remedies to enable me to rise again, ride and retain the Command in the Field, which I never left, were necessarily strong, and as my determination to exercise the Command, till Culpee was taken, did not allow of my taking the rest, or following the treatment necessary for the cure of sun-sickness, and as the heat of the sun increased instead of diminishing, and the duties of the Command daily became more onerous, all my Staff sick, or ailing, my health and strength suffered so much, that all I could do with great difficulty was to command; and that I was totally unable, although I attempted it, to compose Despatches, which were to describe the remarkable operations before Culpee, and do justice to the signal merits of the Troops engaged.

Before marching against Gwalior, I had a very strong Medical Certificate in my possession, recommending my immediate departure from Central India; a sense of duty made me remain in it, and command the expedition against Gwalior. On the march to that place the heat rose to 130° in the shade. The same cause, as before, prevented me from making reports of the operations, except in telegrams. After the taking of Gwalior, I made forced marches to reach quickly the good climate of the Deccan. The papers relating to the Culpee and Gwalior operations were unfortunately left with my heavy baggage, which on account of the heavy rain, great distance, and want of roads, the whole country being a swamp, did not arrive at Poona till after the Monsoon.

These were the causes of the delay in transmitting Culpee and Gwalior Reports. I most sincerely regret that any thing should have retarded the publication of the records of so much heroism. But I trust that the very detailed lists already transmitted of the Officers and men who distinguished themselves before Culpee and Gwalior, and in the Campaign generally, and which I drew up with the utmost care, and the most anxious solicitude, that the merits of each individual should be fully known and perfectly appreciated, will palliate the evil of delay.

I have, &c.,

FROM MAJOR FORBES, C. B.,
Commanding Rear Guard,

TO CAPTAIN TODD,
Brigade Major, 2nd Brigade,
Central India Field Force.
Camp near Deopore, 16th May 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Brigadier Commanding the 2nd Brigade, the arrival in Camp of the Rear Guard, having been closely followed up from within a mile of our last encampment at Etora by 4,000 to 5,000 of the Rebel Army, of which 1,000 to 1,200 were Cavalry.

Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, 42 Sabres, under Lieutenant Benmish.
Royal Artillery, 2 guns, under Lieutenant Lowry.
3rd Bombay Light Cavalry, 170 Sabres, under Lieutenant Dick.
3rd Europeans 93, under Lieutenant Mackintosh.
24th Native Infantry, 113, under Lieutenant Estridge.
Cavalry Hyderabad Contingent, 200, Captain Murray.

2. As the Brigadier is aware a broad and deep ravine only passable for Carts by one narrow road intersects the route, about a mile from Etora.

3. It was when halted here on account of the baggage that I first saw the Rebels approaching from the Culpee direction towards my left flank. They took up a position on my left rear and rear, occupying the village of Etora, and from their strength, particularly in Cavalry, it was throughout apparent that our bold front alone saved the Rear Guard from being driven in, and the consequent loss of the guns, owing to the only line of retreat being choked up by carts.

4. During the two hours or more we were halted here, the enemy's Cavalry made several advances, one or two at a rapid pace, but deceived, I imagine, by the perfect steadiness of the Troops into supposing that a larger force was concealed in the broken ground in our rear, they did not close, and as soon as the road was clear I withdrew, first the guns and Infantry to a position on this side the ravine, then the Troop of Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, and lastly the remainder of the Cavalry at a walk, until concealed from the enemy by the nature of the ground, then at a gallop.

5. As I expected this retrograde movement brought the enemy on us, and before the Cavalry had had time to form on the right and left of the guns, he had occupied the position we had given up.

6. This further advance in force was, however, for some time checked by the Rifles of the 3rd Europeans, and the excellent practice of the two guns of the Royal Artillery, and time given for the baggage to get on a considerable distance.

7. For the first three miles of the remainder of our march, we were almost surrounded by the Rebel Cavalry, and fired into by their Artillery, but alternately halting and retiring, we succeeded in preventing any of the baggage from falling into their hands.

8. If any baggage was lost, it could not have been on the road by which I marched, and to have divided the Rear Guard or even extended it more than was done, would have been its destruction, followed by the loss of the greater portion of the ammunition, stores and baggage of the Brigade.

9. I herewith enclose a list of Casualties during the day.

10. I would beg to bring to your notice the Officers named in the margin of this Report, and in an especial manner Lieutenant Lowry, to the precision of whose fire and the manner in which he handled his two guns do I chiefly attribute our being able to keep in check so large a body of Cavalry.

11. Lieutenant Bonns, Bombay Engineers, and Veterinary Surgeon Lamb, 3rd Light Cavalry, were most useful to me in getting on the baggage and in conveying orders. Mr. Lamb rode into Camp at my request to report the presence of the enemy and returned at very considerable risk of being cut off.

I have, &c.,

Central India Field Force.

No. 3 of 1858.

From Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell,
Comdg. 2nd Brigade C. I. Field Force,
To the Chief of the Staff,
Central India Field Force.
Camp Deopore, 18th May 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report for the information of the Major-General Commanding Central India Field Force, that a large body of upwards of 1,200 of the enemy's Cavalry with 3 guns moved suddenly out yesterday at 2 P. M. from the rear of a large village situated about two coss on our left flank. The plain intervening is not intersected by nullahs, and they were soon after reported to be advancing with an evident intention of attacking our Camp.

2. The small village of Muttra which forms out left point of Appir was then occupied by two Companies of the 71st Highland Light Infantry and two guns belonging to the Bombay Light Battery No. 18, with a support from the 24th Native Infantry, immediately reinforced this post with the whole of the 71st and the remaining two guns of No. 18 Battery and giving orders for the 14th Light Dragoons and two guns of the Royal Artillery to follow, proceed ed at once to meet the enemy, taking with me the 3rd-Light Cavalry and the half Battery whom I met on their way to Muttra.

3. I found that the enemy were advancing rapidly in line about one and a half mile from us, with their line so far extended as to threaten our left rear, to this point I directed our advance and soon after coming within range the enemy halted. This enabled the 14th Light Dragoons under Major Scudamore and the two guns of the Royal Artillery to take up a position connecting our line with Muttra.

4. A heavy fire commenced on both sides, the enemy firing remarkably well and sending two or three round shot into the ranks of the 3rd Light Cavalry, but the superior fire of the Royal Artillery and No. 18 Battery effectually stopt all further advance on their part.

5. An attack on Muttra now attracted my attention, but to withdraw any of my guns would also have drawn the enemy again upon us. Major Orr, Commanding Hyderabad Contingent, however, most opportunely appeared and galloping down with him ascertained that a very strong body of the Rebel Infantry had been repulsed by the 71st Highland Light Infantry under Majors Rich and Loftus. The loss of the enemy has since been ascertained to have been very great, but having had time during the morning (since yesterday's attack) to loophole the houses, the fire of the enemy was harmless.

6. The precautions for protecting the right of the Camp were not unnecessary for another Column of Infantry and two heavy guns came down from Culpee, and sent several shot right through the Camp without however much damage. Captain Field, Royal Artillery, most ably kept these at a distance supported by the 3rd European Regiment and the remainder of the 24th Native Infantry.

7. Foiled on all sides and it being now sun-set, the enemy slowly retired, taking with them dead and wounded in the nullahs.

I arrived here on the morning of 18th instant, with the force as per margin, and broke ground the same night. On the following morning we had three 10-inch Mortars in position opposite to the Fort of Culpee, and a fourth on the next day.

4 8-inch Mortars.

2. On the morning of the 19th, I received an urgent requisition from Sir Hugh Rose for a Wing of Her Majesty's 88th Regiment, a wing of the Sikh Police Battalion, and the whole of the Camel Corps, to join his force on the opposite side of the Jumna; the demand for this amount of Troops from my column was made upon the supposition that a patrol of three Companies of the 88th Regiment, 200 of the Sikh Battalion, and 100 of the Towana Horse and 2 guns which I had sent to Sherghur had rejoined me, but as that patrol had not returned, and I had no reason to expect it back for some time, I did not consider myself justified in complying to the full extent with Sir Hugh's request, and I sent across the Jumna on the night of the 20th, two Companies of the 88th, the whole of the Camel Corps, and 124 of the Sikh Infantry, informing Sir Hugh that as soon as I could hear of the approach of the patrol that I would send the remainder of the men asked for by him

3. By Sir Hugh Rose's orders, I sent on the morning of the 21st two 8-inch mortars and two field guns, with a Company of the 88th Regiment to Russoolpoor, a village about 3 miles below Culpee on the left bank of the Jumna, and opposite to the village of Rehree, where the enemy had a battery which commanded the road by which Sir Hugh purposed advancing on Culpee.

4. During the night of the 21st, two 8-inch mortars were put into position in the village of Diloule opposite the Kutcherry and Town of Culpee.

5. Under instructions from Major-General Sir Hugh Rose, the three above-mentioned Mortar Batteries opened fire at noon on Saturday, the 22nd. The well-directed fire of the mortars and guns from the Russoolpoor Battery under Lieutenant Hare, of the Bengal Artillery, soon cleared the village of Rehree, and the Rebels withdrew what guns they had there. The practice of Major Blunt's four 10-inch Mortar Battery was beautifully accurate, and that from Captain Turnbull's at Diloule was most effective and well sustained until the occupation of the town by Sir Hugh Rose's force.

6. The river Jumna being between my force and the enemy, the Infantry and Cavalry under my command had not the opportunity of giving that active co-operation to Sir Hugh Rose that I could have wished, but they performed their picquet and battery duties much to my satisfaction, the Enfield Rifles of the 88th Regiment annoyed the enemy very much and prevented them having the free use of the river in front of the town.

7. The chief credit of the operations of my Column on the left bank of the Jumna is due to two Officers, viz., Major Blunt, of the Bengal Artillery, and Captain Turnbull, of the Bengal Engineers. I believe the merits of Major Blunt are already knowg to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, but I bee to express my acknowledgments of the valuabln services Major Blunt has afforded me since he joined my column in February last; he has been indefatigable, active and zealous for the good of the service, not confining himself to the mere routine of his own branch of it, but he has given me on all occasions his advice which his knowledge of the country and professional acquirements rendered so valuable to me. Of Captain Turnbull, of the Bengal Engineers, I cannot speak too highly. Not only was he most persevering in making the batteries, exposing himself all day to the overpowering heat of the sun, but when he had finished his duty as an Engineer, he then became an Artilleryman, and worked the Mortar Battery at Diloule. It will be a subject of much gratification to me if the expression of my thanks to these Officers were productive of the appreciation of their services by His Excellency the Commander in-Chief.

It is due to Lieutenant G. L. Fraser, of the late 23rd Native Infantry Regiment, that I should speak most favourably of the way he has performed his duties as Staff Officer to the Column: he has been most zealous and hard working.

I beg to enclose a Report from Major Blunt, also one from Captain Turnbull, and the usual Casualty Return which I am very glad to say is very trivial.

No. 128 of 1858.

From Brigadier Stuart, C. B.,
Comdg. 1st Brigade Central India F. F.,
To the Assistant Adjutant General.
Central India Field Force.

Camp Culpee, 29th May 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report that about 9 A M of the 22nd May, the 1st Brigade Central India Field Force got under arms in compliance with instructions from the Major-General Commanding, and in consequence of the enemy threatening the right and front of our Camp near the village of Golowlee in force, I myself proceeded to the Mortar Battery on the right, the picquet at which consisting of one Company 3rd European Regiment, also the picquet on the bank of the Jumna, composed of one Company Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, which guarded our extreme right flank had, by the orders of the Major-General, been reinforced by nearly the whole of Her Majesty 86th Regiment which, thrown into skirmishing order, covered almost the whole of our position to the right The Major-General also directed half of No. 4 Light Field Battery to move down to the Mortar Battery, and fire was immediately opened on the enemy, who were advancing in great numbers, and with much spirit over ground most favorable to them, as it was thickly intersected in every direction by nullahs and ravines close up to our position. Finding that the enemy were commencing to outflank the left of our line of skirmishers, I sent for three Companies of the 25th Regiment Native Infantry which when extended, made all secure in that direction; the action now became general throughout the whole line, but the advance of the enemy was checked, though most obstinately persevered in on the extreme right, where Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, was Commanding; matters thus continued until about noon, when the enemy made a most determined assault on the Mortar Battery and position held by the guns, taking advantage of our line of skirmishers being weakened by many men having been compelled to fall to the rear from the effects of the sun, which as felt by all was most overpowering, as also from their Rifles having become leaded. At this juncture I could only muster a handful of men to defend the Mortar Battery and guns, and the enemy were steadily pushing on when the timely arrival of two Companies of the Rifle Brigade, which in reply to my call for aid, the Major-General himself brought up, and led against the enemy, caused them to retire precipitately, and they made no further stand About this time also I had been compelled to reinforce my right, with a Company of Her Majesty's 80th Regiment, and my left with the 21st Company Royal Engineers as the determination shown by the enemy was so great, and the distress occasioned by the excessive heat of the day so paralysed the men that they could scarcely hold their ground; simultaneously however with the repulse in the centre, the enemy were driven back on both flanks and our whole line pushing on, completely routed them. In compliance with the Major-General's instructions, I checked the pursuit of the enemy beyond a certain point. It was however persevered in on the right by Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, further than was intended: having reinforced the original picquets, I directed that the remainder of the Troops should return to their tents. Nothing further occurred this day.

2. Of the operations of the 1st Troop Horse Artillery, Left Wing Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, 3rd Regiment Cavalry, Hyderabad Contigent, half of No. 4 Light Field Battery, Madras Sappers and Miners, and Wing 25th Regiment Native Infantry. On the 22nd May, I make no mention, as they were not serving under my direction, and I understand Majors Gall and Robertson, who were in Command of these Troops, have sent in their reports.

3. On the 23rd May at half past 3 o'clock A. M., the 1st Brigade consisting of the Troops named in the margin, in compliance with instructions received, advanced on Culpee, line was formed in skirmishing order, the right resting on the right bank of the Jumna, and the left extending Westward to the utmost extent permitted by the number of Infantry at my disposal: the cart road leading to Culpee nearly bisected the line. I accordingly entrusted the general superintendence of the Troops on the right of this road to Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, and that of the Troops on the left of it to Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell, Her Majesty's 71st Regiment, who had joined me under instructions from the Major-General. The Brigade advanced steadily, meeting with no opposition till the village of Rehree was reached, when the men of Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, who were moving on it, received a volley, but charging in with a cheer drove the enemy out of it at once, and put them to flight, the Brigade continued to advance till the position indicated by the Major General was reached and secured. I then sent for the Guns and Cavalry, having, as the Major-General is aware on account of the nature of the ground over which we marched, been obliged to leave both in the rear, until our new position had been gained, the Brigade now remained halted until a junction was effected with the Column under the personal Command of the Major-General, when having received orders to enter the Town of Culpee, I did so with all my Infantry, and finding it deserted bivouacked the men in the most suitable manner I could, till I was ordered to march into Camp at about 5 o'clock, P. M.: the remainder of the 1st Brigade were serving immediately under the Major-General on this day. I do not therefore report their proceedings. Major Gall, Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, has intimated to me, that he was in Command of the pursuing Cavalry on this occasion, and that he has sent in his report to the Chief of the Staff.

4. In conclusion it gives me the greatest pleasure to state that the Troops of the 1st Brigade on this occasion as at Koonch displayed a determined fortitude which nothing could overcome: in the action of the 22nd May they were exposed to a fiercely burning sun from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M., and though as I have mentioned they were much distressed by the same, yet every man struggled to get to the front until fairly beaten down., I am much indebted to the Officers of my Staff; Captain Fenwick, Field Engineer; Captain Colly, Major of Brigade; Captain Bacon, Deputy Assistant Quarter Master General, and Lieutenant Henry, Sub-Assistant Commissary General, for their gallantry, zeal, and indefatigable exertions during these operations, also to Surgeon Mackenzie, Staff Surgeon, who on this occasion was, as I have ever found him, most unremitting in his exertions in his Department. Captain Colly, my Brigade Major, has served with this Brigade since it was first organized in June last, and during the eventful year that has passed has shown great gallantry in the field and untiring zeal and application in the performance of his various duties, which he has conducted much to my satisfaction. I therefore most earnestly beg to bring the services of this meritorious Officer to the favourable notice of the Major-General Commanding. I beg also to place on record how ably I was seconded in the operations herein detailed by Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, an Officer of great energy and judgment, most conspicuous also on every occasion for his gallantry. Lieutenant-Colonel Lowth reports to me that Major Stuart, Captain Lepper, Ensign Keane, and Assistant Surgeon Barry all did good service, and that Captain Lepper and Dr. Barry left sick beds to join their Regiment in the field. I had also occasion to remark the excellent conduct of Ensign Trueman who Commanded the picquet of the 3rd European Regiment at the Mortar Battery on the 22nd instant. This Officer though very young in the Service, behaved with great steadiness and gallantry. The Wing 25th Regiment Native Infantry employed under me on the 22nd instant greatly distinguished themselves: they were hotly engaged the whole morning and fought most stoutly: the conduct of Serjeant Major Graham on whom devolved the Command of the half Battery No. 4 Light Field Battery when Lieutenant Strutt was directed to proceed with the remainder of his guns to another part of the field, deserves great praise; for when the crisis I have alluded to was at hand, I found him prepared to meet it with the utmost steadiness.

I have, &c.,

FROM MAJOR GALL,

Commanding Left Wing, 14th Light Dragoons,

TO THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,

Central India Field Force,

Culpee.

Camp Culpee, 25th May 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE have the honor to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding the Central India Field Force, that on the 23rd instant, when directed by your order to pursue the enemy supposed to be retiring from Culpee by the Gwalior or Jaloun Road with the Troops as per margin. I immediately proceeded to assemble the force placed under my Command on the road indicated to me which proved to be the high road from Culpee to Jhansi. This however diverges to Jaloun about three miles as near as I can recollect from Culpee.

14th Dragoons 4 Troops, in all 153 Sabres.
6 Guns Horse Artillery, 3rd Regiment Hyderabad Contingent Cavalry.
Subsequently increased by 1st Troop 14th Dragoons (48 Sabres.)
50 Sabres 1st Regiment Hyderabad Contingent Cavalry.

Captain Lightfoot reporting his horses to be suffering greatly from want of water, an order was issued to water them before commencing the pursuit.

Whilst they were drinking, Captain Abbott informed me that a large Mussulman tomb about half a mile up the Jhansi Road was occupied by 300 of the enemy, and we at once proceeding thither made preparations for surrounding it with our Cavalry, and as we moved towards it Lieutenant Dowker, of the 1st Regiment Hyderabad Contingent, joined me with 50 Sabres.

The building was found to be unoccupied, but at the same time the enemy was descried retiring in great numbers over the plain beyond it to our right front and a pursuit which soon brought me to the point where the roads from Jhansi and Jaloun to Culpee unite, was commenced. Here I left Captain Need who had accompanied me thus far with his Squadron, to bring up the Horse Artillery I had sent back for.

Lieutenant Dowker I detached a little to my right and accompanied by Captains Abbott and Barrett at the head of their respective Detachments, I charged through the enemy's retiring line and dispersed it, the Rebels were cut up in all directions with the loss of two guns which they abandoned to Lieutenant Dowker on the right. The Dragoons in the centre sabred a great many of the fugitive Sepoys who firing wildly and completely panic-stricken by the suddenness and rapidity of our advance, [illegible] an easy prey to their pursuers, in some instances [illegible]ting away their arms, in others suffering themsel[illegible] to be followed into ravines where they were slain. [illegible]our elephants were soon after captured as the pursuit continued.

On the left, ahead of all, Captain Abbott charged along the road to Jaloun, and to the right and left of it capturing on his way a 9-pounder gun which the paralysed enemy though loaded and placed in position did not fire, but abandoned after several of them had been cut down round about it, a few Casualties, as per margin, occured in Captain Abbott's Regiment.

2 Men wounded.
1 Horse killed.
1 Lost.
3 Wounded.

Trooper Sher Ali, of the 3rd Regiment Hyderabad Contingent, has been specially recommended to the favorable consideration of the Major-General by his

Commanding Officer. He lost his hand during the pursuit by a musket shot, also Trooper Mahomed Khan, 6th Troop, also Trooper Nuttoo Khan, of the 6th Troop, as well as the following Native Officers; Shah Mirza Beg Bahadoor, Ressaldar Major of the Regiment; Ressaldar Major Mustijab Khan, Ressaldar Major, Ahmed Buksh Khan and Ressaldar Major Mahommed Hoossein Khan.

Beyond the village of Hurkhoopoora, about a hundred of the enemy's red Cavalry crossed our front, from the left accompanied by some Infantry, and entered a village about half a mile to our front, as it appeared that they were disposed to make a stand here, and my Cavalry being thrown into some disorder by the pursuit, I sounded the assembly and reformed my line with the intention of attacking them, but before this could be done, they, had fled, and in the exhausted state of the men and horses further pursuit for the moment was out of the question. I therefore halted and proceeded to water my horses at a well to my left rear. Between two and three hundred of the Rebels had been sabred, without any Casualties on our side beyond those specified. On my left the sound of Captain Lightfoot's guns had been heard as we approached by the Jhansi Road, preceded by Captain Need who extending to the right and left of the road, charged the rear of an Infantry Column of whom he cut down nearly two hundred, while Captain Lightfoot plied them with shot and shell.

Captains Need and Lightfoot captured three pieces o Ordnance during this advance, continued by the former to the 8th mile stone on the Jhansi Road.

After watering, I joined the Horse Artillery on the Jhansi Road and proposed advancing, but the exhausted state of the Horse Artillery horses and indeed of our men generally, would not admit of this, and I gave orders for the return of the Force to Camp at Culpee, which we reached after having been upwards of thirteen hours on the saddle.

A considerable body, some hundreds of the Rebels went off early to my right, in a Northerly direction, descending into ravines where it would have been very difficult to follow them with Cavalry (amongst them were a great many women and children) this body I did not pursue.

I cannot speak too highly of Captain Abbott's conduct during the pursuit, which on the left he led well in advance at the head of his Regiment, animating it by an example it nobly followed.

The very weak Squadron of Dragoons that I had with me was ably led by Captain Barrett, whose good conduct whilst serving under my immediate Command I have already had occasion to bring to the notice of the Brigadier, Commanding 1st Brigade Central India Field Force, for favorable recommendation to the Major-General. Captain Barrett's men did great execution amongst the Rebels, and the Sowars of the 1st Cavalry Hyderabad Contingent led by Lieutenant Dowker emulated them.

To all the Troops, all the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers and Men placed under my Command, my best thanks are given for the energy and fortitude displayed by them. Surgeon Stewart, 14th Dragoons, I have to thank for his attention to those who fell sick during the pursuit carried on through the hottest part of the day. My thanks are also due to Assistant Surgeons Lofthouse and Lumsdaine, Lieutenant and Adjutant Gills, Left Wing 14th Dragoons, as on many previous occasions distinguished himself in several personal encounters with armed Sepoys.

I specially recommend Captains Abbott, Barrett and Need, and Lieutenant Dowker, to the notice of the Major-General. Acting Regimental Serjeant Major Clark and Private Winton, B. Troop 14th Dragoons, behaved with great gallantry. The captures were as per margin.

5 Guns.
1 Gingall on Wheels.
2 Artillery Waggons filled with Ammunition.
1 Native Tumbril.
20 Boxes of Ammunition.
6 Elephants.
8 Camels.
42 Bullock Draughts.
3 Hackories.
1 Spring Cart.

I have, &c.,

G. E. Rose,

A. D. C.

List of Officers and Men of the Central India Field Force specially mentioned for important or good service in the operations before Culpee, from 17th to 23rd May 1858.

Colonel Wetherall, C. B., Chief of the Staff. Important service during the operations as a very active and intelligent Chief of the Staff, although very ill and suffering from climate. Gallant conduct in the charge of the Camel Corps. Horse wounded.

Captain Wood, Assistant Adjutant General. Useful service and zeal during the operations.

Captain Cockburn, Her Majesty's 43rd Regiment, Aide-de-Camp. Useful service and zeal during the operations; and gallant conduct in the charge of the Camel Corps. Horse wounded.

Lieutenant Luard, late 1st Bengal Native Cavalry, Acting Aide-de-Camp. Useful service and zeal during the operations.

Lieutenant Baigrie, 3rd Bombay Europeans, Acting Assistant Quarter Master General; useful service and great devotion in continuing to discharge his duties during the whole of the operations, although badly wounded. Gallant conduct in the charge of the Camel Corps. Horse killed.

Lieutenant Lyster, Interpreter, late 72nd Bengal Native Infantry. General useful service during the operations.

Lieutenant Gordon, Assistant Commissary General. Zeal and intelligence in supplying the Force under most difficult circumstances.

Dr. Arnott, Superintending Surgeon, expresses his approval of the Medical Officers of the Force under his orders in the following terms, and I beg to confirm his approval:—

"To the distinguished skill and ability of Field Surgeon Ritchie, is due the eminent success of the Depôt Hospital at Jhansi, in which every capital operation has completely succeeded, and among 200 European and 100 Native Sick and Wounded the Casualties have been far below the average. To the indefatigable zeal of Drs. Ritchie and Naylor, and their attention to that enormous charge must be ascribed in a great measure such extraordinary success. Dr. Stewart, Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, unfortunately was not present at Jhansi, but his duties, since the 7th of May, have been onerous in the extreme, and the zeal with which he has devoted himself to them, merits every praise. The exposure and fatigue so cheerfully undergone by Dr. Dees in his duties with the 3rd Cavalry, and his unceasing attention to his duties, are gratefully remembered. Dr. Mackenzie, 3rd Hyderabad Cavalry, has been most active and his exertions at the storming of Jhansi in carrying on the duties of Dr. Stack, when shot dead, were most useful and the saving of much suffering among the wounded of Her Majesty's 86th Regiment. Dr. Vaughan in undertaking to conduct the duties of Field Surgeon, in addition to his own, only evinced that zeal for the service of which we had already ample proof. His duties since the Force left Jhansi have been of the most arduous and trying description, but they have on all occasions been most cheerfully and ably performed."

"These Officers I would beg to recommend to your most favorable notice, though my warmest thanks are due to all for the cordial and steady support and cooperation they have on all occasions afforded me."

Reverend Mr. Schwabbe, Protestant Chaplain. Unwearied zeal in the execution of his duties and most praiseworthy attention to the sick and wounded, went home on sick certificate, dangerously ill from sun sickness.

Reverend Mr. Strickland, Roman Catholic Chaplain. Unwearied zeal in the execution of his duties, and most praiseworthy attention to the sick and wounded.

Lieutenant-Colonel Maxwell, Commanding Flying Column, on the left bank of the Jumna. Important service during the operations, particularly in shelling and firing very efficiently on the Fort and Town of Culpee and the enemy's position.

Dr. Arnott, M. D., Superintending Surgeon. Great zeal and ability in the discharge of his difficult and important duties as Chief Medical Officer to the Force. Great zeal in riding back in extreme heat, voluntarily from Culpee the day of our arrival, the whole way to the Camp of Golowlee, and bringing back from there all the sick to Culpee, thus performing a triple march in one day.

Ensign Mackintosh, 3rd Bombay Europeans. Posting his men advantageously, and beating back the enemy by the good fire of the Detachment of this Regiment on the 17th of May.

Captain Douglas, Bengal Artillery. Gallantly and and skilfully placing his guns at Muttra, under a heavy musketry fire, and clearing the ravines of Rebels, on the 17th May.

Captain Todd, Brigade Major of 2nd Brigade. Giving very useful assistance on the 17th May to Lieutenant-Colonel Campbell, Commanding 2nd Brigade in the Field, although very ill and in the sick report.

Major Orr, Commanding Hyderabad Field Force. Efficient aid to the 2nd Brigade at Diapoora, on the 18th May.

Majors Rich and Loftus, skilfully loopholing the houses, and driving back the enemy with great loss when they attacked Muttra on the 18th May.

Major Stuart, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment. Skilful disposition of the picquets and re-inforcement, and in repulsing the determined attack of the enemy on the 20th May.

Lieutenant Jerome, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment, severely wounded. Most gallantly and successfully leading his Company against the enemy on the 20th May.

Captain Lepper, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment. Skilfully directing the different Companies of skirmishers against the attack of the enemy on the 20th May.

Lieutenant Forbes, 25th Bombay Native Infantry (Partial Sunstroke). Gallantly and successfully leading his Company against the enemy on the 20th May.

Captain Lightfoot, Commanding 1st Troop Bombay Horse Artillery. Good service in the pursuit on the 22nd May.

Serjeant Major Graham, Commanding half No. 4 Light Field Battery. Bravery and skill in Commanding his guns, when attacked in position on the right, and afterwards when his guns advanced in pursuit on the 22nd May.

Assistant Surgeon Barry and Captain Lepper, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment. Having left their beds, being in the sick report, to join their Regiment in the field on the 22nd of May.

Ensign Trueman, 3rd Bombay Europeans. Great steadiness and gallantry on the 22nd May when in Command of the picquets of his Regiment at the Mortar Battery when attacked.

Brigadier Stuart. Ably commanding the advance of the Right Wing, and bringing up the Artillery and Baggage rapidly through the difficult ravines on the 23rd May.

Captain Ommanney, Royal Artillery, Commanding Artillery. Good service in covering the advance, and silencing the enemy's guns, with the Battery Royal Artillery on the 23rd May.

Serjeant Judgson, Hyderabad Artillery. Excellent conduct under Captain Turnbull, Bengal Engineers, in the Mortar Battery on the left bank of the Jumna

Gunner Farrell, Royal Artillery. Excellent conduct under Captain Turnbull, Bengal Engineers, in the Mortar Battery on the left bank of the Jumna.

List of Officers mentioned for useful service during the operations before Culpee, from 17th to 23rd May 1858.

Captain Lightfoot, Commanding 1st Troop Bombay Horse Artillery. Placing skilfully his guns at Muttra on 7th May.

Major Stuart and Ensign Keane, Her Majesty's 86th Regiment. For having on the 22nd instant rendered good service in the Field.

Lieutenant Haggard, Commissary of Ordnance. Causing on the 22nd May casualties and disorder by the fire of his siege guns in the enemy's Cavalry.

Captain Hare, Commanding 5th Regiment Hyderabad Contingent. Useful service when left in charge of the Camp on the 22nd May.

Lieutenant Macquoid, Adjutant of the 5th Hyderabad Infantry. Useful service and constant zeal under Captain Hare on the 22nd May and other occasions.

Captain Abbott, Commanding 3rd Cavalry, Hyderabad Contingent. Guarding well on the 22nd May the outposts on the left, and executing skilfully and successfully a retrogade movement to draw on the enemy into the fire of our siege guns.

Major Ross, Commanding Camel Corps. Useful conduct in covering the advance of the Left Column against Culpee on the 23rd of May.

No. 273 of 1859.—In publishing the following letter from the Deputy Adjutant General of the Army, No. 4, of the 22nd January 1859, forwarding three Despatches, one from Brigadier General R. Walpole, C. B., and two from Colonel M. G. Dennis, Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, Commanding a Moveable Column, His Excellency the Governor General in Council notifies his entire concurrence in the sentiments expressed by the Right Hon'ble the Commander in-Chief, and in his commendation of the conduct of the Brigadier General and of the Officers and Men employed on the occasion :—

No. 4.

FROM THE DEPY. ADJT. GENL. OF THE ARMY,
TO THE SECY. TO THE GOVT. OF INDIA,
Military Department.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor, by desire of the Commander-in-Chief, to forward for submission to His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General, three Despatches; viz., one from Brigadier General R. Walpole, C. B., dated the 16th instant, and two from Colonel M. G. Dennis, of Her Majesty's 60th Rifles, Commanding a Moveable Column, dated respectively the 14th and 15th instant.

2. The latter Officer had been instructed to sweep through the Khyreeghur District in which it was known that from two to three thousand Rebels were lurking, they having retreated there and been gradually reinforced in numbers by fugitives from other quarters since Colonel Christie's skirmish which took place in the end of December.

3. The Officers Commanding the out-posts on the Rohilcund Frontier had been carefully put on their guard, as it could not but be anticipated that as the result of Colonel Dennis' forward movement after he had crossed the Sarjoo and penetrated the Khyreeghur jungle, the Rebels in his front would try to escape into the jungles under the hills North of Rohilcund.

4. This accordingly happened as will be seen in the Colonel's Despatches, Colonel Dennis having, in Lord Clyde's opinion, displayed much energy in carrying out his instructions.

5. Brigadier General Walpole most properly considered that in such circumstances, when his Division was threatened, his position should be at his outposts, and he was thus able in person to direct the Troops forming them when the expected contingency took place.

This, His Excellency is happy to observe, he did with the most admirable effect as shown in his own narrative.

6. The conduct of the Detachmentof the 42nd Highlanders and of Lieutenant-Colonel Smith's Troop of Native Bengal Horse Artillery, under the able direction of the Brigadier General, the Commander-in-Chief considers to have been beyond all praise, and His Excellency has the greatest pleasure in recommending Brigadier General Walpole, Colonel Dennis, and the Officers mentioned by the former, to the favorable consideration of the Viceroy and Governor General.

I have, &c.,

FROM BRIGDR.-GEN. R. WALPOLE, C. B.,

Comdg. Rohilcund Division,

TO MAJ.-GENL. SIR WILLIAM MANSFIELD, K. C. B.,

Chief of the Staff.

Camp Sisseah, Banks of Saarda,

The 16th January 1859.

SIR,

IN a former despatch I acquainted you for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, that I had formed two Columns under Lieutenant-Colonel Wilkinson, 42nd Highlanders, and Lieutenant-Colonel Smyth, Bengal Horse Artillery, and directed the former to proceed to Madho Tanda, for the purpose of watching the course of the Saarda in front of that place, and the latter to guard the fords on that river from Colonel Wilkinson's left, as far as Birimdeo at the foot of the hills.

On the 28th ultimo, on hearing that a large Force of Rebels was collected in the neighbourhood of Khyreghur, I proceeded to Colonel Wilkinson's Camp, where I remained a week visiting the different ghats, and afterwards joined Colonel Smyth's Camp at this place.

The arrangements made by both these Officers were excellent, all the principal ghats were watched, yet still (although I was in hopes we should hear of any large body of Rebels crossing the line to be watched, 40 miles, was so extended for the small Force at my disposal, and the jungle was in parts so dense, that I saw at once, it was impossible to prevent small bodies of men at night crossing the river which was falling daily, and fresh portions of it becoming fordable.

Colonel Dennis having informed me that he was directed to sweep through the Khyreghur jungles, Colonel Smyth on the 14th instant proceeded to the small detachment (which was watching the Bunbasa ghat, 13 miles up the river, on the extreme left of our line), with two guns, a few Highlanders on them, and an escort of Cavalry to strengthen that post, in case an attack should be made on it, when the Rebels were disturbed by Colonel Dennis' Column.

On the 15th instant at dawn, firing was heard in our Camp, from a ghat about (3) three miles up the river, where we had a picquet of 20 Highlanders, 20 Kumaon Levy, and 10 Irregular Cavalry, and soon after information was sent in that the enemy was crossing the river in strength with elephants and guns, about 600 yards below the picquet where the forest was very dense.

I immediatly despatched Lieutenant Lance, with a party of the 2nd Punjaub Cavalry, to ascertain what was going on and proceeded with the Troops specified in the margin towards the picquet, leaving a few men in Camp (which was ordered to be struck and packed) under Lieutenant Millett, to guard it. On passing through a village, or rather a few wretched hovels on the edge of the jungle, I found that the enemy occupied the only path through which we could pass, so I formed up the Troops at this village, placing the guns where they commanded the open ground up to the edge of the forest, with the few Infantry to support them, and the Cavalry drawn up on the flanks where the ground was tolerably open.

2 B. Horse Artillery guns, 5th Troop 1st Brigade.

180 Sabres of the 2nd Punjaub Irregular Cavalry and Rohilcund Horse.

1 Officer and 37 Men 42nd Highlanders, and 1 Officer and 54 Men of the Kumaon Levy.

I sent off to Colonel Smyth to beg him to return with his two guns, and the few Highlanders and Sowars he had taken to Bunbasa, and also to Colonel Wilkinson's Camp—20 miles distant to desire him to forward as quickly as possible a Troop of Cavalry, and two Companies of Highlanders.

At about 8 o'clock A. M., Colonel Smyth arrived, he having started early, leaving the guns and detachment to follow later in the day, but on meeting my messenger, and hearing what was going on, he directed him to proceed as fast as possible to Bunbasa, and pushed on to join me.

From the time we took up our position a fire was opened on both sides, but without any damage to us; at about 8½ A. M., the enemy issued from the forest in force, a line of 3 or 400 Sepoys many dressed in uniform, leading in skirmishing order, supported by two guns, large numbers of foot and some horsemen, Colonel Smyth riding forward took a position to enfilade them with the guns, and the Highlanders and Kumaon Levy in extended order, received them with a heavy fire at the same time; the Artillery reserving their fire until within grape range drove back the whole mass with great loss into the forest along the edge of which their skirmishers remained keeping up a fire, and occasionally advancing to attack us whenever our fire ceased.

At about 12 o'clock, the 2 guns with the eleven Highlanders on them and the Cavalry returned from Bunbasa, and a Squadron arrived from the South, and thinking it of the greatest consequence to prevent the enemy escaping through the forest, and feeling confident I could hold my position in their front, I despatched 2 guns and a Squadron of Cavalry to the open plain in front of the village of Nugra to watch the whole of the jungle in that direction, and determined to act on the defensive until the two Companies of Highlanders, which I had sent for arrived, unless my picquet which was separated from us should be seriously attacked, when I determined to advance into the jungles to rescue them.

At about 3 o'clock P. M., a heavy fire of musketry was heard in the direction of the picquet. I therefore decided to attack and unite with it. I directed Colonel Smyth to gain possession of the road which led to them. He galloped forward with the guns with great gallantry, the Infantry only about 90 in all advanced in skirmishing order, and the Cavalry formed as well as the rough jungle would permit, to support the whole. The enemy fought with great determination, but the Highlanders advanced with such intrepidity and steadiness, and the guns were so well served and taken so nobly to the front, that the enemy, though fighting in the most obstinate manner, after a severe struggle gave way. We continued to advance pressing their right so effectually that in an hour I was enabled to open communication with the picquet. But we had suffered severely. Captain Lawson was badly wounded, nobly fighting in the front with his men, the Color Serjeant of the same Company was killed. Lieutenant Kemp, Commanding the Detachment of Kumaon Levy, was mortally wounded while gallantly leading on his men, and our Casualties for so small a Force, were considerable, but our object was gained, the Infantry of the piequet under Lieutenant Coleridge were at once sent to the front and reinforced, our thin line of Skirmishers, and the whole advancing with cheers continued to drive the enemy before them until the sun was down when we arrived at a deep swamp which was impassable for guns, the enemy were hurriedly and in confusion re-crossing the river, and but a feeble fire was kept up. At 7 o'clock P. M., the two fresh Companies of the 42nd arrived, and the whole advancing under Captain Green, soon cleared our front and finished the action, driving the enemy before them and bayonetting some, who obstinately continued to remain in the high grass to fight them.

It was now 8 P. M., all firing ceased and although moonlight, a thick mist and the smoke which continued to hang heavily among the trees, made it impossible to see many yards. I therefore considered it prudent not to push further through the jungle, where even a few desperate wounded men might have shot or stabbed our skirmishers without our observing them. I therefore remained quietly in position until midnight, when all having been quiet for some hours, I left a strong piequet at the village and Cavalry to watch the outside of the forest, and took back the remainder to Camp where we lay on our arms.

The following morning I sent a long line of skirmishers through the entire jungle, two guns which had been abandoned were secured; several horses and bullocks and the killed, with a few wounded who had been unable to move lay thick and numerous; old Sepoys' muskets, matchlocks and swords had been thrown away in all directions. Among the slain are Nurput Sing, his cousin Bene Sing and his son. The Rebels were driven entirely routed across the Saarda, and are dispersed; several small parties with many wounded men who fled from the fight have been captured by our patrol parties and the police in various directions, and the Force is entirely broken up.

To the small gallant band who so nobly fought against such overwhelming numbers, (for the enemy were above 2000,) and to the whole of the Officers, only 15 in all including my Staff, after the arrival of the two Companies of the 42nd, my warmest thanks are due. It is impossible to speak in too high praise of the small body of 42nd Highlanders bravely led by Captain Lawson until wounded, and then Commanded by Lieutenant Coleridge, and of the Troop of Native Bengal Horse Artillery ably Commanded by Captain Renny; no Artillery could have behaved with more devotion, more courage, or more coolness; to the whole of the Officers and Men of this Troop I am deeply indebted. To Lieutenant-Colonel Smyth, the greatest praise is due for the extremely good arrangements he made for watching the ghats, and for his vigilance and constant exertions in this harassing duty in a country of thick jungle. I am also extremely indebted to this Officer for the able and valuable assistance he gave me during the action, and I beg most strongly to recommend him to His Lordship's notice and protection.

My best thanks are due to Lieutenant Lance, 2nd Punjaub Irregular Cavalry, who was unfortunately wounded early in the morning, and his horse killed while endeavouring to communicate with the piequet, and also to Major Carey, my Acting Quarter Master General who, on Lieutenant Lance being wounded, I directed to take Command of his Regiment, there being no other Officer with it.

The whole of the Cavalry exposed to a heavy fire in ground most unfavourable for the action of that arm, behaved remarkably well.

The Kumaon Levy, young and inexperienced boys, suffered from the impossibility of preventing them congregating in masses instead of extending; great praise is due to Subadar Runjeet Khatrie, an old Native Officer of the 66th Goorkas, who was unremitting in his zeal and gallantly in commanding them on the removal of the their brave Officer Lieutenant Kemp.

The zeal and indefatigable exertions of Assistant Surgeon Smith, B. Horse Artillery, the only Medical Officer with the Force were unceasing, and he was constantly exposed during the day to the fire of the enemy while attending on our numerous wounded.

I beg to bring to His Lordship's notice my Acting Adjutant General Major Barwell who was wounded, whose usefulness, active exertions and courage deserve my particular thanks, and to my Aide-de-Camp Lieutenant Henly, 52nd Regiment, my best thanks are due for his general usefulness, his zeal, and his intelligence.

I beg to enclose a list of Casualties and a Sketch of the ground.

Camp Goorhaie, 14th January 1859.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that during last night I received a note from Lieutenant Dixon, Commanding Detachment of Mooltanee Horse, informing me that he had come upon the track of the Rebels some fifteen miles from my encampment. He halted when he found his information certain, and he ascertained this morning that they were about ten miles in advance of him, with which he acquainted me. I started early this morning, but on the march I received a note from Lieutenant Dixon, giving me to understand that he was close upon the Rebels. I immediately hastened on with the Artillery and 2nd Dragoon Guards, but I regret to say I was too late to take part in an affair between Lieutenant Dixon, with his Mooltanees, aided by Lieutenant De Kantzow, and about eighty of his Police, and in which the former was severely wounded, and several men both of the Mooltanees and Police.

The Rebels being reported in position about four miles from where they had checked our Native Force, I advanced upon them with about fifty of the Bays, a Troop of Mooltanees, and about sixty of the Police, with intent to make them show their strength, and to go at them if I found myself strong enough; but they were so strongly posted in an exceedingly difficult jungle with, I should say, six or eight guns, that I refused in any way to compromise the few Europeans I had with me, and the Artillery, who with the remainder of the Bays were some miles in rear (and the Rifles still further) being unable to come up until nearly dark. I did not expose the Force further.

I am now about eight miles from the Rebels, who are watched, and, if they remain at their present position, I shall go at them with my whole Force as early as possible to-morrow morning.

Sir,

In continuation of my letter of yesterday, I beg leave to acquaint you for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that I followed up the Rebels at an early hour this morning to Malaghat on the Saarda, which they crossed without affording me an opportunity of opening fire upon them; but, apparently, immediately they reached the right bank of the river a heavy fire was opened upon them from, I believe, either Colonel Smythe or Colonel Wilkinson's Columns, which has been continued almost without intermission up to the present hour.

I remained at the ghat for some time to prevent the Rebels from returning, but the report of the guns becoming fainter and fainter every moment, I fell assured they were driven completely from the Khyru Ghur District, beyond which my instructions intimated I was not to proceed in pursuit. I rode upwards of forty miles yesterday and thirty to-day, which must be my excuse for not sending you a list of the casualties that occurred in the Mooltanee Cavalry and DeKantzow's Police in the affair of yesterday.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF THE POST IN INDIA,
January 1st 1859.

THE following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book-Packets by Post:—

1*st.*—The Postage must be pre-paid in full, by means of Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet on its cover.

2*nd.*—Every Packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3*rd.*—The Packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, parchment or vellum (to the exclusion, however, of letters whether sealed or open) and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, publication, &c., or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c. be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books; and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto.

4*th.*—The Packet must not contain any letter, closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written or printed in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.

5*th.*—No Book-Packet can be received if it exceeds two feet in length, width, or depth.

6*th.*—Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any letter or any communication of the nature of a letter written or printed in it or upon its cover will be charged with Letter Postage.

7*th.*—If a Packet be found to contain any letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet, charged with full Postage as an unpaid letter together with an additional Book-rate; that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than half a lb the remainder of the Packet, if duly pre-paid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8*th*.—If a Packet be not sufficiently pre-paid with Stamps but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book-rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book-Postage together with an additional Book-rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book-rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9*th*.—No Book-Packet weighing more than three lbs can be sent to or from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10*th*.—The Colonial Book-Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11*th*.—In no case can a Book-Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the letter rate of Postage,) through a Foreign Country.

Special Notice is directed to the subjoined Clauses of Rules, the want of attention to which has occasioned the Post Office much inconvenience.

2*nd*.—A separate instruction will be required for every change of address, and no instruction will be attended to for more than three months after its receipt.

3*rd*.—Under Section XXIII. of Act XVII. of 1854, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in any Post Office. For example, if a letter posted in Calcutta and addressed to Hooghly is, under instructions which may have been received from the addressee, re-directed in the Calcutta Post Office and sent to Barrackpore, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to the Postage which would have been due, had the letter been despatched to Hooghly according to its original address.

4*th*.—The practice of giving instructions to the Officers of the Post Office to intercept and re-direct letters, not only imposes much labor upon them, but in large Offices seriously retards the delivery and despatch of the Mails. A register of instructions regarding changes of address will be kept in every Post Office, but it must be understood, that it is impossible to guarantee that they shall be attended to, except in the case of letters received for delivery.

The Railway Trains leave Howrah, at 9-20 A. M. daily (Sundays excepted.) Letters and Papers are sent to Bally, Coonnughur, Barrackpore, Serampore, Chandernagore, Hooghly, Burdwan, Bood Bood, Pundooah, Panaghur, Soorool, Raneegunge, Bancoorah, Beerbhoom, Bousee and Nyadoomka. By the 5-40 P. M. Train, Mails for Bally, Coonnughur, Barrackpore, Serampore, Chandernagore, Hooghly and Pundooah are again made up and despatched. By the Express Mail Train which leaves Howrah at 8-45 P. M. the above Packets are also made up and forwarded, together with Mails for the North-Western Provinces and Gya, Ghazeepore, and Bombay Lines.

Noon Despatch for Serampore and Barrackpore are also made up and forwarded by Runners, and at 1 P. M. a Mail for Dum-Dum is made up and forwarded in a similar manner.

Letters, &c., posted at the Thannahs, Pillar Boxes, and the several Receiving Houses up to 1 P. M. will reach the General Post Office in time for Train Despatch at 4 P. M.

The Receiving Houses are opened daily from 9½ A. M. to 4 P. M.

Letters posted at the Receiving Houses and Pillar Boxes for delivery at Calcutta before 9 A. M. will be sent out by the second delivery, those posted before 1 P. M. will be sent out by the third delivery and after that hour the delivery will take place the following morning.

There is only one delivery of letters at the General Post Office on Sundays, and Banghy Parcels are neither received nor despatched on that day.

Letters and Newspapers despatched to and from the United Kingdom by private Vessels are liable to the following rates of Postage which must be pre-paid by Stamps:—

	Rs.	As.	Pie.
Letters not exceeding ½ oz. in weight	0	4	0
Ditto exceeding ½ oz. but not exceeding 1 oz.	0	8	0

And so on adding 8 annas for each oz. or fraction thereof which includes Inland Postage.

Newspapers not exceeding 4 oz. in weight, 1*d*. or 9 pie must be pre-paid in cash, and no Inland Postage is required upon such papers.

Parcels conveyed by the above opportunity for the United Kingdom are liable to Letter rates of Postage.

Notice.

The following Extract of an Order of the Government of India, No. 884, of the 13th July 1855.

"No Public Officer is authorized to send Covers on the Public Service by Post, without payment of Postage, unless he is at the time on active duty and in charge of the Office by virtue of which the privilege is enjoyed. All letters superscribed as 'on the Public Service only' must, even though the Postage thereon be not paid, be received and opened by the Officer to whom they are addressed, but if any such, or partially paid letter so superscribed, and addressed to any Officer except a Secretary to Government be found when opened, to relate to the private affairs of the Sender, the Postage will be debited to him and he will be further liable to be dealt with under Section XLVII. Act No. XVII. of 1854.

His Honor in Council further directs that unpaid or insufficiently paid letters addressed to any such Officer or Department and not superscribed 'on the Public Service only' be refused, or if opened that it be at the risk and cost of the opener."

IRON Pillar Letter Boxes have been placed in the following localities:—

Rada Bazar, Bonded Ware-house, Wellington Square, Mangoe Lane, Park Street, Gowkhannah, Scott Thomson's, General Treasury, Prinsep's Ghaut, Fort near Main Guard, Watgunge, Salt Golah Ghaut, Matia Poruze, Ballygunge, General Hospital, Theatre Road, Strand Flour Mills, Prossono Coomar's Ghaut, College Square and Chitpore Road, and are opened three times a day at 9 A. M., 1 and 4 P. M.

Letters, &c., intended for Calcutta posted in the above Box up to 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. will be brought in time for the second and third deliveries respectively, and those dropped into the Box after 1 P. M. and up to 4 P. M. will be distributed the next morning at the first delivery.

Letters, &c., intended for the Train Mail, found in the Pillar Box at 9 A. M. and 1 P. M. will arrive in time for 4 P. M. Despatch, and those posted after the last mentioned hour and up to 5 P. M. will be forwarded by the Express Mail Train at 8-45 P. M.

Letters, &c., for Eastern and Southern routes posted up to 5 P. M. will be forwarded to their destination at 8 P. M.

On Sundays, the Letter Box will be cleared twice, viz., 12 noon and 4 P. M., and letters, &c., posted after the latter hour will be brought to the Calcutta Post Office the following morning.

LETTERS arriving at the Presidency Towns, by Mail Steamers will be immediately sorted for delivery according to the address alone, without any reference to instructions which may have been received regarding change of address; such changes will be left to be discovered by the Delivery Officers, and be corrected in the forward and unclaimed Departments of the Office.

Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon, upon every letter, without exception, which may be re-directed in the Post Office.

Letters, &c., received by the Steamer will be delivered at the Window of the Post Office only to parties who have registered their names. Applications to the Post Office on the day of the Steamer's arrival to intercept and re-direct letters, &c., cannot be attended to, as they are found not only to impose much labour but seriously retard the delivery and despatch of the Mails.

ALL Banghy Parcels being registered before despatch it is needless to have a Banghy Parcel specially registered by payment of the Fee of 4 annas as no additional precaution can be taken of a specially Registered Parcel which is not taken in the case of every ordinary Banghy Parcel.

UNDER the orders of Government, no fourth delivery of letters by the Post Office is allowed. Mails which are received by Steamers from Suez at so late an hour in the day as not to admit of the letters being taken out for delivery by 6 P. M. are detained till the following morning, but parties who have registered their names under the usual fee, are entitled to receive their letters, and Marseilles Newspapers so soon as the Mails are sorted, and which is generally about 2½ hours after receipt of the Mail at the Post Office.

A NUMBER of Letters and Newspapers for parties residing at Calcutta are from their being directed to the Suburbs* of the Town, mistaken for places in the Mofussil, and are enclosed in the Boxes superscribed "Inland" by the London Post Office and are not in consequence discovered by the Calcutta Post Office, till after the local delivery has taken place. This will account for some of the letters, &c., reaching the Addressees at a late hour.

Replies to Petitions.—The receipt at all District Post Offices of Bearing Letters superscribed "Replies to Petitions" and franked by any Public Officer is authorized.

FROM CAPTAIN J. O. B. FORREST,
3rd Bombay European Regiment,
Comdg. Field Force Det. at Lullutpore,

TO LIEUT.-COLONEL. J. LIDDELL,
Commanding Field Force at Lullutpore.
Dated Camp Poorah, 1st January 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward for your information, a report of the proceedings of the Force under my Command (strength as per margin), since my arrival at Talbehut on the 27th ultimo.

2 9-pounder Guns Bengal Artillery.
38 Rank and File, 3rd Light Cavalry.
50 Rank and File, 3rd Europeans.
150 Rank and File, 24th Regt. N. I.
28 Cavalry and 60 Infantry Military Police, under Captain Sneyd.

The information not having been good enough to warrant my moving immediately, I halted a day there, to enable the spies I sent out to return, which they did on the evening of the 28th, and reported that the enemy under Takoor Telook Sing, and Dewan Murdun Sing had barricaded the road about a mile to the west of Sonorie, and had collected their followers to the number of 300 men, (amongst whom were mutineer Sepoys with percussion arms), with the intention of disputing the passage.

I marched at day-break in the following order: Advanced Guard, 7 Files of the 3rd Europeans, 12½ Files 24th Regiment Native Infantry, 7 Files of the Military Police, (which Captain Sneyd had kindly placed at my disposal), under Lieutenant Leslie, main body. The remainder 3rd Europeans, ditto 24th Regiment Native Infantry and about 60 Police Cavalry and Infantry. Rear Guard, the Troop 3rd Light Cavalry, under Lieutenant Coombe.

We proceeded for about three miles without opposition through a very dense jungle, not on coming to a sudden turn of the road, commanded by high rocks on either side in the very thickest of the wood, we were received with a heavy fire from muskets and matchlocks, with, I regret to say, fatal results to one of the European. The enemy were driven in gallant style from the rocks by the Advanced Guard, and retreated slowly, disputing every inch of ground for about a mile, where the jungle not being so dense, I ordered a more rapid advance, which resulted in the total dispersion of the Rebels, who fled in the direction of some hills to the North-East of Sonorie. They left in the jungle between 20 and 30 killed, and their wounded must be computed at still greater numbers. From the difficult nature of the Country, I deemed it advisable to send back a reinforcement of 50 Native Infantry to Lieutenant Coombe. The results fully bore me out in this order, as the Rear Guard was attacked by some stragglers and 2 Privates 24th Regiment Native Infantry wounded.

I proceeded to occupy the village of Sonorie, which was done without resistance. It was quite deserted: in it were the two fortified houses of the before-mentioned Takoors, which I ordered to be destroyed, and which order was carried out as well as the means at my disposal would admit of.

30th December 1858.—About 10 A. M., it was reported to me that several of the enemy were lurking among the hills and jungle to our left rear. I with the following party, 25 Rank and File 3rd Europeans and the Police proceeded by a detour to the North-West, while Lieutenant Leslie, with the 24th Regiment Native Infantry, was ordered to make a similar detour in a South-West direction, and meet the party under my Command to the West of a large hill behind which the enemy were supposed to be. We scoured the jungle for about three hours, but without being able to bring them to action, although they were seen in the distance, and one wounded by a man of the 24th Regiment Native Infantry. Their knowledge of the country, and the thickness of the jungle enabled them to escape.

Amongst these hills, the Police succeeded in retaking a quantity of cotton and thread which had been looted by the enemy some days previously, and which I handed over to the Thessaldar of Chunderie.

31st December 1858.—Early in the morning before day-light, information was given me that the Rana with three hundred men was at Poorah in a small ghurrie, and was looting the country. I immediately ordered the Camp to be struck, and pushed on the 3rd Cavalry in hopes of surrounding him in his stronghold, while I followed with the rest of the column. His look outs however, posted on a high hill discovered the approach of the Cavalry, and he at once retreated to another small ghurrie in some strong jungle, about a coss beyond and to the Eastward of Poorah.

On learning this I left the Artillery and Baggage with a Guard of the 24th, and proceeded in two parties (one commanded by myself: the other by Lieutenant Leslie) by different routes, to try and surround him.

The party under my command first came upon him on which he quickly vacated his position, running straight on to Lieutenant Leslie's party. The enemy had now only one line of escape open, and of which they were enabled to take advantage by our numbers not having quite sufficient to complete the cordon. We pursued them till the jungle became impracticable for troops to work in, when I returned to Poorah and pitched Camp.

Killed in this affair 10.

The Officers and men have in every instance willingly and effectually carried out my orders, and to them I tender my best thanks, especially Lieutenants Coombe and Leslie, who so ably performed the duties allotted to them.

To Captain Sneyd also I am indebted for his kindness in placing the Police at my disposal.

The 25th November 1858.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to inform you that agreeably to your instructions, I marched from Kolaras and from thence to Ranode. On reaching this place, the Kumashdan informed me that Man Sing had crossed the Betwa to join Tantia Topee, and was last heard of at Jakhlown Ghat, but that he had left Bhyron Sing and Nirunjun Sing, with about three hundred followers, matchlockmen, in the Fort of Akajhiree.

On the morning of the 8th I advanced to the Fort of Akajhiree with the Force, as per margin, and found the enemy evacuating it.

Cavalry composed of "1st Bombay Lancers." "Meades" and "Bolundshere Horse." ... ... } 115

Matchlockmen ... ... } 125
One Native Gun ... }

I had communicated on the day previous with Colonel Scudamore, Her Majesty's 14th Dragoons, who was encamped at Myapore, and in Command of the Flying Column.

The Fort which is built of stone is a strong one, containing four towers inside the second wall, which command the entire enclosure.

I here learnt that the enemy had gone towards Gurohie, a village situated on the borders of the Jhansie territory, to which place I advanced on the 9th with the Cavalry and (35) thirty-five matchlockmen of Esanghur.

The village is situated on the slope of a small hill which was occupied by the enemy. I sent "Meade's Horse" to cut off their retreat and advanced the matchlockmen in skirmishing order, supporting them with my Cavalry; but the fire soon became too hot for the skirmishers, who after a few of their number had been disabled, could not be persuaded to close with the enemy

I then gradually withdrew the Cavalry in hopes that the Rebels would follow and give me an opportunity of charging them on favorable ground; just at this critical moment the shouts of "Meade's Horse," charging from the opposite side of the hill, showed me their position, and leading up my own party we cleared the hill, driving the enemy to take shelter in the adjacent jungles. Twenty-five bodies were counted on the field after the charge, in which Hurdeo Sing, Duffadar of "Meade's Horse," particularly distinguished himself. We rescued a Zemindar who was a captive in the hands of the Rebels, together with a couple of Bankers. The enemy mustered two hundred matchlocks according to the report of the captives. After burning their village, we carried off a number of their cattle, together with one prisoner taken in the charge, with arms in his possession. Dhakunjee, the Zemindar of Gurohie, was also in arms against us.

Where all did well it would be injustice to land one more than another. I am extremely indebted to the Jemadars of the different Troops. To Ram Sing, Jemadar of the Bolundshere Horse, Sheikh Omar, of the 1st Bombay Lancers, and Narain Sing, of Meade's Horse.

Camp Sirsa, 16 miles East of Toolseepore.

The 22nd January 1859.

Sir,

I have the honor to forward, for submission to the Right Honorable the Commander-in-Chief, the enclosed letters, as noted in the margin, reporting certain successful actions with Rebels in the Goruckpore District, which from the immediate movement and marches of the Goruckpore Field Force, I regret to say have accidentally been omitted to be earlier transmitted.

Letter dated Camp Bhanpore, 11th November 1858, from Lieut.-Col. Brasyer, C. B., Comdg. Regiment of Ferozepore.
Letter dated Bhanpore, 11th November 1858, from Captain Browne, H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, Commanding Detachment.

2. I beg to solicit for the Officers Commanding Detachments, and for the Officers and Men of all arms, for the zealous, gallant and cheerful manner, in which the several successful attacks were carried out, the most favorable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Camp Bhanpore, 11th November 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report for the information of Brigadier Rowcroft, that I marched from Bustee towards Bhanpore, with the Regiment of Ferozepore, this morning as directed. Just before day-break I was informed that the Rebels had strong picquets of about 100 men each in the nullah and jungle close by on my then left; that they had been sounding their bugles, and were very busy running about in the border of the jungle. Continuing my advance, I arrived near Bhanpore at sun-rise; the Rebels (as they proved to be) began firing musketry, keeping under cover of the jungle, and immediately fired a gun. Captain Browne opening fire on my right front, my skirmishers having reached within musket shot of the village, and the Rebels retiring towards my left and rear; I keeping my right close to the village, attempted to cut off the enemy's retreat by dashing through the jungle on the left of the road. This proved but an attempt, for I cleared the jungle only just in time to see them retreating towards the Khoanee Nuddee, still more to my then left.

The enemy retreating under cover of the jungle, and out of reach of musketry, I am inclined to think they had but few or no Casualties, and I am happy to say but one man (of the Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry) wounded on our side.

The position of the enemy evidently shows they intended to have got round upon the rear of (either) one party, had we not advanced from two different directions at one and the same time, and their preparations for retreat shows they had intimation of our advance. They are now said to have crossed the Khoanee River about a coss in our present front.

Bhanpore, 11th November 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report to you, for the information of the Brigadier Commanding at Bustee, that in compliance with an order received last night from the Deputy Quarter-Master General, the detachments under my Command, strength as per margin, marched from Rudowlee, en route to Bhanpore, at 2 o'clock this morning. On arriving within 2 miles of the enemy's position, I halted till day-light, and then advanced about half a mile from Bhanpore, which we reached about sun-rise, a deep nullah crossed the road, where some difficulty occurred in passing the guns over.

5 Officers and 34 men Ben. Yeo. Cavy., under Lieut. Ellis.

2 Officers, 28 men and 2 guns Naval Brigade, under Lieut. Ingles, R. N.

3 Officers and 100 men H. M.'s 13th Light Infantry, under Capt. Boyd.

No sooner had the whole Force passed this nullah, than the enemy opened fire on us with round shot, one of which, I regret to say, severely wounded a man of the Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry. As they had got our range with perfect accuracy, I considered that to remain where we were would subject us to many more Casualties, and determined on attacking them at once. We advanced with the Guns in the centre, supported on both flanks by the 13th Light Infantry in skirmishing order, with supports, the Troop of the Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry in the rear. The enemy now showed in great numbers in our front and both flanks. I should rate their numbers at about 800 men, Cavalry, Infantry, and 2 Guns, though the Native spies say there were many more. On our advancing they retired, though in a most orderly manner, from which I am disposed to think there were many Sepoys among them and Irregular Cavalry.

We followed them rapidly, the guns of the Naval Brigade throwing shell into them with admirable celerity and precision, the 13th keeping up a rapid Rifle firing. The Rebels occasionally halted and fronted, firing volleys of musketry at us, but without effect. We chased them for about 2 miles, when they were driven into a thick jungle, where pursuit would have been useless, and as we had left the Town of Bhanpore in our rear, and not knowing whether there was any Rebel Force holding it or not, I determined on returning there to ascertain. At this moment, as you Sir are aware, we were joined by the Sikhs under your command.

I should feel obliged by your bringing to the notice of the Brigadier the excellent conduct of all the Troops and Sailors engaged, moving as steadily as on an ordinary field day. To Captain Boyd, Commanding the Detachment 13th Light Infantry, I beg to express my best thanks, for the able manner in which he handled the skirmishers, and the spirited way in which he led the advance. Lieutenant Ingles and the Naval Brigade worked their guns with a rapidity and coolness which was beautiful to witness.

I much regret that Lieutenant Ellis and his fine Troop of Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry had no opportunity of charging, as the country consisted of thick jungle and large topes of trees, with very little open space between them. Had they been able to do so, I am convinced he could have captured their guns.

Lieutenant Wroughton, 13th Light Infantry, has acted as Staff Officer to these Detachments since we left Bustee, and has been most useful as an Interpreter and indefatigable in obtaining information.

The Native spies state that the enemy's loss was 10 or 12 killed, and about 20 wounded, but I am unable to speak with any accuracy on this subject from the thick state of the jungle and topes.

M., on the 19th instant, with a party of the strength named in the margin, and under the guidance of Mr. Bird, Magistrate and Collector of Goruckpore, for the purpose of dispersing a body of Rebels under the Command of Buthoo Singh, whose numbers were variously estimated at from 500 to 800 strong, and who were reported to have taken up a strong position in a dense jungle about 16 miles to the eastward of Goruckpore. 17 miles, we found ourselves in the vicinity of a house, formerly an Indigo Factory, and which, I had been led to suppose, was also in the occupation of the Rebels, but as this information proved incorrect, I proceeded to enter that portion of the jungle stated to be in their occupation, and after proceeding a short distance, came upon their position, which had evidently been abandoned with the utmost precipitancy, as I found the Camp fires burning, and the food of a large number of men in a state of preparation.

A few bullocks and ponies, about 70 hackeries, two of them laden with rice, a quantity of native powder and cartridges, and a number of entrenching tools, had all been abandoned in the haste of departure.

On examination, I found that a wide ditch and embankment had been traced out and partly executed on the side facing the open ground, and as from the density of the jungle, their position was almost impracticable from other points, there can be no doubt that had time been allowed to complete the defences, it would have proved a formidable one.

Finding that pursuit in such ground was useless, I withdrew the party, after burning the Camp and destroying the powder, and marched again the evening of the 20th instant to Goruckpore, according to instructions received from the Brigadier, leaving Mr. Bird with 150 Native Levies and 35 Europeans with half the Troop Madras Native Cavalry, both the latter parties under the Command of Lieutenant Alexander, Madras Native Cavalry, and the whole under Lieutenant Shaw, of the Native Levies, to level the works thrown up by the Rebels, after which it is the intention of Mr. Bird to return with the whole party to Goruckpore.

I beg to observe that in the twenty-six hours I was absent from the Station, the men, the greater number of them quite young Soldiers, marched considerably more than 40 miles, and that apparently without the least distress.

From Lieut.-Colonel J. Brasyer,

To Captain Morgan,
Major of Brigade,
Goruckpore District.

Camp Bhanpore, 25th November 1858.

Sir,

I have the honor to report, for the information of Brigadier Rowcroft, Commanding the Brigade, that as directed by him, I marched from Amah yesterday, at 2 P. M., with Troops as per margin, towards Kotheela, and from information gained on the road, I determined to proceed direct to where the Rebels were located near the Purgash ghat (Khoanee Nuddee,) approaching which, the Rebels, some 600 or 700, perceiving our advance, hastily assembled, and firing musketry and jingals, made a partial advance. My skirmishers being then within musket shot of them, commenced firing, and the whole, with Cavalry on both flanks, in as good a line as the broken ground and jungle would admit of, charged the enemy, and we drove them before us into a dense jungle, a short distance beyond where they were first seen, but the jungle being too thick to pursue them with the least chance of further success, I retreated to the open fields, and encamped for the night.

2 Officers and 20 Men Bengal Yeomanry Cavalry.

1 Native Officer and 20 Men 6th Madras Cavalry.

13 Native Officers and 240 Men Regiment of Ferozepore.

I was much pleased with, and thankful to, the Officers and Men of the Cavalry, as well as my own Regiment (Regiment of Ferozepore) for the steady way in which all advanced, with the enemy's shots flying over our heads, and I am happy to say, without a single Casualty on our side.

The enemy were surprized while cooking their meals, and although they managed to carry off all other their property, we found much of their food still on the fire, and the head and heel ropes of several horses cut and left on the roots of trees to which they had been fastened. The enemy are known to have had four men killed in their retreat.

FROM BRIGADIER ST. G. D. SHOWERS,
Commanding Agra and Muttra Districts,
TO THE CHIEF OF THE STAFF,
Head-Quarters Camp.

Camp Mowah, 18*th January* 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, that I moved out with the force noted in the margin, on the 4th instant, in progress to Hindown, to oppose the Rebels under the Mallaratta Chiefs, the Rao Sahib and Tantia Topee, and the Shazadah Ferozeshah, who from their position threatened both Bhurtpore and Jeypore.

Artillery 4 Guns.
1 Subaltern.
1 Staff Sergeant.
59 Rank and File.
3rd European Regiment.
2 Captains.
6 Subalterns.
212 Rank and File.
Alexander's Horse.
1 Subaltern.
5 Native Officers.
132 Sabres.
Agra Mounted Police.
2 Subalterns.
5 Native Officers.
120 Sabres.

On my arrival at Hindown, intelligence came in which led me to advance to Doongur Malarna, where I arrived on the 11th. Here I learnt the Rebels were moving Northwards between my position and Tonk. Their destination was evidently Jeypore. I immediately threw forward a strong advanced guard to Roepulivara, 18 miles distant, to intercept the stragglers of the Rebel Force, and followed myself with the main body during the night.

The Rebels had passed the village only a few hour before. I now took up the pursuit, and following close on their heels came up with them at Dewsa at 8 A. M. of the 14th instant.

Dewsa is a town situated on the Western slope of a rocky hill, and bounded to the West by fields with high banks. It was among these the Rebels had taken up their position. The approach to it was difficult. There were but two roads leading out of the town in this direction. Without a guide on whom I could rely, I threw my column into one of these, and proceeded some distance in the hope of finding an opening to lead me to the Rebels' camp. Failing in this, and the grey of the morning appearing, I determined to commence the attack with the Cavalry, leaving the Artillery with the European Infantry as an escort to follow. I counter-marched the Cavalry, and threaded the streets of the town at a sharp trot until I came to the second road, which debouched nearer to the position of the Rebels. I pushed up one of the banks on the right, and formed the Cavalry on the high ground, the Detachment Agra Mounted Police on the left, and Squadron of Alexander's Horse on the right, and then advancing at a charging pace across the intervening fields, came upon the Rebels preparing to march. They were taken by surprise. The Cavalry dashed at once amongst them. Being enable to escape from the enclosures, numbers were killed. They however soon recovered from the surprise, and commenced a sharp musketry fire upon us. The charge notwithstanding was continued through a second field, when all that remained were cut up; we then came into the plain when the pursuit was kept up.

Our attack was made about the centre of the Enemy's position. It separated their force into three parties; one went off to the right, another to the left, while a considerable body were driven to our front, and vigorously followed up by the Detachment of Alexander's Horse and Agra Mounted Police under their gallant young Commanders, Lieutenant H. Chapman, of the late 49th Regiment Native Infantry, and Lieutenant H. T. Oldfield, of the late 9th Regiment Native Infantry.

The Artillery with the Detachment 3rd European Regiment had come up. The force had already made a most harassing march. During the last 45 hours we had followed the enemy continuously a distance of 75 miles. Men and horses had been accoutred and harnessed the whole time, and had no other rest than what short bivouacs afforded. The horses were fagged. But Lieutenant R. S. Robinson, Commanding Artillery, brought up his guns to within some 1,200 yards of the party of the Rebels, who had fled to the right, but being at such a long range, they effected their escape without suffering severely. Ferozeshah is said to have been with this body.

The party on the left, with which I learned Tantia Topee moved off, disappeared early in the action. Not a horseman after the first half hour could be seen in that direction.

The pursuit was kept up for five miles. I then halted. Men and horses were worn out with the previous marching, but as the Rebels were dispersed to the right and left, I directed a Troop from each Cavalry Detachment to take an advanced position to our front, so as to prevent the scattered bodies of the Rebels from re-uniting without making a long detour.

In this action I received valuable aid from the Contingent of Cavalry of the Bhurtpore State, strength as per margin. I enclose the report of Captain Nixon, the Officiating Political Agent, and I have to recommend to the notice of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief the services of the Officers mentioned by Captain Nixon.

12 Native Officers.
435 Rank and File.

From Captain Nixon himself I have received important assistance. He himself led the Contingent into the Field and directed it during the action. He was able and indefatigable in obtaining information of the movements of the Rebels, and it was by his placing a number of riding camels at my disposal that I was able to bring my Infantry up with the Rebels. I beg to recommend the services of this Officer to the favorable consideration of His Lordship.

It is my duty also to bring to the favorable notice of His Excellency the services of Lieutenants Oldfield and Chapman in leading the respective detachments against the greatly superior numbers of the Rebels. I have to offer my acknowledgments to Captain R. Stevenson, Commanding Detachment, 3rd European Regiment, and Lieutenant R. S. Robinson, Commanding Artillery; also to Captain A. L. McMullin, of the late 23rd Regiment Native Infantry, and the Detachment Staff Officer, and Lieutenant A. Money, 3rd European Regiment, my Orderly Officer, whose horse was shot under him. These Officers rendered me great assistance during the action.

It is my grateful duty to bring to the favorable notice of Government the hardy and cheerful spirit displayed by all branches of the force while making the long and heavy marches in pursuit of the enemy as well as the gallantry of the Cavalry during the action. The conduct of all deserves great commendation.

Lieutenant Oldfield reports favorably of the conduct of Lieutenant G. F. J. Graham, of the 4th European Regiment, doing duty with the Etawah Levy; and I have to recommend for the Order of British India and Order of Merit the following Officers and Sowars:—

Alexander's Horse.

Especially brought to notice by Lieutenant Chapman.
- Shaick Ameenooddeen, Ressaidar, severely wounded.
- Meg Sing (Jat) Sowar.
- Meg Sing (Sikh) Sowar.
- Kurtab Sing, Sowar.

Agra Mounted Police.

Especially brought to notice by Lieutenant Oldfield,
- Ressaldar Shadie Ramana
- Jemadar Sobha Sing,

also of Kunneya Sing, Sowar, Agra Mounted Police, on my personal escort, who was himself wounded and had his horse wounded.

The loss in killed of the Rebels may have been 300, and reports have come in stating that they are carrying off on cots numbers of their wounded: one person of rank was killed whose name has not been ascertained. The Rebels had no Guns, but the Force captured 8 Elephants and 8 Camels, all that they had; several horses and ponies and some 300 muskets and tulwars.

Their strength has been variously computed at from 4 to 8,000 men, but there were certainly not less than 3,000 fighting men. They estimate their loss at 6 or 700, and reports since received state that numbers are falling off and deserting.

I beg herewith to forward a statement of our loss in killed and wounded.

No. 13.

FROM BRIGADIER W. HILL,
Commanding Hyderabad Contingent,
TO THE MILITARY SECRETARY to the Resident, Hyderabad.

Dated Head-Quarters, Hyderabad Contingent,
Camp Attolee, 19th January 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Resident that as I approached the Village of the Wakhud, where I was to encamp on the 15th instant, I received a hurriedly written note from Captain Ivie Campbell, Enam Commissioner, who was at the village of Ressoad, informing me that a large body of Arabs and Rohillas had just entered the place and were plundering it.

I continued my march, and proceeded at a sharp trot to Ressoad, about 7 miles distant, and met Captain Campbell, who informed me that he had been plundered of every thing he had, and narrowly escaped with his life, and that several of the inhabitants had been killed, and the insurgents had gone off about half an hour before my arrival with all the property they had plundered, laden upon camels, tattoos, and bullocks.

On ascertaining that they had taken the direction of the Jintoor Road, I directed Captain Clogstoun with his squadron of 2nd Cavalry to pursue in one direction, and Captain Nightingale, Commanding the 3rd Cavalry, to follow.

On my arrival at the Village of Chichumba, about 8 miles off, with the Troop of Her Majesty's 12th Lancers and 4 guns of the Troop of Horse Artillery, I found that Captain Clogstoun had arrived first, and had pressed the insurgents so hard with about 250 of his men who were all that were up with him at the time, that he was compelled to hazard many gallant men in a greatly unequal contest with nearly 200 of the Rebels, which he did in a most gallant manner, and so determined was the attack that the insurgents were forced to seek for shelter in the village, throwing their plunder in every direction. It was not however before some loss was inflicted on the 2nd Cavalry, when I am very sorry indeed to state Ressaldar Major Ismail Khan was killed while fighting very gallantly, and Captain Clogstoun was also himself wounded and his horse also.

When the Rebels had sought protection in the village, Captain Nightingale with the 3rd Cavalry approached, and the two Regiments immediately surrounded Chichumba until arrangements could be made for attacking it. Though the Artillery were only 6-pounder guns, they were placed in position to open upon the village, and it was apparent from the firing which ensued, that the place was well defended by small Arms. On arrival of the 3rd Infantry, I made arrangements for assaulting the village, for though it was only a weak wing, and only 110 men were available for duty, it was necessary to dislodge the insurgents without delay, who were in a small dilapidated Ghurree with an open front, so as to prevent their escaping at night.

As some scattered houses lay around which must be passed before entering the Ghurree, and Captain McKinnon was the only European Officer with the party, I determined to Command it myself, as I foresaw that the assault would prove unsuccessful if he was disabled and any check should prevent a rush into the Ghurree.

The party advanced with skirmishers, supported by the Horse Artillery 6-pounder on the flanks, and on entering the village a few men fell; on nearing the Ghurree the firing became heavier, when Captain McKinnon fell mortally wounded; immediately after my Brigade Major Captain Hoseason was dangerously wounded, and my own Orderly was shot dead by my side.

My utmost endeavors now completely failed in urging the men to follow me and by a dash gain possession of the Ghurree, and finding that many men crowded round their disabled Commander to carry him off, which left me quite unsupported, no alternative was left me but to bring the remaining men out again, which I did under a heavy fire.

My object was now directed to prevent the Rebels from escaping during the night, as I was informed by a prisoner that the party consisted of 200 Rohillas, 70 Arabs and 70 Dhekanees under the Command of Haji Alli, an Arab Chief.

I visited the Cavalry pickets for this purpose, and gave directions that just before sun-set the Cavalry line of posts should be withdrawn, as if with the intention of joining the Camp at some distance off to deceive the Garrison, but that as soon as it became dark, they were to take up their old position and to be vigilant during the night.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock that night with a bright moon shining, the Rebels commenced their march across the plain in a compact body, and first brought the pickets of the 2nd Cavalry into action, which was subsequently joined by the 3rd Cavalry, and the Rebels when in full retreat kept up a continuous heavy firing upon the Cavalry, which caused us much loss; the Rebels, however, had upwards of 100 of their number cut up and speared.

As it was entirely an affair of pickets, I beg to forward a separate Report from Captains Clogstoun and Nightingale, minutely detailing the part each Regiment took on this very gallant occasion. So severe an example was dealt out to the Rebels, that wounded men have been brought into my Camp from a distance of several miles off, who informed me that they fled in the utmost confusion and panic.

I feel that I cannot describe too highly the gallantry of Captains Clogstoun and Nightingale on the night in question, as well as those who were engaged with them, who though so very unequally pitted against 3 or 400 men moving in a mass across strong and rough ground and keeping up a very heavy fire all the time, nevertheless these Officers endeavoured to break and scatter them, but were prevented doing so, by their approaching ravines, when Cavalry could no longer follow them.

I should however fail in my duty were I not to notice, in a more prominent manner, the good fortune which led to Captain Clogstoun's conspicuous gallantry on being the first to reach Chichumba and successfully to check the further retreat of the Rebels, and by his rapid pursuit compelled them to enter Chichumba and abandon their plunder on the morning of our arrival.

The personal encounter which Captain Clogstoun had with the Rebels, which led to this fortunate result was obtained however at the loss of 7 out of 8 men who charged with him. Captain Clogstoun was himself wounded by a musket ball, and was nearly knocked off from his horse by a blow from a musket, while at the same time his horse was wounded under him.

This individual act of personal bravery is beyond praise.

I cannot speak too highly of the manner in which both Officers and men of the Force performed most arduous and fatiguing duties, who, having marched a distance of 36 miles, were actually employed during the remainder of the day and the whole night without intermission, with the exception of a short interval when relieved for procuring food.

Dr. Mackenzie, the Senior Staff Surgeon, and the Medical Officer under him were most active in the discharge of their duties, and they were unremitting in their attention to the wounded.

Captain Hoseason, my Brigade Major, was most active during the whole of the day to the time he was dangerously wounded at the assault upon Chichumba, and while he was carrying my orders. His horse also was shot in two places.

In bringing forward some of those who are named in the report by Captains Clogstoun and Nightingale for rewards for conspicuous bravery, I would recommend in the 2nd Cavalry Ressaidar Meer Mahomed Sha for 3rd Class "Order of Merit," Jemadar Sadut Khan, who charged with Captain Clogstoun in the morning, for the rank of Ressaidar.

Bargheer Mahomed Noor Khan, who was wounded in the morning, and was again very badly wounded in the action that night, and his horse shot under him, for the rank of Duffadar and 3rd Class "Order of Merit." Zulfikar Khan, who was very severely wounded after killing two of the Enemy, for the rank of Duffadar.

Troopers Meer Hossain Alli and Sheik Chand, who were both wounded in the charge with Captain Clogstoun in the morning when 7 out of 8 men killed and wounded; each, for the 3rd Class Order of Merit."

Trooper Emom Alli Khan, who accompanied Captain Hoseason in the assault upon Chichumba and brought him out of action when wounded under a heavy fire, for the 3rd Class "Order of Merit." Also Sheik Hyder, who was with Captain Clogstoun in the morning's charge.

In the 3rd Cavalry, Hyderabad Contingent, I would recommend this young and brave soldier Waghira Wassil Khan, for the rank of Jemadar.

I would recommend that the rewards for which this distinguished Officer, Jemadar Villayet Alli Beg, had already been recommended for, should be conferred upon him, viz., the rank of Ressaidar and the 3rd Class "Order of Merit."

I would most strongly notice the very gallant conduct of the senior Ressaldar Major Shah Mirza Beg Bahadoor, who, while in the act of killing one man, had his right arm very nearly severed off by another Rohilla, for the rank of "Sirdar Bahadoor," this being the sixth time this gallant old Officer has been wounded.

Duffadar Syed Goolam Ghouse for the 3rd Class Order of Merit.

As Trooper Mahomed Khan, Alla Dawd Khan, Myboob Khan and Ghoolam Dustagheer, all of the 6th Troop, have already been recommended for the "Order of Merit" for their services in Central India for the 3rd Class of the "Order of Merit," I would recommend that that distinction should be now conferred upon them.

Silladar Nuttay Khan, of the First Troop, already recommended for the 3rd Class of the "Order of Merit." I recommend that Order should be bestowed upon him now.

Trooper Ali Sher Khan, 2nd Troop, for the 3rd Class "Order of Merit."

Trooper Fukroodeen, 6th Troop, dangerously wounded, for the 3rd Class "Order of Merit."

Accompanying is a General Roll of Casualties of the Force.

From Captain H. Clogstoun,

Commanding Detachment 2nd Cavalry,
Hyderabad Contingent,

To Captain H. Hoseason,

Brigade Major, Hyderabad Contingent.

Sir,

I have the honor to report for the information of Brigadier Hill, Commanding the Hyderabad Contingent and Berar Field Force, that on approaching the village of Russoad on the 15th instant, I agreeably to instructions received, took up a position on the right. A Native there told me that the Enemy had marched on the road immediately in my rear, and feeling convinced that the same information would reach the Brigadier in Russoad from whence the Enemy had retreated, I instantly pursued in the direction indicated. A hard gallop of 6 or 7 miles brought me up with the Rebel Force, which was at the time passing by the village of Chichumba. The pace at which I had advanced caused but few men to be up, but considering that it was my duty to delay as much as possible the further retreat of the Enemy, which would have taken them to ground favorable for their escape, I at once attacked them and succeeded in causing them to take to the village and enclosures round it. I regret to state that in this affair I had four killed and three wounded out of the eight who charged with me.

I then moved off into the plain and formed up my Detachment as it galloped up, and was here joined by the 3rd Cavalry under Captain Nightingale, who on our nearing the village of Russoad, had been sent with his Regiment to the left. The two Rissallahs then were posted so as to prevent the escape of the Enemy from the village, and we awaited the arrival of the remainder of the Force. On Brigadier Hill's approach I was ordered to take ground to the North East of the village, where I remained during the rest of the day.

At 5 o'clock P. M., I proceeded to post the Detachment, strength as per margin, with the view of meeting the Enemy, should they attempt to retreat from the village during the night in the direction of my Pickets which extended for a mile from right to left.

Between the hours of 9 and 10 P. M., the left Picket fired on the Enemy who advanced in great strength and in a compact body. I immediately galloped to the point of attack with all the men I could gather at the moment, and fought the Enemy over the short intervening space between the line of Pickets and the Hills, and up which we closely followed them. The top of the Hills afforded more favorable ground though of limited extent, and the attack was renewed with vigor. Captain Nightingale, with a party of the 3rd Cavalry, here joined me, and the Enemy suffered severely; but a few minutes after they threw themselves into a deep ravine impracticable for Cavalry and escaped from further pursuit. Their loss was great: their dead strewed the ground from the line of Pickets to the ravine into which they had descended. I am sorry to say my loss is rather severe. The enemy marched in a compact mass, and kept up an exceedingly heavy and constant fire on my men, who gallantly charged again and again, and always with effect, but we were not strong enough to break the dense column. Constant hand to hand combats occurred, in which the men showed the utmost gallantry and devotion.

In forwarding this Report I beg to bring to the notice of Brigadier Hill, as deserving of reward, the undermentioned Officers and Men whose chivalrous bearing and dash where all were bold was most conspicuous. The nature of the ground prevented the Cavalry from forming in line. Our constant and unceasing attacks on the Column in the face of a heavy fire were therefore kept up by bold dashes of six or eight men at a time, who nobly threw themselves on the great odds opposed.

Ressaidars Mahomed Sha, Meer Delawur Ally, Jemadar Sadut Khan, who was one of the party who charged with me in the morning, and whose brother was one of those there killed, another brother was desperately wounded in the same conflict, Sadut Khan showed great pluck. Bargheer Mahomed Noor Khan although wounded in the head during the day, came to the front and alone dashed into the Enemy's Column: his horse was shot under him and he very badly wounded. Sheik Hyder who was with me in the morning's affair; Zulfikar Khan, a brave and gallant fellow, who was severely wounded after killing two of the Enemy; his brother was killed in the morning.

Troopers Meer Hoossain Alli and Sheik Chand. } Both wounded in the morning affair.

Trooper Emom Alli Khan, who behaved very bravely throughout the day, and accompanied Captain Hoseason in the assault.

No. 9 of 1859.

FROM CAPTAIN G. NIGHTINGALE,

Commandant 3rd Cavalry, Hyderabad Contingent,

TO THE BRIGADE MAJOR,

Hyderabad Contingent, Berar Field Force.

Camp Chichumba, 17th January 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward for the information of Brigadier Hill, Commanding Berar Field Force, the following detail of such operations yesterday as immediately concerned the Regiment under my Command. We marched from Chundur at half past A. M. to Wakhud, a distance of 20 miles, and on arrival there information having come in from Captain Ivie Campbell, that a large body of Rebels were at Ressoad and were then plundering the town, we received orders to push on. We accordingly proceeded at a gallop to Ressoad 12 miles, where in obedience to orders previously received from the Brigadier, I proceeded to the Northward of the Town to cut off the retreat of the Enemy in that direction. We were taking up our ground, when an orderly came up to tell us that the Rebels had left and were marching towards Chichumba, 7 miles further on. I immediately followed in the track of the 2nd Cavalry, which having been detailed to take the right of Ressoad had a considerable start of us. After a gallop of 6 or 7 miles over a very strong road we came in sight of Chichumba and perceived that the Ghurree and a Nullah leading from it were occupied; on our approach we found ourselves under a rather heavy fire from the Rebels who had lined the Nullah leading from the village and which Nullah afforded the Enemy excellent cover, being overshadowed by masses of trees and thick bushes. Captain Clogstoun informed me that he had lost several men in charging past the Ghurree and that he had himself been struck, so we decided (the ground being perfectly impracticable for Cavalry) to withdraw our Regiments out of fire and surround the village, which we accordingly did and enclosed the Rebels in a net work of videttes. I threw out parties to support my videttes and after reconnoitring the ground I crossed the Nullah with some difficulty, at a distance from the village and took up a position with my Regiment on the rising ground to the Westward, which commanded the roads to Bamnee and Lonar. We there awaited the arrival of the Infantry and Guns, my main body being hidden from the Enemy by a slight rise in the ground. When the Artillery opened fire on the East face, I remarked that many of the Rebels came out of the Ghurree and concealed themselves in the Castor Oil fields facing me. I sent for a gun to drive them out of this, but none could be spared just then, so I rode to within about 400 yards with Lieutenant Johnson and 20 men and began firing at the Rebels with the two Zumboorucks I had with me. On my doing this the Enemy returned my fire from the Castor Oil field and showed in considerable numbers, but one of them having been knocked over by a ball from our Zumbooruck they returned into the houses and Ghurree. Shortly after this some people were seen escaping to the Westward, and I sent a party to bring them in after the assault of the 3rd Infantry had been repulsed. I merely held my ground with my videttes throwing out additional parties as supports. Towards the evening Brigadier Hill came across the Nullah and reconnoitred the ground towards the South, where Captain Clogstoun had his Pickets. There being a Nullah here leading from the fort to the hills towards Burr, it appeared that the Rebels would attempt to cut their way out either in that direction or towards Bamnee, the ground being hilly, rocky and much cut up by deep ravines on those sides. Brigadier Hill instructed me to withdraw my Regiment towards dusk, and throw back my videttes, (so as to deceive the Rebels with the idea that we had left these positions comparatively unguarded,) after which when the moon rose I was to take up a position with my Regiment, so as to cut off the retreat of the Enemy, if they attempted a sortie, which I had received information from one of my prisoners it was their intention to try during the night. In obedience to these orders I took my Regiment off to the Northward, and watered the horses (food we had none for either them or the men owing to our 35 miles' march) About 8 P. M. I personally relieved all the videttes whom I found very much on the alert, and I allowed them as well as their supports to the number of 70 men to proceed to Camp, as they had been on that duty all day. They were to rest and also afford protection to the Camp. About 9 P. M., we seized some Rebels escaping from the Ghurree, and they informed us that the Enemy was preparing to move out. I sent information instantly to Captain Clogstoun and Brigadier Hill, but before either of the messengers had gone far we heard shots in the direction of Captain Clogstoun's Pickets, so I caused the men to fall in at once and proceeded as well as we could at a gallop towards the scene of action. We met with many obstacles from the nature of the ground, it being impossible in the dim moonlight to see the Nullahs and water-courses intersecting the plain at the foot of the hills. I reached the foot of the hills just as the Rebels were ascending them. These hills are such as it would be unpleasant to ride over in day-light, covered with rocks and loose stones with high grass and thick bushes, which gave the Rebels an immense advantage over the Cavalry, as a charge in a compact body was impossible to horsemen. I saw by the flashes of the guns that the Enemy was making to the South Westward; so ascended the Hills to the left and pushing across the flat space at the top, found myself between the great ravine to my left and the whole mass of the Enemy. To give an idea of the nature of the ground, I may mention that although I started with 90 men, only about 20 of these with the Adjutant could keep up with me, when I scrambled up the side of the hill. At this time Captain Clogstoun with his men was attacking the Rebels fiercely in the rear and driving them forwards up the side of the hill on to the plateau, notwithstanding the great advantage they had in the nature of the ground and their very superior numbers. Seeing the large mass of the Enemy, numbering as has since been ascertained more than 400 on my right, I ordered a charge across their front and galloped on. When I had gone about 200 yards I found myself alone in front of the Enemy, who was now between me and my men, the only person with me being one man a Waghirah named Wassil Khan. The Enemy on seeing us commenced a tremendous fire and I could also see by the flashes of the guns that they were resisting Captain Clogstoun with the utmost determination, as they probably fancied that their retreat was cut off to the ravine. I rode backwards and forwards for several minutes in front of the mass, hoping that my Regiment would hear my shouts, till at last Ressaldar Major Ahmed Bux Khan with seven of his men who had been in search of me, came up and joined me. He then explained how it happened that I was unsupported at first. When I galloped across the Enemy's front, I instantly disappeared from the sight of Lieutenant Johnson and the rest of the men, only Wassil Khan who happened to be next me, seeing the direction I had taken. From this, some idea may be formed of the small degree of light there was. Lieutenant Johnson having thus lost sight of me, very judiciously turned to the right and fell upon the Enemy's rear with the Regiment, the Troopers joining in as they best could through the thick bushes and grass. Here Ressaldar Major Shah Mirza Beg, charging with his usual gallantry was, while in the act of killing one man, very severely wounded by a sword cut from a Rohilla. Trooper Shaik Fukroodeen was also cut down while spearing a Rebel, and numbers of the latter fell under the swords and spears of the Troopers, whom I had not allowed to load their Carbines. While this was going on Ahmed Bux Khan who had turned to the left in search of me, heard my shouts and joined me as above stated. I formed up his seven men and as the Enemy passed in a dark mass with shouts of defiance, keeping up a heavy fire and marching swiftly but doggedly along, I could distinguish the forms of the men of the 2nd and 3rd Cavalry charging in upon their rear. I asked my men if they would charge them, and on their reply in the affirmative we rode through their rear from right to left and each of my followers slew his man. We then turned and charged in the opposite direction, and this time the melee was at its hottest and here fell the Enemy in every direction, the killed being nearly all Affghans and Arabs. They resisted us sword and dagger in hand, while some continued firing with great steadiness and as the mass surged sulkily along, none asked for quarter and not one got it. A few yards further in and the survivors were safe, as they threw themselves down the sides of a precipitous ravine clothed with dense jungle, and here Captain Clogstoun and I recalled our men, fatigued with nearly 22 hours in the saddle, and returned towards the Gurhee of Chichumba. We sent our men to the encampment and taking with us 30 men of the 3rd Cavalry, proceeded to the Ghurree for the purpose of searching it and removing the dead bodies of the Troopers and men killed in the morning's fight. This being accomplished we returned to Camp. It is now my pleasing duty to bring to the notice of the Brigadier the splendid behaviour of my Officers and men, when the fight was raging most. I was proud to see the desperate personal encounters that took place; and the spear and sword wounds on the bodies of the slain sufficiently proved the fury with which our gallant Troopers fought, and that they had met no despicable antagonists. Our general loss though rather heavy is comparatively small, which I partially attribute to the darkness which prevented the Enemy from aiming accurately, even though at such close quarters. The execution done in our charges must also have shaken their steadiness, still our loss is nothing to what might have been expected in such ground and under such disadvantages, as my total strength when I started was but 90 men, and the Enemy (we have ascertained from the prisoners) numbered 100 Affghans, 100 Arabs and from 200 to 300 Dekhanies. Lieutenant Johnson with the body of the Regiment contributed much to our success, and I cannot speak in too high terms of the few brave men with me, who charged against such disproportionate odds. Waghirah Wassil Khan, son of Ressaldar Major Sirdar Bahadoor Ahmed Bux Khan, was alone with me for nearly 10 minutes not 100 yards from the whole body of the Rebels exposed to a most rapid fire, and he showed then and afterwards the utmost courage and coolness. He killed two men with his own hand, and I venture to recommend him for promotion to the rank of Jemadar, both on account of his gallantry in action and in consideration of his father's services and position in the Regiment. Ahmed Bux Khan Sirdar Bahadoor behaved with his usual gallantry and killed two men. Jemadar Villayet Ali Beg (who is already recommended for the "Order of Merit" and promotion to Ressaidar for gallantry in the Central India Field Force) also sustained his reputation, and I beg to bring to the Brigadier's notice for some reward for the gallantry of the men who actually charged with me and who behaved so well.

Their names are as follows:—

Duffadar Syed Goolam Ghouse, Sowars Meer Hyder Ally, Gholam Mahomed Khan, Fyzoolla Khan, Silladar Ghoolam Dustagheer, Myboob Khan, Alla Dawd Khan and Mahomed Khan, all of the 6th Troop (the four latter have already been recommended for the "Order of Merit" for services in Central India). The Officers Commanding Troops have also brought forward for gallantry several men. Their names are Silladar Nuttay Khan (already recommended for "Order of Merit" in Central India), and Wuzeer Ali, of 1st Troop, Sowar Ali Sher Khan, of 2nd Troop.

Duffadar Salabut Khan, Sowars Meer Ghoolam Ali, and Fukroodeen (the latter dangerously wounded), also Duffadar Hoosain Khan, Silladars Mouzdar Khan and Nanuck Sing of the 4th Troop. My loss is one Ressaldar Major and two Troopers, very severely wounded. One horse died and two horses wounded.

Camp Chichumba, 17th January 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of Brigadier Hill, Commanding the Berar Field Force, that on the morning of the 15th instant, after the march from Chandoll to Wakhud, and the rapid advance from thence to Chichumba vid Ressoad, (consequent on the information received at Wakhud that the Rohillas, &c., were then plundering Ressoad,) when Brigadier Hill ordered me to open fire on the Village of Chichumba, I placed the four guns of my Troop* in position, two on the East, and two on the North side of the village, and kept up a fire during the day on the Ghurree, and those parts of the village where appeared that parties of the Enemy were posted. This position was about 450 yards from the village when the Infantry advanced to attack the place I advanced the guns to within 150 yards of the houses and kept up as rapid a fire as I could to cover their advance, and when I saw the Infantry fall back, I resumed the fire to cover the retirement. I afterwards withdrew my guns to their original position and the day's operations shortly after ceased.

Provided that no lease of Ghatwalee lands for any period extending beyond the life-time or incumbency of the grantor of the lease shall be valid and binding on the successors of the grantor, unless the same shall be granted for the working of mines or for the clearing of jungle, or for the erection of dwelling houses or manufactories, or for tanks, canals, and similar works ; and shall be approved by the Commissioner of the Division, such approval being certified by an endorsement on the lease under the signature of the Commissioner.

The following extract (paragraph 68) from a Despatch from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, No. 2 of 1859, dated 6th January, is published for general information :—

Reply to Financial Government letter No. 112, dated 23*rd August* 1858, reporting the Proceedings for the 1*st Quarter of* 1858.

Paras : 279-280.—In the absence of any special order from the Court on the subject, have decided that service as an Ameen appointed under Act XII. of 1856 is not to count as service for Pension.

Para. 68.—As it appears that Civil Court Ameens appointed under the Act XII. of 1856, are remunerated by fixed monthly salaries and that all fees connected with their employment are credited to Government, I see no reason for withholding from them the same benefit as regards Pensions as is recorded to other Members of the Uncovenanted Civil Service.

No. 19.

The following Extract, paragraphs 91 to 94, of Despatch, No. 2 of 1859, dated 6th January, from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information :—

Reply to Financial Government letter No. 112, dated 23*rd August* 1858, reporting the Proceedings for the 1*st Quarter of* 1858.

Paras. 365-366.—Have refused to allow Mr. J. Bax, Joint Magistrate and Deputy Collector of Ghazeepore, Deputation allowance for the first month of the second occasion on which he officiated as Magistrate and Collector of that District.

Para. 91.—On the vacation by Mr. Ross of his appointment as Magistrate and Collector of Ghazeepore, Mr. Bax was appointed to officiate for him, but before he had been employed for two months in that capacity, he was relieved by Mr. Brereton a Civilian out of employ, who had to be provided for. Three weeks afterwards Mr. Brereton was appointed Magistrate and Collector at Goruckpore, and Mr. Bax was again directed to take charge of the District of Ghazeepore.

92. Under Section XXVII of the Absentee Rules, which provides that "no Subordinate Officer acting for his principal or for any other person holding a superior appointment in the same Office or establishment at the same Station shall be entitled to any Deputation allowance until after the expiration of one month," Mr. Bax was not granted Deputation allowance for the first month that he officiated as Magistrate and Collector, but your Government have also refused to pass Deputation allowance to him for another month after his re-appointment to the above capacity.

93. The Civil Auditor remarks that the Rule above quoted "does not in his opinion deprive "Mr. Bax of another month's Deputation allow- "ance from the date he resumed charge of his "officiating duties from Mr. Brereton," and that he does "not consider that the two periods into "which his (Mr. Bax) officiating incumbency "of the Office of Magistrate and Collector of "Ghazeepore was divided by the intermediate "appointment thereto of another Officer for the "short space of three weeks can be properly "regarded as two different cases."

94. I concur in the opinion expressed by the Civil Auditor that the rule above alluded to is intended to apply only when a principal or superior Officer is away from his Station on leave or otherwise, and not on every occasion that the same subordinate may be appointed his locum tenens in the course of the same absence or deputation, and I authorize you to pass the Deputation allowance claimed by Mr. Bax for the second period of his officiating appointment.

By Order of His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council,

G. Hugh Lushington,
Secretary to the Govt. of India.

FROM MAJOR GENERAL MICHEL, C. B.,
Commanding M. D. A.,

TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL, BENGAL ARMY.

Chupra, January 12th, 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to forward report of an action fought with the Rebel force under the Rao Sahib and Tantia Topee by a small force, under the command of Colonel Somerset, who is in Command of a Field Brigade.

2. In addition to Colonel Somerset's report, I have deemed it right for His Excellency's information to forward a sketch route of the marches made by this small column in pursuit, whereby it will appear, that 170 miles were traversed in six days.

3. When the smallness of the force is taken into consideration, and the speed of the pursuit, in which the Soldiers had neither tents, baggage, or European supplies, except for the first day or two, I trust His Lordship the Commander-in-Chief will deem, that Colonel Somerset and his column have well done their duty, and have merited His Lordship's approval.

I have, &c.,

No. 1 OF 1859.

FROM COLONEL C. H. SOMERSET,
Commanding Field Brigade,

TO THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
MALWA DIVISION.

Camp Chupra Burode, dated the 1st January 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report that yesterday soon after daylight the Rebel Force under Tantia Topee was overtaken near this place by the Force as per margin, under my Command.

R. H. A. (4) four guns "with Detachments" 17th Lancers (100) one hundred men, 92nd Highlanders 150. "On Lieutenant Barras' Tandan Camels."

2. I had marched from a village called Surthul (10) ten miles off at 11½ o'clock the previous night having sent on spies to watch the enemy; my spies not returning I waited (4) four miles off until near daylight, fearing to disturb the enemy "who might move or disperse" in the dark, and I did not meet my spies until near this place and the enemy had then moved off his ground.

3. I pursued him at a rapid trot for about seven miles when I overtook three large bodies of Cavalry estimated at about (3,000) three thousand drawn up to receive me just beyond a village called Tancha.

4. The Horse Artillery were immediately brought into action and their fire was so rapid and effective that though the Rebels endeavoured to get up a charge before the Infantry on Camels could be formed up and dismounted they could not effect it, but retired pursued by my Force, the Horse Artillery galloping to the front for some distance "with the Cavalry," when the Squadron of Lancers took up the pursuit.

5. I endeavoured with the Horse Artillery and Camel Corps to follow the track of the Enemy for about five miles further, but found they had so dispersed that it was not possible to do so: my Force being too small to be divided I gave up the pursuit after about (12) twelve miles and fell back to this place upon my supports 300 9th Native Infantry which had not then come up however, but arrived later in the afternoon.

6. The Force with me had marched 50 miles between 12 o'clock P. M. of the 30th December and 6 o'clock A. M. of the 1st January (30) thirty hours, during which time they had not rested more than two hours at one time, having made forced marches for five days without tents or European supplies.

7. I heard on my return to this place that five Elephants had been abandoned by the Enemy when pursued at a village in the neighbourhood, one of which has been brought in this morning to Camp but the rest are supposed to have been carried off since.

8. Not having a sufficient Force of Cavalry I am unable to scour the country as I should wish in search of the scattered Rebel Force, which I much regret as hundreds of them might be found and cut up.

9. The loss of the Enemy owing to his rapid flight was not severe, tho' numbers of men and horses, "among the former of which was a Native Sirdar" were seen to fall from the Artillery fire and some were killed in a charge of the Squadron 17th Lancers.

10. My own loss was one Private 17th Lancers wounded.

11. I trust that I may be allowed to bring to the notice of the Major General Commanding the Division the cheerfulness of the Troops composing this Force under considerable fatigue and some hardship as well as the zealous manner in which I have been supported by the Officers of the Force on all occasions and particularly in this rapid and trying pursuit, the results of which are only not greater because the Enemy would not stay to measure his strength with me and my numbers were insufficient to cope with him "when dispersed."

12. The Officers Commanding the different Arms to whom my thanks are especially due are.

Major White, Commanding Squadron 17th Lancers.

Captain Paget, Commanding D. Troop Royal. Horse Artillery.

Captain Bethune, two Companies 92nd Highlanders

Captain Baugh, 9th Native Infantry.

Lieutenant C. Payne Barras, Commanding Camel Corps.

13. To my Staff Officer, Lieutenant Wood, 17th Lancers, I am particularly indebted for his zealous and unceasing exertions on every occasion in the various duties imposed upon him in the absence of any other Staff Officer.

I have, &c.,

Joined at Jeypore.

At the requisition of Brigadier General Lawrence, Governor General's Agent for the States of Rajpootana, for a Force to move from Nusseerabad for the protection of Tonk and Jeypore, I marched on the morning of the 8th instant to Burra Samba; on the 9th to Diggee; on the 10th to Jurrana; and there receiving information that the Nawab of Tonk was in fear of the Rebels moving upon his Capital, they being at Allygurh Rampoora, distant 24 miles. I marched on the 11th through Tonk to Bambour, thereby effectually covering Tonk. At Tonk I received information of the Rebels being on the march from Bhugwuntgurh towards Jeypore. On the morning of the 12th I marched through Nuttwara to Jellaee with the view of intercepting the Rebels: on arrival at Jellaee at 3½ P. M., I found that they had moved on to Chaksoo, and that Brigadier Showers, Commanding the Agra Force, had passed through the place in pursuit. I immediately wrote to the Brigadier, who was encamped 8 or 10 miles in advance, offering to co-operate with him. With this view I moved on again at 9 P. M., and marching through the Brigadier's Camp (with whom I had an interview) I moved on to Chaksoo with the hope of aiding in surprising the Rebel Camp.

At Chaksoo, I arrived at daylight of the 13th, having completed a march of 44 miles in 24 hours, but too late to effect the object contemplated, as the Rebels had moved off.

I remained at Chaksoo for 5 hours, and it being arranged by the Brigadier that the two Columns should pursue by different routes, I marched to Gutwassee, distant 6 miles (in direction of Lalsoot) and there encamped for the night: on the 14th, I marched to Lalsoot. On the morning of the 15th, having received the permission of Brigadier Honner, Commanding the Rajpootanah Force, (whose Force had marched into Lalsoot that morning) to move on the direction of Jeypore, I marched at 4 P. M. to Tonga, arriving there at 1 A. M. of the 16th. At 4 P. M. I marched for Jeypore, encamped for six hours on the road, and reached it at 11 A. M. On the 17th information of the Rebels' movements here received, was, that they were at or about Byrat. At Jeypore my Force was augmented by 172 Sowars of Mayne's Horse (New Levy) under the Command of Lieutenant Hawkins, the Adjutant of that Corps.

On the 18th, I marched to Chowmooh; on the 19th to Koojrowlee; and on the 20th at 1 A. M., to Kundeelah. Here receiving information of the Rebels having marched to this place, (Seekun) distant 28 miles, I moved again at 6 P. M., with the hope of surprising the Rebels in their encampment.

The Force reached the vicinity of the Rebel encampment at 4½ A. M., of the 21st instant, having marched 54 miles in 24 hours. The surprise was all but complete the Rebels had no intimation of our approach until we drove in their outlying Pickets, who galloping off conveyed the first intimation of our being upon them.

The confusion heard in their Camp was very great, their Horsemen galloped off in every direction without attempting to make a stand and numbers without even saddling their horses.

I immediately moved to the attack sending 4 Guns of Captain Shekleton's Battery at a gallop to the front with all my Cavalry.

The Infantry, Her Majesty's 83rd Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel Austen, and 12th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, under Lieutenant Mecredy, formed in line, moving in support.

The Artillery got quickly into action, sending shot and shell into the fugitives, but the moon-light did not admit of much execution being done.

The Cavalry, Seik Horse under Lieutenant Newall, 2nd Grenadier Regiment, Assistant to the Governor-General's Agent, and Mayne's Horse, under Lieutenant and Adjutant Hawkins, these charged and thoroughly completed the rout. They continued the chase for some hours, but unluckily missed the road which the Chiefs Tantia Topee, Rao Sahib and Prince Feroze Shah took.

Our Cavalry killed upwards of 50 of the Rebels and brought in 51 prisoners, besides a number of women. A greater number of the Rebels might have been slain, but all those who had thrown away their arms, were, in the feeling of mercy, spared, and the anxiety to capture the Leaders did not admit of time being lost in securing worthless followers.

The amount of Arms (Swords, Matchlocks, Government Muskets and Pistols) secured, is very great.

The amount of the Rebels who were encamped here is stated to have been upwards of 2,500, but I think the number greatly exaggerated, and as our attack must have greatly dispersed and disorganised the body, I trust the means of the Chiefs to harass the country may be considerably diminished.

The Force has marched upwards of 290 miles in 18 days without a single day's halt.

The conduct of the Troops has been most admirable, and nothing can be more commendable than the anxiety shown by Officers and Men to overtake the Enemy.

From Lieutenant-Colonel Austen, Commanding Her Majesty's 83rd Regiment, Captain Shekleton, Commanding No. 8 Battery, Lieutenant Mecredy, 12th Regiment Bombay Native Infantry, Lieutenant Hawkins, Mayne's Horse, Lieutenant Newall, Seik Horse, and Lieutenant Wardell, Her Majesty's 83rd Regiment, my Staff Officer, I have received the most cordial and efficient aid, and I beg to bring their names to the favorable notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Lieutenant Newall, besides Commanding the Seik Horse, has, in his capacity of Political Agent, afforded me invaluable aid by furnishing most correct information of the movements of the Rebels.

I am happy to state that no Casualties of any sort have occurred amongst the Troops.

I have, &c.,

FROM BRIGADIER HONNER, C. B,
Commanding Rajpootana Field Force,
TO THE ASSISTANT ADJUTANT GENERAL,
Malwa Division.

Camp Kooshana, 11th February 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of the Major General Commanding Malwa Division, that the Force under my Command, in continuation of the pursuit of the Rebels, marched from its encampment at Gooangh yesterday morning at 2 o'clock, and reached that of the Rebels at 5 o'clock in the evening at Kooshana.

2. The Rebels heard of our approach when we were about eight miles off, and instantly commenced a flight, breaking up into two large bodies, and going to the South West and South East respectively; one party is said to be under Feroze Shah, the other under Rao Sahib. Tantia Topee is reported to have left the Rebel Camp immediately after its surprise by Colonel Holmes' detachment on the night of the 21st of January at Seikur and to have gone to join the Nanna in the Terrai.

3. On entering the sandy wastes on the borders of the desert of Bikanair, I found it necessary to leave Captain Petrie's Troop of Horse Artillery behind at Dye with orders to proceed to Nagore and thence to Nusseerabad, as it would have been absolutely impossible to drag guns through that sandy country even though 8 or 10 horses were attached to each.

4. Our march from Gooangh to this place was about 43 miles, 30 of it through a desert hilly tract of deep heavy sand. About 3½ o'clock P. M., the Rebels were said to be ahead about 8 miles, evening was approaching, and no time was to be lost. About six miles from this we proceeded at a trot, and when within three miles of Kooshana, the force was formed up, the Hussars in column of divisions on the right, the 1st Bombay Lancers in the centre in a like formation, at Squadron distance, with the Seikh Horse on the left, considerably in advance in eschellon, the Detachments of Her Majesty's 83rd and 12th Native Infantry mounted on Camels in line in front. In this formation we went on at a sharp canter, the Camels keeping their place in excellent order, until we came close to Kooshana when seeing that the Rebels had taken off to the left, our front was changed in that direction, and a pursuit at the gallop commenced. After going about two miles it was requisite that the Infantry should return and hold the village and the Rebels' Camp, but the Hussars and Lancers went on at a dashing pace for about eight or ten miles, long into the moonlight, and cut up the Rebels at every opportunity, and rejoined the Infantry at about 10 o'clock at night.

5. The Patrols of Cavalry I sent out this morning to pick up stragglers, and seek for information counted 226 dead bodies of the Rebels killed in their flight, by the sabre and lance.

6. Our casualties are, one Private of the 8th Hussars killed, and one Private contused. One Trooper of the 1st Lancers killed, one slightly wounded, five of the Seikh horse missing, together with their horses. One Troop horse 8th Hussars wounded. Four Troop horses of the 1st Lancers wounded and one missing. No Officer killed or wounded.

7. 70 Camels and 10 horses have fallen into our hands.

8. The Rebels to-day are stated to be in full flight towards Arrah. I follow in pursuit as soon as I can lay in a store of flour, provisions, &c., for the Troops.

9. During the last four days the Force has marched 130 miles over tracts of deep heavy sand, most distressing both to horses and baggage animals. Yesterday the Cavalry must have gone over 65 miles of ground during the march, pursuit, and return to Camp at night. The powers of endurance evinced by the horses were astonishing.

10. I have to bring to special notice, that since the Force left Nusseerabad on the 18th December 1858 up to the present date, it has marched upwards of 800 miles, and the Commissariat has daily, with one or two exceptions, supplied to every man, horse, and baggage animal entitled to it, his full ration of food, grain, and forage, and even at the end of yesterday's operations, at night every Soldier had a good dinner of fresh beef, vegetables and biscuit, with the usual grog. These advantages I attribute to the excellent arrangements made by Captain Lucas, Assistant Commissary General, before the Force left Nusseerabad, and carried on by Captain Malcolmson, the Acting Commissariat Officer in charge, assisted by his Gomashta Dadabhoy Eduljee Spokia, on Captain Lucas' departure from the Force for other duties.

11. It is not usual to mention matters of this kind in a Despatch, but the great benefits which have been experienced by the Force from the above arrangements and the practicability of European Troops being well supplied with food, even during the most rapid operations in the Field, have induced me to bring these circumstances prominently forward for the especial consideration of Government.

12. Every Officer and man has done his duty in his own individual calling, as became a British Soldier.

13. In the pursuit there were several instances of hand to hand combat with the Sabre. Captains Phillips and Puget, 8th Hussars, Captain Carnegy my Assistant Adjutant General, and Captain Malcolmson, my Orderly Officer, made themselves conspicuous by their forward gallantry in these conflicts (the latter Officer had his charger wounded by a Sabre cut) and also Corporal Landly, 8th Hussars, Troop Havildar Major Ram Sing, and Trooper Adjoodia Pursaud, 1st Lancers.

14. Captain Baynon, Political Officer attached to the Force, has been of the greatest assistance to me in procuring information, and his attention, energy, and zeal in the cause are beyond all praise.

15. The Medical Department conducted by Assistant Surgeon Rudd, H. M.'s 8th Hussars, was, as usual in the British Army, all that could be wished.

16. The following is the detail of Troops engaged yesterday. Their admirable conduct on this, as well as on every other circumstance of service, since the Force took the Field, and the discipline that has been maintained in the several Detachments by their Officers, have been to me the source of much gratification, but it will be for the higher authorities to whom I most earnestly recommend them, to appreciate and record in terms which may seem to them most befitting the merits of these noble Soldiers.

2. His Excellency in Council highly appreciates the excellent services of Brigadier Horsford, C. B., and of the Officers and men under his Command.

FROM BRIGADIER A. HORSFORD,
Commanding Field Force,
TO THE DEPUTY ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

Camp, Sishowah, Nepaul, 10th February 1859.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to report for the information of His Excellency the Commander in Chief that under instructions received from the Chief of the Staff, I crossed the River Raptee yesterday morning at 5 A. M. with the Troops as per margin, and entered the territory of Nepaul, for the purpose of attacking a body of Rebels who had placed 15 Guns in position at Sikta Ghaut where there is a ford and pass leading towards the inner ranges of the Nepaul mountains.

Raptee. At this place I thought it advisable to detach Colonel Hill, C. B., Rifle Brigade, with the Troops named in the margin, directing him to recross the river, follow its right bank and attack the right rear of the enemy's position.

This portion of the Force had a most difficult country to pass through and for some time were under a heavy fire from Artillery, but the nature of the ground was such, that they were enabled to take advantage of a high and abrupt cliff, giving them perfect command of the enemy's Guns and its irregularities saving them from loss.

When the head of the main column reached the ford it encountered but slight opposition, the enemy having then found that their position was turned and almost immediately abandoning their guns, all of which were captured. A list of which I enclose.

The enemy's entrenchments though slight were so situated on a high bank, commanding the ford of the River which is here not only deep and rapid, but upwards of 200 yards in breadth, that they could not have been taken from the front without a serious loss.

The whole of the letter part of the operations were carried on in a dense and rocky forest where it was impossible to engage Cavalry in the pursuit.

From the information which I have received I do not believe the enemy were numerous, but a great part of them were Artillery men. Few were killed owing to their taking to the forest when the first was captured some were however overtaken. Our own casualties are almost nominal.

This march into the Territory of Nepaul seems to be welcomed by the inhabitants, who feel that this column is acting a friendly part towards them. They have shown their inclination to assist the British Forces by bringing in prisoners, and betraying where Arms and plunder are concealed by the Rebels.

In obedience to the orders received from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the strictest discipline is enforced and every care taken to respect the prejudices of the Nepaulese people.

My thanks are due to Officers Commanding Regiments, namely Colonel Hill, C. B., 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, Lieutenant Colonel Sir W. Russell, Bart, 7th Hussars, Major Moir, C. B., Bengal Horse Artillery, Major Vaughan, 5th Punjaub Rifles, Major Ramsay Kumaoon Battalion and Lieutenant Hicks, Commanding Left Wing 1st Belooch Battalion.

To Major Hughes, 1st Punjaub Cavalry, my especial thanks are due, not only for his services at the head of his Regiment, but for the aid he gives me in his capacity as Military Commissioner.

To Major Dillon, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, my Brigade Major, Captain Hoste, 5th Punjaub Rifles, Brigade Quarter Master, and to Lieutenant Topham 7th Hussars, and Lieutenant Fryer, 2nd Battalion Rifle Brigade, who acted as my Orderly Officers during the day.

My thanks are also due to Captain C. H. E. Graeme, 5th Bengal European Regiment, Sub-Assistant Commissary General, and to Mr. W. H. Ross, C. S., Deputy Commissioner.

During the day about forty (40) of the enemy's Cavalry surrendered themselves.

His Excellency in Council desires to record his high commendation of the intrepidity exhibited in this operation, and his sense of the conspicuous bravery of all concerned in the attack :—

Extract of a letter from the Adjutant General of the Army, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, No. 385, of the 22*nd February* 1859.

Letter from Brigadier General Sir R. Napier, K. C. B., Commanding the Gwalior Division, No. 54, of 31st January 1859, with enclosure.

In transmitting for the consideration of the Right Hon'ble the Viceroy and Governor General in Council, copies of the documents noted in the margin, having reference to the attack of the Fort of Nahargurh, by a detachment under the Command of Captain F. W. Lambton, Her Majesty's 71st Highlanders, I am directed by the Commander-in-Chief to state that in His Excellency's opinion, the conduct of the party of the 71st Regiment cannot be sufficiently praised, as will be seen from the following Extract from a private letter addressed by Brigadier General Sir R. Napier to the Chief of the Staff:

"The news of the affair with Lambton's Detachment brought me down here as I reported to you.

"It is certainly marvellous to see the works attacked by that small detachment.

"The indomitable pluck of Englishmen is the secret of all their success.

"The small party, far from support, unacquainted with the strength of the Garrison and with the Country, did not hesitate to attack a place of considerable strength, and had they had a good Petard, they would have taken it.

"The best shots in India: I believe, they went to work systematically and cleared the parapets; through a chink in the strong gate they fired and cleared the gateway, and drove from two guns planted to command the entrance, the Gunners who were ready to fire on them. They had previously assaulted and taken the two outer gates.

"The place belongs to Kotah. The guns were all burst, and the Fort considerably dismantled.

"The Kotah Vakeel has come here and professes that the Killadar will be hanged when captured.

"The Camp Followers had got into the Town which was entirely deserted, in spite of Guards and Sentries posted by Major Chetwode, but on my arrival here by putting additional Guards and severely punishing offenders, I put a stop to it and the town is filling again."

Extract of a letter from Brigadier General Sir R. Napier, K. C. B., Commanding Gwalior Division, to Major General Sir W. R. Mansfield, K. C. B., Chief of the Staff, dated Camp Naharghur, 31*st January* 1859, No. 54.

In continuation of my letter dated 21st instant, I have the honor to report for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, that I arrived at Naharghur on the 23rd instant, and found the Fort in possession of Major Chetwode's Detachment which had been sent from Goonah to Captain Lambton's assistance.

The Garrison abandoned the Fort on the 21st having maintained a fire of round shot upon Captain Lambton's Detachment as long as it continued within range. I beg to transmit Captain Lambton's Report.

The Fort is very strong and had eleven guns and a Garrison of 200 men.

Captain Lambton's party consisted of sixty men of the 71st Regiment. They forced the gate of the town and the outer gate of the Fort, and only failed in storming the Fort itself, from the absolute want of means, except a few pounds of powder, to burst open the strong iron-bound gates of the inner gate-way. In this they nearly succeeded.

The conduct of Captain Lambton and his party evinced the utmost gallantry, and cannot fail to excite the most lively admiration in any person who views the formidable character of the work they attacked, although the origin of the conflict is to be regretted.

It has produced a very great improvement on the bearing of the people of the Country, who send supplies into Camp readily where they were before hardly procurable.

P. S.—The guns in the Fort were destroyed by General Michel's order, and the defences have been partially dismantled.

From Captain J. H. Lambton,

Comdg. Det. H. M's. 71*st Highland Light Infantry,*

To Captain H. O. Mayne,

Political Assistant in Gwalior.

Dated Naharghur.

Sir,

I have the honor to inform you that when the detachment under my Command, strength as per margin, arrived here yesterday afternoon, I sent to the town for provisions; they were refused, and the Kotwal threatened to shoot the first European that came into the town. An armed party under Command of a Subaltern was sent into the town to sieze them. They found the gates closed and matchlocks were fired at them. The remainder of the detachments then proceeded to reinforce the first party, the gates were forced in, and the outer part of the Fort taken with slight resistance. The inner part however we were unable to take owing to the great height of the walls, and there being only one gate which is strongly plated with iron.

2 Officers.
60 Men 71st H. L. I.
224 Gwalior Camel Corps.

We therefore retired, and attempted again to take it this morning. We were unable to blow it open, owing to the scarcity and courseness of the powder. The enemy during this time kept up a brisk fire with matchlocks and big guns. I understand that there are two hundred men, and nine or ten guns of different sizes in the Fort, the enemy were frequently summoned to surrender, but refused. I await further instructions.

I have, &c.,

FROM MAJOR G. CHETWODE,

Commanding at Naharghur,

TO CAPTAIN H. D. MAYNE,

Political Assistant in Gwalior.

Camp Nahargur, January 23rd, 1859, 2 A. M.

SIR,

YOUR note of yesterday's date has this moment arrived. The Town and Fort of Naharghur have been in our possession since the morning of the 21st, and I am now engaged in blowing up the defences and bursting the guns. I have written to stop the only force that I know was advancing to join us, namely, some Lancers, Royal Horse Artillery Guns, and Native Infantry that were detached from General Michel's Force, as provisions are so difficult to procure here. As far as I can learn, the Garrison of the place only consisted of some 200 men, who have dispersed in the jungle. Maun Sing was not here.

I have, &c.,

No. 627.

Fort William, the 25th March 1859.

THE following Despatch, No. 16 of 1859, dated the 9th February, from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information:—

"I have had under my consideration in Council "your letter dated 16th October (No. 131) 1858, "in which you report your proceedings on a "memorial from Mr. Octavius Toogood, of the "Bengal Civil Service, preferring the following "requests with reference to the decision of the "Court of Directors, that special arrangements "should be made for those of its servants who "were ordered in 1857 to return to their duty "before the expiration of their Furlough:

"First.—That he may be placed in a position "not inferior to that which he held previous to "proceeding on Furlough.

"Secondly.—That his passage-money from Eng- "land may be repaid him.

"Thirdly.—That he may be allowed his travel- "ling expenses from Calcutta to Monghyr.

"Fourthly.—That the time occupied by him in "the journey from London to Calcutta may be "reckoned as service in India.

"Fifthly.—That in the event of his wishing to "avail himself of the remainder of his Furlough "granted to him on the 11th March 1856, that "the time occupied in his journey from India to "England be also reckoned as service in India.

"Sixthly.—That his expenses from whatever "station he may be at, to London, may be de- "frayed on his reaching that city.

"2. In connection with the first of the above "requests, Mr. Toogood, in a representation ad- "dressed to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, "cited cases to show that, since his arrival in In- "dia, he had virtually been superseded by certain "appointments made by the Lieutenant-Governor "and Mr. Halliday in his letter to your Government, "entered at length into the reasons which had "influenced him in making the appointments "referred to. This part of the question is "sufficiently disposed of in your letter to the "Lieutenant-Governor; but although it was "impossible at once to place Mr. Toogood in a "situation equal to that which he occupied before "he proceeded on Furlough, your Government "have adopted a rule applicable to all Civil "Servants expressly ordered out from England at "the commencement of the mutinies, which will "relieve Mr. Toogood from disadvantage in "respect to present allowances.

"3. Under the rule thus laid down "every "Member of the Civil Service ordered out from "England before the expiration of his Furlough, "shall draw from the date on which he was first "appointed to act in any office, to the date on "which he was or may be confirmed in that office, "a special allowance, which, together with his "subsistence allowances, shall be equal to the full "salary of the office, and his total allowances thus "settled shall be regarded as a substantive salary "in respect to all deductions made in consequence "of leave of absence, whether on account of sick-"ness or otherwise, provided that no Member "of the Civil Service thus situated shall receive "under this rule more than the emoluments he "was drawing at the time when he applied for "and took his Furlough." In accordance with the "intimation given in the second paragraph of the "Despatch of the Court of Directors, dated 26th "August (No. 16) 1857, I have to signify my "approval of this resolution.

"4. The third request of Mr. Toogood, that "he may be allowed travelling expenses from "Calcutta to Monghyr, you show to be inadmis-"sible under existing rules, as Mr. Toogood re-"ceived deputation allowance from the date of his "appointment to act as Magistrate of Monghyr.

"5. The remaining requests of Mr. Toogood, "viz., the second, fourth, fifth, and sixth, you "submit for consideration and orders: and you "further solicit a favorable consideration of certain "specified arrangements with regard to the re-"maining periods of Furlough due to those "Members of the Civil Service who were ordered "to India before their Furloughs expired.

"6. With regard to Mr. Toogood's request No. "2, that his passage-money from England may be "repaid to him, the question of the limit within "which the advantage of a free return passage should "be paid to Civil Servants and Military Officers "returning to their duty in consequence of the "mutinies in India, was fully considered at the "time, and Mr. Toogood's case not coming within "the limit then decided on, I am unable to comply "with his application.

"7. The fourth and fifth requests* of Mr. "Toogood appear to me fair "and reasonable; "and in accordance with the "recommendation of the "several members of your Government, I authorize the 'extension to Mr. Toogood, and to all Members 'of the Service similarly situated, of the advantages sought in them.

"8. With respect to the 6th, viz., that the expenses of memorialist's going from his station 'to London may be paid to him, I cannot admit 'that there is any just claim in principle or practice to such an indulgence.

"9. I am unable to sanction, to its full extent, your further recommendation relating to the addition which you propose should be made to the unexpired portions of the Furloughs of the several Officers, in the event of their availing themselves hereafter of the liberty to complete the full period of absence from India, authorized by the Furlough Regulations; I am willing that any Officers so situated should be allowed to add to the period of Furlough which was unexpired when he returned to India, whatever privilege leave he may be entitled to up to the limit of three months the period for which accumulated privilege leave may, under the established rules, be now taken "in India. But I do not think it necessary to go "beyond this, and to grant the greater advantage "proposed by you to those Officers who may have "more than six months of their Furlough re-"maining.

"10. The additional period of three months, "now authorized, may be allowed to count as ser-"vice in India."

* "That the time occupied in the "journey from London to Calcutta "may count as service in India. That "in the event of the memorialist wish-"ing to avail himself of the remain-'der of his Furlough, the time occu-'pied in his journey to England may 'count as service."

Legislative Council of India.

THE 26TH MARCH 1859.

THE following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of India, received the assent of the Right Honorable the Governor General on the 22nd March 1859, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT No. VIII OF 1859.

An Act for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter.

WHEREAS it is expedient to simplify the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter, It is enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

CHAPTER I.

OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE CIVIL COURTS.

Civil Courts have cognizance of all suits unless specially barred.

1. The Civil Courts shall take cognizance of all suits of a Civil nature, with the exception of suits of which their cognizance is barred by any Act of Parliament, or by any Regulation of the Codes of Bengal, Madras and Bombay respectively, or by any Act of the Governor General of India in Council.

Unless suits previously heard and determined.

2. The Civil Courts shall not take cognizance of any suit brought on a cause of action which shall have been heard and determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit between the same parties or between parties under whom they claim.

Revision of judgments of the Civil Courts.

3. The judgments of the Civil Courts shall not be subject to revision, otherwise than by those Courts under the rules contained in this Act applicable to reviews of judgment, and by the constituted Courts of Appellate Jurisdiction.

No person excepted from jurisdiction by reason of place of birth or of descent.

4. No person whatever shall, by reason of place of birth, or by reason of descent, be in any Civil proceeding whatever excepted from the jurisdiction of any of the Civil Courts.

Jurisdiction of Civil Courts.

5. Subject to such pecuniary or other limitations as are or shall be prescribed by any law for the time being in force, the Civil Courts of each grade shall receive, try, and determine all suits hereby declared to be cognizable by those Courts, if in the case of suits for land or other immoveable property such land or property shall be situate within the limits to which their respective jurisdictions may extend, and in all other cases if the cause of action shall have arisen, or the defendant at the time of commencement of the suit shall dwell, or personally work for gain, within such limits.

Court in which suit to be instituted.

Transfer of suits.

6. Every suit shall be instituted in the Court of the lowest grade competent to try it. But it shall be lawful for the District Court to withdraw any suit instituted in any Court subordinate to such District Court and to try such suit itself or to refer it for trial to any other Court subordinate to its authority and competent in respect of the value of the suit to try the same, whenever it may see sufficient cause for so doing. In like manner the Sudder Court may order that the cognizance of any suit or appeal which may be instituted in any Court subordinate to such Sudder Court shall be transferred to any other Court subordinate to its authority and competent in respect of the value of the suit or appeal to try the same.

Suit to include the whole claim.

Relinquishment of part of claim.

7. Every suit shall include the whole of the claim arising out of the cause of action, but a plaintiff may relinquish any portion of his claim in order to bring the suit within the jurisdiction of any Court. If a plaintiff relinquish or omit to sue for any portion of his claim, a suit for the portion so relinquished or omitted, shall not afterwards be entertained.

Joinder of causes of action in the same suit.

8. Causes of action by and against the same parties, and cognizable by the same Court, may be joined in the same suit, provided the entire claim in respect of the amount or value of the property in suit do not exceed the jurisdiction of such Court.

Court may in certain cases order separate trials of such causes of action.

9. If two or more causes of action be joined in one suit, and the Court shall be of opinion that they cannot conveniently be tried together, the Court may order separate trials of such causes of action to be held.

Claim for recovery of land & for mesne profits to be deemed distinct causes of action.

10. A claim for the recovery of land and a claim for the mesne profits of such land shall be deemed to be distinct causes of action within the meaning of the two last preceding Sections.

Suits for immoveable property situate within different jurisdictions of the same District.

11. If the suit be for land or other immoveable property situate within the limits of a single District, but within the jurisdiction of different Courts, the suit may be brought in the Court within the jurisdiction of which any portion of such land or other immoveable property is situate, provided the entire claim in respect of the value of the property in suit be cognizable by such Court; but in such case the Court in which the suit is brought shall apply to the District Court for authority to proceed with the same.

Suits for immoveable property situate in different Districts.

12. In such case the Court shall issue a notice to such persons in the manner provided in this Act for the service of a summons on a defendant.

Court may adjourn hearing and direct that parties appearing to be interested in a suit shall be made parties to the suit.

Of Arrest before Judgment.

74. If in any suit, not being a suit for land or other immoveable property, the defendant, with intent to avoid or delay the plaintiff, or to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree that may be passed against him, is about to leave the jurisdiction of the Court, or has disposed of or removed from the jurisdiction of the Court his property or any part thereof, the plaintiff may, either at the institution of the suit, or at any time thereafter until final judgment, make an application to the Court that security be taken for the appearance of the defendant to answer any judgment that may be passed against him in the suit.

In suits for moveable property, when defendant is about to leave the jurisdiction, &c., plaintiff may apply that security be taken.

75. If the Court, after examining the applicant and making such further investigation as it may consider necessary, shall be of opinion that there is probable cause for believing that the defendant is about to leave its jurisdiction with the intent of avoiding or delaying the plaintiff, or that he has disposed of or removed from the jurisdiction of the Court his property or any part thereof with the intent to obstruct or delay the execution of any decree, it shall be lawful for the Court to issue a warrant to the proper Officer, enjoining him to bring the defendant before the Court, that he may show cause why he should not give good and sufficient bail for his appearance.

Any order made by the Court, under the provisions of this Section, shall be open to appeal by the defendant.

If defendant fail to show cause, Court may order him to give bail.

79. If it shall appear to the Court that the arrest of the defendant was applied for on insufficient grounds, or if the suit of the plaintiff is dismissed or judgment is given against him by default or otherwise and it shall appear to the Court that there was no probable ground for instituting the suit, the Court may (on the application of the defendant) award against the plaintiff in its decree such amount, not exceeding the sum of one thousand Rupees, as it may deem a reasonable compensation to the defendant for any injury or loss which he may have sustained by reason of such arrest. If the Court, after examining the applicant and making such further investigation as it may consider necessary, shall be satisfied that the defendant is about to dispose of or remove his property, with intent to obstruct or delay the execution of the decree, it shall be lawful for the Court to issue a warrant to the proper Officer, commanding him to call upon the defendant, within a time to be fixed by the Court, either to furnish security in such sum as may be specified in the order to produce and place at the disposal of the Court when required the said property or the value of the same or such portion thereof as may be sufficient to fulfil the decree, or to appear and show cause why he should not furnish security. The Court may also in the warrant direct the attachment until further order of the whole or any portion of the property specified in the application.

89. Attachments before judgment shall not affect the rights of persons not parties to the suit, nor bar any person holding a decree against the defendant from applying for the sale of the property under attachment in execution of such decree.

Court may stay the sale of property already under attachment, when execution of a decree fraudulently obtained is applied for.

90. If it shall appear to the Court by whose order the property may have been attached before judgment, that there is reasonable ground for supposing that the decree, in satisfaction of which the sale of the property is applied for, was obtained by fraud or other improper means, the Court may refuse to allow the property to be sold in execution, if the decree be a decree of that Court; or if it be a decree of another Court, may stay the proceedings for a reasonable time to enable the plaintiff in the pending suit to adopt proceedings to set aside the decree.

Consequence of refusal or inability of pleader to answer.

127. If the pleader of any party who shall appear by a pleader shall refuse or be unable to answer any material question relating to the suit which the Court is of opinion that the party whom he represents ought to answer, and is likely to be able to answer, if interrogated in person, the Court may postpone the hearing of the suit to a future day and direct that such party shall attend in person on such day; and if the party so directed to attend shall without lawful excuse fail to appear in person on the day to be so appointed, the Court may pass judgment against him, or make such other order in relation to the suit as it may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

Of the Production of Documents.

Documentary evidence to be produced at first hearing.

128. The parties or their pleaders shall bring with them, and have in readiness at the first hearing of the suit to be produced when called upon by the Court, all their documentary evidence of every description which may not already have been filed in Court, and all documents, writings, or other things which may have been specified in any notice which may have been served on them respectively within a reasonable time before the hearing of the suit; and no documentary evidence of any kind, which the parties or any of them may desire to produce, shall be received by the Court at any subsequent stage of the proceedings, unless good cause be shown to its satisfaction for the non-production thereof at the first hearing.

Exhibits to be received and inspected by the Court.

Rejection of exhibits.

129. All exhibits produced by the parties shall be received and inspected by the Court; but it shall be competent to the Court, after inspection, to reject any exhibit which it may consider irrelevant or otherwise inadmissible, recording the grounds of such rejection.

Documents insufficiently stamped may be received on payment of deficient duty and penalty.

130. If the exhibit be a deed, instrument, or writing, chargeable with stamp duty under any Regulation or Act for the time being in force, and it shall appear to the Court that the deed, instrument, or writing, although written on stamp paper, does not bear a sufficient stamp, the Court shall nevertheless receive the same in evidence, saving all just exceptions on other grounds, if the party producing it or requiring its production shall pay into Court the deficiency of the stamp duty and a penalty equal to ten times the amount of the deficiency. Provided that, if it shall appear to the Court that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the deed, instrument, or writing was not properly stamped with the intention of evading the stamp laws, the Court may reject the same.

Proviso.

Account of monies so received to be kept.

131. An entry of the fact of such payment and of the amount thereof shall be made in a book to be kept in the Court, and shall also be endorsed on the back of such deed, instrument, or writing under the signature of the Judge of the Court. The Court shall at the end of every month make a return to the Collector of Revenue of the District of the monies (if any) which it has so received by way of duty or penalty, distinguishing between such monies, and stating the number and title of the suit, and the name of the party from whom such monies were received, and the date (if any) and description of the document, for the purpose of identifying the same; and the Court shall pay over the said monies to the Collector of Revenue, or to such person as he may appoint to receive the same; and the Collector of Revenue or other proper authority shall, upon production of the deed, instrument, or writing, with the endorsement hereinbefore mentioned, cause such additional stamp as may be necessary to be affixed to such deed, instrument, or writing in respect of the sums so paid as aforesaid.

Monthly return to be made to Collector.

Admitted exhibits to be marked and filed.

132. When an exhibit is received by the Court and admitted in evidence, it shall be endorsed with the number and title of the suit, the name of the party producing it, and the date on which it was produced, and shall be filed as part of the record. Provided that, if the exhibit be an entry in any shop book or other book, the party on whose behalf such book is produced shall furnish a copy of the entry, which copy shall be endorsed as aforesaid, and shall be filed as part of the record, and the book shall be returned to the party producing it.

Proviso.

No stamp duty in respect of the production or filing of exhibits.

133. No stamp duty shall be leviable in respect of the production or filing of any exhibit, anything contained in any Regulation or Act notwithstanding.

Rejected exhibits to be marked and returned.

134. When an exhibit is rejected by the Court it shall be endorsed in the manner specified in Section 132 with the addition of the word "rejected," and the endorsement shall be subscribed by the Judge. The exhibit shall then be returned to the party who produced it, unless the Court shall think proper, for special reasons (as on suspicion of forgery), to detain it.

Unless detained by the Court.

135. When the time for preferring an appeal from the decision passed in the suit has elapsed, or if an appeal has been preferred from such decision, then after the appeal has been finally disposed of, any person, whether a party to the suit or not, who may be desirous of receiving back any exhibit produced by him in the suit, shall be entitled, on application to the Court in which such exhibit may be, to receive back the same unless the further use of such exhibit has been superseded by the terms of the decree, or the Court has directed it to be detained for purposes of public justice.

After the time for appeal has elapsed, exhibit admitted in evidence may be returned.

136. Any exhibit may be returned before the time mentioned in the last preceding Section, if the Court in which the document may be shall think proper, for special reasons, to order its return. But in every case a copy, properly certified, and made at the expense of the applicant, shall be substituted for the original in the record of the suit.

Exhibit may be returned before the time limited for special reasons.

Certified copy to be kept.

137. Whenever an exhibit once received by a Court of Justice and admitted in evidence is returned, a receipt shall be given by the party receiving it in a receipt-book kept for the purpose.

Receipt to be given for returned exhibit.

138. Any Civil Court may of its own accord, or upon the application of any of the parties to a suit, send for, either from its own record or from any other public Office or Court, the record of any other suit or case, or any other official papers (not being documents relating to affairs of State the production of which would be contrary to good policy) and inspect the same, when the inspection of such record or papers shall appear likely to elucidate the facts of the suit before the Court, and to promote the ends of justice.

Court may send for papers from its own records or from other public Offices or Courts.

Except State papers.

Of the Settlement of Issues.

139. At the first hearing of the suit the Court shall enquire and ascertain upon what questions of law or fact the parties are at issue, and shall thereupon proceed to frame and record the issues of law and fact on which the right decision of the case may depend. The Court may frame the issues from the allegations of fact which it collects from the oral examination of the parties or their pleaders, notwithstanding any difference between such allegations of fact and the allegations of fact contained in the written statements, if any, tendered by the parties or their pleaders.

Framing of issues.

140. If the Court shall be of opinion that the issues cannot be correctly framed without the examination of some person other than the persons already before the Court or without the reading of some document not produced by any of such persons, it may adjourn the framing of the issues to a future day, to be fixed by the Court, and may compel the attendance of such person, or the production of the document by the person in whose hands it may be, by summons or other suitable process.

Court may examine witnesses or documents before framing the issues.

141. At any time before the decision of the case, the Court may amend the issues or frame additional issues on such terms as to it shall seem fit, and all such amendments as may be necessary for the purpose of determining the real question or controversy between the parties shall be so made.

Amendment of issues.

Additional issues.

Of Issues by Agreement of Parties.

142. When the parties to a suit are agreed as to the question or questions of fact or of law to be decided between them, they may state the same in the form of an issue, and enter into an agreement in writing, which shall not be subject to any stamp duty, that upon the finding of the Court in the affirmative or the negative of such issue, a sum of money specified in the agreement, or to be ascertained by the Court upon a question inserted in the issue for that purpose, shall be paid by one of the parties to the other of them, or that upon such finding some property specified in the agreement, and in dispute in the suit, shall be delivered by one of the parties to the other of them, or that upon such finding one or more of the parties shall do or perform some particular legal act, or shall refrain from doing or performing some particular act, specified in the agreement, and having reference to the matter in dispute.

Questions of fact or law may by agreement be stated by the parties in the form of an issue.

143. If the Court shall be satisfied, after an examination of the parties or their pleaders, and taking such evidence as it may deem proper, that the agreement was duly executed by the parties, and that the parties have a bonâ fide interest in the decision of such question, and that the same is fit to be tried and decided, it may proceed to record and try the same, and deliver its finding or opinion thereon in the same manner as if the issue had been framed by the Court, and may, upon the finding or decision on such issue, give judgment for the sum so agreed on or so ascertained as aforesaid, or otherwise according to the terms of the agreement; and upon the judgment which shall be so given, decree shall follow and may be executed in the same way as if the judgment had been pronounced in a contested suit.

Court, if satisfied that the agreement was executed bonâ fide, may decree accordingly.

When the Suit may be disposed of at the First Hearing.

144. If at the first hearing of a suit it shall appear that the parties are not at issue on any question of law or fact, the Court may at once give judgment.

If the parties are not at issue on any question of law or fact.

145. When the parties are at issue on some question of law or fact, and issues have been framed by the Court as hereinbefore provided, if the Court shall be satisfied that no further argument or evidence than such as the parties or their pleaders can at once supply is required upon any such of the issues of law or fact as may be sufficient for the decision of the suit, the Court, after hearing such argument and evidence, may proceed to determine such issue or issues, and if the finding thereon is sufficient for the decision, may pronounce judgment accordingly, whether the summons shall have been issued for the settlement of issues only or for the final disposal of the suit; otherwise the Court shall postpone the further hearing of the suit, and shall fix a day for the production of such further evidence or for such further argument as the case may require. Provided that if the summons shall have been issued for the final disposal of the suit and either party shall fail without sufficient cause to produce the evidence on which he relies, the Court may at once give judgment.

If the parties are at issue on questions of law or fact.

Court if satisfied may determine the issues and give judgment.

Proviso where summons is for final disposal.

Of Adjournments.

146. The Court may, if sufficient cause be shown, at any stage of the suit, grant time to the parties, or to either of them, and may from time to time adjourn the hearing of the suit; and in all such cases the Court shall fix a day for the further hearing of the suit. Provided that in all such cases the party applying for time shall pay the costs occasioned by such adjournment, unless the Court shall otherwise direct.

Court may grant time, or adjourn to a future day.

Proviso.

147. If, on any day to which the hearing of the suit may be adjourned, the parties or either of them shall not appear in person or by pleader, the Court may proceed to dispose of the suit in the manner specified in Section 110, Section 111, or Section 114 as the case may be, or may make such other order as may appear to be just and proper in the circumstances of the case.

How Court is to proceed if the parties fail to appear on the day fixed.

148. If either party to a suit to whom time may have been granted shall fail to produce his proofs, or to cause the attendance of his witnesses, or to perform any other act for which time may have been allowed, the Court shall proceed to a decision of the suit on the record, notwithstanding such default.

Court to proceed if either party fail to produce proofs or witnesses.

Of summoning Witnesses.

149. The parties or their pleaders may, at any time after the issue of the summons to the defendant, if the summons be for the final disposal of the suit, or after the issues have been recorded if the summons to the defendant be for the settlement of issues only, obtain, on application to the Court, summonses to witnesses or other persons to attend either to give evidence or to produce documents, and in any such summons the names of any number of persons may be inserted.

Application for summons.

150. No stamp duty shall be leviable in respect of any application for the summons of a witness or other person to attend either to give evidence or to produce a document, anything contained in any Regulation or Act notwithstanding.

No stamp duty on application for summons.

151. The person applying for a summons shall pay into Court such a sum of money as shall appear to the Court to be reasonable, to defray the travelling and other expenses of each witness, or other person mentioned in the summons, in passing to and from the Court in which he may be required to attend, and for one day's attendance. If the Court be a subordinate Court, regard shall be had, in fixing the scale of such expenses, to the rules (if any) established by the Court to which such Court shall be immediately subordinate. The sum so paid into Court shall be tendered to the witness or other person at the time of serving the summons, if it can be served personally. If it shall appear to the Court that the sum paid into Court on account of the travelling and other expenses of the witness or other person in passing to and from the Court is not sufficient to cover such expenses, the Court may direct such further sum to be paid to the witness or other person as may appear to be necessary on that account, and, in case of default in payment, may order such sum to be levied by attachment and sale of the goods of the person ordered to pay the same, or may discharge the witness without requiring him to give evidence. If it shall be necessary to detain the witness or other person summoned for a longer period than one day, the Court may from time to time order the party at whose instance he was summoned to pay into Court such sum as may be sufficient to defray the expenses of his detention for such further period, and, in default of such deposit being made, may order the witness to be discharged without requiring him to give evidence.

Expenses of witnesses to be paid before issue of summons.

Scale of expenses.

Tender of expenses to witness.

If sum be not sufficient.

Expenses if witness is detained.

152. Every summons for the attendance of a witness or other person shall specify the time and place at which he is required to attend, and also whether his attendance is required for the purpose of giving evidence or to produce a document, or for both purposes; and any particular document, which the witness or other person may be called on to produce shall be described in the summons with convenient certainty.

Time, place, and purpose of attendance to be specified in summons.

153. Any person whether a party to a suit or not may be summoned to produce a document, without being summoned to give evidence; and any person, summoned merely to produce a document, shall be deemed to have complied with the summons, if he cause such document to be produced instead of attending personally to produce the same.

Summons to produce a document.

Service of Summons on a Witness.

154. Every summons to a witness or other person shall be served by exhibiting the original, and delivering or tendering a copy; and the service shall in all cases be made a sufficient time before the time specified in the summons for the attendance of the witness or other person, to allow him a reasonable time for preparation, and for travelling to the place at which his attendance is required.

How and when the summons shall be served.

155. Whenever it may be practicable, the service of the summons shall be upon the person thereby required to attend; but when he cannot be found, the service may be made on any adult male member of his family residing with him.

Service to be on the witness, or a male member of his family.

156. When the person required to attend cannot be found, and there is no adult male member of his family on whom the summons can be served, the serving Officer shall return the summons to the Court from whence it issued, with an endorsement thereon that he has been unable to serve it.

When the summons cannot be served, it is to be returned to the Court.

157. The serving Officer shall, in all cases in which the summons has been served, endorse on the original summons the time when, and the manner in which it was served.

Time and manner of service to be endorsed on the summons.

158. If the person required to attend be resident within the jurisdiction of any other Court than that in which the suit is pending, the summons shall be transmitted by the Court in which the suit is pending, to any Court having jurisdiction at the place where the witness resides by which it can be most conveniently served; and the Court to which the summons is sent shall, upon receipt thereof, deliver the same to the Nazir or other proper Officer of such Court, to be served in the manner above directed; and upon the return of the summons by the serving Officer, it shall be transmitted to the Court from whence it originally issued.

How a summons on a witness who resides in another jurisdiction is to be served.

159. If the summons for the attendance of any person either to give evidence or to produce a document, cannot be served in either of the ways hereinbefore specified, the Court, on being certified thereof by the return of the serving Officer, and upon proof that the evidence of such witness or the production of the document is material, and that the witness or other person absconds or keeps out of the way for the purpose of avoiding the service of the summons, may cause a proclamation requiring the attendance of such person to give evidence, or produce the document, at a time and place to be named therein, to be affixed in some conspicuous place upon his house or place of abode; and if such person shall not attend at the time and place named in such proclamation, the Court may, at the instance of the party on whose application the summons was issued, make an order for the attachment of the moveable and immoveable property of such person, to such amount as the Court shall deem reasonable, not being in excess of the amount of the costs of attachment and of any fine to which the person may be liable under the provisions of the following Section.

When a witness absconds, his property may be attached.

160. If, on the attachment of the property, such witness or other person shall appear and satisfy the Court that he did not abscond or keep out of the way to avoid service of the summons, and that he had not notice of the proclamation in time to attend at the time and place named therein, the Court shall direct that the property be released from attachment, and shall make such order in regard to the costs of the attachment as it shall deem fit. If such witness or other person shall not appear, or appearing shall fail to satisfy the Court that he did not abscond or keep out of the way to avoid service of the summons, and that he had not such a notice of the proclamation as aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the Court to order the property attached, or any part thereof, to be sold for the purpose of satisfying all costs incurred in consequence of such attachment, together with the amount of any fine which the Court may impose upon such witness or other person under the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the punishment of a witness who may abscond or keep out of the way in order to avoid the service of a summons. If the witness or other person shall pay into Court the costs and fine as aforesaid, the Court shall order the property to be released from attachment.

How the Court is to proceed with the witness on his appearance.

Of the Examination of Parties as Witnesses.

161. When a party to a suit appears in person at any hearing of the suit, he may be examined as a witness, either in his own behalf or on behalf of any other party to the suit, in the same way as if he were not a party thereto.

A party to a suit appearing in person may be examined either in his own behalf or on behalf of any other party.

162. If any party to a suit shall require to enforce the attendance of any other party thereto as a witness, he shall, by himself or his pleader, make a special application to the Court for an order requiring the attendance of the party, and shall show to the satisfaction of the Court sufficient grounds in support of such application, otherwise a summons shall not be issued.

Special application to be made for the examination of a party as a witness.

163. The Court, if it think fit, may, before making such order, cause notice to be given to the party or his pleader, fixing a day for such party to show cause why he should not attend and give evidence; and may also, from time to time, if necessary, for good and sufficient reason, enlarge the time for such purpose.

The Court may first issue a notice to show cause.

164. In support of the cause shown, the Court shall receive any declaration in writing of the party, on unstamped paper, if signed by him and verified in the manner hereinbefore provided for the verification of plaints, and delivered into the Court by himself or his pleader.

Court shall receive a written declaration in support of the cause shown.

165. If no sufficient cause be shown on the day fixed, or upon any subsequent day to which the Court shall enlarge the time for that purpose, the Court shall issue its order requiring the party to attend and give evidence.

If no sufficient cause be shown, summons to issue.

166. If the Court shall think it necessary for the ends of justice to examine any party to the suit or to inspect any document in his possession or power, the Court may of its own accord in any stage of the suit cause such party to be summoned to attend as a witness to give evidence or to produce such document if in his possession or power on a day to be appointed in the summons, and may examine such party as a witness in open Court, or may cause such party to be examined in such other manner as the Court may direct.

Court may of its own accord at any time summon a witness.

ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES, AND CONSEQUENCE OF NON-ATTENDANCE.

Persons summoned to give evidence must attend.

167. Any person who shall be summoned to appear and give evidence in a suit shall be bound to attend at the time and place named in the summons for that purpose.

Consequences of non-attendance by a witness.

168. If any person, on whom any summons to give evidence or produce a document shall have been served in either of the ways specified in Section 155, shall, without lawful excuse, fail to comply with the summons, the Court may order such person to be apprehended and brought before the Court. If such person abscond or keep out of the way, so that he cannot be apprehended or brought before the Court, his property shall be liable to attachment and sale in the manner and subject to the rules provided in Sections 159 and 160 with respect to a witness or other person on whom the service of a summons cannot be effected.

Consequences of refusal to give evidence.

169. If any witness, attending or being present in Court, shall, without lawful excuse, refuse to give evidence, or to produce any document in his custody or possession named in such summons as aforesaid, upon being required by the Court so to do, the Court may commit such witness to close custody for such reasonable time as it may deem proper, unless he shall, in the meantime, consent to give his evidence, or to produce the document. If after the expiration of such time the witness shall persist in his refusal, the Court may proceed to deal with him according to the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the punishment of persons refusing to give evidence.

Consequence of non-attendance or refusal of a party to give evidence.

170. If any person, being a party to the suit, who shall be ordered to attend to give evidence or produce a document, shall, without lawful excuse, fail to comply with such order, or, attending or being present in Court, shall, without lawful excuse, refuse to give evidence, or to produce any document in his custody or possession named in such summons as aforesaid, upon being required by the Court so to do, the Court may either pass judgment against the party so failing or refusing, or make such other order in relation to the suit as the Court may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

Any person present in Court may be called upon to give evidence though not summoned.

171. Any person present in Court, whether a party to the suit or not, may be called upon by the Court to give evidence and to produce any document then and there in his actual possession or in his power, in the same manner and subject to the same rules as if he had been summoned to attend and give evidence or to produce such document, and shall be liable to be dealt with by the Court as a party or witness, as the case may be, would, under any of the preceding provisions, be liable to be dealt with for any refusal to obey the order of the Court.

WHEN AND HOW WITNESSES ARE TO BE EXAMINED.

Witnesses to be examined at the hearing of the suit in open Court.

172. On the day appointed for the hearing of the suit or on some other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the evidence of the witnesses in attendance shall be taken orally in open Court, in the presence and hearing, and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge. In cases in which an appeal lies to a higher tribunal, the evidence of each witness given upon such examination shall be taken down in writing, in the language in ordinary use in proceedings before the Court, by, or in the presence and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge, not ordinarily in the form of question and answer but in that of a narrative, and, when completed, shall be read over in the presence of the Judge and of the witness, and also in the presence of the parties to the suit or their pleaders, or such of them as are in attendance, and shall, if necessary, be corrected, and shall be signed by the Judge.

In what form evidence shall be taken in appealable cases.

In what case deposition to be interpreted.

If the evidence be taken down in a different language from that in which it has been given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the witness may require his deposition as taken down in writing to be interpreted to him in the language in which it was given.

When evidence may be taken in English.

Where all the parties to the suit present, and the pleaders of such as are absent, consent to have such evidence as is given in English taken down in English, the Judge may so take it down in his own hand. It shall be in the discretion of the Court to take down, or cause to be taken down, any particular question and answer, if there shall appear any special reason for so doing, or any party or his pleader shall require it.

Objection made to questions.

If any question put to a witness be objected to by either of the parties or their pleaders, and the Court shall allow the same to be put, the question and answer shall be taken down, and the objection, and the name of the party making it, shall be noticed in taking down the depositions, together with the decision of the Court upon the objection. The Court shall record such remarks as it may think material respecting the demeanor of the witness while under examination.

Memorandum of substance of the evidence to be made by Judge as each witness is examined.

In cases in which the evidence is not taken down in writing by the Judge himself, he shall be bound, as the examination of each witness proceeds, to make a memorandum of the substance of what such witness deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge with his own hand, and shall accompany the record.

In what form evidence shall be taken in cases not appealable.

In cases in which an appeal does not lie to a higher tribunal, it shall not be necessary to take down the depositions of the witnesses in writing at length; but the Judge, as the examination of each witness proceeds, shall make a memorandum of the substance of what such witness deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Judge with his own hand, and shall form part of the record. If the Judge shall be prevented from making a memorandum as above required, he shall record the reason of his inability to do so, and in cases not appealable shall cause such memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation in open Court, and shall sign the same, and such memorandum shall form part of the record.

If Judge be unable to make a memorandum of the evidence, reason of inability to be recorded.

173. If a witness be about to leave the jurisdiction of the Court, or other good and sufficient cause can be shown to the satisfaction of the Court why his examination should be taken immediately, it shall be competent to the Court, upon the application of either party or of the witness, at any time after the institution of the suit, to take the examination of such witness forthwith, or on any day that may be fixed for that purpose, of which due notice shall be given to the parties if the day be fixed in their absence. The witness shall be examined, and his deposition shall be taken down in writing, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed; and the deposition so taken down may be read in evidence at any hearing of the suit.

A witness may for sufficient cause be examined immediately.

174. All witnesses shall be examined upon oath or affirmation or otherwise according to the provisions of the law for the time being in force in relation to the examination of witnesses.

Witness to be examined upon oath or affirmation, or according to the law for the time being in force.

Of Commissions to examine absent Witnesses and make Local Enquiries.

175. When the evidence of a witness is required who is resident at some place distant more than a hundred miles from the place where the Court is held, or who is unable from sickness or infirmity to attend before the Court to be personally examined, or is a person exempted by reason of rank or sex from personal appearance in Court; the Court may, of its own motion, or on the application of any of the parties to the suit, or on the representation of the witness, order a Commission to issue for the examination of such witness on interrogatories or otherwise; and may, by the same or any subsequent order, give all such directions for taking such examinations as may appear reasonable and just. If the witness be resident within the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the Commission, the Commission may be issued to any Officer of the Court, or to any subordinate Court, or to any other person or persons whom the Court issuing the Commission may think proper to appoint. If the witness be resident at some place which is beyond the jurisdiction of the Court issuing the Commission, and not within the local jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court, but within the jurisdiction of the Sudder Court, the Commission shall ordinarily be issued to the Court within whose jurisdiction the witness may reside, and which can most conveniently execute the same; but, under special circumstances, the Commission may be issued to any other person or persons whom the Court issuing the Commission may think proper to appoint.

Cases in which Court may issue a Commission to examine witnesses.

When the witness resides within the Court's jurisdiction.

When the witness resides beyond the Court's jurisdiction, and not within the Supreme Court's jurisdiction, but within the jurisdiction of the Sudder Court.

176. If the witness be resident within the local jurisdiction of Her Majesty's Supreme Court, the Commission shall ordinarily be issued to the Court of Small Causes held under Act IX of 1850 (for the more easy recovery of small debts and demands in Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay), but may, under special circumstances, be directed to any person or persons whom the Court issuing the Commission may think proper to appoint.

When the witness is within the local jurisdiction of the Supreme Court.

177. When the evidence of a witness is required, who is resident at some place not within the jurisdiction of the Sudder Court or of Her Majesty's Supreme Court, but within the British territories in India or within the territories of a Native Prince or State in alliance with the British Government, the Court, if it be satisfied that the evidence of such witness is necessary, may, of its own motion or on the representation of any of the parties to the suit, issue a Commission for the examination of the witness; provided that, if the suit be pending in any Court subordinate to the principal Civil Court of a District, such subordinate Court shall not issue the Commission, but the principal Civil Court of the District may issue the Commission on the application of the subordinate Court.

When the witness is not within the jurisdiction of the Sudder Court or the Supreme Court, but within the British territories or the territories of any Native Prince or State in alliance with the British Government.

178. When the evidence of a witness is required, who is resident at some place beyond the said territories and not within the territories of a Native Prince or State in alliance with the British Government, the Sudder Court, if the suit in which the evidence of the witness is required be pending in that Court and the Court be satisfied that such evidence is necessary, may, of its own motion or on the application of any of the parties to the suit, issue a Commission to examine the witness; if the suit be not pending in the Sudder Court, that Court may issue the Commission on the application of the Court in which the suit is pending. In all such cases, the Commission may be issued to any person or persons whom the Sudder Court may think proper to appoint.

When the witness is beyond the said territories and not within the territories of any Native Prince or State in alliance with the British Government.

179. After the Commission has been duly executed, it shall be returned, together with the deposition of the witness who may have been examined there-under, to the Court out of which the Commission issued, unless otherwise directed by the order for issuing the Commission, in which case it shall be returned in terms of such order, and the Commission and the return thereto and the deposition of the witness who may have been examined under such Commission shall in all cases form part of the record of the suit. But no deposition taken under a Commission shall be read in evidence without the consent of the party against whom the same may be offered, unless it be proved that the deponent is beyond the jurisdiction of the Commission to be returned with the depositions of the witnesses.

When depositions may be read in evidence.

Court, or dead, or unable from sickness or infirmity to attend to be personally examined, or distant, without collusion, more than a hundred miles from the place where the Court is held, or exempted by reason of rank or sex from personal appearance in Court, or unless the Court shall, at its discretion, dispense with the proof of any of the above circumstances, or shall authorize the deposition of any witness being read in evidence, notwithstanding proof that the causes for taking such deposition have ceased at the time of reading the same.

Commission for local investigations.

180. In any suit or other judicial proceeding in which the Court may deem a local investigation to be requisite or proper for the purpose of elucidating the matters in dispute, or of ascertaining the amount of any mesne profits or damages, the Court may issue a Commission to an Officer of the Court appointed to execute such Commissions, or, if there be no such Officer, to any suitable person, directing him to make such investigation and to report thereon to the Court. In all such cases, the Court shall furnish the Commissioner with such part of the proceedings and such detailed instructions as may appear necessary for his information and guidance; and the instructions shall distinctly specify whether the Commissioner is merely to transmit the proceedings which he may hold on the enquiry or also to report his own opinion on the point referred for his investigation. The proceedings of the Commissioner shall be received in evidence in the case, unless the Court may have reason to be dissatisfied with them; in which case the Court shall make such further enquiry as may be requisite, and shall pass such ultimate judgment or order as may appear to it to be right and proper in the circumstances of the case.

197. When the suit is for land and for mesne profits which have accrued thereon during a period prior to the date of suit, and the amount of such profits is disputed, the Court may either determine the amount prior to passing a decree for the land, or may pass a decree for the land and reserve the enquiry into the amount of mesne profits for the execution of the decree according as may appear most convenient.

Court may determine amount of mesne profits prior to passing decree or may reserve enquiry.

198. 200. If the decree be for any specific moveable, or for the specific performance of any contract, or for the performance of any other particular act, it shall be enforced by the seizure, if practicable, of the specific moveable and the delivery thereof to the party to whom it shall have been adjudged, or by imprisonment of the party against whom the decree is made, or by attaching his property and keeping the same under attachment until further order of the Court, or by both imprisonment and attachment if necessary; or if alternative damages be awarded, by levying such damages in the mode hereinafter provided for the execution of a decree for money.

Decree against representatives of deceased persons.

203. If the decree be against a party as the representative of a deceased person, and such decree be for money to be paid out of the property of the deceased person, it may be executed by the attachment and sale of any such property, or, if no such property can be found and the defendant fail to satisfy the Court that he has duly applied such property of the deceased as shall be proved to have come into his possession, the decree may be executed against the defendant to the extent of the property not duly applied by him, in the same manner as if the decree had been against the defendant personally.

Decree against sureties.

204. Whenever a person has become liable as security for the performance of a decree or of any part thereof, the decree may be executed against such person to the extent to which he has rendered himself liable, in the same manner as a decree may be enforced against a defendant.

207. When any party in whose favor a decree has been made is desirous of enforcing the same, he shall apply to the Court whose duty it is to execute the decree either in person or through his pleader in the suit or some other pleader duly appointed to act for him in that behalf. If there be two or more decree-holders, one or more of them may make the application, if the Court shall see sufficient cause for allowing him or them to make such application; and the Court shall in such case pass such order as it may deem necessary for protecting the interests of the other decree-holders.

208. If a decree shall be transferred by assignment or by operation of law from the original decree-holder to any other person, application for the execution of the decree may be made by the person to whom it shall have been so transferred or his pleader; and if the Court shall think proper to grant such application, the decree may be executed in the same manner as if the application were made by the original decree-holder.

Cross-decrees.

209. If there be cross-decrees between the same parties for the payment of money, execution shall be taken out by that party only who shall have obtained a decree for the larger sum, and for so much only as shall remain after deducting the smaller sum, and satisfaction for the smaller sum shall be entered on the decree for the larger sum as well as satisfaction on the decree for the smaller sum, and if both sums shall be equal, satisfaction shall be entered upon both decrees.

The above rules shall apply to decrees sent to a Court for execution as well as to decrees in the same Court.

Whenever a suit shall be pending in any Court against the holder of a decree of such Court, by the person or persons against whom the decree was passed, the Court may, if it appear just and reasonable to do so, stay execution on the decree either absolutely or on such terms as it may think just, until a decree shall be passed in the pending suit.

If the person against whom a decree is made shall die before execution, application may be made against his legal representative or estate.

210. If any person against whom a decree has been made shall die before execution has been fully had thereon, application for execution thereof may be made against the legal representative or the estate of the person so dying as aforesaid; and if the Court shall think proper to grant such application, the decree may be executed accordingly.

The application for execution of a decree shall be in writing, and shall contain in a tabular form the following particulars, namely, the number of the suit, the names of the parties, the date of the decree, whether any appeal has been preferred from the decree, and whether any and what adjustment of the matter in dispute has been made between the parties subsequently to the decree; the amount of the debt or damages due upon it, or other relief granted by the decree; the amount of costs, if any were awarded; the name of the person against whom the enforcement of the decree is sought; and the mode in which the assistance of the Court is required, whether by the delivery of property specifically decreed, the arrest and imprisonment of the person named, or attachment of his property, or otherwise as the case may be.

Further particulars when the application is for an attachment of immoveable property.

213. When the application is for an attachment of any land or other immoveable property belonging to the defendant, it shall be accompanied with an inventory or list of such property, containing such a description of the property as may be sufficient to identify it, together with a specification of the defendant's share or interest therein, to the best of the applicant's belief and so far as he has been able to ascertain the same. And where the property is an estate paying revenue to Government or any portion of such estate, the application for an attachment shall be accompanied with an authenticated extract from the Register of the Collector's Office, specifying the revenue of such estate, and the names and (where registered) the shares of the registered proprietors.

The application for an attachment of moveable property may be general, or may be accompanied with an inventory of the property to be attached.

214. Where the application is for an attachment of the defendant's moveable property or any part thereof, it may be accompanied with an inventory or list of the property to be attached, containing a reasonably accurate description thereof; or the applicant may apply for a general attachment of the defendant's moveable property wheresoever the same can be found, to the amount of the judgment and costs.

Procedure on receiving the application.

215. The Court, on receiving any application for execution of a decree, containing the particulars above mentioned, or such of them as may be applicable to the case, shall cause the same to be compared with the original decree contained in the record of the suit, and if they shall be found to correspond therewith, shall enter a note of the application, and the date on which it was made in the Register of the suit. If the particulars shall not be found to correspond with the original decree, the Court shall either return the application for correction to the person making it, or shall, with the consent of such person, cause the necessary correction to be made. If the application be admitted, the Court shall order execution of the decree according to the nature of the application.

MEASURES REQUIRED IN CERTAIN CASES PRELIMINARY TO THE ISSUE OF THE WARRANT.

In certain special cases, notice to show cause why the decree should not be executed shall be issued.

216. If an interval of more than one year shall have elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for its execution, or if the enforcement of the decree be applied for against the heir or representative of an original party to the suit, the Court shall issue a notice to the party against whom execution may be applied for requiring him to show cause, within a limited period to be fixed by the Court, why the decree should not be executed against him. Provided that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of an interval of more than one year having elapsed between the date of the decree and the application for execution, if the application be made within one year from the date of the last order passed on any previous application for execution; and provided further that no such notice shall be necessary in consequence of the application being against an heir or representative, if upon a previous application for execution against the same person, the Court shall have ordered execution to issue against him.

Proviso.

Procedure after issue of notice.

217. When such notice is issued, if the party shall not attend in person or by a pleader, or shall not show sufficient cause to the satisfaction of the Court why the decree should not be forthwith executed, the Court shall order it to be executed accordingly. If the party shall attend in person or by a pleader, and shall offer any objection to the enforcement of the decree, the Court shall pass such order as in the circumstances of the case may appear to be just and proper.

Application for a general attachment of moveable property.

218. Where the application is for a general attachment of the moveable property of the defendant, it shall be competent to the Court, if it shall think proper, before issuing an order for such attachment, to require the applicant to give security to the satisfaction of the Court, in such sum as may be considered adequate, for any injury that may be occasioned by the attachment of property belonging to any other person than the defendant.

Before granting order, Court may make certain enquiries as to the property to be attached.

219. Before granting the order for a general attachment or at the instance of the plaintiff at any time after judgment and before complete execution of the decree, the Court may summon the person against whom the application is made and examine him as to the property liable to be seized in satisfaction of the judgment. The Court may also, of its own motion or at the instance of any person interested in the enquiry, summon any other person whom it may think necessary and examine him in respect to such property, and may require the person summoned to produce all deeds and documents in his possession or power relating to such property.

Rules applicable to the summoning and examination of parties and witnesses after judgment.

220. In all cases in which a summons may be issued for the attendance of a party to a suit or any other person at any time after judgment, the rules applicable to the summoning and examination of parties and witnesses after issues recorded, shall apply to the party or witnesses so summoned.

222. Every warrant for the execution of a decree shall bear the date of the day on which it is issued, and shall be signed by the Judge and sealed with the seal of the Court, and delivered to the Nazir or other proper Officer of the Court. A day shall be specified in the warrant on or before which it must be executed, and the Nazir or other proper Officer shall endorse upon the warrant the day and the manner in which it was executed, or if it was not executed the reason why it was not executed, and shall return it with such endorsement to the Court from which it issued.

Division of estate or separation of share how to be made.

225. If the decree be for the division of an estate or for the separate possession of a share of an undivided estate paying revenue to Government, the division of the estate or the separation of the share shall be made by the Collector under the orders of the Court according to the rules in force for the partition of an estate paying revenue to Government.

If in the execution of a decree for land or other immoveable property, the Officer executing the same shall be resisted or obstructed by any person, the person in whose favor such decree was made may apply to the Court at any time within one month from the time of such resistance or obstruction. The Court shall fix a day for investigating the complaint and shall summon the party against whom the complaint is made to answer the same.

Obstruction by defendant.

227. If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Court that the obstruction or resistance was occasioned by the defendant or by some person at his instigation on the ground that the land or other immoveable property is not included in the decree, or on any other ground, the Court shall enquire into the matter of the complaint and pass such order as may be proper under the circumstances of the case.

How defendant may be dealt with, if he persists in obstructing the complainant.

228. If the Court shall be satisfied, after such investigation of the facts of the case as it may deem proper, that the resistance or obstruction complained of was without any just cause and that the complainant is still resisted or obstructed in obtaining effectual possession of the property adjudged to him by the decree, by the defendant or some person at his instigation, the Court may, at the instance of the plaintiff and without prejudice to any proceedings to which such defendant or other person may be liable under any law for the time being in force for the punishment of such resistance or obstruction, commit the defendant or such other person to close custody for such period not exceeding thirty days as may be necessary to prevent the continuance of such obstruction or resistance.

Obstruction by a bonâ fide claimant other than the defendant.

229. If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Court that the resistance or obstruction to the execution of the decree has been occasioned by any person, other than the defendant, claiming bonâ fide to be in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some other person than the defendant, the claim shall be numbered and registered as a suit between the decree-holder as plaintiff and the claimant as defendant, and the Court shall, without prejudice to any proceedings to which the claimant may be liable under any law for the time being in force for the punishment of such resistance or obstruction, proceed to investigate the claim in the same manner and with the like power as if a suit for the property had been instituted by the decree-holder against the claimant under the provisions of this Act, and shall pass such order for staying execution of the decree, or executing the same, as it may deem proper in the circumstances of the case.

If any person other than the defendant shall be dispossessed of any land or other immoveable property in execution of a decree and such person shall dispute the right of the decree-holder to dispossess him of such property under the decree on the ground that the property was bonâ fide in his possession on his own account or on account of some other person than the defendant, and that it was not included in the decree, or, if included in the decree, that he was not a party to the suit in which the decree was passed, he may apply to the Court within one month from the date of such dispossession; and if, after examining the applicant, it shall appear to the Court that there is probable cause for making the application, the application shall be numbered and registered as a suit between the applicant as plaintiff, and the decree-holder as defendant, and the Court shall proceed to investigate the matter in dispute in the same manner and with the like powers as if a suit for the property had been instituted by the applicant against the decree-holder.

Appeal from decision under the last two Sections.

231. The decision passed by the Court under either of the last two Sections shall be of the same force as a decree in an ordinary suit, and shall be subject to appeal

375. If the application be not drawn up in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, the Court may reject it or may return it to the party for the purpose of being corrected. When the application is correctly drawn up, it shall be registered in a book to be kept for that purpose, which shall be in the form contained in the Schedule D. hereunto annexed and the case shall proceed in all other respects as a regular appeal, and shall be subject to all the rules hereinbefore provided for such appeals so far as the same may be applicable.

FORT WILLIAM, GENERAL TREASURY,
The 28th February 1859.

J. I. HARVEY,
Sub-Treasurer.

No. 423 of 1859.—His Excellency the Governor General in Council has much satisfaction in publishing the accompanying letter from the Right Hon'ble the Commander-in-Chief, in which Lord Clyde warmly recommends the Medical and Commissariat Departments, to the notice of the Government of India.

The Governor General in Council desires to express to the Director-General, Dr. Forsyth; to the Inspector-General Her Majesty's Hospitals, Dr. Linton, C. B.; to Colonel Ramsay, late Commissary General, and to Lieutenant-Colonel Thomson, C. B.; the present Commissary General of the Bengal Army; and to all the Officers of the Medical and Commissariat Departments, who have been employed in the Field, or who have elsewhere farthered the service by their exertions, in providing for the welfare and the wants of the Troops, the cordial acknowledgments of the Government of India for the important services they have rendered.

No. 3888.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General, Head Quarters, Camp, Lucknow, 21st February 1859.

My Lord,

The Military operations in the Presidency of Bengal which ensued on the great Mutiny of 1857, having happily been now brought to a close, I have the greatest satisfaction in recommending warmly to your Excellency's protection two great Departments of the Military administration to which the Troops and the Officers who have Commanded them in their long Campaigns are under real and great obligations. I allude to the Medical and Commissariat Departments.

No. 2.—The former being composed of Officers belonging to the two Services has shone equally in the matters of general organization and of Regimental arrangements. The Director-General, Dr. Forsyth, and the Inspector-General Her Majesty's Forces, Dr. Linton, C. B., in Calcutta, have worked successfully to meet the great requirements made on them, and the Staff and Regimental Medical Officers have well maintained the credit of their noble profession and the reputation for self-sacrifice which belongs to the Surgeons of Her Majesty's Armies, a reputation which is maintained in the Field on all occasions as well as in the most trying circumstances of the Hospital.

No. 3.—It has been remarked throughout the Army that from the time of the slender forces taking the Field against Delhi, and from Allahabad in the Summer of 1857, the system of the Indian Commissariat has been found equal to the tasks imposed on it, in spite of the extra ordinary circumstances in which it was suddenly placed, and of the actual loss of the resources, viz. the great Contractors, and Agents, with which it had been the custom to work.

For this system the Army is in great measure indebted to the late Commissary General Colonel Ramsay and his successor Colonel Thomson. The latter Officer being in personal charge supplied the Field Force of Delhi under unexampled circumstances, when Sir A. Wilson stood before that City almost cut off from the rest of India.

The Commissary General has been nobly supported by his subordinates, and I do but speak the truth when I affirm, that no Department has ever possessed a more efficient Staff of Officers than those forming the Establishment of the Bengal Commissariat.

I have the honor to be,
My Lord,
Your most obedient and humble Servant,
Clyde, General,
Commander-in-Chief, East Indies.
